SCARY STUFF (AND STAR) DRAWS MOB

Crowds of kiddies and their mamas throng the annual Haunted House in the Northgate Mall — drawn either by the Grand Witch, the Great Pumpkin or possibly television personality Michael Douglas. Witch, pumpkin and personality arrived by helicopter yesterday for the opening of the annual event. First-day paid admissions of 1,700 topped any previous year's gate, according to members of the Jolly Rogers Chapter of the Children's Home Society, the sponsors. The house will be open through next Wednesday.

San Rafael Averts Strike By Teachers

Months-Long Dispute Falls Before Arbitration

A strike, threatened for months in the San Rafael schools, was averted last night when teachers voted to accept salary proposals made by the board of education earlier this week.

The vote was not unanimous, with 60 of those present voting to accept the proposal, 138 voting to accept it "under protest," 67 voting to reject and 3 abstaining, according to a letter signed by Barry A. Hoglund, chairman of the Certficated Employees Council.

The terms of the proposal were drawn up by a three-member fact-finding committee which arbitrated the dispute between teachers and trustees. Their report had not been unanimous either; the teacher representative voted against it.

Terms include a 6 per cent raise for teachers retroactive to last July 1 and an additional 1 per cent hike effective in January.

The teachers, who had asked 14 per cent pay increases, threatened to strike when the board offered only 6 per cent. The additional 1 per cent was the proposal of the arbitrating committee.

"We're very happy" that the teachers have accepted the offer, Herman L. Childress, board president, said today.

"Any time you go to arbitration, it's going to be a compromise situation. There were parts of the report (by the committee) that the board didn't like and parts the teachers didn't like, but in the spirit of cooperation both chose to accept it."

"The most important thing is that we avoided a strike . . . which would have disrupted the education of children," Childress added.

Included in the package accepted by the teachers and the board were measures to give elementary teachers free time to prepare for classes, a grievance procedure in disputes over unfavorable evaluations of teachers and goals for student-teacher ratios.

There were also a myriad of other agreements, including health, dental and insurance coverage, duty-free lunch periods, selection of department chairmen methods, summer school contract procedures, disability leave, travel reimbursement and others.

Big Missile Launched In Plane Drop

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Air Force has successfully launched an 86,000-pound intercontinental ballistic missile from a jet cargo plane, a move that could make America's big ICBMs safer from Soviet attack, the Pentagon announced today.

The Minuteman 1 missile, largest object ever dropped from an airplane, was fired briefly over the Vanderberg Air Force Base test range in California yesterday, then plunged into the Pacific Ocean.

The Pentagon spokesman said a missile guidance system was not involved in the test and denied that it was held in conjunction with discussions of arms limitation currently underway in Moscow.

Yesterday's test apparently could lead to installation of the long-range missiles on planes and make the ICBMs less vulnerable from Soviet attack than in underground silos where they are usually stored.

The Pentagon said a Minuteman I missile was rolled out the back door of a big C5A jet

Dancing Dogs Dive Into Weekend Fare

Dogs will dance, dive through barrels, fetch dumbells, pull sleds and just plain show how pretty or smart they are Sunday at the Fourth Annual Expo K-9 at the Marin County Fairgrounds and Veterans Memorial Building.

This dog extravaganza, coupled with another dog show Saturday sponsored by the Pacheco Kennel Club, puts canine festivities at the top of events this weekend in Marin and Southern Sonoma.

About 1,000 puppies and adult dogs of nearly 100 breeds will be judged from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. at Expo K-9.

The Pacheco show, featuring more than 500 dogs, will begin tomorrow at 8:30 a.m. at Marion School, Seventh Street and Grant Avenue, Novato. Admission to both is free.

Also on the calendar Saturday is the fifth annual Larkspur Town Meeting, featuring a panel of representatives from city and county government discussing development in the lower Ross Valley. The meeting is set for 9 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. at Redwood High School's Little Theater.

Planned for discussion are proposed developments on the San Quentin Peninsula, the Larkspur ferry terminal, the Bon Air development and the Ernest W. Hahn shopping center plan in Corte Madera.

The Ross Valley Players open their 45th season tonight with Neil Simon's comedy "The Prisoner of Second Avenue," at 8:30 p.m. at the Barn at the Marin Art and Garden Center, Ross. The play will also be presented at 8:30 tomorrow.

Other special events planned for the weekend are:

TONIGHT

Play, "A Streetcar Named Desire," 8 p.m., Ives Hall, Sonoma State University.

Play, "Antigone," Southern Sonoma Drama Company, 8:30 p.m., Cinnabar Theater, Petaluma.

Concert, College of Marin instrumental ensemble, chamber music concert, 8:30 p.m., Choral Hall.

Concert, Indian bamboo flutist G.S. Sachdev, 8 p.m., Community Congregational Church, Tiburon.

Film, Charlie Chaplin's silent movie "Gold Rush Pay Day," 8:30 p.m., Olney Hall, College of Marin.

Concert, chamber music by Gwen Curatilo and Ermeler Due, 8 p.m., 101 Ives Hall, Sonoma State University.

TOMORROW

Concert, College of Marin instrumental ensemble, 8:30 p.m., Choral Hall.

Dance, "The Creation of Durga," 8:30 p.m., Fine Arts Theater, College of Marin.

Five Football Contests On Tap

The Terra Linda Trojans host the Drake Pirates tonight in a Marin County Athletic League high school football game at San Rafael's Paul Miller Field, beginning at 8 o'clock.

In an MCAL game at 3:30 p.m. Redwood was to play Tamalpais at College of Marin in Kentfield.

Tomorrow, San Marin meets Marin Catholic at 1:30 p.m. in a non-league game at Novato, and San Rafael hosts Novato in an MCAL contest at 8 p.m.

Solo Drivers Ignore Way To Cut Bills

The North Bay commuter who drives his car to San Francisco five days a week could bank a pile of tax-free dollars every year if he switched to the bus or a car pool instead.

The lone auto commuter from Novato to downtown San Francisco would save some $2,000 and the Petaluma driver $2,675 by taking the bus to work, statistics show.

A round-trip bus commute from Novato to San Francisco costs about $3.40 per day including three car-miles between home and bus stop and a local bus trip within San Francisco.

The lone car commuter pays some $11.60 per day for the same trip, computed at an average car-upkeep cost of 15 cents a mile plus 75 cents bridge toll and a minimal monthly storage parking rate of $1.25 per day.

Thus, in a 50-week work year the Novato bus commuter saves $2,050 and each member of a three-party car pool saves about $1,900 compared to the lone driver.

Despite the dramatic savings possible, some 70 per cent of Marin and Sonoma commuters to San Francisco continue to go by car, and about three out of four are lone drivers, according to Golden Gate Bridge District Gen. Mgr. Dale W. Luehring.

"We have the cheapest form of transportation," Luehring said of the Golden Gate Transit public bus and ferry system available to North Bay commuters.

Any commuter could cut travel costs two-thirds by sharing the trip with two others, pointed out U.S. Department of Transportation planning engineer John L. Balshaw. A strong

Democrats Leading Registration Count

Seven of every 10 Marin voters newly registered for the Nov. 5 general election is a Democrat, according to figures reported yesterday by the county elections office.

The total voter count went from 110,430 on Jan. 1 to 119,583 on Oct. 6, the deadline to register for the November election. Of the 9,153 new voters, 6,514 are Democrats, — more than six times the 989 new Republicans registered in the same period.

New totals are 61,910 Democrats and 45,551 Republicans.

Other new counts, with the January tally in parentheses, are: declined to state a party preference, 11,346 (9,714); Peace and Freedom, 609 (578); American Independent, 127 (134), and miscellaneous, 50 (46).

County Elections Officer Peter C. Meyer noted that the total count was 7,345 voters less than for the 1972 general election, which breaks a record of at least 20 years of continually rising registration totals. He siad it was due to the county supervisors' approval of steps to remove the rolls voters who had left the county without canceling their registrations. The rolls thus are more accurate and will save postage and printing costs, he said.

Monday Is Veterans' Day; Closings Scene Confusing

Monday will be the Veterans Day holiday for some, a regular work day for others, but certainly a matter of confusion for all.

Veterans Day will be observed Monday by all federal agencies and many cities; on the other hand, offices of the State of California, Marin and Sonoma counties and other cities will remain open, and will observe Veterans Day on the traditional Nov. 11 date.

The U.S. Government changed the legal holiday for Veterans Day to the last Monday in October, but 37 states, including California, decided the traditional observation was better and changed it back again.

Hence, there is almost no rhyme or reason in deciding who will be open and who will close Monday.

The Post Office and other federal agencies will not work Monday.

Banks, businesses and stores will almost all remain open.

Ford Halts Nixon Policy Mail Run

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Ford has temporarily halted airplane deliveries of classified foreign policy information to former President Richard M. Nixon in California, a White House spokesman said today.

The foreign policy material, traditionally furnished for an interim period to outgoing presidents by their successors, has been delivered weekly by military courier plane to Nixon's home in San Clemente, since he resigned last Aug. 9.

"The flights have been deferred while the White House explores alternate methods of providing the former president with briefing materials," Press Secretary Ron Nessen said. He declined to say what the alternatives were or why the review was started.

Nessen said Ford and Nixon have not talked by telephone since Oct. 11, the date of the last courier flight. He added that Ford had not even had a direct report on the state of Nixon's health, which apparently took a turn for the worse yesterday when the former president was hospitalized.

Ford also had no plans to personally visit Nixon when he goes to Los Angeles next Friday for a campaign rally, Nessen said.

On other matters, Nessen said:

Ford is "obsolutely" behind his nomination of Nelson A. Rockefeller to be his vice president.

The President has poured over budget-cutting proposals submitted by federal departments and agencies, preparing to make "perhaps, the toughest series of decisions that he will have to make since he became president." Following the Nov. 5 election, Ford will send a series of measures to Congress to help reduce government spending in the current 1975 fiscal year to under $300 billion.

Kissinger's Moscow Sessions Going Well

MOSCOW (UPI) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger and Soviet leader Leonid I. Brezhnev talked for more than two hours today about slowing the nuclear arms race and then scheduled another meeting tonight, U.S. officials said.

A spokesman for Kissinger, Robert O. Anderson, said the talks were "very cordial, very friendly."

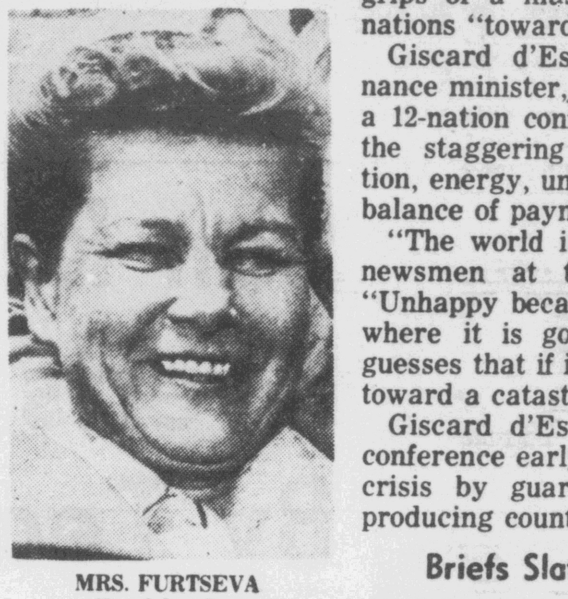
Moscow Culture Watchdog Dies

MOSCOW (UPI) — Culture Minister Yekaterina A. Furtseva, who presided over 14 years of increasing controls on artists and writers, died today at the age of 64.



MRS. FURTSEVA
Watchdog dies

The Tass news agency said she suffered a heart attack.

Mrs. Furtseva, the highest ranking woman in the Soviet government, clung to her job but lost her seat in the Supreme Soviet or parliament last June following a capitalist-style corruption scandal.

Soviet sources said she was severely reprimanded by the Communist party for building a $170,000 country home with materials obtained cheaply from the state. They said she was ordered to repay a large sum of money.

At one time, under former Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev, her patron, she was a member of the ruling politburo and the central committee of the Communist party. No other woman has held both posts.

Khrushchev allowed a mild intellectual thaw during his first years in office, but this ended with Mrs. Furtseva, a staunch upholder of party orthodoxy since her teens.

Under her tenure, modern art was stifled and writers — including exiled Alexander I. Solzhenitsyn — were persecuted. Many other art forms from ballet to cinema stagnated.

Labor Contract Payrolls Up, But Living Costs Lag

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Bureau of Labor Statistics says pay increases for workers under major labor contracts jumped sharply during the first nine months of this year. But the increases did not match the nation's ballooning inflation rate.

Yesterday's quarterly wage report dramatized sharp pay increases for union workers since federal government controls expired April 30.

Negotiated adjustments from January through September of this year averaged 9.6 per cent for the first year of contracts and 7.2 per cent annually over the life of the contract, the Bureau said. This compares with 5.8 per cent and 5.1 per cent, respectively, in the same nine months period in 1973.

While pay adjustments advanced for the contracts surveyed — 918 pacts covering 1,000 or more workers each in the private nonfarm economy — the nation's inflation rate in September was 12.1 per cent higher than a year ago.

About 4.1 million workers were covered by the 1974 settlements reviewed and primarily these were in steel, communications, construction, retail trade and apparel industries.

In the construction industry, where unemployment exceeds 12 per cent, the wage gains negotiated averaged 10.8 per cent in the first year and 9.2 per cent annually over the life of the contract. This gain was more than double the 5.0 per cent gain in this industry in the same nine months period in 1973 when wage freezes were in full force.

The bureau said 612,000 workers through 110 contracts turned to escalator provisions to protect them against cost of living erosion of their pay during the nine months period, but the adjustments did not include cost of living adjustments.

"This is the largest pickup in escalator coverage since 1971, when the steel and communications industries adopted such clauses in their contracts," the bureau said.

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

Massive Economic Crisis Forecast

PARIS (UPI) — President Valery Giscard d'Estaing has warned that the world is in the grips of a massive economic crisis leading all nations "toward catastrophe."

d'Estaing

Giscard d'Estaing, a former finance minister, called yesterday for a 12-nation conference to deal with the staggering problems of inflation, energy, unemployment and the balance of payments.

"The world is unhappy," he told newsmen at the Elysee Palace. "Unhappy because it does not know where it is going and because it guesses that if it knew, it would be that it is going toward a catastrophe."

Giscard d'Estaing called for an international conference early in 1976 to solve the world energy crisis by guaranteeing the income of the oil producing countires.

Briefs Slated

CLEVELAND (UPI) — The U.S. District Court trial of eight former Ohio National Guardsmen charged in the 1970 Kent State University killings has been adjourned until Tuesday when opening statements will be presented.

After seating the 12-member jury and six alternates yesterday, Judge Frank J. Battisti said court will be in session Monday through Thursday beginning at 10 a.m.

On the agenda Wednesday is a trip to Kent State University where the 13 seconds of gunfire that left four students dead and nine students injured occurred May 4, 1970.

The judge said the presentation of evidence would begin Thursday.

2 More Shot

BELFAST (UPI) — Gunmen shot two Roman Catholics in separate incidents in the latest of stepped up interreligious attacks in Northern Ireland, security sources said today.

A gunman firing from a cruising automobile shot the driver of a panel truck in West Belfast yesterday but the victim kept control of the vehicle and evaded the attackers, police said.

In the second incident, three gunmen opened fire on a man leaving his home for nightshift work at his plant. The victim was hit several times, but like the panel truck driver earlier, was not seriously wounded, police said.

Security sources said the assassination attempts looked like extremist Protestant revenge for the wounding of two Protestant workers the previous day.

Fallout Wanes

UNITED NATIONS (UPI) — Radioactive contamination from nuclear weapons tests has fallen to the lowest level in almost 20 years, according to a United Nations report on the effects of atomic radiation.

The report says the presence of strontium 90 and cesium 137 — two of the most dangerous nuclear particles — is the lowest since a U.N. scientific committee began monitoring radioactive fallout in 1955.

The committee's report to the General Assembly said the presence of fallout has fallen in both the northern and southern hemispheres since the outlawing of most atmospheric atomic tests in the mid-1960s.

Purge Coming

SAIGON (UPI) — The troubled government of President Nguyen Van Thieu announced plans today to fire 377 army officers, ranging from major to full colonel.

A command spokesman said no generals would be dismissed.

Thieu accepted the resignation yesterday of his nephew, Information Minister Hoang Duc Nha, and three other cabinet ministers in a surprise move aimed at blunting growing opposition to his government.

Parley Disrupted

A dispute between the Palestine Liberation Organization and Jordan over representation of the Palestinian refugees disrupted a three-day-old foreign ministers conference trying to arrange the summit talks, sources said.

The PLO claims to represent all refugees displaced by the creation of Israel in 1948. Jordan, however, claims to represent Palestinians living within its borders.

Jordan and the PLO are also at odds over which should take over abandoned sections of the occupied West Bank region if Israel agreed to give up the area.

Mills Denies Vets Tax Rumor

LITTLE ROCK (UPI) — Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., chairman of the tax writing House Ways and Oeans Committee, yesterday said Congress had no plans to put a tax on Veterans Administration compensation.

"It has come to our attention that a veterans organization has mailed to its members a letter alleging that we are about to put a tax on VA service connected compensation," Mills said in a prepared statement. "The kindest thing I can say about this is that it is not true."

"Benefits paid by the Veterans Administration are tax exempt," Mills said. "They have been. They are now. They will continue to be."

Auto Men To Focus On Better Mileage

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The nation's automakers have been called to the White House next week to discuss how to get most American cars to run 20 miles o a gallon of gas.

Interior Secretary Rogers C.B. Morton, appointed by President Ford to head the new Energy Resources Council, made the announcement yesterday at the panel's first meeting.

The auto companies will be asked to the White House next Tuesday to meet with Transportation Secretary Claude S. Brinegar and other officials.

The Environmental Protection Agency estimates that the average American car gets about 14 miles per gallon, some as low as seven.

If all models could be reengineered to get 20 miles per gallon, that would be at least a 40 per cent improvement.

In his economic message to Congress Oct. 15, President Ford promised to try to achieve this goal.

"I will meet with top management of the automobile industry to assure — either by agreement or by law — a firm program aimed at achieving a 40 per cent increase in gasoline mileage within a four-year development deadline," he said.

In a report to Congress yesterday, EPA and the Transportation Department said there is no reason manufacturers could not be turning out more economical cars by 1980.

Apple Picker Wins Lottery

HARRISBURG, Pa. (UPI) — Angel M. Sarrano, a former migrant apple picker who works as a janitor in a fabric mill, yesterday won $1 million in the Pennsylvania lottery.

Sarrano said he planned to quit his $9,000 a year job, build a new house for himself and his wife and bring his relatives to Pennsylvania from Puerto Rico.

Sarrano, 49, of Reading, Pa., is married but has no children. He has been in the United States for 17 years.

GM To Trim 6,000 More From Payroll; Sales Sag

DETROIT (UPI) — More than 6,000 General Motors workers will be idled indefinitely in the next month as U.S. automakers trim fourth quarter output by over 100,000 cars because of lagging sales of the 1975 models.

The announcement from GM yesterday that it is eliminating second shifts at three plants and cutting the assembly rate at a fourth facility was the latest indication that the hoped-for fall sales upturn has not materialized.

The industry still has close to 52,000 workers on indefinite layoffs from the energy crisis induced winter sales slump that at times saw 113,000 workers off the job. In the past year, GM cut 73,000 workers from its payrolls.

GM also became the first of the autoworkers to revise its 1975-model sales prediction downward from its original 10-million car estimate to 9.5 million. Some industry executives this past summer optimistically predicted sales of U.S. and imported cars might reach 10.5 million.

GM said 1,550 workers will be idled at its Kansas City, Mo., plant; 2,000 at Tarrytown, N.Y.; 1,650 at Van Nuys, and 700 at Willow Run, Mich. Second shifts at Kansas City, Tarrytown and Van Nuys will be discontinued Nov. 11 with the line speed at Willow Run being reduced from 70 cars an hour to 60 on each of two shifts Dec. 2.

Hospital Candidates Argue Road

By MARY LEYDECKER

The seven candidates for the Marin Hospital District board traded views last night, with the incumbents defending the operation of Marin General Hospital, two newcomers attacking it and two others indicating they thought they could do better than the present board.

The discussion was before members of the Marin Medical Society and others who gathered in Ross General Hospital's psychiatric unit — a somewhat ironic location since Ross General came under some criticism during the evening for lack of cooperation and coordinating with Marin General.

Although few really clear-cut issues arose during the evening, the incumbents, Marion C. Ibach, Thomas K. Procter and George H. Folsom, defended the realignment of Bon Air Road, which is costing Marin County taxpayers some 400,000 under an old contract with the county.

They also said expansion of hospital facilities (but not the number of beds) should be undertaken soon.

Candidates Darcie A. Barrows and Virginia M. Pedersen disagreed but with somewhat differing views, and the other challengers, William M. Taylor and T. David Fenix, indicated they thought their backgrounds made them more qualified than the incumbents.

Here are some of their views:

GEORGE H. FOLSOM — Folsom, who has served six years on the board, said the Bon Air Road realignment is "water over the dam" and that the matter had been settled in the courts, which required the county to carry out the project.

Folsom said Marin General is "bursting at the seams in the building we now have" and new facilities are needed, especially for ambulatory care. He backed a bond election for expansion of the hospital, estimated to cost $8.6 million.

MARION C. IBACH — Mrs. Ibach, a 28-year board member, said of her long service that "second only to my family, this is my interest." She said that on the board, "there are no issues — just day-to-day problems" and that the board does not run hospital departments but hires professionals to do this.

Mrs. Ibach, a retired nurse, also expressed views that Marin General "must become a center of prevention" of disease through new out-patient facilities.

In answer to questions about cooperating with Ross General Hospital, Mrs. Ibach said she had never been invited to a Ross hospital board meeting and that the only contact of the two boards was through the Comprehensive Health Planning Council. (Ross hospital has announced plans for a new general hospital somewhere north of San Rafael.)

THOMAS K. PROCTER — Procter, on the board six years, called Marin General a "very fine facility" which has not been overbuilt for the needs of citizens and "continues to be the lowest-cost hospital in the Bay Area."

He said the hospital is in the center of the county and that stopping its expansion and building another facility elsewhere would be "a tragedy."

Procter, retired real estate firm executive, also defended moving Bon Air Road, saying that to build a footbridge over the road from the present parking lot would have been expensive and then would be a waste if the hospital is expanded.

DARCIE A. BARROWS — Mrs. Barrows said that her "direct contact with patients" through volunteer service at Marin General has led her to believe the board needs "some fresh new ideas."

She said she has seen "a great deal of waste" at the hospital, heard complaints from patients and seen housekeepers "hiding out in empty rooms" rather than doing their work.

She suggested a "maid of the month" program as an incentive to good housekeeping in the hospital.

Mrs. Barrows, a housewife and volunteer, also suggested that the Board of Supervisors' chambers at the Marin Civic Center be used for monthly hospital board meetings rather than the small room at the hospital now used and that an advisory committee of physicians be named to the board.

She also said that Marin General could learn lessons from Ross General "which has to run efficiently" and that Marin General must take into consideration Ross's plans for a "rather large new hospital." She also said she did not think today's situation was the right time for expansion of Marin General.

T. DAVID FENIX — Fenix said he knows "nothing about hospital administration" but that he believes he can "go into the community" and bring back ideas to the board. Serving on the board is a matter of a "thinking process," he said.

Asked if he thought his job with Blue Shield of California might create a conflict of interest, he replied, "I put on my pants. Blue Shield doesn't."

VIRGINIA M. PEDERSEN — Mrs. Pedersen, a retired nurse who worked 20 years in an administrative job at Marin General, said she wants the hospital "to grow sanely."

She questioned the wisdom of spending more money at Marin General and said the ideal situation would be a "nice, big new hospital," but added, "nobody would pass the bond issue."

She said the present building "is gerrymandered" with the placement and spacing of departments is not logical.

Mrs. Pedersen, who said it was her own idea to run for the board, said incumbents on such boards "tend to go on forever" unless voters become aroused about issues such as happened with the Marin Municipal Water District.

WILLIAM M. TAYLOR — Taylor, who said he was asked by friends to run, several of them doctors, said he thought the present board has a "low visibility" and is "ingrown, to some extent."

As for Bon Air Road, he said, "road transplants should be at the bottom of the list of transplants" and he also questioned the advisibility of putting $8 million into "an old plant," Marin General.

Taylor, an investment councilor, said he thinks he is capable of "leading . . . thinking" on the hospital board and that cooperation with Ross General "makes a lot of sense."

Quintuplet Is Back On Milk

BALTIMORE (UPI) — Michelle Lynn Rohrer, the quintuplet who suffered a temporary setback when she couldn't digest milk formula like her brother and three sisters, has been taken off intravenous feeding.

Dr. Ronald Gutberlet, University Hospital Nursery director, said yesterday that tests had shown that only Michelle's small size had caused an inability to hold down milk feedings by mouth.

"We took a number of tests to make sure nothing else caused Michelle's setback and all the results have been negative," he said, adding that Michelle probably just got "too much milk too soon. She's doing very well now."

Sirica Gives Nixon Tapes For Defense

WASHINGTON (UPI) — With the long appearance of prosecution witness John W. Dean III nearing an end, Judge John J. Sirica today ordered that transcripts of White House tapes be given to former president Richard M. Nixon in preparation for his possible testimony at the Watergate cover-up trial.

Sirica, without comment, granted a motion filed by former Assistant Attorney General Herbert J. Miller Jr., Nixon's attorney, that the former president be given the transcripts of tapes the prosecution has or may play at the trial.

Nixon, who has been subpoenaed by both sides, is back in the hospital at Long Beach, and his doctors said they may operate if the anticoagulant drugs continue to be unsuccessful in relieving the complications of his phlebitis. Sirica has asked for a new medical report from Nixon's lawyers in about two weeks.

With Dean, the prosecution's first and foremost witness in his eighth day on the stand, David G. Bress, lawyer for former Assistant Attorney General Robert C. Mardian, one of five defendants, began crossexamination.

Bress, a former U.S. attorney here, questioned Dean, who was White House counsel until Nixon fired him, about his connections with G. Gordon Liddy, another former White House aide who has been convicted as a mastermind of the Watergate bugging.

"Isn't it a fact you learned from Bob Mardian that Liddy tried to get a job at the Department of Justice and was turned down because Mardian disapproved of him?" Bress asked.

"Yes, sir," Dean answered.

Bress pressed Dean on whether he knew that Liddy, a member of the White House "plumbers" special investigative unit, was involved in the 1971 Ellsberg break-in and the "spiriting away" of ITT lobbyist Dita Beard in March, 1972, while he was serving simultaneously as counsel for Nixon's reelection committee.

Dean said he did not believe the "plumbers" were involved in the Beard matter, and that he learned of Liddy's involvement in the break-in at the office of Pentagon Papers defendant Daniel Ellsberg's psychiatrist months after it happened.

Official Gets Work For A Sentence

John Tedmond Schulte, 48, administrator of the Southern Marin subregional sewerage agency, must do 240 hours of volunteer work for a drunken driving conviction.

But the San Rafael man will not go to jail, Superior Court Judge Charles Read Best ruled today.

Best imposed the sentence after attorney William O. Weissich argued that jail would pose a hardship on Schulte.

Schulte's wife suffered a broken back and torn intestines in the June 1 accident on White's Hill near Fairfax and requires daily attention from her husband, Weissich said.

The judge also placed Schulte on three years' probation, suspended a 30-day jail sentence and ordered him to make restitution to a Lagunitas couple hurt in the head-on crash. He also suspended Schulte's license for six months.

Schulte, originally charged with felony counts of drunken driving and hit and run, pleaded guilty to misdemeanor counts of the same offenses under a plea bargain.

100 Bikes Go On Auction

More than 100 bicycles, plus three televisions and other items will be sold at auction by the Marin Sheriff's Department beginning at 10:30 a.m. tomorrow.

The sale will be held at the northeast corner of the Marine Corps Armory parking lot adjacent to the Marin Civic Center lagoon.

The items may be previewed beginning at 8 a.m., said Inspector Edward F. Klementovich of the sheriff's department. No personal checks will be accepted and no refunds granted, he added.

Man Booked In Pot Sale

A 31-year-old Fairfax man was booked into county jail yesterday on suspicion of sale of 50 kilos of marijuana to narcotics agents.

Police said they arrested Richard Louis Hug, of 196½ Bothin Road, when he allegedly attempted to sell some $9,700 worth of marijuana to agents at a motel at 1600 Lincoln Avenue, San Rafael.

Hug, held in lieu of $25,000 bail, was scheduled to appear in municipal court today.

Sanitary Unit Allows Permits

Las Gallinas Valley Sanitary District Board last night approved connection permits for an 18-unit apartment project on Merrydale Road.

Directors said the so-called Kaehler-Timmer complex may have permits as long as it doesn't connect until next October, said Edward Tibbetts, district engineer.

Tibbetts said the board feels the district will have capacity to handle the project by late 1975.

MISSILE

cargo plane in flight. It was then successfully ignited and sent into flight for 10 seconds.

An Air Force spokesman said the 86,000-pound rocket was the largest weight ever dropped from an aircraft. The previous record was 55,000 pounds.

He said the missile was pulled out the back door of the C5A by parachutes at 20,000 feet over the western test range at Vandenberg Air Force Base, Calif. The rocket then fell with the parachutes turning it upright.

On the way down the missile ignited and at 8,000 feet built up enough thrust to stop falling and begin flying upward. The 10 seconds of fuel carried the missile to 20,000 feet before it fell back into the ocean.

The spokesman said the tests were made to determine if the aircraft could successfully drop such weights and if the missile could be ignited. He said missile guidance was not involved.

The Soviets are moving on to larger missiles with more powerful warheads that some strategists fear could be targeted to wipe out the 1,054 landbased missiles in the United States.

This has renewed interest in "mobile basing" of missiles on trucks, railroad carriages or planes so that the Soviets would not know where they were from one day to another and could not pretarget them all.

The Air Force has not kept its test series a secret but has not publicized it.

Village Approved

HOLIDAY

Schools will be in session as usual.

More than half of Marin's cities will take a holiday Monday. Sausalito, Mill Valley, Cotati, San Rafael, San Anselmo, Rohnert Park, Fairfax and Novato offices will all close, as will city libraries.

The City of San Rafael has declared a parking meter holiday, but meters in Mill Valley and Sausalito will operate as usual.

The Independent-Journal will publish as usual.

Both the Marin Municipal Water District and the North Marin Municipal Water District offices will be closed.

Meetings scheduled for Monday that will be postponed are:

Cotati Planning Commission, to Nov. 4 at 7:30 p.m.

Two Sentenced On Pot Growing Get Probation

Two Mill Valley men caught growing about 200 marijuana plants in their back yard were sentenced today in Marin Superior Court.

Ronald Stephen Paul, 25, received one year's probation, 30 days in Marin County Jail and a $250 fine on the offense, declared a misdemeanor by Superior Court Judge Charles Read Best.

And Andrew Michael Schultz, 26, drew the same sentence, but his jail term was suspended.

Both men pleaded guilty to marijuana possession.

They were arrested in July after neighbors complained to Mill Valley police that the pot plants were growing over a fence.

State To Sell Tahoe Property

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The California Department of Transportation will auction eight homes and 30 residential lots near Lake Tahoe next month.

The department's announcement yesterday said the property was acquired for a lakeshore freeway, but the California Highway Commission abandoned the plan last June.

The properties, to be auctioned Nov. 15, are along California 89 in the Meeks Bay and Rubicon Bay areas 12 miles south of Tahoe City.

Princess's Spouse Will Shun Politics

LONDON (UPI) — Neil Balfour, whose wife plans to marry actor Richard Burton, has withdrawn as a parliamentary candidate in any future election, a local Conservative party official said today.

Dentist Still Has Practice

Dr. Charles Musante, identified in yesterday's Independent-Journal as a retired San Rafael dentist, is far from retired and maintains an active practice, he told the I-J today.

Dr. Musante's picture appeared in connection with a Roaring Twenties show performed for members of the San Rafael Goldenaires.

Boy Scouts Will Sell Decorations

Boy Scouts will be selling Christmas decorations in the Gallinas Valley-Los Ranchitos area tomorrow and Sunday.

Members of Troop 39 will go house to house to take orders for holly, wreaths and garlands. The fresh greens, from Chehalis, Wash., will be delivered the second week of December.

This is the third year the Troop has conducted the sale, according to H. L. (Herb) Walkup, one of the sale chairmen. Proceeds will be used for troop activities, including camping and hiking trips.

Interested persons can contact Walkup at 180 Whittier Avenue.

Rare Cranes Reach Refuge

ARANSAS PASS, Tex. (UPI) — Six of 48 known surviving wild whooping cranes have reached their winter nesting grounds at the Aransas Wildlife Refuge on the Texas Gulf Coast, officials reported yesterday.

Four more whoopers were seen earlier in the week over Central Kansas and were belived nearing the refuge.

Forty-seven of the near-extinct birds left the refuge last spring to spend the summer in the North. One whooper remained behind, according to refuge officials, but has not been seen since the recent arrivals.

advocate of car pools, Balshaw is chairman of RIDES, which arranges car pools within the Bay Area, and he commutes in a car pool daily to the Federal Building from his home in Petaluma.

Computed on the same basis as the Novato trip, a Petaluma to San Francisco bus commuter saves $2,675 per year and the car pool member $1,433 over the lone auto driver for the 84-mile round trip.

The San Rafael bus traveler saves a substantial $1,905 and the car pool member $1,373 over what their lone-driver counterpart pays.

Similarly, the shopper who hops into the bus instead of the car to spend the day in San Francisco economizes at the rate of $10.70 from Petaluma, $8.20 from Novato and $4.90 from San Rafael.

From San Rafael and points north the bus traveler easily saves the most.

But from Mill Valley, a much shorter distance, the three-member car pool driver wins. It costs him about $441.66 to cover the 22-mile round trip commute each year, while the bus rider pays $612.50 and the lone driver $1,325.

By either switching to the bus or opening the car door to other passengers, the North Bay commuter can slash travel costs.

Water Quality Workshop Set

Marin Municipal Water District directors will conduct a public workshop on water quality and conservation at 7:30 p.m. Monday at the district office, 220 Nellen Avenue, Corte Madera.

Staff and directors will speak and answer questions on water quality standards and the effect of storage, treatment and distribution on water quality.

The board also will consider a new policy on water conservation to help water supply meet new customer demand, according to district Gen. Mgr. J. Dietrich Stroeh.

Auto Stolen

A 1970 Buick automobile was reported stolen yesterday from a parking lot at 502 Francisco Boulevard, according to San Rafael police. Police said that the car, with 156ERL license plates, was owned by Douglas H. Ballinger of 50 Makin Grade, Kentfield.

OBITUARIES

Louis J. Stefani Dies At 78

Louis J. Stefani of San Rafael, former assistant manager of the Marin Municipal Water District, died yesterday in a local hospital after a long illness. He was 78.

Stefani was born in San Francisco but moved to Marin with his family as a child.

He began working for the water district as a meter reader in 1917 and rose through the ranks to become superintendent of construction and maintenance in 1934. In 1954 he was named assistant general manager, second in command to former Gen. Mgr. William R. Seeger.

Stefani was a member of the San Rafael Elks Lodge and the Wilkins Post of the American Legion.

He is survived by his wife, Inez; a brother, Peter S. Stefani, and a niece and nephew.

A Mass of Christian Burial will be offered at 10 a.m. tomorrow at St. Raphael's Church.

An Elks service will be at 7:30 p.m. today at Keaton's Mortuary, followed by recitation of the Rosary at 8 p.m.

Entombment will be in Mount Olivet Cemetery.

The family prefers contributions to St. Raphael's Church.

MRS. WISEHEART

The name of the late Ardith R. Wiseheart was misspelled in her obituary in yesterday's Independent-Journal, as a result of incorrect information from the mortuary.

Memorial service will be held at 8 p.m. today at Chapel of the Hills, San Anselmo, for Mrs. Wiseheart. She is survived by her husband, Sherman Wiseheart of San Anselmo; her father, Arthur J. Reed, and a brother, Roger Reed, both of Wonewoc, Wis.

IRMA HERKNER

Irma E. Herkner of San Rafael died yesterday in a local convalescent hospital after a long illness.

Mrs. Herkner, 75, was the wife of Clarence G. Herkner, retired principal and teacher for San Rafael City Schools.

She was born in Downieville, Sierra County, and had lived in Marin 30 years. Mrs. Herkner was a member of the San Rafael chapter of the Order of the Eastern Star for 30 years and before that belonged to the McCloud chapter of the Eastern Star for 14 years. She also was a member of the Tamalpais Center Women's Club.

In addition to her husband, Mrs. Herkner is survived by a daughter, JoAnn E. Olson of Columbus, Ga.; a son, Richard T. Herkner of Honolulu, Hawaii; a sister, Eugenie Marie Wright and four grandchildren.

A memorial service will be at 3 p.m. Monday at the First Presbyterian Church in San Rafael.

THERESA AZEVEDO

Mass of Christian Burial for Theresa Azevedo of Petaluma will be at 10 a.m. Sunday at St. Rose Catholic Church in Santa Rosa.

Mrs. Azevedo, a native of the Azores who had lived 54 years in Southern Sonoma, died yesterday in a local hospital after a short illness.

She was a member of the Holy Ghost Society, Our Lady's Miracle Society and St. Vincent's Catholic Church in Petaluma.

Her husband, Antonio S. Azevedo, preceded her in death.

She is survived by two sons, Tony and Joseph Azevedo of Petaluma; two daughters, Lillian M. Miller of Santa Rosa and Evelyn Bello of Petaluma, 14 grandchildren and 18 great-grandchildren.

The Rosary will be recited at 8 p.m. Sunday at the Lafferty and Smith Colonial Chapel in Santa Rosa. Burial will be in Calvary Cemetery there.

KATHRYN PRONINI

Kathryn V. Pronini of Petaluma, a longtime resident of Southern Sonoma County died yesterday in a local hospital after a brief illness. She was 69.

She was a native of Montana who came to Petaluma 66 years ago. Mrs. Pronini attended St. Vincent's School and was a lifelong member of St. Vincent's Catholic Church in Petaluma. Her home was at 949 B Street.

She is survived by her husband, Charles Pronini; a son, Fred Starke of Petaluma; two daughters, Kathleen De Bernardi and Maureen Bettinelli, both of Petaluma; and three sisters, Rose Crosby of Napa and Noreen Avis and Mary Keys, both of Pomona, Los Angeles County.

Mass of Christian Burial will be at 10 a.m. tomorrow at St. Vincent's. The Rosary will be recited at 8 p.m. today at the Parent Funeral Chapel. Interment will be in Calvary Cemetery, Petaluma.

County May Take Over Controversial Ravine Cabins

By PAUL E. PETERZELL

State plans to demolish the controversial cabins at Steep Ravine south of Stinson Beach were denied early today by the coastal commission, which got an informal offer from Marin County to fix up the cabins and rent them to the public.

Supervisor Gary T. Giacomini, sitting for the first time as a member of the North Central Coast Regional Commission, offered to have the county take over the 13 cabins from the state Parks and Recreation Department. The department has leased them to politically influential Bay Area citizens since the ravine was added to Mount Tamalpais State Park 14 years ago.

The director of the department, William Penn Mott, promptly assured the commission his department "would be very happy" to turn the cabins over to the county. Mott and other department officials drove down from Sacramento to attend the hearing in the West Marin Community Center in Point Reyes Station, and waited almost five hours before the item came up on the agenda at 12:10 a.m.

Giacomini told the Independent-Journal that he had not discussed his offer yet with his fellow supervisors, but predicted they will approve it. The board already is on record against demolition of the cabins.

The commission also denied an application by Transcentury Properties to build 1,650 homes at its Bodega Harbor subdivision, and heard West Marin citizens protest a proposed policy to encourage greatly expanded recreational use of the coast.

Mott testified that his department's engineers and architects estimated it would cost $200,000 to recondition the cabins so they would meet minimum codes for public accommodation, a figure Giacomini later said could be cut to about $25,000. The director also said the state would lose almost $40,000 a year if it rented out the cabins at $125 a week, which he said was money it did not have.

Giacomini, however, estimated that rental revenue could match costs. Mott figured the state's cost to operate the cabins at more than $80,000 a year, while the supervisor put the figure at half as much.

Giacomini said details of the rental system would be determined by the county's parks and recreation commission.

Mott also objected that such overnight facilities should be inland to protect the fragile coast from excessive "wear and tear." Leaving the cabins up will encourage expansion of facilities around them, he predicted, commenting the cabins were "not a proper use of this area."

Giacomini announced that Sen. Peter H. Behr, R-San Rafael, had agreed to introduce legislation to permit the county to take over the cabins, if he is reelected. Such a bill could not become law until January. (The 1974 Legislature ordered the cabins demolished after political pressure on the department by the lease holders prevented all attempts to open them to the public.)

Mott told the I-J that the present lease holders would be permitted to remain in the cabins until the cabins were taken over by the county. Their presence would help prevent vandalism of the cabins, he said. A caretaker who formerly occupied one of the cabins has left. The leases are for $41.66 a month.

Supporting demolition of the cabins were the Tamalpais Conservation Club, the Nature Friends, and Lenore Bravo, a San Francisco marine biologist.

Opposing demolition were the commission's staff, Marin Conservation League, San Francisco Chronicle columnist Harold Gilliam and about a half dozen citizens in the audience who indicated their opposition in a show of hands.

The Transcentury Bodega Harbor project was turned down with only four votes for it and nine against, and one commissioner absent. The developer has pending a court challenge to the commission's denial of a claim that the commission has no jurisdiction over the project since it was begun before the commission was created.

Also defeated was a move by San Francisco Supervisor Robert Mendelsohn to cut some 700 units out of the project. Protesting the move, Commissioner Wanda Zankich of Bodega Bay said that "when you cut a guy's throat, you don't ask him to give to the blood bank."

Giacomini also attacked Mendelsohn's attempt to cut the size of the project, objecting it still was so large that it would have an "incredible adverse environmental impact." He branded Mendelsohn's move "absolute insanity."

In the hearing on the proposed policy on intensity of development along the coast, numerous citizens protested that it would encourage so much recreational use that the coast would be swamped with visitors, and its amenities lost as a result.

Stewart Udall To Discuss Environmental Crisis

Former Secretary of the Interior Stewart L. Udall will speak on the energy environment crisis at 8 p.m. Nov. 6 in Olney Hall at the College of Marin.

As chief of the nation's conservation and development of natural resources under Presidents Kennedy and Johnson, Udall exhibited a strong interest in conservation. In 1969 he formed Overview, an international consulting firm on environmental problems.

He is the author of two books, "The Quiet Crisis," and "1976: Agenda for Tomorrow," and writes a nationally syndicated column, "Udall on the Environment."

An Arizonan, Udall received a law degree from the University of Arizona and served in Congress, where he was a member of the House Interior Committee, for six years.

In 1969-70 he was visiting Professor of Environmental Humanism Yale Yal University.

Admission to the program is $2.50.

THE POPULATION HOP

Members of the Population Action Group danced outside the entrance to 10 Downing Street in London yesterday in rabbit costumes as other members of the group presented a letter to the British prime minister pointing out that world population will double over the next 30 years. The group demanded better public education on birth control and population issues and for increased overseas aid to poorer countries.

Teen Actor Is Arrested

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Teen-age actor Danny D. Bonaduce, 15, the red-haired financial wizard on television's "Partridge Family", has been released in the custody of his parents following a brief marijuana arrest.

San Francisco police said they stopped a car early Saturday which had a burned out license plate light. Police said they searched the car after the driver got out and said, "Listen, man, don't bust me for the grass. I'm a good kid." Bonaduce was sleeping in the back seat of the car in which they found a half-pound of marijuana and narcotics paraphernalia.

San Anselmo Schools Pay Hike Voted

The San Anselmo School District Board last night approved a 9.5 per cent pay increase for district employees.

The wage boost for teachers and classified personnel will cost $132,551 annually, according to the school administration.

Supt. Frank R. Elliott said the board took no action on a request by district administrators for a 10 per cent pay hike.

The board last night learned from colleague Millard R. Morgen that he intends to resign next March 31. Morgen, elected to a four year term in April, 1973, feels he has "put in his time," Elliott said.

The board said it will next meet Tuesday at Isabel Cook School at 8 p.m., and said the school auditorium will be used since a large crowd is expected to convene as the board considers closing of school sites.

The board also said it will meet at 8 p.m. Nov.21 at Red Hill School to consider calling a tax hike rate election in March, due to sagging finances.

Brother Testifies In Ex-Marin Promoter's Fraud Charges Trial

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The brother of oil promoter Jack P. Burke told a jury yesterday how he set up firms the government contends were "dummies" used to siphon investors' money into the defendant's pockets.

Jack Burke, 48, a former Marin resident now living in La Mesa, organizer of the GeoTek oil enterprises, is on trial before U.S. District Judge William T. Sweigert on 17 counts of security fraud and conspiracy. He raised $30 million from 2,200 investors for oil explorations.

In 1964 he retired from the San Francisco Police Department on a disability pension and he said his older brother took him into his business.

Island Oil Co., Robert said, was incorporated in a quick trip to Colorado through an attorney picked at random.

As in the cases of two other companies — Continental Petroleum, formed in Lincoln, Neb., and Regent Oil Corp. in San Francisco — Robert, his wife and a friend were sole directors. Robert testified his brother put up all the money.

Operating in a one-room office, Island Oil acquired oil leases which it then sold to the Jack Burke firm, Fundamental Oil, which managed all the exploration programs he sold to investors.

The government contended that with corporate "shells" like Island Oil, Jack Burke would sell dry wells and leases at inflated prices, through Fundamental, to his various investor programs. By this method three firms alone, the prosecution said, milked investors in 1968-69 of $908,281 that went to Jack Burke.

Robert said he took money from Island Oil and put it in his personal account.

"I would receive a phone call from Jack for me to make out a check for 'X' amount and I would do that," Robert said.

In the beginning the witness said he was paid for his effort with $500 monthly checks sent to his wife by the brother. In 1966 the checks were raised to $1,000 a month.

So far in the trial, which opened Wednesday, the government has presented as witnesses two investors whose transactions were the basis of counts in the indictment.

They were Dr. Alvin J. Novack, a Seattle surgeon and Dr. Robert S. White, also Seattle, an orthodontist. Each invested $80,000 in a Burke program.

Permit Is Approved For Retired Home

A use permit for an apartment home for retired persons was approved last night by the Rohnert Park Planning Commission.

Leonard Stewart, owner of the Loch Lomond apartments at 781 East Cotati Avenue, told the commission he plans to convert his building into lodgings for up to 72 retired persons. The facility includes a cafeteria. Most of the elderly residents are expected to be self-sufficient, he said.

Presently, according to commission secretary Sandra Faus, the building is occupied by residents of all ages.

The Rohnert Park Planning Commission also:

PERMITS — Approved a permit allowing Donald L. Reed of 518 Ava Avenue to operate a mail order business from his home and extended for one year the permit allowing an advertising billboard above the Pisani Brothers Monument Co. at 5675 South Santa Rosa Avenue.

PLANS — Granted permission to developers of Country Club Garden Estates to include small-car-sized parking spaces in the parking lot required by zoning regulations for a 42-unit apartment complex at the southwest corner of Avram Avenue and Santa Alicia Drive.

HIGHWAYS — Asked for volunteers to serve on a committee which will draw up the scenic highways element of the city general plan.

MEETING — Adjourned to 7:30 p.m. Nov. 14, the date set for the next regular meeting at City Hall.

Benny's Better, Until Billed

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Jack Benny ended his hospital stay in character — with a joke.

Doctors had said they found nothing serious, that Benny apparently suffered only a dizzy spell and a stomach ache. Benny — the perennial tightwad character — was asked as he left the hospital whether he still felt the pain.

"No, I won't have a stomach ache until I get the bill," he replied.

Two Shakespeare Comedies Slated

Human Rights Panel Winds Down San Rafael Tensions Probe

By ERIK M. INGRAM

The Marin County Human Rights Commission last night ended its probe into a controversial confrontation between police and Terra Linda youths by concluding both sides engaged in unwarranted behavior.

In dropping their probe, however, commissioners agreed to ask the county grand jury to investigate allegations that one San Rafael officer brandished a pistol inside a private home while another held a youth with a shotgun.

The commission also approved several recommendations aimed at easing tensions in the San Rafael neighborhood: Police community seminars, more youth recreation facilities and creation of a city human rights commission.

The matter stems from a teen-age beer party last August at the Dan E. Williams' home on Skyview Terrace. Officers, responding to neighborhood complaints, said their attempts to break up the party were met with abusive language and flying beer bottles.

Youths at the party offered a different story, saying police entered the home without legal cause, brandished weapons, and attacked some teen-agers with night sticks and Mace, among other things.

Douglas H. Bosco, director of the county Human Relations Department, told commissioners last night an "in-house" police report on the incident leaves a number of questions unanswered.

He said the report, sent to the commission by Police Chief Lawrence R. Kelly, fails to establish that police had cause to enter the home. If not, he said, it's doubtful police allegations that the youths resisted arrest and assaulted officers could be legally sustained. Resisting arrest — following an unlawful entry by police — is not necessarily a crime, he said.

He concluded, however, that "serious infractions may have been committed on both sides. While I would not condone police impropriety, there is plenty of evidence to indicate that a number of young people engaged in unwarranted and even outrageous behavior.

"No person's rights are effectuated by the throwing of beer bottles and the shouting of abusive and intimidating language."

A number of commissioners voiced similar opinions during the course of the two-hour meeting.

Anise M. Turina, who said her son and daughter attended the party, set the tone of the meeting in urging commissioners to conclude their probe.

"I feel the police department has learned a lesson. . . .the children have learned something and I would really like to see this thing stopped," she said.

Mrs. Turina, who said she may run for the city council in March, told commissioners she discussed the matter with San Rafael policemen shortly after the August incident because the fight might have been caused by a "bad apple" on the force.

One officer involved has since been hired by another police department and "I feel I've accomplished my goal," she said, adding the officer's departure may not have been connected with the party incident.

Mrs. Turina added that she felt the city council "was very, very wrong" in its action Monday directing police officers not to cooperate with the commission's probe.

Parents and youths in the audience generally agreed with a proposal from the county Juvenile Delinquency Prevention Commission that police community seminars be set up.

Several, however, expressed concern that the pulling of guns on youths not be dismissed. "Maybe a child will be shot next time," one parent said, and the commission agreed to refer the matter as well as some discrepancies in the police report to the grand jury.

San Rafael City Mgr. William J. Bielser said today the city has budgeted $15,000 for a "teen wing" on the Terra Linda recreation center. He said youths would be invited to help plan the new wing.

On a related matter last night, Commissioner Robert Lee Grant criticized Bosco and Chairman Ernest Gray for their comments in yesterday's Independent-Journal.

Bosco and Gray were critical of the city council's move to block questioning of police officers by the rights commission.

Doctor Says Nixon May Face Knife

LONG BEACH (UPI) — The likelihood that Richard Nixon will undergo surgery appeared to increase today, with doctors working to determine whether he is among a minority of phlebitis patients who do not respond well to drug treatment.

"If anticoagulant (drug) therapy cannot be adequately established and controlled, then surgical intervention is a real possibility," Nixon's physician, Dr. John Lungren, said yesterday.

A medical source at the hospital said that the language of Lungren's statement indicated surgery is more than just a possibility, but a likelihood. He noted that Nixon approves all such statements before they are made public.

The 61-year-old former president was ordered rehospitalized Wednesday night by Lungren, who said he was concerned about the apparent failure of drug treatments given Nixon at home in San Clemente.

Tests showed the phlebitis, which has dogged Nixon from his Egyptian trip as president to self exile in San Clemente, has spread throughout the veins of his left leg.

Span Board Protests Warships

Golden Gate Bridge District directors, despairing of ever getting Bay Area Navy officials to end the practice of running aircraft carriers under the Golden Gate Bridge at peak morning commute hours, decided today to carry the fight to Washington.

Directors voted unanimously to appeal to the secretary of the navy and to the congressmen representing the area, presumably including Phillip Burton, D-Fifth District, and John L. Burton, D-Sixth District.

Regardless of the conditions, the Navy for years has sent aircraft carriers through the Golden Gate at about 8 a.m., when they are seen by the largest possible number of persons.

In the latest incident last Friday, the carrier Ranger passed under the bridge at about 8 a.m., causing southbound commute traffic to back up to Marin City as motorists slowed down to look, according to Gen. Mgr. Dale W. Luehring.

The practice, subject of frequent complaint by the district to local Navy officials, "creates a needless hardship on local residents due to lost time and discomfort of disrupted traffic, as well as subjecting motorists to the increased hazard of stopped traffic," Luehring said.

Oakland Jury Indicts Marinites On Heroin

I-J Special Report

OAKLAND — Two San Rafael men were among six persons indicted yesterday by the Alameda County Grand Jury on felony narcotics charges stemming from a raid on a Berkeley residence believed to be the center of a big dope operation.

Charged with sale of heroin and possession of heroin for sale were John Hickman, 30, of 16 Bayview Street, and Alphonso Hicks, 27, of 720 B Street. Both have been held in jail in Alameda County since Sept. 30, when federal and local agents raided the Berkeley house after an alleged sale of heroin to an agent.

William DuBois, deputy district attorney in Alameda County, said he took the case to the grand jury yesterday rather than go through a preliminary hearing in municipal court.

One young woman arrested with the others at the Berkeley house, who gave her age as 25 and her name as Angela Magino, turned out to be a 17-year-old Yurok Indian girl who had run away from the reservation in Northern California, DuBois said.

The girl, whose mother testified before the grand jury, will be dealt with in juvenile court.

Also charged along with Hickman and Hicks in adult court are Lloyd Foushey, 34, of Berkeley, multiple heroin sales and using a minor to sell heroin; Pherell T. Davis, 24, of Portland, Ore., possession of heroin for sale, and Carolyn Dawson, 27, of Berkeley, and Raymond Boyd, age and address unknown, sale of heroin.

The six, all being held in jail except Davis, are to be arraigned next week in Alameda County Superior Court.

Officer Wounded

BUENOS AIRES (UPI) — Two unidentified gunmen on a motorcycle shot and wounded a retired Argentine army officer today — the 11th military casualty since leftist guerrillas pledged a revenge campaign against the army a month ago.

'WELL, LOOK AT THAT'

Wherever there are men at work, there will be men on hand to watch, as these "sidewalk superintendents" demonstrate in San Rafael's Courthouse Square. Landscaping and terracing are nearing completion in the office-garage complex on the site of the old Marin County Courthouse. Bricklaying had progressed to this point yesterday, thanks to an endless supply of kibitzers.

Goldwater Clarifies Rocky Quote

TUCSON, Ariz. (UPI) — Sen. Barry Goldwater said today that a comment he made yesterday concerning whether Nelson A. Rockefeller would be confirmed as vice president was misinterpreted.

During a radio interview yesterday, Goldwater was asked what he thought Rockefeller's chances were of being confirmed and he replied:

"Right now, I think there may be a better chance that his name will be withdrawn than have it submitted to further questioning. I do know there are people in the Senate who are in Washington, not out campaigning, who have approached the President on that suggestion."

Goldwater said later that he did not mean there was a good chance President Ford would ask for withdrawal of the Rockefeller nomination. Goldwater said if the nomination appeared doomed, Rockefeller might withdraw voluntarily.

Rocky Foe Asks Quiz Of Brother On Transport Agencies Merger

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A harsh critic of Nelson A. Rockefeller's nomination as vice president says his brother David should be called before the Senate Rules Committee to testify about a six-year-old merger of two huge New York transportation agencies.

Sen. Jesse Helms, R-N.C., said in a letter that the committee should question David about a 1968 agreement engineered by his brother to merge the money-making Triborough Bridge and Tunnel Authority (TBTA) with the nearly bankrupt Metropolitan Transportation Authority.

David is president of Chase Manhattan Bank — the trustees of the TBTA bondholders — who received an extra one-fourth of 1 per cent return on their investment under the deal.

Details of the transaction were released Wednesday.

Dr. William J. Ronan, who was named to become chairman of the merged agency, later received gifts totaling $100,000 from Rockefeller.

Asked a few days ago if there was any impropriety in the agreement, Rockefeller said:

"You have to remember who benefitted from the merger — the people of New York. This merger saved the bus and subway fare in New York City — it would have gone up if we hadn't been able to use the TBTA profits."

The documents released Wednesday under court order showed the holders of $362 million worth of TBTA bonds received the extra interest in the 1968 pact. In return they allowed revenues from the Triborough's profitable operations to be used to offset the subway deficit of the MTA.

Union Ordered To Stop Bias

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Washington Human Rights Commission has tentatively decided that the Communications Worker of America must develop a plan for equal opportunity for women and minorities.

Sixty per cent of the union's members are female. But the commission said yesterday there has been only one female vice president on the union's executive board since 1955. It cited an "atmosphere of discrimination based on sex."

The commission issued a "proposed ruling" that Sally Kraus Marshall, hired in 1967 as a statistical assistant but not considered for the job of field economist, is entitled to $17,000 in back wages, interest and compensation for lost promotion opportunities.

Ray's Imprisoned Brother Relates Boast By Attorney

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UPI) — James Earl Ray's brother testified today that famed trial lawyer Percy Foreman said when he took Ray's case that he could convince jurors to "want to shoot Martin Luther King themselves."

John Ray, brought from a federal prison where he is serving an 18-year term as an accessory to bank robbery, said he and another brother, Jerry, first met with Foreman on Nov. 10, 1968.

"He just said he'd have Jimmy walking on the streets," John Ray said at the evidentiary hearing that could lead to a new trial for the convicted assassin of the civil rights leader.

John Ray, to be followed on the stand by his brother, Jerry, and finally by James Earl Ray, quoted Foreman as saying he planned to show a jury films of "cities burning from Martin Luther King talk.

"He said after two weeks of this, the jury would want to shoot (Martin Luther King) themselves."

John Ray was asked if he ever told an FBI agent that Ray mentioned going to Rhodesia, or mentioned that country's prime minister, Ian Smith.

"I might have told an FBI agent anything," John Ray answered. At that point, James Earl Ray, wearing the same grey suit he has worn since the hearing began Tuesday, buried his face in his hands laughing.

John Ray, the last of four witnesses testifying yesterday, was asked by defense lawyer James Lesar if his brother ever told him Foreman wanted him to plead guilty.

"Do you recall?" asked defense attorney James H. Lesar of Washington, D.C. "Did Jimmy ever talk to you or write you that Foreman wanted him to plead guilty?"

"Yes," said John. "Jimmy said the judge said he couldn't have any more attorneys or continuances, so Foreman had him boxed in. He didn't have no choice."

Ray, who pleaded guilty to the slaying March 10, 1969, accuses Foreman and his other former defense attorney, Arthur Hanes Sr., of Birmingham, Ala., of pressuring him to confess. Ray contends the lawyers did not provide adequate counsel.

RARE VIEW OF MONUMENTS

The tip of the towering Washington Monument looms over the dome-shaped roof of the Jefferson Memorial near the Tidal Basin in Washington, D.C. Workmen were making repairs to the dome Wednesday, producing a scene that recalled the Perisphere and Trylon symbol of the New York World's Fair of decades ago. (UPI Telephoto)

Nazi Leader Arrested In Boston

BOSTON (UPI) — Two uniformed members of the American Nazi Party were arrested today after one of them attempted to force his way into a federal building and deliver to U.S. District Judge W. Arthur Garrity a letter opposing his order to desegregate Boston schools.

Matt Koehl, national commander of the organization, was arrested by federal officials when he attempted to force his way through the door. He was whisked away to a nearby elevator and taken to the U.S. Attorney's office, officials said.

Koehl was among five Nazi members who were blocked from entering the building which contains Garrity's court. They and other members, wearing brown shirts and red swastika armbands, arrived aboard a yellow bus bearing huge "White Power" signs and spent 20 minutes attempting to get past General Services Adminstration police.

A second member was arrested by Boston police when he tried to drive the bus the wrong way up a one-way street. He was not immediately identified.

A large crowd began gathering in front of the building around noontime snarling traffic in all directions. A number of persons hurled insults at the Nazis and some spit at them.

Three members of the Nazi party were arrested yesterday on state charges of attempting to incite a riot. The charges were later reduced to disorderly conduct.

A federal grand jury yesterday handed down the first indictments for civil rights violations stemming from implementation of Garrity's order. The charges involved the alleged beating of a black man by two whites.

The Massachusetts National Guard meantime announced it would relieve the 1st Squadron of the 26th Cavalry and Company B of the 220th Infantry, both placed on alert last week by Gov. Francis W. Sargent following flareups of racial violence.

Poll Finds Less Rocky Support

NEW YORK (UPI) — A Louis Harris poll taken during September indicates dwindling public support for the confirmation of Nelson Rockefeller as vice president.

In a poll released yesterday, Harris reported a margin of 47 to 40 per cent in support of the confirmation. The figures were down from the 55 to 31 per cent margin reported in early September.

The decline occurred before it was reported that Rockefeller gave a number of cash gifts to associates and that his brother, Laurance, helped finance a derogatory book in 1970 about Rockefeller's New York gubernatorial opponent Arthur Goldberg.

A SIGN OF THE TIMES

A barricaded roadway and a "closed" sign stop traffic to the Bonneville Dam on the Columbia River after the Army Corps of Engineers closed the dam to the public because of an extortionist's threats to black out the Portland area. The roadblock was set up yesterday. The dam, 35 miles east of Portland, is the latest focal point in a rash of power installation bombings in Oregon, where 11 transmission lines have been dynamited during the last three weeks. Edward Sanchez said the dam was closed because of "the temper of the times."

Cohen Claims Patty Hearst Found

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Retired mobster Mickey Cohen says he has found fugitive Patricia Hearst near the Canadian border and urged her to avoid capture because it would mean a long prison term.

Cohen, 61, paralyzed from the waist down because of a severe beating received while he was in prison in 1963, told KPIX Television reporter Marilyn Baker Thursday night that he talked with two associates of the newspaper heiress 10 days ago. He declined to identify the city in which she was hiding.

He said he used underworld contacts to find her, and that FBI agents contacted him "a few days ago" and confirmed she had been in the city.

They told him they believed she fled into Canada, he said, adding that neither he nor the agents knew her current whereabouts.

The FBI declined comment on Cohen's disclosures.

In October, it was reported, Cohen met with Randolph A. Hearst, president and editor of The San Francisco Examiner, and his wife, Catherine, in Los Angeles. He said the Hearsts wanted him to help in finding their daughter.

Miss Hearst, 20, was abducted from her apartment near the University of California campus in Berkeley by the Symbionese Liberation Army in February. She subsequently eschewed her past life to join the underground guerrilla team.

Cohen said his underworld pals found Miss Hearst and SLA associates Bill Harris and his wife Emily in hiding. He said he communicated with Miss Hearst by means of two new members of the SLA who were with them.

Cohen, who served 10 years in federal custody on income tax evasion charges, said FBI agents told him, "that figures," when he told them the name of the city. He declined to say on which side of the border the city was.

Miss Baker, a constant critic of the FBI's handling of the Hearst case and author of the book "Exclusive" about the kidnap, said Cohen began his criminal career in Cleveland, home town of Donald DeFreeze, the SLA leader who was killed in a shootout with law enforcement officers in Los Angeles in May.

Five other SLA members also died in the battle.

Cohen said the Hearsts told him of the multiple state and federal charges aginst their daughter.

So, he said, he told the two SLA intermediaries that Miss Hearst should remain on the run because, if caught, she would be in prison many years and he did not like to see anyone behind bars.

The Chicago Tribune said Cohen had volunteered to engineer an abduction of Miss Hearst from the SLA for return to her parents.

The newspaper said Cohen and the Hearsts met for two hours in a Los Angeles restaurant.

Cohen repeatedly mentioned his "contacts in the ghettos" would help him find Miss Hearst. The Tribune said the kidnap idea was scrapped by the Hearsts because it might involve a criminal act.

Hearst himself acknowledged he had met with Cohen, but was skeptical that he had pinpointed his daughter's hideaway.

"We've had everything," Hearst said, "that she may be in Panama to Guatemala to Canada . . . you name it."

(At his home in Los Angeles, following the televised report, Cohen issued a statement denying that the city he spoke of was near the Canadian border. "I have no knowledge she is near Canada. As of 10 days ago, as far as I knew she was not near Canada," Cohen said. He did not explain the conflict between this statement and his remarks to the San Francisco reporter in a filmed interview.)

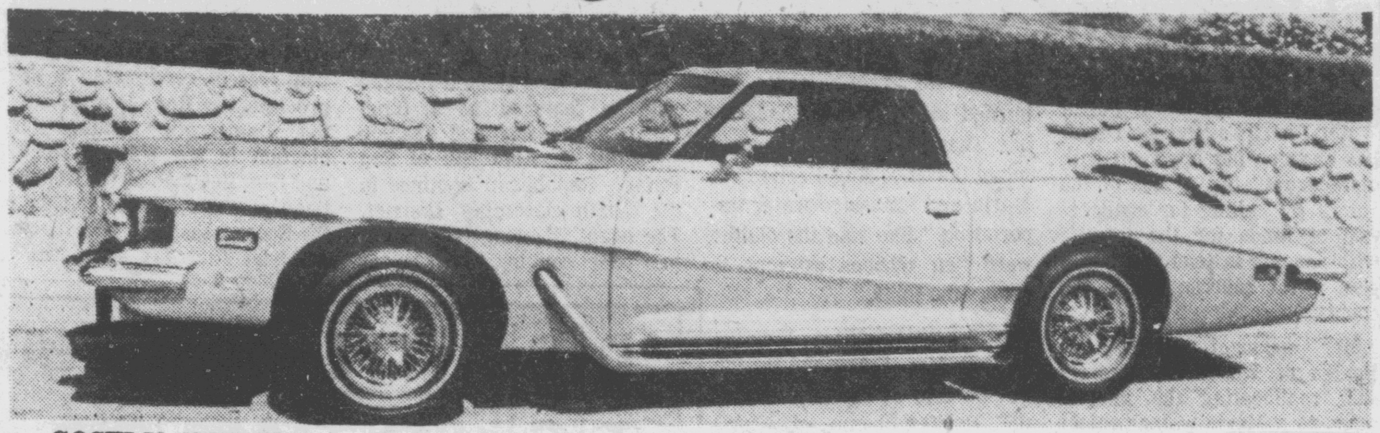
Money's Not Enough To Buy Stutz

By DAVID WINDER
The Christian Science Monitor
News Service



COSTLY WHEELS — With a $50,000 price tag and only one dealer in the world, the snob appeal of the Stutz Black Hawk is great. (Christian Science Monitor News Service photo)

LOS ANGELES — The steering wheel is 18-karat gold. So is the automatic gearshift lever. The wood paneling is lacquered and hand-rubbed 22 times.

The cost is a mere $50,000 — but you can't buy one until the world's only dealer and the manufacturer agree that you have sufficient "character and quality," that you will use it in an "area of influence" and that you are accustomed to a "quality exotic car."

A Rolls Royce? No — Stutz Black Hawk (no relation to the famous Stutz Bear Cat of the Gatsby era).

The car, made in Torino, Italy, for the world's only dealer here in Southern California, is a frank appeal to snobbery and wealth — and a reminder that even in days of worldwide inflation and budget-cutting, there are some people for whom a $50,000 car with mink-and-leather seats is still eminently possible.

Among the 18 Stutz owners in the United States (there are 150 world-wide) is Elvis Presley, who already has four and is buying another for his home in Hawaii. Sammy Davis Jr. has two. An Ohio financial executive has one. So does a Louisiana oil tank manufacturer, not to mention Dean Martin, Dick Martin, Lucille Ball, and Robert Goulet.

The man who has the exclusive rights to sell this "exclusive" car is Jules Meyer, a boyish-looking Beverly Hills millionaire. He has his own reasons why Stutz has established its lone worldwide distributorship in Los Angeles:

"Southern California has all-round weather conditions which allow you to show or display a fine piece of equipment. Southern California is basically a showcase for the world," he says.

Not all potential Stutz owners come running to Meyers' California showcase, however. As many as 88 of the 150 worldwide Stutz owners never even set eyes on the car or gave it a trial spin when they made their orders. They just took one look at the glossy photographs and let their bank manager do the rest.

Meyers considers the Stutz an investment, a sort of limited art edition.

"It's like buying a Rembrandt painting or putting gold bullion in the vault," he says. "It continues to go up (in value.) A Stutz is now worth more than when it was purchased in 1970 (the year it was introduced.)

If the car has any drawbacks, Meyers is not worrying about them.

Too heavy on gas? The Stutz can get more than 17 miles per gallon, its promoter says.

Too risky to drive in heavy traffic? It is about as stable and sturdy as a Sherman tank, he says.

What about theft? There are too few of them around to get away with it.

If the Stutz ever needs maintenance, steer directly to a General Motors or Cadillac dealer, Meyers says.

Marin Pressures, Violence Linked

Thomas O. Caylor, Republican nominee in the Fifth Congressional District, declared yesterday that Marin "won't have to worry about conservation" if San Francisco "cleans up its schools and gets violence in the city down."

Unless San Francisco licks the two problems, he cautioned a Marin audience, "you'll have a refugee camp up here." Solving the problems of the city's schools and violence, he insisted, was the only way Marin will be able to save its open space from population pressure from the city.

Caylor's views were aired in an appearance with his Democratic opponent, Rep. John L. Burton, at a lunch meeting of the San Rafael Kiwanis Club at the Elk's Club.

It was the first joint appearance by the two candidates, but the expected debate found them in general agreement that inflation must be slowed, the federal budget balanced and Congress reformed.

Caylor said Congress must stop "running the country like a charge account," and protested Burton's 1965 vote for the controversial state legislative pension that largely was repealed this month.

Caylor also criticized Burton for mailers to constituents that he said in fact were to promote his candidacy for reelection. (Burton was elected in June to fill the unexpired term for the rest of the year of William S. Mailliard.)

Burton rebutted that the mailers were part of his responsibility to communicate with his constituents. One was to announce a series of public meetings with citizens throughout Marin, and another to respond to the flood of outrage at the President's pardon of Richard M. Nixon, Burton said.

The 1965 vote for the pension, he said, was forced on the Assembly by the Senate, which had been hit hard by court redistricting that forced many incumbents to retire. The Senate said it would sit on all Assembly bills until the lower house approved the pension, Burton said, adding it was not known then that so many legislators would benefit from it in future years.

Burton said he did not know he was voting for a bill that would benefit him.

The congressman also responded to criticism by Caylor that Caylor's home had been burgled four times and his car stolen repeatedly during the years Burton was in the Assembly. Burton quipped that Gov. Ronald Reagan also was in Sacramento at the same time, proving that neither of them took part in the burglaries or car thefts.

Burton cited his record in Sacramento, including his authorship of bills to aid autistic children teaching, save the Heerdt Marsh, open more legislative meetings to the public and save Marin some of its annual payment to the Golden Gate Bridge District for bus service.

Both candidates favored public financing of congressional campaigns.

Caylor said he was "100 per cent" for balancing the budget, but did not say how it might be done. Burton added that it could be done by cutting the budget or raising revenues, but did not detail how he would like to see it done. He said that the current budget of some $300 billion was more than enough, and that he would not vote for a higher budget.

Caylor interjected that it was easy for Burton to make such a promise since he "voted 'nay' on all national defense bills." Burton did not respond to the point.

Caylor also proposed that party caucuses in Congress should be open to the public since major public issues such as selection of the speaker of the house are decided behind closed doors.

Easter Seal Film Slated

A new film on its recreation program will be shown at the Marin Easter Seal Society's annual meeting at noon Wednesday at Peacock Gap Country Club in San Rafael.

The film was produced and directed by the Marin society's recreation staff and depicts local recreation programs for crippled children and adults.

Novato Signal Work Slated

Motorists in Novato can expect to find a four-way stop at the intersection of Rowland Boulevard and southbound Highway 101 beginning Thursday, the Novato Department of Public Works has announced.

And they can expect some inconvenience next month while overlay and drainage construction is underway at Rowland and South Novato Boulevard intersection, the department said.

Both projects are preparation for traffic signals at the two intersections. Signals are to be operating by the end of December, said public works director Chris Hoepker. He advised northbound commuters to use Atherton or DeLong Avenue exits while the Rowland construction is under way.

Musical Program Set For College

A program of early music will be presented by Musica Pacifica at 8 p.m. Nov. 8 at the College of Marin Fine Arts Theater.

The group will feature such instruments as viol, recorder, krumhorn and harpsichord. Admission is $3.50.

Mrs. Forry Challenges Her Opponent Over Intertie Funds

Betty Forry of Marinwood, candidate for Marin Municipal Water District's Division 1 seat, has charged her opponent with disregarding the wishes of the voters by calling for reallocation of funds for the intertie with Sonoma instead to develop new water sources within the county.

Her opponent, Richard J. Boylan of Woodacre, recently said reallocating the intertie funds to a Marin water project would mean "we can get as much water for the same money, and have control over our water supply." Reallocation also could promote reclamation of recycling of water, he said.

Mrs. Forry protested that the voters already have approved the intertie funds for that specific purpose. She argued that the four candidates in the district's June election who got the most votes all supported the intertie. "This indicates, once again, that the intertie does have voter approval," she said.

Mrs. Forry also criticized Boylan for using what she termed scare tactics in claiming that the intertie would mean the "Los Angelization" of Marin and "massive water importation." She said the claims were "an obvious attempt to distort the facts."

JOINT COFFEE — A coffee for both Mrs. Forry and Boylan will be held at 8 p.m. today at the Fairfax home of Gloria Duncan, 340 Olema Road.

BANKER — Ernest F. Banker of Ukiah, Democratic nominee in the Second Senatorial District, has charged that his Republican opponent, Sen. Peter H. Behr of San Rafael, spent $33,400 in taxpayers' money for mailers to district voters that in fact were to promote his reelection. Banker noted that Proposition 9, the June ballot measure to reform campaign financing starting next year, prohibits such tax-subsidized mailings after an incumbent has filed for reelection.

HILL — Mrs. Ronald Reagan will be featured at a fund-raising luncheon and fashion show for A. Alan Hill of San Rafael, Republican nominee in the Ninth Assembly District. The event, showing fashions of the past century, will be at noon Tuesday at the Tiburon home of Irving Moulin, 80 Mount Tiburon. Tickets, at $5 a person, are being handled by Mrs. Branwell Fanning of Tiburon and Hill's headquarters in San Rafael.

AUTISTIC — The California Society for Autistic Children will present certificates of appreciation to Rep. John L. Burton, Democratic nominee for election in the Fifth District, and Sen. Peter H. Behr, Republican nominee for reelection in the Second District, at a luncheon next Thursday at Agatha's Pub, Sausalito. The two carried a bill through the past legislative session and into law that requires special education classes for autistic children.

PROPOSITION 15 — The League of Women Voters of Southern Marin and Marin unit of the National Women's Political Caucus have endorsed Proposition 15 on the Nov. 5 ballot, the measure to abolish the constitutional requirement that local voters ballot on proposals for low-cost housing before they can be built in their community.

Bay Area Man Concocts Wind-Powered Motorcycle

By FREDERIC A. MORTIZ
The Christian Science Monitor
News Service

PLEASANT HILL — A bubbly backyard tinkerer and experimenter is scooting around San Francisco these days on a wind-powered motorcycle.

Actually, the super-silent, orange-colored, waist-high motorbike runs on two large batteries . . . but the batteries are recharged each night by a wind generator rigged to a 45-foot-high ham radio antenna.

Robert Landing aims to prove that there is more to windmills than Don Quixote.

"The power is there. All we need to do is reach up and grab it," says Landing.

Landing paid $500 for the cycle during last February's gasoline shortage, plunked down another $350 for parts, and converted his antenna tower into a 200-watt wind-powered generator.

Now, he hooks up the cycle to the wind generator for a recharge that gives him another 12 to 25 miles of driving at up to 25 miles an hour.

Landing's generator is built from a permanent magnet motor identical to the one in his motorcycle and from three 5-foot, 10-inch blades cut out of extra-strong spruce.

When hooked up with four six-volt golf cart batteries and an AC converter, the avid "do-it-yourselfer" expects the system eventually to store enough current to run a television set, several light bulbs and perhaps one appliance for up to two days.

Next he plans to spend about $300 to rewire a truck generator so that it will operate at the relatively low speeds of a wind-powered generator and produce about 1,000 watts. When combined with a storage reservoir of 19 six-volt batteries and an AC converter, that plant should be able to provide at least half the home electricity Landing needs, he reasons.

Inspect Wheels As Tires Are Bought

DETROIT (UPI) — It's good practice to inspect the wheels whenever new tires are bought for a car.

A wheel that does not lie flat or roll straight on a smooth surface should be replaced. A damaged wheel can ruin a new set of tires quickly.

Marin Property Sales Paradox

Marin County's real estate activity is down by volume but not in dollar sales, and the industry is in good shape despite high prices and interest rates that are making the county "an expensive ghetto" of the very rich.

That was the consensus of a dozen real estate executives who met at Dominic's Restaurant in San Rafael Monday noon to assess the current picture.

"The real estate business is not as good as it was at the first of the year," acknowledged Bruce Wrisley, president of the Marin County Board of Realtors. "Some brokers are cutting back on expenses, but there is no panic, no distress, and prices continue to go up." Some real estate salesmen have changed jobs, but Wrisley said he knows of no realtor who has gone out of business this year.

The ones who will suffer the most are the young married, the first homeowner, and retirees who can no longer afford or qualify for loans on homes that average $58,000 in Marin County, the realtors declared.

Zooming prices that went up 16 per cent in one year and lack of funds even at double digit interest rates are driving out middle and lower income residents, the realtors agree. "Only those in their 30's to 50's with high incomes will be able to live here," warned Fred DeCook, one of the owners of Scott-McCall & Co. Realtors. "Marin is getting to be a very expensive ghetto of the rich."

Nationwide inflation is partly responsible, but Marin has the added problem of artifical controls over building,particularly the water moratorium, they pointed out.

"Only 1,200 more water meters will be allowed in the Marin Municipal Water District," said DeCook. "Only 1,200 more units can be built and that's it literally, forever!"

Jeffory Morshead, owner of Frank Howard Allen & Co., likened it to "a time bomb ticking away, with people on lower budgets being forced out of the county."

The Marin County General Plan calls for controlled growth, but even that goal cannot be achieved because of artifical limitations that will bring building to a standstill, said Don Beacock of Beacock & Maxson Inc. Realtors.

Daniel F. Deedy, executive director of the Marin Board of Realtors, noted a drop in the number of completed sales from 218 homes in September of last year to 189 homes in September this year. But even with fewer sales, the dollar volume went up from $10,972,849 to $11,020,705. "In other words, we have fewer sales but they cost more."

"It's a tremendous buyer's market," said Frank Hanses, president-elect of the Marin Board of Realtors. "If a buyer could get the money now, he could get a home for 20 per cent less than next spring. The only problem is in qualifying buyers for loans."

To get around that, some real estate firms are using lease-options. "We have put together 10 or 15 of these lease options," said Robert L. Grime, president of Frank Howard Allen. "The buyer does not have to qualify for financing now and can take advantage of lower interest rates later."

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Arden-Mayfair Making Progress On Turnaround

By ROGER E. SPEAR AND DAVID R. SARGENT

Q. I have held $5,000 Arden-Mayfair (OTC) 6 per cent debentures since 1964. The company has failed to pay interest on these for the last year and a half. Should I try to sell these bonds or hang on?—A.B.

A. This West Coast retailer, now under new management, has made progress in turning operations around. After six quarters of mounting deficits, June marked the second consecutive quarter of profitable operation. Furthermore, the sale of 26 unprofitable stores, effective July 1, should bolster results in the final half. Prospects for the resumption of interest payments have improved. This has been reflected in the bond price, which has moved up from a low bid of 14 ($140) to 19. Hold.

Q. My wife would like to invest $2,000 for yield and safety. Should she select common stock, short-term bonds? She holds Santa Fe Industries common and debenture (NYSE), Columbia Gas (NYSE) McCrory Corp. (NYSE), Delmarva Power & Light (NYSE) and Norton Simon (NYSE).—E.S.

A. Although you have not asked for advice on your wife's present holdings, I have two suggestions to offer: sell Columbia Gas and McCrory Corp. The former is having trouble obtaining sufficient gas supplies and as a result has had difficulty taking on new customers. Earnings are expected to be down and new exploration restricted due to the high cost of raising capital. McCrory wrote off $2.35 a share in the fiscal 1973-4 year resulting in a 9 cents-a-share profit vs. $4.15 in the previous 12 months. The merger with Rapid American does not appear imminent.

Moderate Mart Sends Prices Up

Advances led declines, 625 to 407, among the 1,431 issues crossing the tape, with the gap narrowing from earlier levels.

Early in this session, investors were encouraged by the decision of First National City Bank of New York, second largest in the nation, to lower its prime lending rate to 11 per cent from 11 ¼ per cent. The prime, which banks charge key corporate customers, has concerned Wall Street since rising to 12 per cent in July.

Also encouraging were reports the nation's money supply increased by $3 billion in the latest reporting period, and the demand for loans at New York's 12 leading banks fell $390 million.

Shell Profits Up

HOUSTON (BW) — Shell Oil Co. has reported net earnings were $462.3 million for the first nine months of 1974, 83 per cent more than for the like 1973 period.

OTHER PEOPLE'S BUSINESS

By WAT TAKESHITA

New San Rafael Restaurant May Be A Boon To The Night People

The Family Affair restaurant, specializing in hickory-smoked meats and fresh vegetables will open in about two weeks at 720 B Street in San Rafael, at the old Mission Inn location.

One of the unusual features of the new restaurant is that it plans to serve food until 3 a.m. on weekends. "There's no place in this area for people to eat after 10 p.m. and we're trying to fill that need," said owner Phil J. Harrison of Corte Madera. It will be a family-style restaurant with no liquor, beer or wine.

The Family Affair, with seating for 95 customers, will open for lunch at 11 a.m. and serve dinners until midnight on weekdays and until 3 a.m. on weekends. It will be closed on Tuesdays.

Harrison's family has been operating restaurants in Minneapolis for almost 50 years, and he himself has about 15 years of experience. He attended UC Berkeley and University of Minnesota, graduated from Merritt College in Oakland in 1970 and taught in a Head Start school in Oakland for a year.

Bob Ake of San Rafael will be manager of The Family Affair, and his mother, Mary Ake, will be the hostess.

MARIN COINS, trading in U.S. and foreign coins, will open for business next Tuesday at 1563 Fourth Street in San Rafael, across the street from Moose's Meals & Meats.

Owner-operator of the coin shop is Don Antonio of Terra Linda, who will occupy the former space of Artistic Interiors, which moved next door. Marin Coins will carry some old paper notes as well as coins.

Antonio worked for National Cash Register in San Francisco for the past eight years and has been a numismatist for six years.

DAYLIN DRUGS in Larkspur is alive and well, and operating as usual at 586 Magnolia Avenue in the Alpha Beta Shopping Center.

This column was in error last Friday when it mentioned that Daylin Inc. was closing all its outlets in Marin. Daylin's Disco Wonderworld in San Rafael did close, but Daylin Drugs in Larkspur (successor to Disco Pharmacy) continues in full operation.

GRANNY ANNIE'S Antiques at 807 Grant Avenue in Old Town Novato will celebrate its grand opening tomorrow from 11 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Owner Sue Davis of San Rafael said she will serve homemade ice cream, cookies, coffee and punch for the grand opening, and items in the shop will be reduced up to 40 per cent.

Granny Annie's specializes in American oak furniture, indoor plants in its new greenery department, and old advertising billboards and signs from the depression era.

WHITNEY'S BAND Instruments, specialists in educational musical instruments in San Rafael for eight years, has filed voluntary bankruptcy, but the shop will continue to honor the rental contracts that are still outstanding.

Whitney's San Rafael shop, at 1408 Fourth Street, is managed by Thelma Hoy, who has been with the firm since 1968. "The business is closed, but we will continue to honor existing accounts and we are looking for desk space to coninue the office," said Mrs. Hoy.

Owner of the business is Lewis M. Whitney of San Rafael, who has been in the educational music field for 24 years, serving schools from the Peninsula to Eureka. He also has another outlet at 822 Mission Street in San Francisco. Whitney said the doors of both his shops are open for the return of rental instruments, but sales and new rentals have been suspended until his creditors reach a decision on what to do with the business.

GAS SAVER — Sandra Lum, a San Rafael business woman, has joined the energy conservation campaign by riding to and from work on her new motorbike. She operates Now & Then Antiques at the All Together Now shop at 1205 Third Street, next to Ray's Office Machines.

All Together Now, established last month, also includes the Rose Garden Fashions, Connie's Corner macrame, and Bev's Botanics plant shop.

GUNG FU Master Fun-Yuen Hsu from Taiwan will give public demonstrations of the Tai Chi martial arts in San Rafael and in Novato tonight. He will appear at the East-West Gung Fu School at 1414 Fourth Street in San Rafael at 7 p.m. and at the school's Novato branch at 1559 South Novato Boulevard at 8:30 p.m.

THE ANCHORAGE CONDOMINIUMS will hold an open house for real estate brokers and salesmen next Tuesday and Thursday (Oct. 29 and 31) from 10 a.m. to noon at the 78-unit project off Bridgeway in Sausalito.

Owned by Kettco Investment Co., The Anchorage Condominiums offer one and two-bedroom residences from $35,950 to $54,950. The project's common areas include a swimming pool, sauna, recreation lounge with kitchen and fireplace, and laundry.

General partners of Kettco Investment include E. N. Kettenhofen of Sausalito, former chairman of the Marin County Board of Supervisors; and Robert C. McGowan of Ross, former Marin County bank executive.

ANDRE LANDSCAPING & Maintenance Center, headquartered at 176 Paul Drive in Northgate Industrial Park, has just incorporated, with Louis Larroque of Marinwood and Ronald Harada of Alameda as principals.

The business was established by Larroque's father, Andre, who started in 1958 with a hand-push mower and built it up to a business that now handles commercial and industrial maintenance and landscaping from Novato to Concord and as far south as San Jose. Andre's pet project was landscaping of the Casa Marinwood townhomes.

Louis Larroque, who joined his father in 1958, took over the business in April this year when the elder Larroque retired. Harada came to work for Larroque in July last year. Among projects by Andre Landscaping are the landscaping and tree planting on Market Street, along DeLong Avenue in Novato, and at the Sheraton Hotel in Concord.

ELIZABETH SOUSA of Fairfax joined the sales staff of Jane Forster Realty in Fairfax this month. She was formerly instructor with the education department of University of California and a family counselor with offices in Sausalito and San Mateo.

SUE HAERLE Public Relations in San Rafael has been selected as public relations counsel and booking agent for Genevieve Bayreuther, lecturer and consultant to business and industry in the areas of fraud and theft prevention.

Miss Bayreuther served for 22 years on the San Francisco Police Department, 12 years as the only woman detective in fraud detail. Her "Intensive Training Session on Shoplifting" is presented to retailers and chambers of commerce to aid them in reducing shoplifting loss.

A FLY-IN and open house are scheduled for noon Nov. 3 at Spectrum Air Inc. at the Marin County Airport (Gnoss Field) in Novato.

Robert Reed, new manager of the Spectrum Air facility, expects some 400 visitors including pilots from California and Nevada airports. Reed, a 35-year aviator with Army and civilian experience, was appointed manager of Spectrum Air earlier this month.

OUTSTANDING FERTILIZER

Kitchen Scraps Nourish Garden

By PETER TONGE
The Christian Science Monitor
News Service

WEYMOUTH, Mass — To my wife's delight — and my younger daughter's disgust — our small garden has given us 170 pounds of winter squash this season.

That's roughly double last year's production and enough for a whole season of hearty dinners and who knows how many squash pies (which my daughter loves only because she doesn't know squash is the major ingredient.)

To get this increased production we extended our garden a little. But a happy accident helped too.

This year we grew tomatoes by a method attributed to the Japanese — by filling wire-enclosed circles with garden refuse and then planting the tomatoes around these mini-compost heaps.

The effect of this method on tomato production was very satisfying indeed, and its contribution to squash production was exciting to me.

Among the refuse we piled into these tomato circles were the peelings, and some seeds, apparently, of butternut squash. These promptly grew with such vigor that they soon threatened the tomatoes. I had no choice but to pull up most of them. Two of them, though, were allowed to stay after I had trained them through the tomatoes and left them to trail down a path — the only open space left in the garden.

Now elsewhere in the garden the butternuts grew to an average and satisfying size for the breed — around two to three pounds apiece. But those two vines, with their roots in pure compost produced six squash weighing between 4½ and 6 pounds each.

So already I am preparing for next year's garden. In the middle of it is a circle of wire, some four feet across, into which will go garden waste and shredded leaves to a height of maybe four feet. Next season I will plant the squash seeds directly in this pile and let the vines trail out from there. That's the beauty of squash vines: they thrive even in only partly decomposed compost.

A friend of mine bought a bag of 10-10-10 fertilizer last week. It cost him $12.95. In April last year he bought the same quantity for around $5.

To nobody's surprise, fertilizer costs are rocketing along with the price of petroleum from which much of it is made. All the more reason, then, to make the most of the free fertilizers that are available to everyone. I'm referring, of course, to garden refuse, leaves, and kitchen scraps.

That, and the addition of some chicken manure, fertilized my garden this past season. That's why I'm grabbing everything I can get from wherever I can get it right now.

About this time of year a lot of folk clear their gardens of spent flowers and vegetable plants, tie them neatly into bundles, and leave them out for the garbage man. An unquestionably wasteful practice which rising fertilizer prices are beginning to underscore.

Recently we drove past several bundles of neatly tied zinnia plants and tomato vines. It was all so convenient to pick up and as I told my wife as I loaded them into the car, "We'll turn this into winter squash next summer."

Also neatly packaged for the suburban gardener these days are the leaves of fall. I collected about 80 bags last year and intend to get at least 100 during the frosty weeks ahead. What that will give me in plant nutriments will be far more than I could afford to buy from the garden store.

I shred all my leaves (they don't blow around once shredded) and you can too, using a power lawnmower if you don't possess a shredder. The best was is to spread the leaves out near a wall then pass the mower backward and forward over the leaves so that they blow out into a pile against the wall. If you have a mower with a bagger attachment so much the better.

The whole garden gets a good leaf mulch nearly all of which disappears by the season's end to make a much richer soil. Some of the leaves I compost with chicken manure or a bought nitrogen-rich fertilizer if there are no manures.

Marin Reaches 32 Per Cent Of Crusade Goal

Marin County has reached 32 per cent of its $225,000 United Bay Area Crusade goal, volunteer workers were told Wednesday, the best performance of any county in the five-county crusade.

Awards for outstanding performance were given to volunteers Klara Larsen of Marin Municipal Court, Chet Hutchinson of Fairchild Semiconductor, Willie Castain of Marin Public Social Services Department, Gordon Lee of Western California Telephone Co., John Jones and Paul Ranson of Wells Fargo Bank and Mary Manning, UBAC office volunteer.

The annual campaign raises money for 183 agencies which provide a variety of health and human services.

Mrs. Trudeau Wants Solitude

TORONTO (UPI) — Margaret Trudeau, wife of Prime Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau, says she longs for the day when "I can just be Pierre's wife."

Mrs. Trudeau, 26, said in a television interview that she and the Prime Minister have already bought a retreat in Quebec for their retirement.

Trudeau married the former Margaret Sinclair in a quiet ceremony in Vancouver in March of 1971, when he was 52.

Prescription Hearing Aid Recommendation Dropped

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A government study panel yesterday withdrew its controversial recommendation to Health, Education and Welfare Secretary Caspar Weinberger that hearing aids be sold by prescription only.

Hearing aid dealers vigorously attacked the recommendation.

"Mr. Secretary, it has been documented time and time again that hearing aids, unlike eyeglasses, cannot be fitted through the prescription process with preciseness," President Marvin H. Pigg of the 3,600 member National Hearing Aid Society (NHAS) said in a letter to Weinberger.

The HEW panel which recommended that hearing aids should be sold only by written prescription from a doctor or audiologist rather than over the counter by a dealer also modified other recommendations it made in the 50-page report on industry abuses, including its withdrawal of support for a Federal Trade Commission proposal requiring a 30-day money-back guarantee for dissatisfied hearing aid users.

"I suspect we may be accused of backing down . . . having been pressured from groups outside government," said the panel chairman, David Link of HEW's Food and Drug Administration, who announced the changes at a news briefing. "That was not the case."

Link distributed a supplemental report to the panel's original report which was publicized last weekend by news media. The supplement withdraws the original recommendation and says instead that new ways should be developed to improve the delivery system for hearing aids. It recommends that dealers, audiologists, otolaryngologists, government and consumers "be assembled to investigate and develop specific proposals" to curb abuses in the industry.

Link said the changes were made because other HEW agencies like the National Institutes of Health suggested modifications.

Of an estimated 13.2 million persons with significant hearing loss — millions more have lesser hearing problems — more than 7.5 million are potential candidates for hearing aids, the report said. Some 2.5 million to 3 million Americans use hearing aids, and 600,000 units are sold yearly. Costs average $300-$450 a unit.

Pigg, in the industry's first formal response to the report, charged that it "misrepresents entirely the role of the hearing aid dealer in hearing health care. It would reflect adversely not only on the dealer, but inevitably disrupt the vital relationship between the dealer and the hearing-impaired he serves."

He asked Weinberger to meet with NHAS representatives.

350A

54-Watt AM/FM Stereo Receiver

It used to be a tradition that you had to pay at least $300, maybe much more, to get a really good stereo receiver. But the brash 350A doesn't care about other people's rules. Look at the specifications of this Sansui eye opener and look at the price.

Its power output of 54 generous IHF watts will drive any of the low-efficiency speakers that now enjoy such popularity—can even drive two pairs of speakers simultaneously. Its sensitive FET FM front end will pull in those marginal stations you've never been able to hear cleanly. And its complement of a dozen front-panel controls give you a complete range of adjustment and mastery over your system.

It offers so much, you know you're not "settling for less," yet you're not going broke either. If it seems too good to be true, just come in. We can make you a believer.

Marin Women

Vera Schultz To Describe Government

Vera Schultz will be the speaker at 10:15 a.m. Wednesday in a talk on the Marin Civic Center and county government, the fifth meeting in a docent course for Tour Marin guided tours of unusual Marin areas sponsored by the Marin Symphony Association auxiliary.

The meetings are open to the public at a charge of $1. Wednesday's meeting will be held in the Board of Supervisors Chambers at the Civic Center in San Rafael.

Mrs. Schultz was elected to the board of supervisors in 1952, and served for eight years. She is currently active in the American Association of University Women, League of Women Voters and Status of Women Commission.

Tomales Woman Will Speak At National Farm Parley

Donna Furlong, Tomales farm wife, will be one of the speakers addressing an ideas exchange seminar planned as part of the National Farm Women's Forum to be held in Milwaukee, Wis., Nov. 12 through 14. About 2,000 farm women from across the country are expected to attend.

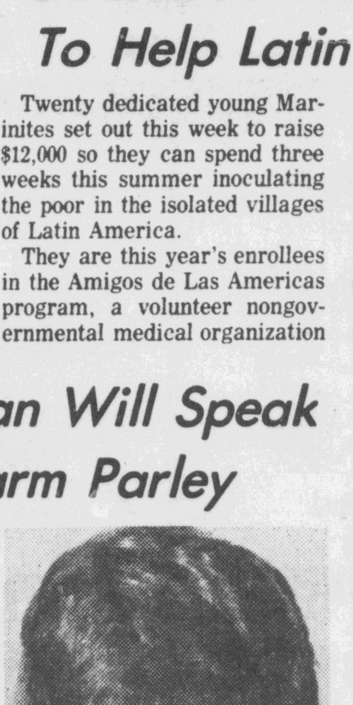
Mrs. Furlong will address the "Rural Women's Idea Exchange," a seminar aimed at presenting ideas on ways to promote agricultural products and build public image for agriculture in the community.

She will be promoting the sheep and wool industry, particularly to Easterners, and will tell them that those using the western public lands for grazing are not "raping the land."

"The agriculturalist watches the lands very closely in this regard and is protecting not destroying it," she said. "People in agriculture are the true conservationists," she added.

Mrs. Furlong will also remind women at the seminar that agriculture feeds the nation, and the U. S. should be recognized for having the cheapest food in the world. People don't realize that the farmer must pay the same for other commodities as any other consumer, but the farmer's wages don't go up as does the wages of other workers, she continued.

Mrs. Furlong and her husband, who have lived in the Tomales area for 25 years, operate a sheep and cattle ranch. They have four sons, Kevin, 11, Tim, who works on the farm, Greg, who runs a cafe in Valley Ford, and Kirk, a senior at California Polytechnic State University, San Luis Obispo.



DONNA FURLONG
Farm convention speaker

Acting in promoting wool on both the national and state level, Donna is currently serving as president of the National Wool Growers Auxiliary and is a national director of the "Make It Yourself With Wool" competition. She has also served as a director of the California "Make It With Wool Contest" for the past 10 years.

Mrs. Furlong will be a judge with Brunel Christianson, director of food and agriculture for California at the Grand National at the Cow Palace in San Francisco on Nov. 1.

On her way to the national forum, Mrs. Furlong will attend a convention of the Wyoming Wool growers in Buffalo, Wyo.

The farm women's forum is being held in conjunction with the second annual National Farm Wife Month. Both the forum and National Farm Wife Month are sponsored by the Farm Wife News Magazine, a national publication for rural women.

AMIGOS DE LAS AMERICAS

Dedicated Teen-Agers Toil To Help Latin Neighbors

Twenty dedicated young Marinites set out this week to raise $12,000 so they can spend three weeks this summer inoculating the poor in the isolated villages of Latin America.

They are this year's enrollees in the Amigos de Las Americas program, a volunteer nongovernmental medical organization which recuits young people (ages 16 and up) to vaccinate needy Latin Americans against disease.

The 20 already are involved in study every Monday night at the College of Marin, of the Spanish language, the Latin culture and medical techniques. Weekends throughout the year, until the young people depart on their missions sometime this summer, they will receive instructions in how to give shots. Instructors are adult volunteers supporters of the Amogs program. Amigos will give the shots in response to the invitations of Latin American governments. Amigos began in Honduras in 1965, added Guatemala in 1967, and expanded into Nicaragua and Columbia in 1970.

The young people go in teams of two or three into villages where medical is generally not available or is inadequate for the population. The host government, which provides room and board to the Amigos, prescribes the types of inoculations which are needed.

Amigos must pay for their own transportation to Latin America and for the medications they administer.

Members of the Marin chapter have a goal of $600 per volunteer — or $12,000. Each volunteer also must provide $300.

The young volunteers have scheduled several fund-raising events, beginning with a benefit performance by the Ros Valley Players of "The Prisoner of Second Avenue." The Niel Simon play will be performed for the Amigos Nov. 8 at the Barn, Marin Art and Garden Center, Ross. Tickets may be purchased from Robin Merwin or Larry Ring of Greenbrae, or at the door.

A walkathon will be held early next year, a ticket sale for prizes, intermittent bake sales at the high schools of participants, and a rummage sale, date yet to be set.

Last year Marin's Amigos met their financial quota with both fund-raising events and substantial contributions from local doctors.

But, said Larry Ring, "for the kind of organization we are, we'd like to see a lot more community involvement, not just donations from the medical profession."

Goodies Like Grandma Made Still Available

By BARBARA HOSMER

Marinites who treasure the hand-crocheted baby clothes, finely stitched dolls or quilts like Grandma used to make are buying them from Whistlestop Deals, and are helping some 60 senior citizens earn extra dollars from their handiwork.

They are also contributing to the Marin Senior Coordinating Council building fund.

The seniors' handicrafts sell through Whistlestop Deals, their shop which exclusively handles seniors' work, at the Whistlestop Senior Center, 930 Tamalpais Avenue, San Rafael.

Currently the little white-curtained shop which overlooks the railroad tracks is preparing for the holiday season by setting up an array of knitted red Christmas bells, festive white yarn snowmen and knitted bright red Santa Claus handpuppets which conceal baskets of candy.

Last June George P. Leonard of Stinson Beach offered to match up to $20,000 in funds raised by Dec. 1 for a new or expanded Marin Senior Coordinating Council Center.

The shop adds to the building fund monies left over after it sends 75 per cent of each sold article's price to the maker and pays rent and manager's salary. Each month Mrs. Wallace mails out some 30 checks to senior citizens whose work has sold.

EACH WEEK the craftsmen or their relatives bring in new wares for Whistlestop Deals, the brainchild of council executive director Edward T. Ryken.

There are lovable hand-sewn Raggedy Anns and a fluffy stuffed mother hen with five chicks made by a Russian woman in San Anselmo, crocheted sets of baby clothes made by a woman in a wheelchair, and afghans — one in a broomstick pattern — done by another confined to her chair.

There are bright stuffed animals and long-leggec character dolls for teen-agers' rooms, polished stone pendants and rings, the hobby of a local man; tiny dolls each made from a baby's white sock, decorative night lights, hats, a blanket-size patchwork quilt, stylish aprons, a blue crocheted poncho and tam set.

Patchwork-patterned tote bags, Raggedy Anns and a chicken pattern biscuit warmer are popular articles, Mrs. Wallace said. "Dirty book" cloth covers for paperback books are another best-seller.

"A VOLUNTEER staff member tried to sell one to a person who turned out to be a nun," Mrs. Wallace said with a laugh. "And these we can barely keep in stock," she said, holding up a pink felt cow with the legend, "Holy Cow, Eating Again?" to be stuck on a refrigeator door.

"Most of the items we price fairly low or they won't sell," she said. Price tags range from 35 cents for handmade greeting

Unusual Prostitute With A Set Of Unusual Ideas

By BETH ASHLEY

MARGO ST. JAMES, self-proclaimed ex-prostitute and founder of Coyote, "a loose woman's organization" based in San Francisco, had the look of a contemporary, with-it young woman, with long hair, loose tunic, white pants and no makeup.

Her manner was low key and relaxed as she mused into the microphone about the hyprcrisy of laws on prostitution which are the target of COYOTE. It is COYOTE's aim to decriminalize prostitution, because, she believes, adult women have the right to use their own bodies as they see fit.

Her talk was third in a series "Phase II—New Aspects of Women's Liberation."

In language that was doggedly free from euphemisms, Miss St. James said the illegality of prostitution is "what gives men the opportunity to exploit us; it keeps them in charge of the cash."

SHE SMILED and shrugged her way through a description of such exploitation: male proprietors of nude encounter groups and massage parlors, who take 65 per cent of a female's earnings; police who are on the take; hotel proprietors who hire "extra maids" or "hospitality hostesses" to service their guests' pimps who run legal interference for hookers who would never be freed from jail on their own recognizance.

She said there is intense competition between policemen and black male pimps to "rule the streets — it's the whole macho thing."

SHE SAID street walkers were frequently brutalized, by police, by pimps, by customers, but because of their profession cannot seek redress.

MARGO ST. JAMES
New look in prostitutes?

Another victim of this "victimless" crime, she said, is the taxpayer who underwrites the patrolling and prosecution of prostitution, and who loses through the big money corruption it encourages.

Miss St. James doesn't want prostitution legalized — which would continue male domination of the profession — but decriminalization, which would place all sexual acts between consenting adults beyond the purview of the law. "There shouldn't be any separate law dealing with sex," she said.

The only thing about prostitution that's offensive, in her view, is solicitation on the streets. "I don't like having people come up to me asking me to buy things, either. But I can always say no. I don't think we should put people in jail for it."

MISS ST. JAMES said she had been arrested for prostitution 12 years ago, and thereafter was unable to get a job. "I came over to Marin County and worked for seven years cleaning people's houses and doing gardening. Then I formed this group called WHOM — Whores, Housewives and Other Mothers — and I made the acquaintance of Flo Kennedy (a lawyer in the women's movement). She radicalized me enough so I could go back to the city and attack."

COYOTE, which is an acronym for "Call Off Your Old Tired Ethics," helps prostitutes fight individual cases in the courts, is supporting taxpayers suits in San Francisco and Alameda Counties to decriminalize prostitution. She said if these suits fail and the status quo remains in force by spring, "we will go the initiative route. I hope we won't have to."

WHY DO WOMEN turn to prostitution?

The main reason is money. Prostitutes make between $10,000 and $200,000 a year, she said, "although there's a recession now. The only place where they're really making money is in the massage parlors, where businessmen can use credit cards."

The second biggest reason: "adventure. Where else can a farm girl like me meet all the hotshots of the world?

"Prostitutes, like artists, transcend all the boundaries of society. The only difference is the artist goes in the front door, and I go in the back."

Miss St. James shared the platform Wednesday night with Eve Merriam, a poet, author and instructor in a course on status of women at New York University. Miss Merriam, in a strong and compellingly musical voice, read poems from her several collections bringing a fresh funny, and often beautiful view to contemporary life and womanhood.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Husband's Little Notebook Records Extramarital Affairs

DEAR HELEN:

I came across a little notebook in my husband's drawer as I was housecleaning. In it he had listed every girl he has taken to bed, before and after our marriage; after each name were stars, which I guess were ratings. Also dates and places. . .and addresses.

The two that hurt me most were the names of my sister, and a woman he took out while I was pregnant. Both had three stars. I asked him about it, and he said he'd done this to "get even with me" if I ever asked for a divorce.

Up until then, I hadn't thought of such a thing, but now I might, even though I love him. . .even though he swears I'm his only four-star love, and the others were just lies he's made up.

He apologized and said it was a joke and he'd destroy the notebook. But today I found it in his fishing creel. He goes fishing almost every weekend, when he isn't out hunting, shooting, golfing, or something. (Or does he?)

Should I believe it was a joke? If not, how can you explain a man who would keep incriminating evidence about himself? And how will I know he isn't adding new names? — SCARED

DEAR SCARED:

Answer to first question: No. If this is "just a joke," your husband gets four stars for stupidity! Only a fool would write down incriminating "lies" that could be used against him in divorce action.

Second question: There's no explaining some people's urge to hoard damning evidence. (As the country learned this summer.)

Third question: You won't, for sure. But if he starts inviting you on weekend excursions, perhaps your pardon has brought about his reform. If not, think twice about the pardon. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

Every time I threaten to punish my stepdaughter (who needs it), she says she's going to tell her father on me. I finally called her bluff.

When he got home from work she ran to him crying and said I'd spanked her for no reason at all. He griped me out about it before he asked for my side.

After it was too late, he finally found out the real story. He said he was sorry, but I know this will happen again, as he doesn't try to discipline his daughter. She gets whatever she wants from him, and brags about it to me.

How do stepmothers cope? Could you ask some of your readers who have been through it to give me some pointers? — GOING WILD

DEAR GOING WILD:

Stepmothers cope best when their mates back them up, or rather, when both agree on discipline. You three should have a family conference that defines rules, limits, privileges and concern — and not just from the adult side. Let your daughter express her feelings too — which includes airing possible jealousies, yours and hers. — H.

P.S. Comments, you stepparents out there?

DEAR HELEN:

I mourn for the good old days when it was okay to be shocked. Ten years ago, I felt sorry for homosexuals, and hated those stupid jokes about them. But today I wish they'd stop yammering. While others talk about "bisexual chic" and imply that if you don't try it, you aren't with it, I feel a little ill, and pretend I'm unshockable. About the best I can do is laugh these veiled advances off with, "Look, I'm a closet heterosexual."

I'm sick to death of sex talk at cocktail parties, and four-letter words, and everyone trying to outdo the other in "experiences" (or bragging about them). But if I say anything, I'll be labeled as a prude. What's a fed-up woman to do? — B.D.

DEAR B.D.:

Say something! I think you'll find a lot of followers. Including me! — H.

Got a problem? An adult subject for discussion? You can talk it over in her column if you write to Helen Bottel, c/o the Independent-Journal, PO Box 330, 1040 B St., San Rafael, Ca. 94902.

Horsecart Carries Couple To Wedding Reception

A horsedrawn cart took Mr. and Mrs. Robert James Ross (Lynne Marie Eltringham) from their wedding Oct. 12 at St. Anselm's Catholic Church to Robson Harrington House in San Anselmo, where a reception was held.

The bride is the daughter of Margaret Eltringham of San Anselmo, and the bridegroom is the son of Orinda Ross of Ignacio.

Cathy Eberhard of San Anselmo was maid of honor, and bridesmaids were Patty Janssen of San Jose and Sue Birk and Terry Adkins of San Rafael.

Jim Yant of San Rafael served as best man, and ushers were Doug Deem of Fairfax and Ed Bird and Bill Fiser of San Rafael.

Following a wedding trip to Hawaii the newlyweds will live in San Rafael. Lynne was graduated from Sir Francis Drake High School. She is the sister of Margo Merle of Sausalito and Gail Enos of Novato.

Also a graduate of Sir Francis Drake High School, the bridegroom attended Porterville Horse Showing College. He is self employed as a horseshoer in Marin County.

East Coast To Be Home For Mr. and Mrs. Gause

Cleoni Anne Tocalino and Gerald Wayne Gause were married at Our Lady of Loretto Church in Novato on Oct. 12.

Cleoni is the daughter of Mr. nd Mrs. Gorge Louis Tocalino of Novato. Gerald, a resident of Annandale, Va., is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert W. Gause of South Pasadena.

Sisters of the bride, Georgina Kretz of Seoul, Korea, and Nancy Krieg of Sacramento, shared matron of honor duties. Bridesmaids were nieces of the bride, Angela Kretz of Seoul and Kielle Krieg of Sacramento.

Art Carroll of Oakview was best man, and ushers were Richard Fores of Walnut Creek and Charles Kretz of Seoul.

A reception was held for the immediate family and relatives at Rolling Hills Country Club in Novato. The couple went on a wedding trip to the Monterey Peninsula. They will live in Annandale.

The bride was graduated from St. Vincent High School and Dominican College, where she received the elementary teaching credential. She taught six years at Coleman and San Pedro Schools, San Rafael.

The bridegroom, after graduation from South Pasadena High School, earned degrees at Pasadena City College and Los Angeles State University. He is radio-television chief in the U.S. Forest Service information office in Washington, D.C. He is the brother of Lynore Banchoff of Providence, R.I.

Linings Can Be Added Though Left Out Of Today's Patterns

By EUNICE FARMER
Distributed by Register and Tribune Syndicate

DEAR EUNICE,

Why do so many of the new patterns for jackets eliminate the linings? I hate to put on a wool jacket and have it stick to a dress or sweater. What is the best way to add a lining when there is no pattern for one? — MRS. J. G.

DEAR MRS. J. G.,

The jackets and blazers you see today without linings are all part of the softer, more unconstructed type of clothing being worn. I am with you in this — I don't like jackets without a lining either. You can add a very lightweight lining out of a woven polyester that resembles china silk and have no more bulk or weight to your jacket.

If there is no pattern for the lining, place the jacket facing over the jacket front pattern. Add 1¼ inch extra to the width at the edge of the facing. This will be absorbed in the seam allowance of the facing and the lining.

When cutting the lining for the back of the jacket, if it is fitted, you will need about 2 inches extra at the center back for a pleat in the lining. This will give you extra comfort and is usually necessary for woven type fabrics. The sleeves will be cut the same as the jacket sleeves.

It's good to remember not to fit the lining too tightly. It should always be a little looser than the garment fabric. Allow a little extra fold at the hem of the jacket lining and the sleeve lining for additional ease.

I have always found it almost simpler to add a lining than it is to finish all the seams nicely, as you would have to do with an unlined garment.

DEAR EUNICE,

I am planning to make a blazer for fall, after looking at ready-to-wear. They are shown in wool, knits, velvets, leathers and whatever.

My question is this: I have a double-breasted blazer that is about worn out, and I would like to replace it. However, the double-breasted blazers I have found in the pattern books (and there are only a few of these) don't seem to be fitted. They appear to me to be more of an outer jacket, not a blazer. What would you suggest? — MRS. S. H.

DEAR MRS. S. H.,

Most blazers are single-breasted and are semi-fitted because they can be worn alone or under a coat. The minute you have a double-breasted blazer, it is difficult to wear under a coat because the entire fronts are made double. I think this is the reason a double-breasted blazer is usually considered more of a jacket or lightweight outer apparel which would not be covered up with another type coat.

If you choose very lightweight flannel or any other lightweight fabric, I think you could make it as fitted as you wish and wear it as any blazer would be worn.

DEAR EUNICE,

I live in an apartment and simply don't have room for a cutting table. I have used my kitchen table to cut small garments, but now I am working on a winter coat and it is frustrating to have the ends of the material slip off the table. Surely there is some solution besides getting down on the floor. — MRS. C. S.

DEAR MRS. C. S.,

I can't imagine that you haven't heard of a cutting board. They have been available for many, many years. They are made of heavy type cardboard that can actually be pinned into, fold to 12 inch widths and are about 40 inches wide by 6 feet long. You can place this marvelous cutting board on your kitchen table or on a bed, and you'll have an instant large cutting surface.

Incidentally, there is a new one that has just appeared on the market by Belding. I like it personally because it not only has horizontal and vertical lines for fabric grain alignment, but it also has diagonal lines for determining true bias.

Another added plus is the easy measurement ruler which gives the measurements in inches as well as centimeters, preparing us for the coming changeover to the international metric system.

Halloween Fete Slated In School

"Hilarious Halloween Happenings for Half Pints" is the title for the holiday carnival planned at the Twin Cities Nursery School, 56 Mohawk Drive, Corte Madera, from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. next Tuesday and Wednesday.

All pre-kindergarten children in the community are welcome, according to committee chairman Jean Hauser. They are asked to wear costumes.

Game booths and prizes, a photographer and clown will be carnival attractions. Food will be served. Game tickets will cost 10 for $1, Mrs. Hauser said.

Worldwide Starvation Foretold

TUCSON, Ariz. (UPI) — Millions of people may starve to death before the turn of the century unless immediate action is taken to meet world food requirements, the dean of the University of Arizona College of Agriculture said yesterday.

Dr. Gerald R. Stairs, addressing a national meeting of 1,700 county agricultural agents, said farm technology must be improved, birth control expanded and food consumption decreased in order to avert mass starvation.

"We've known we've been running short of food for some time," Stairs said. "Two decades ago, we had a world reserve food supply for 60 days. Today, we have a 29 day supply. The gap is rapidly closing."

"Thirty million of the world's people may starve in the next 10 to 20 years," he said.

Kennecott Copper Co. Accepts Compensation

NEW YORK (UPI) — Kennecott Copper Co. said yesterday it has agreed to accept $54 million from the Chilean government as compensation for its 49 per cent interest in the nationalized El Teniente Mining Co.

Kennecott had previously sold the other 51 per cent of El Teniente to the Chilean government for $80 million.

ALMANAC

By UNITED PRESS INTERNATIONAL

Today is Friday, Oct. 25, the 298th day of 1974 with 67 to follow.

The moon is between its first quarter and full phase. The morning stars are Venus, Mars, Saturn and Mercury. The evening star is Jupiter.

On this day in history:

In 1854, in the "Charge of the Light Brigade," some 670 British cavalrymen fighting in the Crimean War attacked a heavily fortified Russian position and were wiped out.

In 1966, a fire aboard the U.S. carrier "Oriskany" off the coast of Vietnam killed 33 men.

In 1973, President Nixon, under increasingly heavy fire for the Watergate cover-up, attacked the American news media for what he called "hysterical, vicious" reporting.

HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Keep A Trump In Dummy For Protection You Need

When your adversaries are walking about, seeking whom they may devour, be sure to keep a trump or two in the dummy. It may give you just the protection that you need.

WEST OPENS

West opens the jack of diamonds, and you have a somewhat shapeless hand to play. Where do you begin?

Most players would begin by tackling the trumps. The trump finesse works, and the world seems bright and rosy as you capture the queen of spades and draw three rounds of trumps.

Sooner or later, however, you must try the club finesse. East takes the king of clubs and returns the queen of hearts. The opponents take a club and three hearts, and you give the opponents a resentful look and a score of 100 points.

VERDICT OF HISTORY

You may complain about bad luck, but the verdict of history will be that you misplayed the hand. You must go after the clubs before drawing trumps.

Suppose you win the first trick with the queen of diamonds and lead the jack of clubs for a finesse. East can take the king of clubs and return the queen of hearts, but dummy's trumps limit the enemy to two heart tricks. If necessary you can ruff a third round of hearts and take a trump finesse. Then you draw trumps and claim the rest of the tricks.

You don't plan to ruff hearts in dummy when you begin to play the hand, but you must save dummy's trumps as a backstop just in case you are forced to ruff a heart.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with 1 NT (16 to 18 points) and the next player passes.

You hold:
♠ - Q 5 4
♥ - Q J 10 2
♦ - 8 5 4
♣ - K 6 3.

What do you say?

ANSWER: Pass.

You would raise to 2 NT with nine points or with a useful 5-card suit, but it is far safer to pass with a mangy eight-point hand.

Antelope Population Upsurge For State

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — An aerial census shows there are now 4,747 pronghorn antelope living on California's northeastern plains, the state Department of Fish and Game says.

That's the most during the 20 years the department has been keeping track.

DANCE REVIEW

Royal Swedish Ballet At Zellerbach Theater

By BLAKE A. SAMSON

BERKELEY — The Royal Swedish Ballet arrived in the Bay Area last night and offered three ballets: one good, one fair to middling, one poor.

An audience, largely youthful in composition, occupied about two-thirds of Zellerbach Auditorium on the University of California campus and gave the visitors a mildly enthusiastic reception.

The high point was the opening, "The Consort," an unexpected renaissance fair in dance. The music was a joy — broad and lusty songs linked together and regally Elizabethan.

Choreographer Eliot Feld's dance, an exercise in pattern, was crisp, clipped, sharply defined. The movement of five couples shifted juxtaposing, alternating, paralleling each other. It showed a marvelous European precision. How nice a grand jete is when pointed like a sword.

The girl used their skirts like massive drapes, unfurling them, sweeping them with fanfare. It was never just abstract movement, for underneath, there was a fiery temperament wanting to break from a courtly and courteous formality.

The second half of "The Consort" shifts from the court to the countryside. The skirts go above the knees. The red linings come to the outside; the hats are doffed. The sleeves rolled and the shirts unbuttoned.

The flavor becomes robust, coarse, peppery. Tambourines and percussion accents abound. Everything is more rugged, more rude.

Here the orchestra, under conductor Bjorn Hallman, became excessively boisterous, but it was all done in the name of fun.

The songs, fluid and rich with brass, are orchestrated well and the 10 dancers, drawn from the company's principals and soloists (and one recruit from the corps de ballet, Barbo Carles) danced "The Consort" with life and vigor.

It is the story of a girl who seduces her butler and then can't endure her shame before the other servants and countryfolk and commands the butler to kill her.

Berit Skold, dancing Julie, and Markku Heinonen, as Jean, the butler, offered the only real solo dancing the whole evening. This was sad when one considers the unused talent glimpsed on stage (Hervor Sjostrand and Dimitry Cheremeteff, to name two examples).

Skold's Julie had a definite mean streak. She treats Jean as if training a horse, setting hurdles for him, then whipping him with a riding crop. The subtleties of the Strindberg psychology were stripped away in favor of blatant symbols.

Miss Julie wears a prim, waitress-like skirt, only there's the symbolic slit up the right side. The town gossips are three black-dressed crow-like figures that encircle her. It is all a bit too simple but does have an uneasing humor.

The ending is macabre, Julie grows progressively mechanical until all life leaves her. Jean's plunge of the knife only becomes the signature on a death warrant previously filled out. It was interesting but spotty.

The orchestra became a band for a circus. Artisans, two bored courtesans, a monocled Baron, soldiers, and, oh yes, can can girls all pranced like the Lippizan horses through waltzes, gallops and cancans of Jacques Offenbach's patched together score. It was a slip into poor taste and a downsided ending to a mixed evening.

The performance will be repeated this evening and Saturday. "Swan Lake" will be danced Sunday evening. The Sunday matinee of "Swan Lake" has been canceled.

Agents Seize Guns At Home

PACIFIC GROVE (UPI) — Treasury agents have confiscated antitank weapons, a submachinegun, destructive projectiles and ammunition at a private home.

Raymond Larone, 45, Pacific Grove, was charged yesterday with violating gun control laws. He was later released on his own recognizance after appearing before a U.S. magistrate.

Agents said they found in his home a 20mm antitank gun, a 55m antitank weapon along with ammunition for it, a submachinegun, a mortar round, 60 M80 "firecrackers" and a 60m shell.

Renowned Chef Killed In Crash

GENEVA (UPI) — Jacques Lacombe, 51, a renowned chef and gastronomic expert, was killed in an auto collision Wednesday night, it was announced yesterday.

Lacombe, 51, owned the "Lion d'Or" restaurant in Geneva, considered the city's best. It had two stars in the Michelin guide and was rumored to be close to the ultimate third star.

Police said Lacombe was driving towards Geneva in the Valais region when knocked into a ravine by another automobile passing at high speed from the opposite direction.

Energy Watchdogs In 'Tip Of The Day' Plan

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Federal Energy Administration has begun publishing a "tip of the day" on how to save energy.

Inflation, Recession Both Present Now—Economist

By HARRY B. ELLIS
The Christian Science Monitor
News Service

WASHINGTON, D.C. — "Yes, we are in recession. But I don't blame the President for saying no we are not."

Thus Alan Murray, vice-president and economist of the First National City Bank of New York, described the current state of the economy and President Ford's denial that the U.S. is in recession.

"If he were to say there was a recession," added Murray, "logically he would have to put in place more vigorous policies to combat it."

And those policies, by stimulating the economy, sooner or later, in Murray's view, "would exacerbate inflation."

Murray and Arthur F. Burns, chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, use the same words to describe the current U.S. recession — "very unusual."

By this they mean that, after three consecutive quarters of decline of the Gross National Product (GNP), inflation still roars along at an 11 per cent or higher clip.

"If the top priority is to beat inflation," remarked Murray, "and I think it is," then the President should avoid stimulative policies that might edge prices higher.

Other economists, including Walter W. Heller and Arthur Okun, both former chairmen of the Council of Economic Advisers, believe first priority now should go to fighting recession.

With unemployment rising, say these economists, and with output continuing to decline, the U.S. economy needs net stimulation, to avoid deeper recession.

Five times since World War II the U.S. economy has slumped into recession, each averaging 11 months in length. Again taking an average, real output of goods and services, measured in constant dollars, fell less than 2 percent during the five recessions.

Today's recession so far has lasted nine months — three consecutive quarters of GNP decline — and real output has dipped over the period about 2 percent, in constant dollars.

Traditionally, a government combats inflation by pumping more money into the economy, thus creating jobs and increasing production. This is supposed to cause prices to rise.

The current situation is vastly more complicated than in the past five recessions, experts note, because prices are soaring at a record peacetime rate.

Ford's problem, as economists see it, is to devise policies which curb inflation, without pushing the economy into deeper recession.

"It becomes," said one official, "a matter of deciding priorities. Which is public enemy No. 1, inflation or recession?" So far, the President puts primary emphasis on fighting inflation, even to the extent of denying that recession exists.

Recessions are defined, not by the U.S. government, but by the National Bureau of Economic Research, which calls a recession "an extended, substantial, and widespread decline in aggregate economic activity."

White House aides point out that the bureau has not yet labeled the current situation a recession, which leaves Ford technically free to deny that one exists. However, noted a private economist, since the bureau never defines a recession until it is over, this loophole is faulty.

"We are pretty close to turning the corner on inflation," said Murray. "Though prices will continue to rise, the rate of inflation soon will begin to subside."

In the first quarter of 1975, according to First National City Bank estimates, the inflation rate will drop below 10 per cent. So far this year U.S. inflation — by the broad GNP deflator measurement — has run 11.1 per cent at an annual rate.

Many economists agree that a recessionary trend now developing throughout the industrialized world may help to bring U.S. inflation down below the 10 per cent level sometime in the first half of 1975.

There is less agreement on the duration and scope of the accompanying U.S. recession, with Dr. Heller and some other economists foreseeing possibly the longest and deepest decline since World War II.

Murray's more optimistic view is that "recession will reach bottom in the first quarter of 1975, possibly in the last quarter of 1974."

BRUCE SEES FEW CHANGES

San Anselmo's Manager Expects A Quiet Town

By NELS JOHNSON

All's quiet in San Anselmo.

Guiding the current calm is 51-year-old Alan Bruce, city administrator-controller who has been on the job since Oct. 1.

Bruce, who earned a reputation as a hardworking if sometimes controversial public figure during a 10-year tenure as county administrator that ended with his ouster in 1971, said his natural bent is low-keyed rather than high-powered.

Describing himself as "straight-shooting but not seeking controversy," Bruce said his administration will assume in many respects the same mellow tone generated by former manager Alfred C. Kaeppel, who retired.

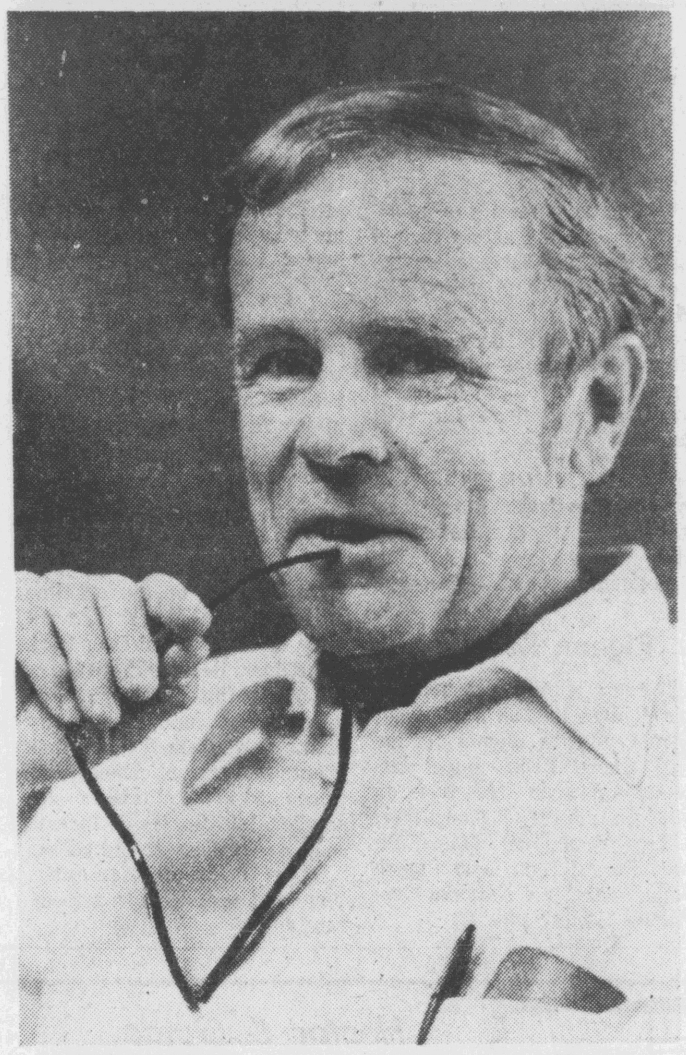
"I don't think the average resident is going to realize there has been a change in the administration," Bruce said.

He said the city appears to be in sound shape. "I don't see serious problems of administration or morale. I think the city department head group, for instance, is an excellent and very competent one . . . The same goes for city employees."

One problem facing the city, he noted, is the matter of new facilities for municipal safety personnel. He described the fire department-police office complex as "very obsolete and inadequate, difficult and I think sometimes dangerous to work in." Financing of new facilities, or improvements to existing cramped quarters, is a "problem to tackle" over the next several months, according to Bruce.

Capital improvements or other municipal growth, Bruce added, will be in line with the notion that San Anselmo is a small-scale city and intends to stay that way. "In fact, I rather like the name town rather than city," he said.

As for the public's right to know: "The public's business is the public's business and is to be transacted in public, with very few exceptions," he noted. "I don't see much need for off-the-record communication," Bruce added, saying the Ralph M. Brown Act should be interpreted "very narrowly".



LOOKING AHEAD — Alan Bruce smiles as he notes that under his administration city business will be conducted in such low-key fashion it is unlikely many San Anselmans will realize there's been a change. Bruce, who has succeeded retired Alfred C. Kaeppel, was known at the county level as a high-powered executive.

He pledged not to "shoot my mouth off to (the press) or anyone else in a half-baked fashion . . . I believe in leveling with the press and maximum public information."

Bruce, appointed to the post on a 3-2 vote of the city council, said he expects to remain administrator-controller "on a permanent basis, or at least permanent for as long as I am wanted or until retirement is appropriate." He said he welcomes the opportunity to guide municipal affairs since the job provides "a level of greater closeness to the people served."

He said he and Mayor Martin G. Blinder have an excellent working relationship and "have had from the outset," despite Blinder's initial judgment that Bruce might become "uncorked" within six months on the job. Blinder and Councilman Pieter Toal opposed Bruce's appointment to the post, since they favored another candidate among six finalists for the job.

Bruce was born in Berkeley, the son of a university English professor, and spent his high school days in Palo Alto. He holds a bachelor's degree in public administration from the University of California at Berkeley.

After college, Bruce served in posts with several national war boards, and in 1944 became a field investigator for the National Labor Relations Board. He served from 1947 to 1955 as a staff aide for the state labor commission.

He served in late 1955 and 1956 as a consultant for an American firm doing a local governmental study for the Republic of the Phillipines, and moved stateside in 1957 to accept a post as Marin's assistant county administrator.

He soon became known as a hard-working public servant with exceptional ability in budget matters, as well as one who met controversial matters head on.

He was propelled into crises involving the firing of a personnel director, a recommendation that former county Planning Director Paul C. Zucker be fired, and skirmishes with local judges.

His resignation under pressure from county supervisors in 1971 came in the wake of his own demand for the ouster of Carolyn B. Albrecht, county health officer, whom he charged with inept administration of the health department.

Bruce said he is proud, as well as surprised, at his stint with county government. "It is amazing that anyone survived for 14 years in Marin County government during that time," he said.

Bruce for the past two years worked as vice president and director of planning for Redwood Bank in San Rafael.

A 14-year resident of San Anselmo, Bruce lives at 88 Tamalpais Avenue with his wife, Constance. The couple has three grown children.

$850,000 Profit For Bridge Unit

The Golden Gate Bridge District showed a net profit of more than $850,000 during July and August, but that may not prevent raising the midday ferry fare between Sausalito and San Francisco from 75 cents to $1.

The proposal to raise the fare, approved by the district's finance committee yesterday and passed on to the full board of directors, would raise about $250,000 more.

"This new revenue should go a long way toward covering the deficit of the Sausalito operation as it is currently running," said Stephan Leonoudakis, district president. The ferry deficit during the first two months of the fiscal year was $22,000.

That figure, along with the bridge-operated bus system deficit of $616,000 during the same period, were easily covered by the $1.5 million profit shown from vehicle tolls.

Officials said district reserves now stand at $18.3 million, much of which is committed to capital expenditures.

Novato Tennis Rules Drawn Up

The Novato Parks and Recreation Commission last night approved a set of rules for the city's four tennis courts at Pioneer Memorial Park.

These cover such matters as preference for residents, a system for keeping place in line for use of the courts, reservations of the courts and night use by adults, said Parks and Recreation Director Lester S. Russell.

Novato residents will be given a sticker to put on their racquets, entitling them to preference over nonresidents, he said.

The commission set a one hour time limit for doubles on any court.

Each tennis court will have holders for racquets which will maintain the proper rotation for players.

Reservations may be made on two of the courts for four weekdays per month. No party may reserve a court more than one day per month, Russell said.

Youngsters under 16, not accompanied by an adult, will be asked to relinquish the courts after 7 p.m., Tuesdays and Thursdays during June through September. This is so that adults who work during the day will have a chance to play, he said.

These regulations will be sent to the Novato Unified School District to see if the district will cooperate on trying to get a uniform set of rules regulating use of its tennis courts, except for the residential requirement, Russell said.

In other action, the commission gave temporary approval for a brochure describing the city parks and what forms of recreation are available in each.

A Political Cablecast Is Planned

A congressional and state legislature candidates' night and debate between Marin Municipal Water District candidates Richard J. Boylan and Betty M. Forry will be highlights of the Marin Community Video cablecast on Wednesday.

Fifth Congressional District, Second State Senate District and Ninth Assembly District candidates will speak from 8 to 9:30 p.m., with television political reporter Rollin Post as moderator.

At 9:30 p.m. highlights from the Marin County Board of Supervisors meeting will be presented, followed at 10 p.m. by the Boylan-Forry debate, produced by Terra Linda High School students.

The Channel 3 cablecast will reach Southern Marin homes Wednesday and will be repeated Thursday for viewers from San Anselmo to Forest Knolls.

Burglaries Top Marin's Crime List

A total of 398 major crimes was reported in Marin County last month, with 221 burglaries as usual topping the list.

Chief Raymond R. Buchignani of San Anselmo, however, pointed out that the burglary figures may be misleading because they include many crimes lay people probably wouldn't class as burglaries.

"If someone takes a sweater out of a locked car, that has to be counted as a burglary," the chief said. In addition to such petty crimes, Buchignani, who is president of the Marin police chiefs' association, said the category of burglary also includes major thefts from residences and businesses as well as cars.

He added that in the City of San Anselmo there seems to have been a decrease lately in the number of serious burglaries, perhaps due to increased patrol in the hilly area.

"I hope it (the decrease) continues," Buchignani said, adding he did not know the reason for it.

The Town of Ross, by order of the town council, does not make its crime statistics available to the public, with the result that information on the incidence of crime in the town runs about 18 months late, when figures are released by the state.

This month's reports on crime also contain the August report from the Marin Sheriff's Department, which was not prepared last month.

Among all crime reported in Marin in September were these major offenses (with totals to date this year in parenthesis):

San Quentin Officials Impose Shutdown In Wake Of Stabbing

Warden Kenneth D. Britt, saying, "We've been doing something wrong," announced a "regrouping" in the wake of the latest serious assault on a prisoner, according to William D. Nyberg, prison information officer.

Yesterday's stabbing brought the number of such attacks at the prison this year to 68. The injured man, Billy D. Harris, was reported in fair condition today.

His stabbing, which officers believe other convicts tried to hide by staging a "fight" to divert guards' attention, was due to racial conflict, officials said.

Tightening-up measures at the prison today include keeping most convicts locked in their cells, restricting visitors and reclassifying of inmates.

"We believe many of the stabbings are narcotics related," Nyberg said. He explained that prison officials "have a good idea" who is bringing drugs into the prison and rather than try to catch visitors and attorneys with contraband, "We're just not going to let (the suspected carriers) in."

Further, Nyberg said, some prisoners now classified as "ones" or "twos" ("the men we thought we could trust") and currently housed in less secure sections, will be reclassified if they are believed to be narcotics dealers or weapons fashioners.

In the meantime, all of San Quentin's 2,787 prisoners except those who "perform essential jobs" such as kitchen, hospital and maintenance workers were spending the day locked in their cells. Prison industrial shops were shut down.

"We are going to try to do a better job than we've been doing," Nyberg quoted the warden as saying.

Harris was stabbed twice in the neck at 5:55 p.m. yesterday on the tier outside his cell in D Section. Nyberg said one man assaulted Harris, 28, while four others tried to attract guards' attention by staging a fight.

All five were in custody today, and a 14-inch, sharpened file was confiscated by officials.

Harris, a white man, is a member of the Aryan Brotherhood, Nyberg said. He said the five men in custody are black and that Harris had a history of conflict with black prisoners.

Harris is serving a three-year to life sentence for assault on another prisoner at Soledad Prison. He originally was sentenced for assault with a deadly weapon and perjury in Santa Clara County.

Three other convict stabbings took place last weekend. There have been eight fatal stabbings at the prison this year.

Power Lag

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (UPI) — The chairman of the Tennessee Valley Authority said today that unless there is a 20 per cent reduction in use of electricity in the months ahead TVA's coal stockpiles will be wiped out by the end of the winter, regardless of whether there is a miners' strike.

Auction Slated By Air Reserves

New and used items of all descriptions will be sold at auction at 1 p.m. tomorrow in the Downtown Shopping Center mall in Novato by the Novato High School Air Force Junior Reserve officers training corps.

This is the second annual auction by the corps. The money raised is used for educational field trips and other activities of the corps.

Many of the items have been donated by merchants, others collected by the corps members and their friends. One of the most unusual things to be auctioned is 48 hours use of a new 1975 Ford, but the person must be 18 years old and have a valid driver's license.

Halloween Fete For Marinwood

The 9th Annual Marinwood Halloween Parade will begin at 9:30 a.m. tomorrow as goblins of all ages convene at the Marinwood Community Center, a spokesman said today.

The event is sponsored by the Marinwood Funsters, a senior citizens group.

In addition, a community center spokesman said a special Halloween puppet show will be performed at 4 p.m. Oct. 31 at the community center.

Marin Dining And Wining

DINING OUT AND INNS

By HARRY CRAFT

Le Chateau's New French Chef Means More French Cooking Now

There is a good cast at Le Chateau these days — you'll see some new faces as well as some old ones.

More than that, there is good food. Between the two it's now a very nice place to go for dinner. There's a new chef, a young Frenchman by the name of Domenique Leiseing. He's very serious minded about his cooking and he comes to Le Chateau with good credits from such places as La Mirabella, Fleur de Lys and L'Etoile. I've tasted his food and rate it favorably in quality and imagination. John Pierre Elgart continues in the kitchen as sous chef and the two make a good combination.

Le Chateau has had its French name for many years, but the cooking has not always been French. It is now, and categorically I include it among Marin County's French restaurants. (Did you know that the score of French to Italian restaurants is now 16 to 15? At least that's my count).

The Le Chateau menu even now does not necessarily reflect this French flavor. Dishes like veal cordon bleu, coq au vin, canard a l'Orange and frog legs provencale keep company with osso bucco, veal scaloppini, veal parmigiana, lobster tail, sauteed prawns, sweetbreads, prime rib, New York steaks and others. Two recommended house specials are the veal Chateau and the beef medallion Chateau.

Price range for complete dinners with soup, salad, dessert and coffee or tea is $5-$7.50, with a choice of 21 entrees. A la carte is $1 less. And there's a child's plate special at $2.50. If you haven't been here for some time, now's a good time to go.

Lunches have always been popular at Le Chateau and they still are - from a $1.50 mixed green salad or $1.80 hamburger on French bread up to $3.75 for the crab louis and the 15 other selections in between. In the $2-$2.75 range you'll find sole meuniere, omelets, cannelloni, spaghetti with meat sauce, prawns and osso bucco, along with a special diet plate.

Husband and wife Joseph and Nadine Lauper keep open seven days a week. Decor is nice; there's food service in both dining room and lounge as in the past and a party room that seats about 50.

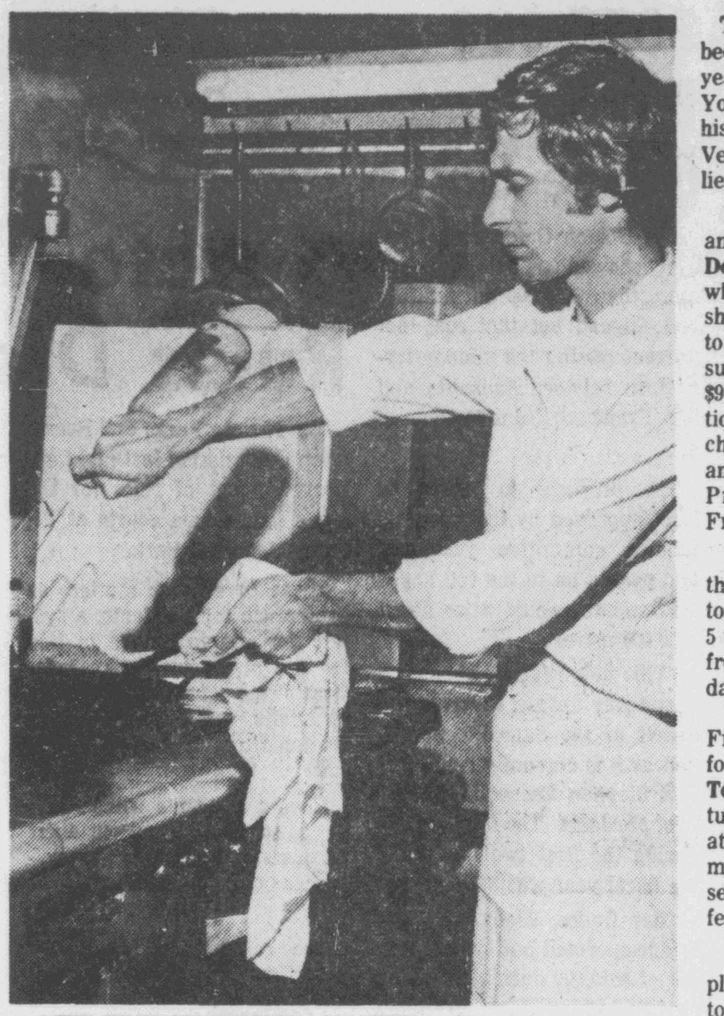
Jim Bellino and Ted Giusti are at the bar night and day respectively and we were most pleased to find Zee Preston still here at the tables. (If you like her table service you should hear her singing).

YOU MAY HAVE HEARD some of the recent rumors that Dick Templeton and Gordon Jones have sold Rubini's in Fairfax.

And you may have also heard rumors that Don Bernard has sold the Executive Lounge in San Rafael.

Where's smoke there's usually fire, but not always. But put these two rumors together and you will get at least an explanation for the smoke. What has happened is that Don received an offer for the Executive Lounge which he accepted and he made an offer to Dick and Gordon for the property and business at Rubini's which they accepted. (Which offer was made first I'm not sure).

Mind you, at this writing neither offer had been closed nor had any future plans of the respective parties been revealed. There are still several nods of approval to be secured, papers to be made up and signed, money to be paid in and escrows to be completed. A hitch in either deal could still upset the a la carte for both.



NEW FRENCH KITCHEN MASTER — Young but experienced Domenique Leiseing is the new chef at Le Chateau in San Rafael. He has been in the restaurant business since he was 15 and has served in both European and American dineries.

GOING PLACES these days is young Raul Lara of Larkspur — he's the singing troubador at Ramona's in San Rafael Wednesday through Sunday nights from 7 to 11. Already winner of the "Quijote" award (the Latin-American Grammy) in the Bay Area, he now has his own half-hour television show on San Francisco's Cable Vision Channel 6 — a musical program from 8:30 p.m. on Tuesdays and from 6:30 on Fridays.

Tune in and watch and hear him. If you like his voice and guitar at Ramona's you'll like this.

Incidentally, Ramona's is having a costume party on Halloween, Oct. 31. There will be a first prize for the best costume: Dinner and a bottle of champagne.

A NEW PLACE for you to try in Petaluma is the Victorian at 208 Petaluma Boulevard North.

This restaurant location has been active for a number of years under various names. You may remember it's past history as Diamond Lil's or the Velvet Plume or the Chandelier.

Now it has been taken over and fixed up nicely by Richard De Lena and Joe Frauenhofer, who formerly had Don's coffee shop in Sebastopol. They plan to make it into a complete supper club. Dinners are $3.95-$9.95, with several good selections including cross rib roast, chicken, filet mignon and steak and lobster and several others. Prices include soup, salad, French bread and dessert.

Lunches are served Tuesdays through Saturdays from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. and dinners are from 5 to 11 p.m. Sunday dinners are from 2 to 9 p.m. Closed Mondays.

There is organ entertainment Friday and Saturday nights and for tonight and tomorrow night Toni Cameron will be the featured singer. She has appeared at several places in both Sonoma and Marin County and I seem to recall that one place a few years ago was Sabella's.

I BELIEVE THAT most people who eat out generally prefer to order a complete dinner than a la carte. The exception might be at places serving Mexican food where is a tendency to issue menus which emphasize single entrees or plate combinations.

Realizing this, the Scarpullas at San Rafael's Tortola restaurant have come up with a solution satisfying to everyone. For each main entree on the menu (the range is about $2-$4.95) you can add $1.65 and get a complete dinner, including soup, salad, dessert and coffee, tea or milk.

Incidentally there's a mariachi trio playing at the Tortola on Friday and Saturday nights from about 7 p.m. called Los Monarcas. And starting next week there will be a Happy Hour period from 4 to 6 p.m. Tuesdays through Fridays. Regular drinks (from the well) will be 65 cents.

IT'S AN ANNUAL CUSTOM for the Mayflower Inn in San Rafael to put on a Halloween party and this year it's scheduled again — for next Thursday night.

Everyone in costume gets his first drink on the house and there'll be prizes for the most original attire, the most outlandish, and for the inn regulars, to the one who remains unrecognized for the longest period.

If you are not exactly sure where it is, go to the 1500 block on Fourth Street and no doubt you'll see signs of the action — perhaps with the Mayflower's maitre d' Peter Berwick monitoring traffic in his London bobbie's helmet.

DEER PARK VILLA in Fairfax has hit on a good idea.

Bob Ghiringhelli says he's noticed many of the old-time customers eating less and not quite up to the usual Deer Park full dinner. Result: There's now a "Senior Citizens' Dinner" on Wednesday and Thursday nights only, from 6 to 10, with about six entree choices and priced $3.50-$5. Portions are smaller, but dinners do include soup, salad, dessert and coffee.

Oh, yes — anyone can order. You don't need to show a Medicare card.

Pigeon Recalled

The last of millions of passenger pigeons died in a zoo Sept. 1, 1914. But the memory of the bird whose flocks once darkened American skies lives on in Pigeon, Mich., Pigeon River, N.C., Pigeon Cove, Mass., Pigeon Forge, Tenn., and Pigeon Point, Minn., the National Geographic Society says.

Apprentice Pool Seen Dwindling

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — If the housing slump lingers, the construction industry could find itself short of skilled workers should production demands pick up, the state warned yesterday.

In a report, the department of industrial relations said the drop in housing has been accompanied in California by a sharp, 15 per cent decline in the number of new apprenticeship openings during the past year.

If continued, that would leave contractors without an adequate number of trained workers, said the chief of state apprenticeship standards, Robert W. Clottu.

He urged in a prepared statement that employers maintain their training programs to meet long-term needs.

In a beakdown on the apprenticeship decline, the department reported ethnic minorities faired slightly better than white trainees, suffering an 8.9 per cent decrease in new enrollments compared with 16.3 per cent for whites.

When considering new openings plus the number of trainees continuing in apprenticeship programs, minorities actually registered a gain of 3.4 per cent, the report said. Whites at the same time showed an overall decrease of 7.2 per cent.

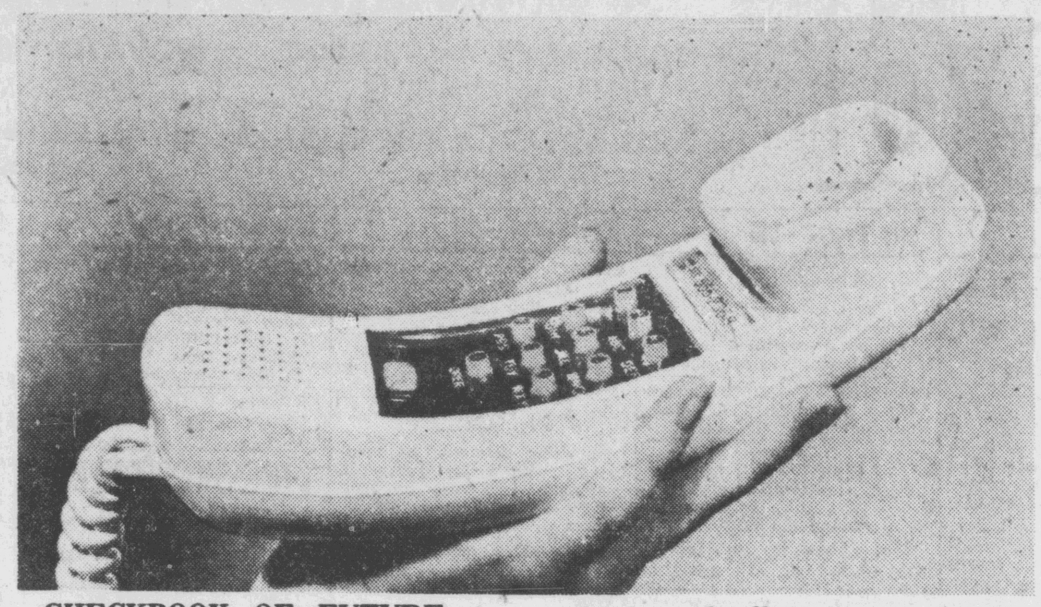
To Pay Bills, Just Pick Up Phone

By ROBERT M. PRESS
The Christian Science Monitor
News Service



CHECKBOOK OF FUTURE — Instead of reaching for a checkbook to pay bills, persons with accounts at a Rochester, N.Y., savings bank now grab their telephones and talk to an operator or a computer. The system is expected to become widespread soon.

(Christian Science Monitor photo)

CHICAGO — You have just finished dinner and started to tackle a pile of bills. But instead of hauling out the checkbook, verifying the balance, writing checks, stuffing them in envelopes, and hunting for enough stamps, you pick up the phone.

In just a few minutes all your bills are paid.

That is how the new pay-by-phone service works that a Rochester, N.Y., savings bank started Oct. 17 and several other savings banks are planning to start soon. According to an American Telephone & Telegraph official, except for a temporary experiment with such a service last year at a Seattle bank, this is the first time such an idea is being tried in the United States.

Some persons see it as just the beginning of new services Americans will have available through their home telephone — especially through their touch-tone telephones.

Shopping customers could call the store's computer, punch out their account number and order by catalog numbers. With a picture telephone the products could be viewed.

Figuring income tax. The taxpayer could dial a tax firm's computer, punch out his financial data and have his taxes calculated.

Verifying bank balances. This is already in use in the lobby of some banks, fur customers with identifying cards, but it could be adapted for home use.

In all such uses, most of them relying on the phone to contact a computer, safeguards are needed to prevent abuse, an ATT spokesman cautions.

With the pay-by-phone system, "I can pick up the telephone and pay my mortgage or loan payments and utilities," says James Barnett Jr.

He is one of a limited number of customers of the Peoples' Savings Bank of Bridgeport, Conn., offered the service this summer on an experimental basis.

The bank plans to extend the service to all its customers in early November.

"It saves me writing out checks," says Barnett. In the beginning he says he was "a little reluctant" to try the service because of concern that his transactions might get "messed up," especially if someone learned his account and secret code number. But he has memorized the code number and so far has had no problems.

Pay-by-phone transactions are "more secure than those handled by mail," says Howard Phillips, president of a small Seattle firm — a telephone computing service — which has designed the system purchased by the Bridgeport and Rochester savings banks as well as a savings bank in Minneapolis.

All three savings banks point out that until payments are ordered by phone, the customer's money earns interest. This, in effect, gets savings institutions into the check-clearing business, although no actual checks are used.

As with a regular bank account, customers will get monthly statements of payments ordered. The charges for such service vary with the institution and range from no charge for customers with a balance of more than $500 to $2 monthly, and 10 cents per transaction if the payee is not a bank client — otherwise, no charge.

Customers can use a rotary dial to reach a teller during working hours, or — at one of the institutions — touch-tone anytime to reach a computer.

If a caller becomes confused in the middle of an automatic call, it is possible to "erase" the transaction and signal for a teller to come on the line.

The balance is determined immediately after payments are ordered.

Organization Set For Bret Harte

Sixty San Rafael residents met Wednesday to form the Bret Harte Community Association, a spokesman said today.

Elaine Goldman said the new group will elect officers at a meeting set for 8 p.m. Nov. 6 at the Bruce J. Scott residence, 182 Irwin Street.

She said association members last night aired concerns ranging from upgrading Bret Harte Park to providing for crossing guards at the intersection of Woodland and Irwin streets.

U.S., Japanese Ask Fast Action On Sea Mine Law

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Both the U.S. and Japanese delegates to a recent U.N. conference on ocean resources expressed fears yesterday that "dangerous" incidents could occure on the high seas unless international agreements are reached on deep-sea mining.

The principal dispute at the U.N. Law of the Sea Conference in Caracas was between industrialized nations and developing nations on how quickly to proceed on mining manganese from the ocean depths, said U.S. ambassador to the conference, John R. Stevenson.

Stevenson and Motoo Ogiso, Japan's delegate to the sea conference, held a news conference during a World Affairs Council of Northern California on the Law of the Sea Conference.

Stevenson said the U.S. and other developed nations favored creation of a central authority that could grant licenses and contracts for the mining. But developing countries "believe our proposal will primarily benefit countries with the technology and the capital" that they don't have.

Whether the dispute can be settled when the U.N. conference meets again in Geneva in March will depend upon whether "we can all get down to the practicalities of deep sea mining," he said.

"It will take a good deal of ingenuity and it won't be accomplished in a politicized atmosphere," he said.

Stevenson indicated there were fears some nations might move ahead on mining before agreements can be reached.

Ogiso said major developed countries had tentatively agreed on a 200-mile "economic zone" plan for development of their own undersea petroleum and fishing resources.

"We hope agreements can be reached in Geneva to avoid unilateral actions to extend the economic zones. They could be very dangerous and there could be chain reactions. Some nations feel the 200-mile limiatation is detrimental to them.

"The differences between the developed and the developing nations are not small, so we'll need intensive negotiations to meet agreement. If there is substantial progress, then unilateral actions will be avoided."

Ogiso said his country favored giving a central authority the right to administer the mining in a "businesslike manner" through licenses and contracts.

NOTICE OF ADVANCED MATURITY

Resolution of Intention No. 390
Adopted May 1, 1968

To whom it may concern, holders and owners of bonds in the denomination of $1,000.00 and designated Bond Nos. 81, 91, 99, 100, 109, 110, 119, 120, 129 and 139 issued to represent unpaid assessments in the above project:

Notice is hereby given that the Treasurer of the County of Marin and Ex-Officio Treasurer of the Sanitary District No. 1 of Marin County, Forrest Avenue Sewer Assessment District has advanced the maturity of the foregoing bonds to January 2, 1975.

You are further notified that you may, prior to the date of advanced maturity, surrender said bonds and receive the principal and interest thereon to the date of payment together with a premium thereon equal to five percent (5%) of the principal. If the bonds have not been sooner surrendered on the date herein fixed for advanced maturity, there will be set aside to your credit the amount of principal and accrued interest then due on the bonds together with a premium of five percent (5%) of the principal, and the bonds shall then be deemed to have matured and interest shall cease to accrue on the bonds. The amount so set aside will be paid to the holders or owners of the bonds upon demand and upon the surrender and cancellation of the bonds.

STANLEY J. FONTEZ
Ex-Officio Treasurer
Sanitary District No. 1
of Marin County, Forrest Avenue

NOTICE OF SALE OF PROPERTY DELINQUENT FOR NON-PAYMENT OF ASSM. NO. 166 BOND NO. 50 OCEANA MARIN UNIT NO. 5 SERIES NO. 6045 FOR IMPROVEMENTS IN THE COUNTY OF MARIN, STATE OF CALIFORNIA

Default having been made in the payment of the following named coupons, 1-2-73 Prin. 286.76, 1-2-74 Prin. 286.66, 1-2-73 Int. 224.08, 7-2-73 Int. 140.46, 1-2-74 Int. 140.46, 7-2-74 Int. 130.43, and the holder of said bond having demanded in writing that the County Treasurer of the County of Marin, State of California, proceed to advertise and sell the lot or parcel of land mentioned in said bond. Now, therefore, I give notice that I will on the 26th day of November, 1974, at the hour of 10:00 A.M. of said day, sell at public auction, the lot or parcel of land mentioned in said bond, or so much thereof as may be necessary, at my office in the Marin County Civic Center at San Rafael, California, unless the amount due on said bond and the accrued interest thereon together with the cost of publication of this notice, are paid, and that I will so sell the same to the person who will take the least amount of said lot or parcel of land and pay the full amount of unpaid principal and interest on said bond together with the cost of publication. The lot or parcel of land mentioned in said bond and to be sold, is more particularly described, to-wit:

Lot No. 166 as shown on the map of "Oceana Marin—Unit 5," which map was filed for record in the office of the County Recorder of the County of Marin, State of California, on the 3rd day of March, 1972, in Book 15 of Maps, at Page 11.

The amount due on said bond up to the date of this notice is as follows: due on the principal thereof $4300.00; due on account of interest $647.78; due on account of penalties $194.85; total amount due on said bond $5142.63.

In order to avoid this sale, payment of the total amount above named will be required, together with the cost of publication made before such payment and the additional interest accruing up to the date of payment. Bond may be reinstated upon payment of amounts due, principal, interest, penalties, and fees, in the manner provided by law.

In the event of sale, such sale will include interest in addition to the above total amount due, accruing up to the date of sale, the cost of publication of notice of sale, and $7.00 for the issuance of certificate of sale.

NOTICE OF APPLICATION FOR WASTE DISCHARGE REQUIREMENTS

(National Pollutant Discharge Elimination System Permit)

FOR

San Rafael Sanitation District
Main Plant, San Rafael,
Marin County

San Rafael Sanitation District has filed a report of waste discharge for discharge of wastewater into San Rafael Bay and (San Francisco Bay) waters. The applicant is discharging approximately 3.3 mgd of domestic and industrial wastewater (industrial flow is 0.01 mgd) from its secondary treatment plant located at 1 Irene Street, San Rafael, Marin County, California.

On the basis of preliminary staff review and application of lawful standards and regulations, the California Regional Water Quality Control Board, San Francisco Bay Region, tentatively proposes to issue waste discharge requirements including effluent limitations and special conditions. Persons wishing to comment upon or object to the proposed discharge requirements are invited to submit same in writing to the above address no later than thirty days after date of this notice.* All comments or objections received prior to this date will be considered in the formulation of final determinations regarding the waste discharge. If no objections are received, the Regional Board will issue discharge requirements. A public hearing will be held upon request of any interested person.

The Report of Waste Discharge, related documents, comments received, and other information is on file and may be inspected or copied at the office of the Regional Board between the hours of 8:00 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. on business days.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Spastic Colon Commonly Hits Conscientious, Busy Persons

Spastic colon never kills or disables and occurs in all walks of life. It is the most common cause of abdominal distress varying from mild fullness and distention to intense cramping or colic.

Irritable bowel syndrome is most prevalent among executives, secretaries, and other overly conscientious workers. Those who do not have pain complain of 'butterflies' or rumbling noises in the stomach, or inward nervousness.

WE HAVE NO voluntary control over the behavior of the large intestine which can be likened to a hollow tube. Its wall is made up of circular muscles which work in unison propelling the intestinal contents along in a wavelike fashion. Pain ensues when these contractions are too forceful or when a gas pocket distends the intestinal wall.

Many excellent drugs are available to relieve spasms by relaxing the muscles or calming the sufferer. They work by divorcing the intestine from the brain.

MOST VICTIMS of spastic colon blame diet rather than their jobs or a sensitive nervous system. Fresh foods, seeds, skins, harsh and dried foods, cabbage and beans are notorious offenders.

However, food-related sources of irritation can't compare with the adverse effects of resentment, tension, anxiety and overfatigue on the bowel.

Coffee, tea, tobacco, cola drinks and alcohol stimulate the nerves of the bowel; they must be avoided since these items produce abdominal cramping. Constipation, diarrhea, belching or gas may be mild when things calm down. But when the person is under pressure, they can be severe.

People with an irritable bowel syndrome tend to be productive, intelligent, and conscientious. They encounter distress only when they must attend an important conference, give a speech or make a difficult decision.

THE BEST APPROACH to the problem is to eliminate all situations that produce tension. Stock must also be taken of one's eating habits and his intake of coffee, tea and alcohol. Most victims respond to an antispasmodic or anticholingergic drug or a sedative, as well as a bland diet that does not include too much roughage.

NEURITIS AND KNITTING

W.C.O. writes: I have neuritis on the left side of my chest. Do you think I should give up my knitting until the pain goes away?

REPLY

Not at all, and that cable-stitch sweater you are working on might take your mind off the pain.

TOT IS THUMB-SUCKER

A reader writes: Our 3-year-old, Jeff, is a thumb-sucker. The dentist says we must try to stop the habit because he is showing signs of jaw malformation. The pediatrician told us to let him alone because he will eventually outgrow the habit. Since I've received two different professional opinions, I'm confused. Can thumb-sucking be stopped without harming the child?

REPLY

This question should be answered by your dentist. I think the best approach to the problem is not to make an issue of it. When Jeff puts his thumb into his mouth, hand him a cookie or a toy. It might not hurt to pay more attention to him at these times.

HOW LEPROSY SPREADS

Mark writes: I'm 12-years-old and ever since I was very young, I've been interested in the field of medicine. Have you doctors found out how leprosy spreads?

REPLY

We believe that leprosy (or Hansen's disease) is spread from one person to another, but beyond this, the mode of transmission is not clear. But leprosy is not too contagious; in fact, a person could work for years with a victim of leprosy and not contract the disease.

STRETCHING

Mrs. W. T. writes: Our 17-year-old daughter is 5 feet, 8 inches tall. She attends dancing classes where she does plenty of stretching. Could these dancing lessons be the cause of her tallness?

REPLY

Height usually is on a hereditary basis, and may stem from how tall you and her father are. Tallness is an asset and you may have a beautiful chorus girl in the making.

SCRATCHED MOLE OFF FACE

S. G. writes: I accidentally scratched a mole off my face, and now I'm worried sick that cancer might develop. Will it?

REPLY

Not necessarily, but the residuals of the mole should be removed surgically if the mole was in an area that is easily irritated.

San Rafael, air quality yesterday:
Oxidants, clean air.
Nitrogen, clean air.
Carbon monoxide, clean air.
Smoke particles, light air pollution.

Other areas:
San Francisco, clean air.
San Jose, light air pollution.

Colorless oxidants, brownish nitrogen dioxide and smoke particles aggravate respiratory diseases. Carbon monoxide causes dizziness, headaches and slows reflexes. Smoke particles come largely from industrial sources.

San Francisco Bay Area: Mostly fair tonight and tomorrow; little temperature change; highs mid 60s to mid 70s; lows in upper 40s to mid 50s; light winds; low tonight at San Francisco 55 Oakland Airport 56 Redwood City 53.

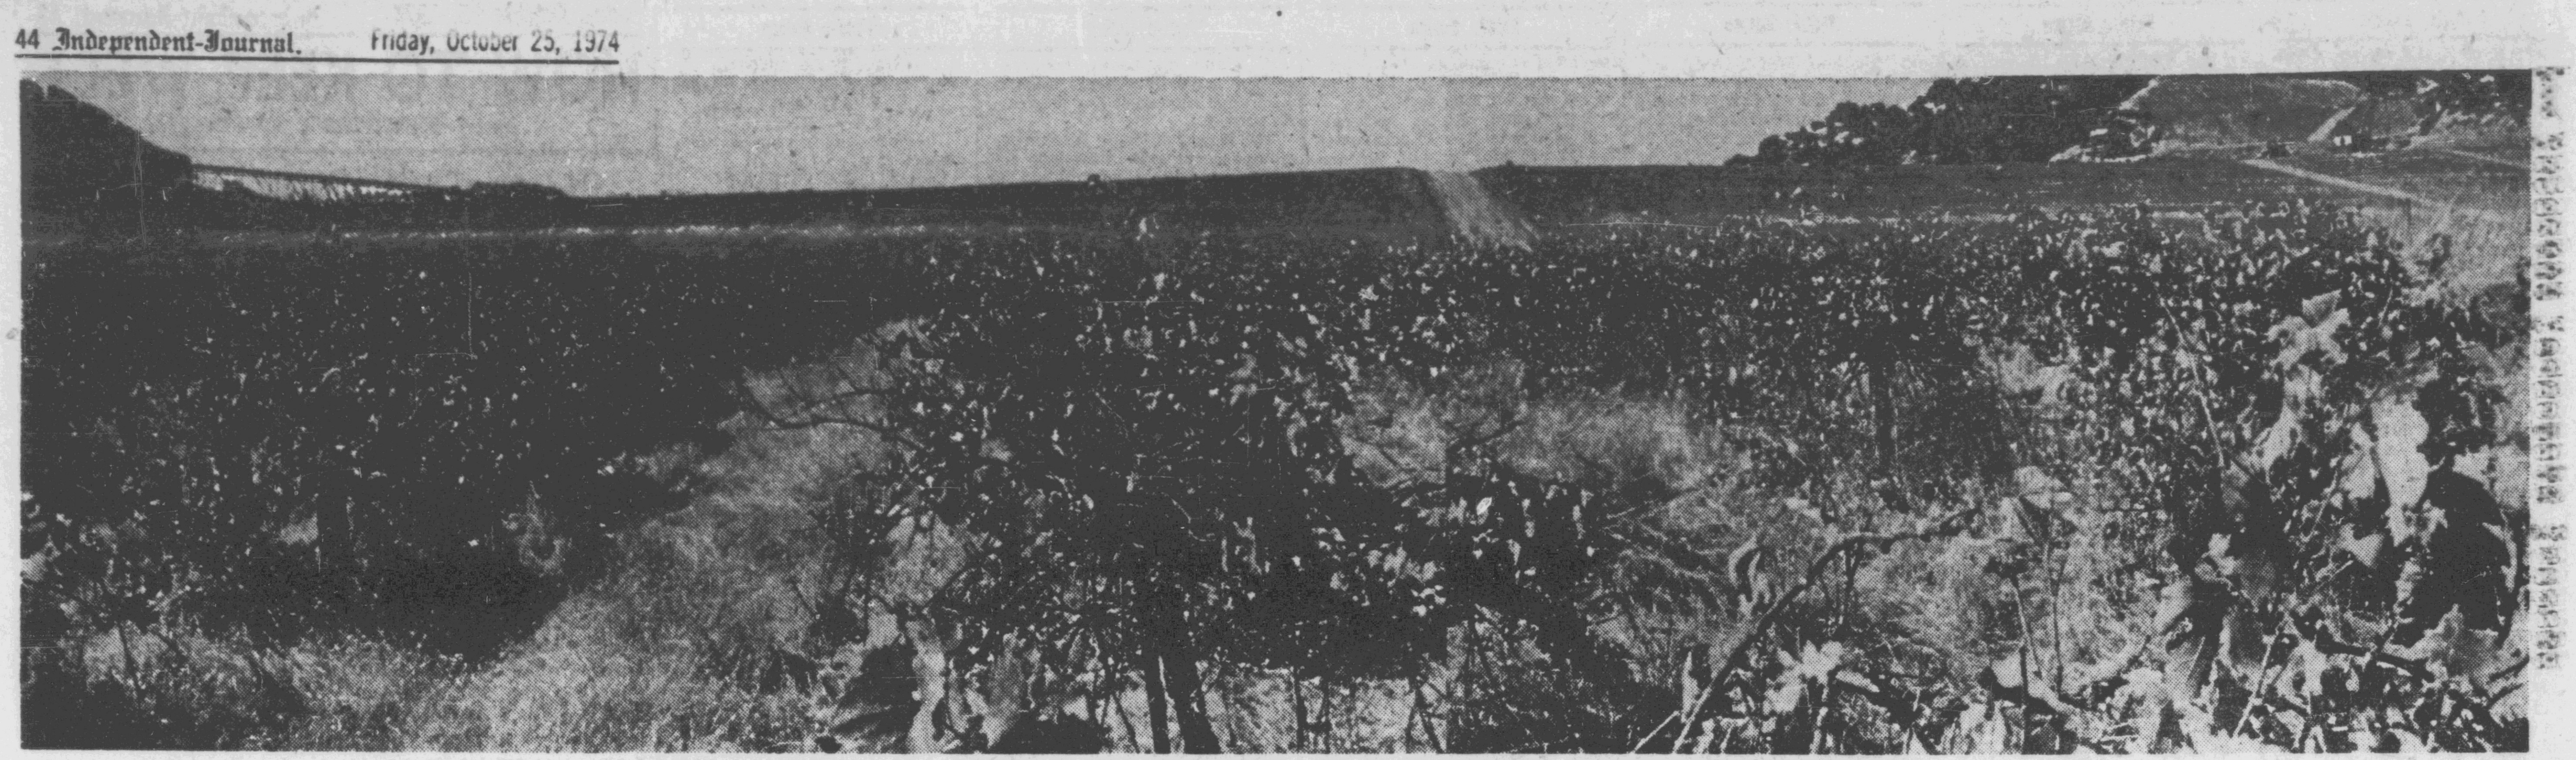
Napa and Sonoma Valleys and Santa Rosa Plain: Mostly fair through tomorrow; little change in temperature; light winds; low tonight and high tomorrow at Santa Rosa 46 74.



SONOMA'S CONTROVERSIAL WARM SPRINGS DAM

At present it's a low mound extending across the vineyard-studded Dry Creek Valley some 12 miles northwest of Healdsburg. If Sonoma voters approve it Nov. 5 and if the courts reject the arguments of its opponents, it will become a 319-foot high earthen dam, and behind it will rise a 381,000 acre-foot reservoir called Lake Sonoma. Antidam forces argue that the project is unsafe because of the Dry Creek Fault, a geological weakness lying directly below the dam and to the left in the above photo. Pro- and anti-dam forces disagree on whether the lake will be useful for recreation and water supply, with opponents charging that the lake will collect vast quantities of silt. The damsite lies at the confluence of Warm Springs Creek and Dry Creek, and the dam is to reduce flooding in the valley below and in nearby parts of the Russian River basin. The Army Corps of Engineers estimats the dam will cost $160 million and the project's opponents say the cost will be closer to $450 million. Sonoma county taxpayers will pay 28 per cent of the total in any case.

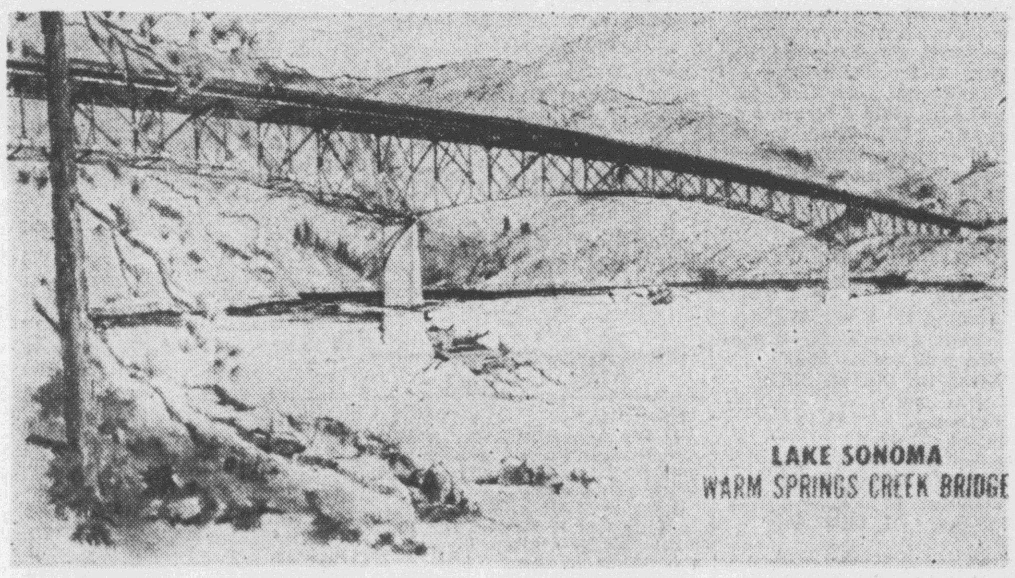
BRIDGE TO NOWHERE — The Warm Springs Creek Bridge represents a major portion of the $30 million to $40 million which already has been spent at the damsite. Today (above) the bridge rises hundreds of feet above Warm Springs Creek, and the road it carries ends only several miles further to the right. If the dam is built, the road will become a highway to Stewart's Point, about 20 miles west along the Pacific Coast. The present bed of the road lies below the project water level of Lake Sonoma. The drawing (below) is how the Army Corps says the scene would look after the lake fills. Corps officials say that if the dam is turned down by Sonoma voters they will have to spend considerable funds putting the damsite back in its original condition. The current dam project is an enlarged version of the Dry Creek Dam, a $15 million project proposed more than 20 years ago as part of a larger system aimed at controlling the flood-prone Russian River.



OCTOBER MORN — The warm springs for which the dam is named bubble from the ground at a year-round temperature slightly above 100 degrees. This girl bathes in one of several pools which hold water at different temperatures. The water itself is clear and slightly sulfurous in smell because of a heavy dose of minerals. The springs will be inundated if the dam is built.

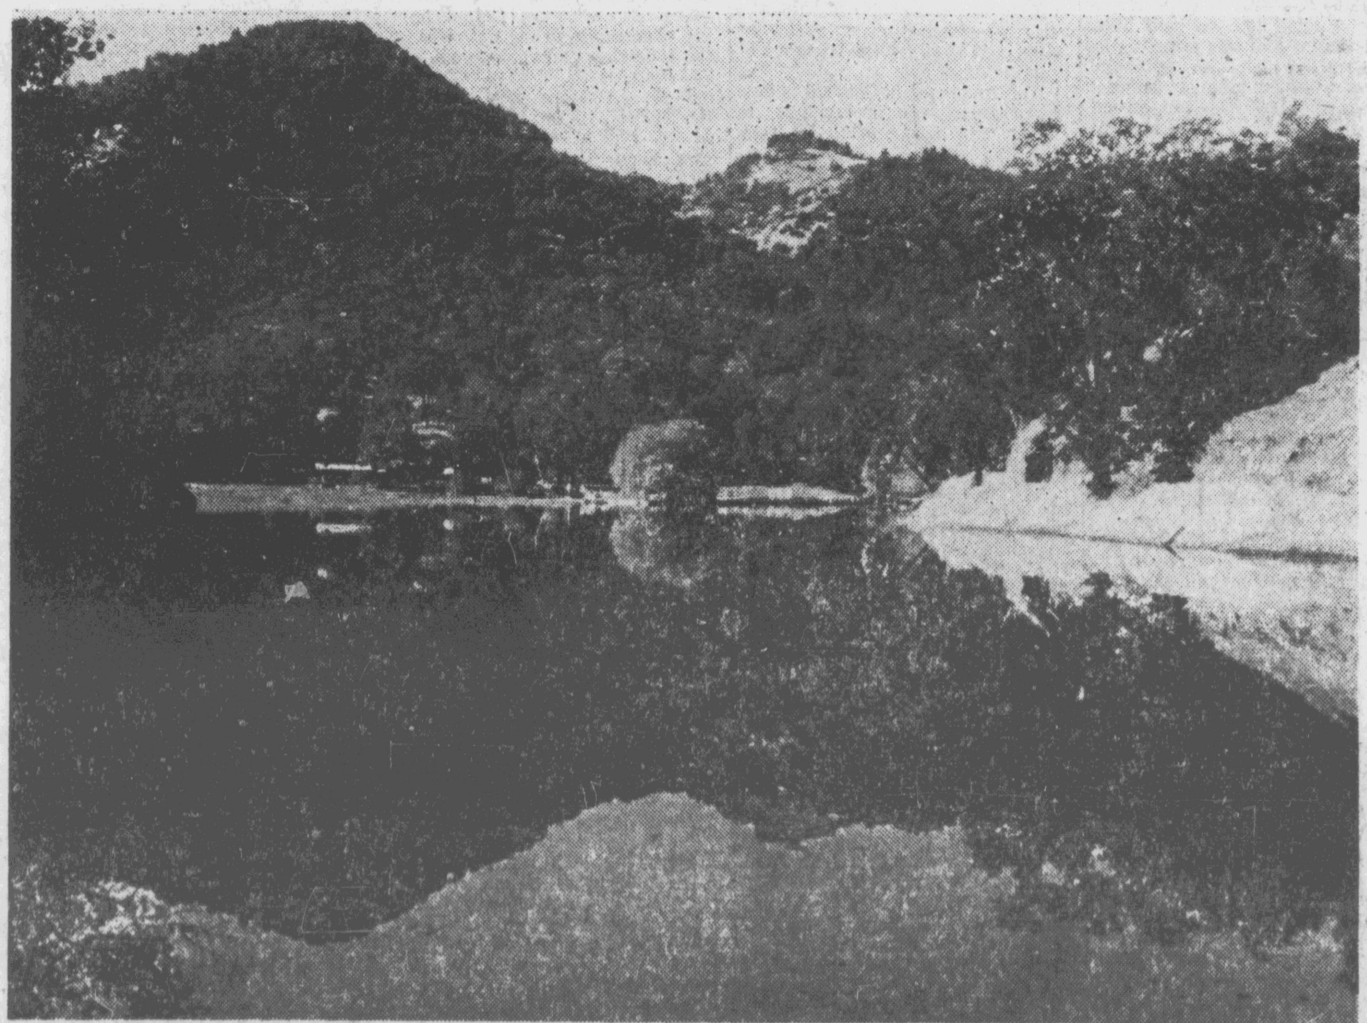
TRANQUIL WILDERNESS — Live oaks festooned with Spanish moss overhang the cobbled course of Warm Springs Creek about a mile upstream from the damsite at its confluence with Dry Creek. Fingerling-sized trout and salmon often are visible as they silently glide through the shallow stream, and the inundation of their spawning ground has brought a fishermen's organization, California Trout, into the battle against the $160 million dam. The Corps of Engineers points out that it plans a hatchery below the dam to alleviate the loss of the upstream spawning areas.



IDYLIC BUT DOOMED — Harry A. Merlo's homestead and sheep ranch lie along Warm Springs Creek, and a low dam makes the stream into a clear-watered pond nearby. The ranch site used to be called Picnic Flats by area residents because its grassy meadow presented a welcome respite after a hike through the steep, rocky hills around it. If the Warm Springs Dam is built a mile or so downstream, the waters of Lake Sonoma will be 80 feet deep here. Rancher Merlo, though, must expect more delays for the project — a hired hand was tilling a vegetable garden near the house the day the photo was taken.

Group Asks Ban On 2 Pesticides

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Environmental Defense Fund yesterday asked the government to ban the production, sale and use of two pesticides which it said pose an imminent hazard of cancer to man.

The fund petitioned the Environmental Protection Agency to act on heptachlor and chlordane (which contains heptachlor), both widely used as household pesticides for termites and for agricultural purposes.

It said there is new evidence that a metabolized form of heptachlor is showing up in "biologically significant amounts in much meat, poultry and milk in the United States and in most humans."

The two pesticides are persistent, chlorinated hydrocarbons of the same type as DDT and aldrin-dieldrin, which already have been banned for most uses because they are not broken down in the environment and can enter the food chain.

"The continued use of heptachlor and chlordane poses an unreasonable risk to man and the environment," the petition said. ". . . Further, the evidence indicates that heptachlor and heptachlor expoxide the metabolized version pose an imminent health hazard to man . . ."

Brazil Indians Threaten War

BRASILIA (UPI) — The Xavante Indians are determined to go to war unless the white settlers who have seized their land in Brazil's Mato Grosso state do not get out within a month, the tribe's chief warned yesterday.

Chief Mario, who presides over 850 Xavantes, was in Brasilia to meet with the president of the National Indian Foundation, Gen. Ismarth Araujo.

The chief said white settlers have destroyed vegetation and scared off wildlife in order to build large ranches.

Regulate Exterminators, Nader Researchers Say

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Ralph Nader researchers said yesterday consumers are being needlessly exposed to dangerous chemicals in the home (because the household pest control industry is neither properly regulated nor trained.

The health research group called for a federal system which would encourage the states to license exterminators and which would result in a uniform standard of professionalism throughout the country.

The National Pest Control Association said yesterday most states already have licensing laws, but it agreed with the Nader group that stronger inspection systems are needed.

"As an association we would welcome laws that would put these kinds of restrictions on the few in the industry who give it a bad name," a spokesman said. "We are pressing for that kind of legislation nationwide."

The association said, however, that while it agreed with the Nader group's directory as a good concept it felt that the way it had been put together was not really valuable for the average consumer.

The group made the criticism in announcing the publication of a first of its kind directory of exterminating companies. The initial publication covers only the Washington, D.C.-metropolitan area but the group said it hoped the book would serve as a model for consumer groups around the country.

The book details commonly used pesticides, including those which have been proven to be health hazards. It also contains a list of exterminating companies which responded to its questionnaire detailing the prices they charge and the types of chemicals they use. About 58 per cent of those companies contacted cooperated with the survey.

More Children's Programs Asked

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Federal Communications Commission says there should be more television programs for children, with less advertising.

After a three-year study, the agency announced yesterday that when stations apply for renewal of their licenses it will consider these new guidelines:

There should be a "reasonable" amount of television time for children, including a "significant" portion that is educational or informational.

Programs should provide for the special need of preschool children, and this should not be confined to weekends.

Advertising levels should be reduced. The FCC accepted voluntary advertising limits recently recommended by the National Association of Broadcasters' code and by the Association of Independent Television Stations.

There should be clear separation of program material from commercials. "Host selling" and other techniques that blur the distinction should be avoided.

Mexican President Scores Television

ACAPULCO, Mexico (UPI) — President Luis Echeverria yesterday condemned television as a cause of loneliness and lack of communication between people.

"Television has been an important factor in the lack of human communications and is responsible to a good measure for the loneliness of contemporary man in large cities," Echeverria told a luncheon at a world communications conference.

"I believe television has helped break the interpsychic relation that is a characteristic of civilization and I think that before the shadowy screen the individual is alone, isolated and passive."

The president suggested that television should change its programming content to inform the public, encourage thinking and not serve to separate people.

The Echeverria administration last month ordered Mexican television stations to stop showing 37 programs — almost all of them American television programs dubbed into Spanish — that the government felt promoted violence.

They included such programs as "Mannix," "The FBI," and "The Untouchables."

Roman Bandits Just Used Poor Timing

ROME (UPI) — Rome's rush hour traffic chaos foiled a $100,000 bank robbery Wednesday, police said.

They said armed, masked men successfully held up a downtown bank, but were forced to leave the $107,200 loot in their automobile and flee on foot when they got hopelessly snarled in a lunch hour traffic jam.

Police gave chase and arrested two suspects.

DEPRESSION ART "FOUND"
Public Offered 1937 U.S. Gov't Art Prints

Imagine, if you can, finding several thousand sets of antique prints of the world's greatest paintings that were lost for more than 35 years! It actually happened .. and this is the true story of the discovery of that lost treasure.

Eleanor Roosevelt

Back in 1937, immediately following the depression years, Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt and a select group of a dozen nationally prominent people formed a voluntary national committee for art appreciation to create an art program that would give the public a well-needed moral lift. It was the committee's decision to select the world's most famous paintings from the 16th, 17th, 18th, 19th, and 20th centuries - the best paintings of Matisse, Van Gogh, Renoir, Picasso, Gauguin, Titian, etc., and to reproduce them in full color as perfectly as humanly possible and make them available to the public at a price within the reach of nearly everyone.

Abandoned In 1937

For some unknown reason, after a quantity of these beautiful reproductions were made, the entire project was abandoned and this collection of perfect reproductions was stored in a Brooklyn warehouse, where they remained undisturbed since 1937.

Through a series of rare coincidences, the lost collection was "rediscovered" and leading lithographers and art critics agreed that the subject matter and quality of detail and color reproduction was incredibly accurate. Over $500,000.00 was spent to make finely engraved glass printing plates. It would be impossible to reproduce prints such as these under existing methods, and for that reason these prints are literally collector's items. Once they have been sold, there will be no more available. A truly excellent art "investment" that makes a fabulous gift.

Available to Public

These authentic original 1937 prints have been appraised by the American Appraisers' Assoc. at $7.00 each print. Now, these full color 11"x14" prints are finally available to the public at $19.95 for a collection of 18 prints. Send cash, check or money order to: U.S. Surplus, Dept G74 , P.O. Box 605, Tarzana, Calif. 91356. Fully GUARANTEED Certificate of authenticity given with each set. Mastercharge and BankAmericard OK (give card number).

DOG HERO OF 1974

Skippy, America's Dog Hero of 1974, was honored yesterday in Chicago for saving his master, Donald Essig, 6, of Santa Ana from danger March 17. Skippy leaped in between Donald and a threatening rattlesnake, saving the boy but sustaining a bite himself. Skippy recovered after receiving anti-venom medicine. (UPI Telephoto)

At 64, She Returns To Jungle

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil (AP) — Felicitas Barreto, 64, and still a blonde, says she is going back to live in the jungle and marry an Indian chief who proposed to her more than two years ago.

"Permanently, I'm going to dive into that lost world," she said in an interview.

An artist and former dancer, Felicitas has been there before — for 30 years in the jungles of Brazil and other parts of Latin America.

She was born near Rio and studied at a fine arts school here. Her early career in classical and folk dancing served as background for writing "Dances of Brazil," a book published in 1959.

Felicitas said she lived for two years with the Wayana tribe in northern Para state, near the Paru River and the Surinam border. She said the Wayana chief, Aparabe, asked her to marry him and join his other two wives.

But Felicitas returned to Rio nearly two years ago to care for her ailing mother. Her mother died, and Felicitas says she now plans to return and marry Aparabe.

She said marriage among the Wayanas is more to her liking than in the outside world.

"No one gives orders," she said. "Having a wife is not for lust or work. They are companions, to not be alone. They are friends."

Felicitas said she was married in Rio de Janeiro in 1931 but she couldn't tolerate matrimony and the city with its "lack of air, too much stone."

She said the Wayanas fish and hunt, spending "months and months" outside their villages, traveling in canoes and roaming the forests.

"It is hard, but here it is more disagreeable," she said. "Life is difficult there, but it is preferable.

"It is too monotonous here. It is only for making money, money, money."

Vincent Price To Be Married

Price, 63, and Mrs. Pearman, 61, both listed their occupations as freelance artists. They said the wedding would take place here. Price, who has appeared mainly in horror films in recent years, was divorced last year by his wife of 23 years, costume designer Mary Grant Price.

Collectors Grab Nazi Mementos

MUNICH, West Germany (UPI) — American and European collectors scooped up 350 pieces of "rubbish" belonging to Nazi dictator Adolf Hitler's deputy even before the sale officially started, a spokesman for the State of Bavaria said today.

The articles, ranging from delicate porcelain to nursery rhymes, came from the private collection of the late Hermann Goering, commander of the Nazi Luftwaffe and Hitler's right-hand man.

A spokesman for the state of Bavaria, which stored the goods for two decades, said, "We've got no use for this rubbish now." Bavaria put the collection in the hands of Munich's 160-year-old Weinmueller-Neumeister auction house.

"As soon as our catalogue was published, we had enough collectors from the United States and Europe to sell everything," a spokeswoman for Weinmueller's said.

"The auction was just a formality," she said. "Everything was ear-marked anyway."

"The interesting thing is that the articles were not the usual sort of old Nazi stuff everybody wants these days," she said. "There was hardly a swastika to be seen."

No Marin TV For Big Fight

The George Foreman-Muhammad Ali heavyweight championship fight from Zaire will be shown at various closed circuit television outlets in the Bay Area Tuesday night but Marin County is drawing a blank.

Originally, the fight was going to be shown on a screen in the Marin Veterans Memorial Auditorium but that was before the fight's postponement. It was scheduled for Sept. 24 showing but had to be delayed for a month because of a cut eye suffered by Foreman.

GEORGE FOREMAN

When the new date was set there was suddenly a conflict at the Marin Civic Center site. Reveen's World of Illusions, a "magic spectacular," had already reserved the auditorium for that night (Oct. 29). So the Marin County fight showing was cancelled.

Since that time, Reveen's group has cancelled out so the auditorium will remain dark on Tuesday night.

Bay Area closed circuit TV sites include Sonoma County Fairgrounds in Santa Rosa, Oakland Civic Auditorium, Richmond Auditorium and Orpheum and Winterland in San Francisco.

The promoters are billing the match as "The Fight of the Century." They must really believe their own propaganda since closed circuit television prices range from $15 to $20. That's a lot of money for a TV show. At those prices, I wouldn't predict any sellouts.

LORD OF THE SEA, alias Keith Fraser, is going to share his knowledge of fishing to all those who want to learn. Fraser, a junior high school teacher who also is part owner of Loch Lomond Live Bait and Tackle shop is going to give free classes on his specialty.

It will be a two-part lecture series called, "Art of Catching Bass and Sturgeon in San Francisco Bay." The classes will be given in the mezzanine of the Tamalpais High School Student Center. The class on striped bass will be Nov. 5 and one on sturgeon will be Nov. 12; they'll be repeated in the same sequence on Nov. 19 and 26. The classes will run from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. and will include slides taken during many of Keith's successful fishing trips.

WRESTLING referees are needed by the Redwood Empire Wrestling Officials and Coaches Association, according to a plea from association prez Kent M. Frazer. That group is holding an organizational meeting Wednesday at 7:30 p.m., at Montgomery High in Santa Rosa.

STANFORD'S soccer team is not without Marin County representation. Robby Robb of Kentfield, a senior history major, is a halfback on the team.

BILL TRUMBO, Santa Rosa Junior College basketball coach who was so successful at Sonoma State before that school quit intercollegiate athletics, is putting on a series of Saturday basketball clinics for boys and girls 8 through 13. The clinic will be at Analy High in Sebastopol Nov. 2 between 9 a.m. and noon; at Petaluma High Nov. 9 between 9 a.m. and noon; at Rincon Valley Junior High Nov. 9 between 1 and 4 p.m., and at Piner High School in Santa Rosa, Nov. 16 between 9 a.m. and noon. Cost is $5.

SEALS-FLYERS TONIGHT

'We're Not Playing Well,' Says Shero

OAKLAND (UPI) — "We're not playing well," says Coach Fred Shero of the Stanley Cup champion Philadelphia Flyers, who battle California tonight at the Oakland Arena.

Shero says "our training camp was bad, too many outside influences. We were constantly flying across the country and never had a good workout."

He also admitted that success has spoiled his team and fans adoration and personal appearances contributed to poor training and lack of concentration.

But Shero says he felt the team started to put things together in a 4-2 win at previously unbeaten Los Angeles. And despite his lament, the Flyers are 4-2-1.

Shero said for the first time in his coaching career, he did not conduct a players' meeting before the Kings game. "I told (Bobby) Clarke to talk to the players instead, and he got across the message that they'd been playing as if asleep. They've got to concentrate on hockey; that's what they're being paid for."

The Seals are 1-4-3 but have not lost at home.

Shero watched Kansas City tie California Wednesday and he said he sympathized with Coach Marshall Johnston of the Seals and Bep Guidolin of the Scouts.

"It's so difficult to coach either team. One's new and the other a changeover. You have 20 different men who have been taught by 20 different coaches. Nobody knows anybody."

San Rafael Winter Tennis Scheduled

Signups are tomorrow between 9 and 11 a.m. for the San Rafael Parks and Recreation Department winter tennis sessions. Residents sign up between 9 and 11, non-residents at 10-11 at Albert Park.

Cost is $8 for eight, one-hour lessons running Nov. 4 through 29. Class times have not been determined.

Lowly 49ers To Start Rookie QB Owen

Nolan Says Snead To Relieve 'Probably'

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Rookie Tom Owen, who has thrown only 24 passes in the National Football League, completing 11, will be the San Francisco 49ers' starting quarterback Sunday at 1 p.m. against the Oakland Raiders at Candlestick Park.

But coach Dick Nolan said he "probably" will use Norm Snead to relieve Owen at some stage of play.

Snead got his first full day's workout with the 49ers yesterday, and the former New York Giant is pleased with San Francisco's receiving talent.

"I know what some of your receivers can do," he said. "I played with Gene Washington and Ted Kwalick in the '73 Pro Bowl. And I know enough about your others, Dan Abramowicz, Terry Beasley and Tom Mitchell, to rate them better than excellent."

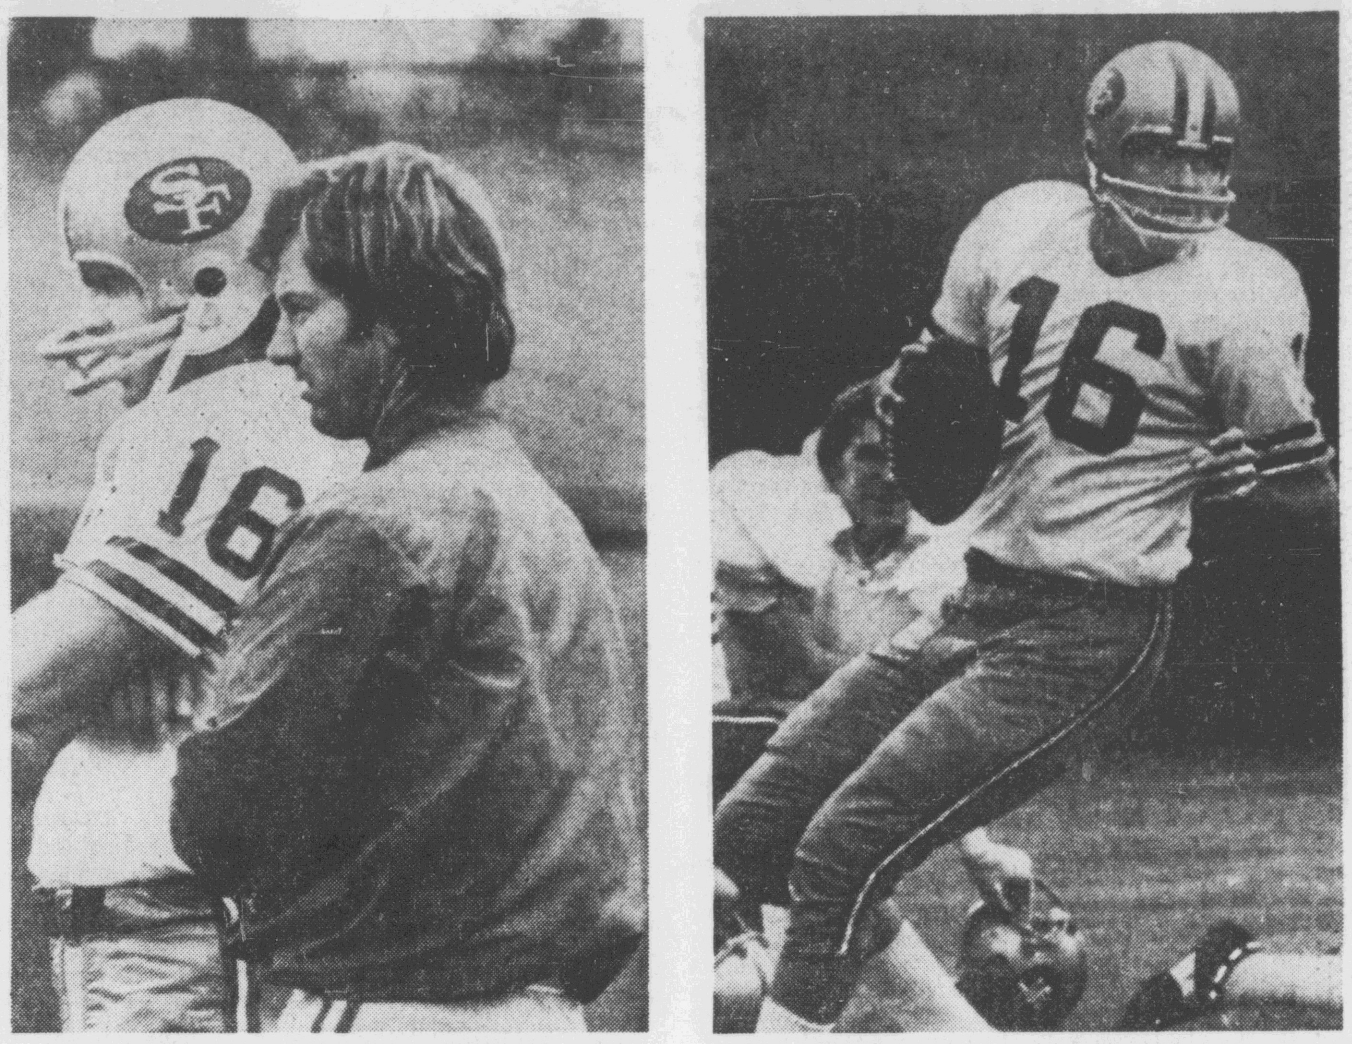
San Francisco's leading receiver so far has been rookie running back Wilbur Jackson, the No. 1 draft choice from Alabama, who has caught 12 passes for 102 yards and two touchdowns. Abramowicz, who will be trying to extend an NFL record of 97 consecutive games with receptions, is next with nine catches for 93 yards.

Snead also knows what he can expect to see on the Oakland side while he studies the opposition's defense. The Raiders beat the Giants 42-0 last year, and Snead played the second half for New York.

Nolan also pulled a mild surprise by announcing Bruce Taylor would start ahead of Ralph McGill at right cornerback. McGill had moved out Taylor but Nolan said Taylor looked strong in relief last Sunday.

The Raiders, 5-1, are favored by 14 points over the 49ers, 2-3. In a preseason game, Oakland eked out a 20-19 victory.

Three of the four active NFL players who have played in more than 200 consecutive games will participate in the game at Candlestick Park. Offensive tackle Len Rohde of the 49ers will be playing game 201, and center Jim Otto and quarterback George Blanda of the Raiders No. 203. Jim Marshall of Minnesota is the fourth player and has played in 200.



NEW 49ER — New 49er quarterback Norm Snead (16) watched with injured signal caller Steve Spurrier before practicing yesterday in Redwood City. Snead was participating in his first full practice with San Francisco.

Wark May Be Terra Linda's Find

Bad News For Drake Tonight

It looks like the Terra Linda Trojans have found a quarterback, and that may mean more bad news for the Drake Pirates when the teams meet tonight at 8 o'clock in a Marin County Athletic League football game at San Rafael's Paul Miller Field. (Other high school football stories on page 49.)

Brian Wark debuted as Terra Linda's signal caller last Saturday by throwing for 210 yards in an 18-14, non-league victory over Riordan of San Francisco. He completed 16 of 32 passes, and led an 88-yard scoring march as the Trojans came from behind in the fourth quarter.

Drake lost to Riordan a month ago, 25-20; based on relative scores Terra Linda would be a slight favorite tonight. But since then the Pirates have lost three of four, including their first two MCAL games by 35-0 to Novato and 35-6 to San Rafael.

Terra Linda coach Don Lucas has cautioned his players not to take Drake lightly, no matter what the record shows. "This is the same situation as last year. We overlooked them and they beat us. We're not overlooking them this year."

"Potentially, there's no reason why they're not moving into the end zone," says Lucas. "They've got the material; they just haven't put it together."

Terra Linda's main task will be to stop running back Ross Perry. He has over 100 yards rushing in the first two league games, and scored the only touchdown against San Rafael.

Drake has a potentially dangerous passing game, directed by quarterback Terry Fahey. His primary receiver is Kevin Peak, of whom Lucas says, "We've got to keep him off the ball."

If any team can shut down Perry and Peak, it's Terra Linda. In their first two league games, the Trojans led the league in defense, yielding a total of only 134 yards.

Gal Auto Racer Has Indy Goal

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Lella Lombardi, the first woman to run in a Formula One race, now wants to crack the sex barrier at Indianapolis.

At a news conference here yesterday the 31-year-old Italian disclosed she plans to test a U.S. Auto Club championship car machine at Ontario, Calif., next month.

"If I feel competitive, I will submit an entry for Indianapolis," she said.

Argentine-born Francisco Mir, a Ferrari distributor here, revealed he will purchase a USAC car for Miss Lombardi if she decides she's ready for Indy.

Devine Says Hadl Will Report To Packers

GREEN BAY, Wis. (UPI) — Green Bay Packers Coach Dan Devine said yesterday that quarterback John Hadl, obtained earlier this week in a trade with the Los Angeles Rams, had agreed to join the club.

Hadl, however, had balked at reporting and Devine Wednesday had threatened to call off the deal unless Hadl was on a plane to Green Bay sometime Thursday.

Until late yesterday, Devine said, he was convinced that Hadl was not going to report. He had scheduled a news conference for 2 p.m. but the start was delayed almost an hour — apparently because Hadl called Devine to say he would come.

"It's a different announcement than what I had intended to make," Devine said. "I hadn't heard from John so I assumed he wasn't going to report."

Hadl left Los Angeles early yesterday to go to Houston where he and some business associates were negotiating to purchase a bank, Devine said.

He said the Packers had not given in to Hadl's requests that his contract be renegotiated or that he be given a bonus to report.

"The Green Bay Packers have assumed the contract John had with the Rams," Devine said. "There has been no renegotiation."

He said the Packers had not agreed to a demand for a two-year no-cut contract because "mostly it sets a precedent we don't want to set."

Devine said that while Hadl would be available on an emergency basis Sunday, it was doubtful if he would see action against the Detroit Lions.

Earlier this week he had named Jack Concannon to replace Jerry Tagge as the Packers starting quarterback. Tagge has started every game this year and Concannon's only action has been holding for extra points and field goals.

Devine said Hadl had not been assured he would have the No. 1 spot for Green Bay and, asked what he would do if Concannon had a brilliant day against Detroit, he answered, "I expect him to have a brilliant day. Again, I want to emphasize that I haven't lost any confidence in Jack Concannon or Jerry Tagge."

Devine said that to "clear the air" he also wanted to confirm the Packers had talked to New Orleans about Archie Manning.

"They contacted us," he said, "and Dallas also contacted us about Craig Morton."

He also said he had negotiations with Detroit but the price the Lions wanted for either Greg Landry or Bill Munson was more than what was paid for Hadl. He said the Lions wanted defensive lineman Mike McCoy, linebacker Fred Carr and defensive back Ken Ellis plus a number of draft choices for Landry.

2 Gridders Claimed

NEW YORK (UPI) — The New York Giants claimed running back Mickey Zofko and defensive lineman Gary Pettigrew on waivers yesterday and released running back Ed Jenkins and defensive tackle Andy Rice to make room for the new additions to the roster.

Abdul-Jabbar's Projected Return On Nov. 22 Or 23

Combined AP & UPI

MILWAUKEE, Wis. — Milwaukee will continue to play without star center Kareem Abdul-Jabbar until Nov. 22 or 23.

That was the announcement made here yesterday by Larry Costello, coach of the National Basketball Association's Bucks.

Abdul-Jabbar suffered an eye injury and broke his hand in a pair of incidents a few weeks ago in an exhibition game at Buffalo.

Costello said the eye injury had healed and Abdul-Jabbar was expected to return here from his parents' home in New York sometime this week to get the cast changed on his hand.

SYDNEY — Texan Tom Kite shot a two-under-par 70 today to take a two-stroke lead at 137 in the second round of the $45,500 Wills Masters Golf Tournament.

NAGOYA, Japan — Lee Trevino shot a five-under-par 67 today and grabbed a two-stroke lead at 136 in the second round of the $133,000 Tokai Classic International Open Golf Tournament.

Tennis

TOKYO — Kazuko Sawamatsu of Japan won the $33,333 Toray Sillok Women's Tennis Tournament today by defeating Wendy Overton of Ormond Beach, Fla., 6-4, 7-5, in the final.

MELBOURNE, Australia — Top-seeded John Newcombe of Australia yesterday beat Bob Carmichael of France 6-3, 6-3 and No. 2 seed Dick Stockton defeated fellow American Dick Dell 6-3, 6-4 to reach the quarter-finals of the South Pacific Hard Court.

DEESIDE, Wales — Britain yesterday took a 2-0 lead over the United States in the Wightman Cup when Virginia Wade beat Julie Heldman 5-7, 9-7, 6-4 and Glynis Coles beat Janet Newberry 4-6, 6-1, 6-3 in the best-of-seven series.

TEHRAN, Iran — Bjorn Borg of Sweden yesterday overcame a first-set defeat to oust Eddie Dibbs 1-6, 6-4, 6-4 in the quarterfinals of the $100,000 Aryamehr Tennis Tournament.

Football

Rangers' Martin Manager Of Year

ARLINGTON, Tex. (AP) — Controversial Billy Martin, who slapped near-championship life into baseball's worst team, is the Associated Press American League Manager of the Year.

"It's a wonderful honor," said Marin. "The thanks go to the players and the organization. We wanted to win it all but we were a little short. However, our future is very bright."

The Texas Rangers finished just five games behind world champion Oakland in the AL West and actually had the edge in head-to-head meetings, 10-8.

In 1973, the Rangers were 37 games behind Oakland with a 57-105 record. The 1974 record was 84-76.

Fired up by Martin's enthusiasm, the Rangers drew 1.2 million fans and major league baseball — instead of just football — was the talk of Dallas-Fort Worth.

"I knew if we gave the area a winner the fans would come out," Martin said. "Look at Baltimore and Oakland. They don't draw even with winners. I always thought baseball would go here."

Martin, when hired by former owner Bob Short last winter, brashly predicted a pennant and a million in attendance. He was one for two and didn't miss the pennant by much.

"If we had just had a left-handed reliever in the bullpen and another starter, we could have made it," Martin said.

Martin, 46, put in the lineup such unknowns as rookies Mike Hargrove and Jim Sundberg. Hargrove finished second among AL batters and Sundberg, a catcher, made the All-Star team.

Lenny Randle, a player cast off by both former Ranger managers Ted Williams and Whitey Herzog, was a .300 hitter.

Ferguson Jenkins, obtained in an off-season trade with the Chicago Cubs, was a 25-game winner.

Texas even had a season edge over the AL Eastern Division winner, Baltimore, by an 8-4 count.

'Lucky' Pacific-8 Teams Vie For Lead

By UNITED PRESS INTERNATIONAL

So tomorrow, with a crowd of more than 60,000 looking on in Berkeley's Memorial Stadium, the two "lucky" teams meet with first place at stake in the Pacific 8 Conference football race.

By beating Oregon State, 17-14, thanks to a fourth down goalline stand with five seconds left, California pushed its Pac 8 record to 2-0 and its overall mark to 5-1. That's the best mark the school has been able to achieve since the early 1960s.

UCLA, a 17-13 winner thanks to an even more unbelievable goalline stand against Washington State, goes into the game with a 1-0-1 league record and 3-1-2 overall.

For no obvious reason, oddsmakers list the Bruins as two-point favorites.

While the two state schools are banging heads, Southern California, also 2-0 in the league race, will be hosting Oregon State, 1-0-1, Stanford will be at Washington State and Oregon and Washington, both 0- 2, will meet at Seattle. The odds on those games are USC by 27, Stanford by seven and Washington by three.

The Cal-UCLA game is more important to the Bruins than the Bears. That's because Cal still has a year to go on its National Collegiate Athletic Association probation and while it can win the Conference title and be recognized as the champion, it can't go to the Rose Bowl.

"Winning the league title would be enough of a reward for us," says White, who took over three seasons ago and has brought Cal along farther than anyone expected.

In some ways, it's a shame the current team and coaching staff have to pay the penalty for the school's probation. No one connected even remotely with the athletic department had anything to do with the NCAA suspension.

At this point in the season, there are many who believe Cal could wind up with the Pac 8 title, and if it should, then the second place team would play in the Rose Bowl. As long as Cal keeps on winning then second place becomes important to all the other contenders, and right now they are USC, UCLA and Stanford.

The Pacific Coast Athletic Association title probably was decided last Saturday when San Diego State walloped San Jose State. But play goes on this Saturday with San Diego (2-0) hosting Long Beach State (0-2), San Jose State (2-1) at Pacific (1-1) and Fresno State (1-2) at Fullerton. This is Fullerton's first year in the PCAA and the school is not eligible for the league title.

Patocchis Lead Marin Catholic Swimming Win

Jane and Lisa Patocchi scored two wins apiece yesterday to lead Marin Catholic High School to a 72-41 victory over Terra Linda in Marin County Athletic League girls' swimming.

Jane took the 50 and 100 backstroke, Lisa the 50 and 100 freestyle as the Wildcats won their fourth meet without a loss. Kathy Hicken also won two races for Marin Catholic, the 50 and 100 butterfly.

In other action, Tamalpais defeated Marin Academy, 94-10, and San Domenico, 85-24, in a three-way meet. Susan Barnard won the 100 individual medley and the 100 fly for Tam. And San Rafael downed Redwood, 73-40 behind wins by Julie Waters in the 100 I.M. and 100 back, and Cary Backhaus in the 200 free and 100 fly.

Nancy Scholl of Redwood set a league record with a 32.4 clocking in the 50 breast, and also won the 100 breast.

Warriors Seek Revenge On Blazers Tonight

PORTLAND, Ore. (UPI) — The pessimist would point out that Golden State is in last place going into tonight's game with Portland here. The optimist would point out that they are one game out of first.

Everybody in the evenly-balanced National Basketball Association Western Conference is squeezed between Phoenix (2-1) and the Warriors (1-2), including Portland, which has split its first four games.

The Warriors will be out for revenge after somehow losing to the Blazers 107-106 Tuesday after leading by 14 points in the third period.

Golden State's problem so far has been that it has to go to Rick Barry for a key bucket and the opposition knows it. Rookie Keith Wilkes seems to be getting his scoring touch but Golden State could use some points from its backcourt.

Pirates Peddle Pitcher Pizarro

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — The Pittsburgh Pirates have traded Juan Pizarro, 37, a lefthanded nomad, to their Charleston Charlies farm club of the International League for righthander Wayne Simpson.

Pizarro, signed as a free agent last Aug. 20, played in seven games with the Pirates and had a 1.88 earned run average. The Pirates needed Pizarro's permission to send him to the minors and told him if he was not picked up in the major league draft, he would go to spring training as a non-roster player. Pizarro is now playing winter ball in the Dominican Republic.

Simpson, 25, had an 8-10 record with the Charlies last season.

Repeat Victory For Sherbert

Marin County golf news comes in pairs this week: two men's club championships were decided, and two holes-in-one were shot.

Jim Sherbert Saturday retained his San Geronimo National Golf Course title by defeating Jack Roth, 3 and 2. The finals covered 18 holes.

With the victories, Sherbert and Buchholz earned berths in the ninth annual Marin County Men's Tournament of Champions golf next August.

Assistant pro Dave Dice and Hal King aced the 149-yard 11th hole at Meadow Club using six irons. Tom Procter, Boat Chamberlain and Win Jones witnessed King's third hole-in-one last Friday. William Austin witnessed Dice's shot, his first ace, Monday on his home course.

Marin Booters Top Napa, 5-0; Gaddini Stars

NAPA — College of Marin, behind three goals by unheralded Bob Gaddini, shut out Napa, 5-0, yesterday in a non-league soccer game.

The Tars, ninth ranked in California, led 3-0 at halftime and cruised to their ninth win against five losses and a tie. And they did it without a goal from either of their top scorers, Misak Pirinjian and Dirk Linder. Tod Beeson and Ulrick Link got Marin's other goals.

Goalie Mark Sanguinetti turned in the shutout.

"Our passing was improving and that was the main thing I was after," Tar coach Vic Petreshene said of the win.

FISH AND GAME

By AL GIDDINGS

Survival Of The Fittest

TRUCKEE — With the eastern part of the Sierra closing to deer hunting last Sunday, Mary, my wife, and I decided to take a day's rest watching the wildlife.

It's unbelievable what one can see. First, a merganser family, waterbirds whose diet is strictly fish, came by. The male and female with their five offspring would form a half circle, beat their wings, and head for the shoreline trying to trap any luckless fish in their net-like approach.

TWO LOONS ALSO worked the area, but they used the diving system trying to catch any fish within their underwater view. Both teams seemed to work tirelessly throughout the day in their quest for survival.

Later, 17 honkers came into the lake. For hours I watched them with binoculars. They would stay about 60 yards off shore at the upper end of the lake opposite an open meadow. There were several willow bushes which might afford a hunter some cofer if he tried to make an approach. At one time, they were in a vulnerable spot, so I got the shotgun. I took a last look, then saw another competitor. This was a large bald eagle. He made one glide above the geese, so they headed for the middle of the lake. The eagle made no attack.

The eagle noticed about 200 mudhens on the beach on the other side of the lake.The minute he sailed towards these birds, they too moved off shore. At the same time, they bunched together in what looked to me like a foolish move. But they had a plan. Bunched together as they were, they beat their wings throwing up a high spray of water. The eagle would have to get wet to penetrate this defense.

THE EAGLE MADE several passes but never really made an actual grab. After about an hour, the eagle gave up. Then a hawk took his place, but the action was exactly the same.

Jenny Jack, the manager of the property here, said that last year a mother and her young eagle tried to catch a mudhen. The same defensive measures were taken by the mudhens. The young brash eagle ended up in the lake, minus dinner and quite water logged. Finally the unexperienced youngster beat his wings and scooted to the shoreline. It was close to an hour before he was dry enough to rejoin his mother on the high tree perch.

During these watchful hours, a chipmunk joined me on the porch. I decided his open friendship deserved a cracker which I gave to him. He scurried off into a willow bush nearby. Did he have his meal? Nope. A stellar jay immediately started chasing him like a roadrunner through the bushes. The chipmunk ran from one bush to another with the jay in pursuit. Eventually, the jay got the cracker.

THAT CHIPMUNK then came back to see me for another handout. This time, I gave him a piece of bread. He figured to outwit the jay this time, so he immediately climbed a high tree. Then he got hoggish. He left the piece of bread on a wide limb and came down again for another handout. The jay immediately stole the piece of bread. The chipmunk took the second piece of bread up to the limb, again leaving it there. The jay never had it so good! That dumb chipmunk always made the same mistake, and was never able to figure out what was happening. I finally gave up on him.

In the meantime, the geese went back to the shoreline near the willow bush. I went into action. I had to hike about a mile to get into position. The last 50 yards was a crawl through the damp muddy meadow. I didn't dare look to see if the birds were still there until I was in position. I came up slowly, but those geese were out in the middle of the lake again. Two sprig were close enough though, so I jumped up and managed to get one.

I WENT BACK TO the cabin and another wildlife episode had taken place in my absence. A fellow had been fishing offshore most of the day. He finally caught a trout. He put it on one of the camp tables and rebaited his outfit. He set the rod in a forked stick, then turned to clean his fish. It was gone! He was dumbfounded. He checked the entire area finally seeing a pine martin high up in a tree with his prized fish. The battle for survival is ever present in the wilds. Incidentally, Bob Jack says it's amazing how the pine martins are on the increase. These little furbearers were taken off the legal-to-trap animal list a few years ago, and they are now appearing everywhere in this area.

It's a cold day today. Mary and I can't shoot any bucks out of the east side windows of the cabin, but the season is still open until Nov. 3 on the west side of the Sierra crest, so we are shifting our cabin chairs over to the westside windows.

Striped Bass Still Hitting

The striped bass fishing is still great, reports Keith Fraser of Loch Lomond Live Bait and Tackle in San Rafael.

The fish, in the five to 15-pound stage, are being taken by either trolling lures or drift fishing with shiners and anchovies.

MARIN VS. SAN MARIN

Wildcats Hope For Upset

San Marin High School is no doubt looking forward to its Nov. 2 Marin County Athletic League battle against Novato. But if the Mustangs intend to carry an unbeaten record into that game, they better concentrate on tomorrow's opponent, Marin Catholic.

The Wildcats have won three straight, and would like nothing more than to make San Marin their second Marin County Athletic League victim in the nonleague game, at Novato High starting at 1:30.

The favored Mustangs are coming off a 17-13 win over Tamalpais, which increased their overall record to 5-0-1. The Wildcats whipped Menlo last week, 36-14, to even their record at 3-3. The week before they beat Drake of the MCAL, 7-2.

Both teams have potent rushing attacks; San Marin, with Wayne Roche, Bob Bennett and Dave Azevedo, leads the MCAL with a 198 yards per game; Marin Catholic, with Steve Lombardi and Ed Ugarte, has averaged 181 yards in its last three outings.

San Marin has more speed, an asset which has blown several games open this season. Marin Catholic has superior passing with quarterback Bob Yetter and wide receiver Rich Speidel.

"I'm very impressed with their two running backs, Roche and Bennett," says Wildcat coach Bruno Banducci. "Stop them and you stop San Marin, but that's quite a chore.

"We've got to play our best game and avoid mistakes, and hope San Marin has an off day."

The mistakes Banducci was referring to included 31 penalties in the last two games that cost the Wildcats 267 yards.

San Marin coach John Treu watched Marin play last week and he says, "They're a very well disciplined team. They run and pass, and I wouldn't say they emphasize one or the other."

San Marin comes into the game healthy, but Marin Catholic is hurting. Guard Pierre Rouzier, who suffered a pinched neck nerve two weeks ago, has been declared out for the season. Defensive end Greg Bullian has a severely sprained ankle, and halfback Jeff Knotts is temporarily sidelined with a hip pointer.

Volleyball Win For San Rafael

San Rafael High School's girls' volleyball team kept its Marin County Athletic League record perfect yesterday with a 15-9, 15-5 win over Novato.

Patty Schilling served for seven points to lead San Rafael to its ninth win without a loss.

Tamalpais came from behind to beat Redwood, 7-15, 15-6, 15-5, in another match yesterday. Nicky Drejes scored 13 points for Tam.

Novato Putting A Lot On Line Against San Rafael

Novato High School will put a lot on the line tomorrow night, in addition to the usual center, guards, tackles and ends.

Their lead in the Marin County Athletic League football race and their eight game league shutout streak will both be in danger when the Hornets meet the San Rafael Bulldogs at Paul Miller Field in San Rafael at 8 o'clock.

"San Rafael is going to be the best team we've faced so far," says Novato coach Al Scott. "They've got good size and they're real quick. We're going to have to do a job."

The Bulldogs are in second place, tied with San Marin at 2-0-1 behind Novato. And they seem to be getting stronger each week. Last Friday night they defeated Drake, 45-6 in the biggest rout so far this MCAL season.

Novato beat Drake, 35-0 to open the season, and subsequently blanked Tamalpais, 13-0 and Redwood, 7-0. That last win was accomplished without star quarterback Mike Moroski, who broke his nose against Tam. He has recovered, and will start tomorrow.

For both teams, winning depends on stopping the opposing quarterback. Moroski is a classic drop back passer, the best in the league so far. San Rafael's Dave Steele directs a pitchout defense in which he is most effective on option plays.

Steele suffered bone chips in his left arm during the final pre-season game, and he has played with pads and taping ever since. At first it hampered him noticeably, but against Drake he was near peak efficiency, rushing for 60 yards and passing for 110.

"First of all, we have to stop Steele," says Scott. "He runs the option very well, and he's also a better than average thrower. He also has fine receivers in (Fred) Hurst and (Mike) McGrath.

Hurst caught four passes on offense and three on defense last Friday to earn Independent-Journal Player of the Week honors.

San Rafael coach Bob Muster is concerned with shutting down Moroski — but more concerned with the Novato defense. "They come at you, and they put a little fear in you," he says. Offensively they have Moroski, but the defense is the thing that scares you. Their pass rush is tremendous, they've been extremely tough on the outside, and inside they're big and mean."

Marin Tars In Tough Tomorrow

The College of Marin Tars face the best offense and second best defense in the Camino Norte Conference tomorrow when they host Santa Rosa Junior College in Kentfield at 1 p.m.

Through five games the Bear Cubs have averaged 370 yards while yielding only 220. They won their football conference opener, 29-0 over Los Medanos of Pittsburg, and are 3-2 overall.

Marin, 1-4, dropped its first CNC game to Solano, 27-17 in Suisun City. A week earlier the Tars defeated Ohlone of Fremont, 27-10.

In both games Tar coach Dick Read went with Tim Nowell at quarterback, and he responded by completing 15 of 31 passes for 278 yards and three touchdowns. He'll start tomorrow and Read says he'll be passing a lot. "They've got size and speed, so we've got to put the ball in the air."

He'll be passing, unfortunately, against a defensive secondary that leads the CNC in interceptions. John Alajos has six, George Hines four and Eric Johnson three.

Santa Rosa's offense is led by quarterback Leo Cook, who ranks third in the conference in total offense with 563 net yards. Other Bear Cub weapons include running back Mike Maselli and flanker Ed Groggans, who have scored four touchdowns each.

Read announced yesterday that Steve D'Ambra, who rushed for 48 yards against Solano, will start alongside Pomilia in the Marin backfield. Greg Biber, who caught a touchdown pass in that game, will start at flanker.

Redwood Rolls In Girls' Net

Redwood High School's girls' tennis team rolled to its ninth win without a loss yesterday, defeating Marin Academy, 7-0, in Marin County Athletic League action.

In other matches, Marin Catholic ran its record to 8-1 with a 5-2 win over Novato, and Drake defeated Tamalpais, 6-1.

Redwood 7, Marin Academy 0

Behr Still Qualifies In New District

The Tiburon Republican is seeking the state Senate seat of the new Second District, which embraces Marin, Mendocino, Lake, Del Norte and Humboldt counties and most of Sonoma County. The district he has represented during the current term was made up of Marin and Solano counties.

BANKER IS as little known in Marin as Behr is little known in the northern part of his new district. Banker's only Marin connection is that he worked in a Larkspur lumber yard after his graduation from Santa Rosa Junior College, just before U.S. entry into World War II, in which he served in the Air Force.

But if Behr's name recognition is close to 100 per cent in Marin, Banker's is probably as high in Mendocino, where he has served as a school board member, city councilman and mayor of Ukiah, and 10 years on the board of supervisors. Elsewhere in the district, he is under no recognition handicap. So the election is by no means a shoo-in for the candidate running as incumbent.

The candidates in the new district also present an unusual pairing, for Behr, the Republican, is the more liberal; Banker, the Democrat, the more conservative.

Behr has top credentials as environmentalist, even having been referred to at times as "the Sierra Club's senator." Banker, however, was instrumental in working out controls on lumbering in the North Coast counties which were more stringent than lumber interests wanted.

Behr has an excellent record for pro-union labor votes, and won re-election endorsement of the AFL-CIO Committee on Political Education. But, because of his votes against two bills backed by the unions, the AFL-CIO Labor Councils of Marin, Sonoma, Lake and Mendocino counties have come out against Behr and declared for Banker.

Incidentally, Behr, though an attorney, gave up the practice of law some years ago, so the conflict of interest that may arise for lawyer-legislators does not exist in his case.

ALTHOUGH PETER Behr is a "maverick Republican," we have found him a good state senator for Marin County. We still think he is. We believe he deserves another term — this time representing a new district that runs all the way to the Oregon line.

As we have said before in connection with Behr, the important thing is not whether a candidate is a "good Republican" or a "good Democrat" — it is whether he is a good legislator, representing the interests of his district. We think Behr qualifies as that.

Stories Of Nuclear Hazards Told Congressional Committees

By DANIEL F. GILMORE

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Some pretty hairy and scary testimony has been trickling out of various congressional hearings recently on the storage, transportation and deployment of about 8,000 American nuclear weapons in many parts of the world.

As Rep. Clarence D. Long, D-Md., put it on the security and storage part:

"A dedicated group of terrorists, possessed with the means to deploy significant firepower, would pose a serious threat indeed if that group attacked certain nuclear weapons sites. If the group succeeded in penetrating a nuclear weapons area it would cause much destruction, even if unable to effectively steal a nuclear weapon. The thought is horrifying."

RETIRED REAR ADM. Gene R. La Rocque has gone further by reporting nuclear near-disasters he witnessed at sea and startling Japan by stating that U.S. aircraft carriers and other warships calling at Japanese ports can be assumed to have nuclear weapons aboard.

That was said despite the extreme sensitivity of Japan to anything nuclear after Hiroshima and Nagasaki and contrary to "understandings" and policy that nuclear weapons would not enter Japanese ports.

La Rocque, who now heads an independent Defense Information Center, told a joint congressional hearing last month that as far as he knows, all major American aircraft carriers, such as the Midway now berthed at Yokosuka, Japan, are "nuclear capable."

"I WANT TO BE very careful because security permits me to say only that they are capable of carrying nuclear weapons," he said. "My experience, however, has been that any ship that is capable of carrying nuclear weapons, carries nuclear weapons.

"They do not offload them when they go into foreign ports, such as Japan, or other countries if they are capable of carrying them. They normally keep them aboard ship at all times. ...There is a real danger that we may get an inadvertent use of one of these nuclear weapons."

He gave some examples for his own experience at sea.

WHILE CAPTAIN of the guided missile cruiser Providence, he said, he witnessed the near launch by mistake of a live atomic missile.

The ship was training at sea and was going to shoot a practice missile at a target plane.

"I was up on the bridge and everything ... below is computerized," he said. "Lo and behold. We were ready to fire and the machinery clanks and the computers all buzz and whine and up popped a red-tipped missile. Now a red-tipped missile is a nuclear missile.

"There was considerable concern on my part to halt this mechanism which was now completely automated and almost out of anybody's control because the radars were locked on the incoming plane...

"We were able, of course, to put the genie back in the bottle and put the missile down below again. Having witnessed that and knowing many horror stories from fellow naval officers of similar experience, it really worried me."

HE ALSO RECALLED an incident at Valetta, Malta, involving a collision between a merchant ship and a U.S. destroyer.

"A minor collision," he said, "but it unfortunately hit right at the spot where we had some nuclear weapons. The people of Malta were very concerned about this, but it was suppressed, of course."

McGovern showed he wasn't so dumb in 1972. How many candidates know when they're licked and save enough campaign funds for another race?

Sierra Club Group Backing Measure G

Saving the Dollar Estate's 11 acres as open space would be an immeasurable benefit as a respite from the brick and poured concrete of the downtown area. Also, as your editorial noted, purchase as open space would free the area from further traffic congestion and related problems that development would likely incur. . .

Proposition 15 Tied To Growth Control

Since Marin County wants a good, workable growth-control ordinance — one which will stand up in court better than Petaluma's — we must show our concern for providing low cost housing as well as for saving open space.

Therefore, we should vote yes on Proposition 15 on Nov. 5 and thus remove from the state constitution the present requirement for a local vote before such housing can be provided (a requirement not imposed, incidentally, on high-cost housing).

Granted that this is a statewide proposition and therefore cannot be passed or defeated by Marinites alone, but a good majority of "yes" in Marin would be a solid indicator of intent to achieve here a balanced environment and thus would add valuable credibility to our growth control efforts.

Marin Housing Projects Not Mers Boondoggles

Is this man Wooley from Bolinas for real? To equate Marin's well designed low rent housing developments with government boondoggles is to be blind to progress.

What Marin community which surrounds one of these Marin complexes — Homestead Terrace, Kruger Pines, Golden Hinde, Venetia Oaks and Casa Nova — doesn't have a warm and good feeling about each development being there?

Twenty years ago there were unsightly low rent housing complexes. Today the safeguarding planning and review processes together with vast experience by community groups which care (plus substantiated need) all point to the importance of Yes on 15.

More boondoggles like Homestead Terrace!

(The housing complexes cited by reader Mackey, who heads the Ecumenical Association for Housing, were built under existing law. Proposition 15 would change that law. — Editor)

Ellsberg Unacceptable As Voice Of Morality

While conceding that Vietnam and Watergate were sorry episodes, I am not prepared to embrace Daniel Ellsberg as this nation's voice of morality.

In fact, his face on the front page of your newspaper was repugnant to me, as were his reported references to the lies and illegal acts of "all our presidents since the end of World War II" and his charge that "ours is a government of conspirators."

He decries the burglary of his psychiatrist's office but sees virtue in his stealing of national documents.

While on the subject of semantics, your reporter's reference to his scurrilous deed as leaking of Pentagon papers, and release of these documents to the New York Times, suggests gross imcompetence, at best.

In my view, Ellsberg is encouraging those who would sell this nation out and trade on treason. I find it unthinkable that a man of this ilk could find a forum.

I challenge you to tell your readers what fee was paid for Ellsberg's sermonette at the College of Marin and what portion of this will wind up on the community college tax bill which Marin citizens are asked to pay.

CHARLES MICHALS

(According to College of Marin, Ellsberg's fee for the lecture was $1,800, which was paid by the Associated Students. Tickets to the lecture brought in $1,500. Fairfax Officer Hits Charter City Proposal

I would like to make a few comments regarding your opposition to Proposition 5 on the November ballot (Residency Requirement for Public Employees).

The argument by people who want to require public employees to live within the city limits (or close by) seems primarily to have the salary returned in part to the city by taxes or in local purchasing. This argument fails to make much sense, and is not a good enough argument to overcome the real consequences of depriving an individual from living where he wants to live. Even if an employee chooses to live in another city the house that he would buy locally will still be sold to someone else and the taxes will be paid.

I know of no argument strong enough to require all public employees to reside within the city they are employed. There could perhaps be a suitable reason to require certain classifications of employees to live within town, but the failure of Proposition 5 would allow the cities to mandate to all its employees . . .

Statistics Quoted In Support Of Prop.

The ballot will be long and complicated, but I hope people will think carefully before voting on Proposition 15, which would remove from the state constitution the requirement that public housing must be approved by a vote before it can be built. I would like to submit some reasons why it should be passed.

This is a statewide issue. There is a genuine need for this housing in California. These statistics are from the Statewide Housing Element:

20.5 per cent of California households have incomes of less than $4,000 annually.

Almost all very low income renter households pay more than 35 per cent of their incomes for rent. Among high income renters, most pay less than 10 per cent.

Between 1960-1970, gross rents increased 60 per cent.

Only 3.5 per cent of the Californians who qualify for low income housing now live in clean, safe places.

Most voters would not consciously put an even heavier burden on these people. However, that is what you will be doing unless you vote to pass Proposition 15.

Another Carrier Praised By Customer

I wish to add my praise to the people who are praising their carriers. I think I have a fine carrier.

His name is James Banister. I am a senior citizen and not able to "beat the bushes" looking for the paper but James always puts it at my front door. All I have to do is open door, reach down, and there it is. Furthermore, he never misses a day.

Watergate Presidency Gone; But Not So, Ford's Problems

WASHINGTON — "How's he doing?" is the certain question which is put to Washington correspondents in nearly every letter and nearly every conversation.

Two and one-half months in office is not long enough to permit a dogmatic judgment, but my present answers to the question are:

1. It is already amply evident that President Gerald Ford is reversing — and erasing — the Watergate presidency at every major point.

2. It remains to be seen whether President Ford can provide the forceful leadership to whip inflation and unemployment and whether he has the ability to make wise foreign policy decisions.

ON THE FIRST POINT the record is reassuring.

On the second point the record is mixed and uncertain.

The Ford presidency is none of these things. Gerald Ford is not avoiding these qualities. They are just not in him. He is open, direct, candid. He does not shield himself from personal contact with his staff or cabinet. He does not draw all power into his own hands; he distributes it. He seeks diverse and contrary advice, and it is neither bad manners nor perilous for his aides to raise their voices in his presence.

WHEN RICHARD NIXON picked Gerald Ford to be his last vice president, he apparently chose one nearly totally opposite to himself.

It is now clear that Mr. Ford's most valuable and significant characteristic is that he does not have a Watergate mentality. And thus the most valuable and significant contribution of his 11-week administration is that the incubus of Watergate is being lifted from the government. In his voluntary and unprecedented appearance before the House judiciary subcommittee last week, Mr. Ford demonstrated by mood, manner and word the openness, directness, simplicity and frankness which are the hallmarks of the man — and his presidency.

He cast aside all the mystical trappings of an imperial presidency; he was a human with other humans by his appearance, and he did much to dissolve the understandable public distrust of politicians and to restore faith in the honesty of leadership at the top. In this single act an "unbelievable politician" became a believable president. The issue was not whether Mr. Ford was wise in pardoning Richard Nixon at the time he did, but whether he was telling the truth about why he did it. He was.

AS TO MR. FORD'S tentative groping toward an adequate anti-inflation program, some will recall how in the depth of the depression F.D.R. described himself as the "quarterback" and said that if one play didn't work he would call a different one.

What Flies In Grand Rapids May Bomb In Winston-Salem

WINSTON-SALEM, N.C. — Like other southerners, the people around here used to vote straight Democratic because their daddies and granddaddies did. And North Carolina remained hard-core Democratic territory longer than any of its neighboring states. When those others were seduced by Dwight Eisenhower, the 1960 Nixon, and Goldwater, Tarheels stuck with family tradition. Not until 1968 did even a plurality of them go for a Republican for president, and not until 1972 did they actually cast a majority for one.

Yet this fall, the incumbent Republican president is talking to such southerners in the same party-line rhetoric he would use to a fund raiser back home in historically Republican Grand Rapids, Mich., or at a rousing evening with the GOP Chowder and Marching Society at the capitol.

HOW IT WORKS, based on how the voting goes in the districts Mr. Ford has visited, will be an interesting byproduct of next month's elections. If he is successful in turning around some of the contests he has dropped in on, he will maintain that that his popularity is stronger than the public opinion polls say. Whether it also proves he is a shrewd campaigner when he gets out of Grand Rapids or the House cloakroom will be more questionable.

The example of last week's quick thrust into the Carolinas will do. En route, the Ford staff passed out advance texts of the day's message which included his familiar warning about a "legislative dictatorship," plus a reminder:

"The first time that happened — and South Carolina knows this better than anyone — was in the dark days after the Civil War, when a dictatorial Congress left a legacy of bitterness, poverty and humiliation that scarred the South for generations."

I am not sure who first choked on reading that and then ordered that it never be delivered. Maybe it was Sen. Strom Thurmond R-S.C., the president's shepherd on the outing. The press secretary said it was Mr. Ford himself.

If so, credit him with realizing belatedly that it was the most counterproductive line possible. For the dictatorial Congress that bedeviled the South during Reconstruction was a Republican Congress, and it did indeed leave a legacy of bitterness — directed at the Republican Party and lasting for most of a century.

THAT NEAR-SLIP can be attributed to staff ineptitude. But what the president kept driving home the rest of the day was off the top of his own head, not any prepared text. And it emphasized the virtues of Republicans and the faults of Democrats in a land where by registration and tradition the Democrats are the heavy majority.

His crowds were big and appreciative earlier in the day, but when he arrived at the airport serving Greensboro, High Point and Winston-Salem, a metropolitan area of more than 600,000, the rooters waiting numbered only some 2,000. That contrasts with more than three times as many for Nixon two years ago and with a forecast of 15,000 imprudenty issued by local party organizers.

And what did Mr. Ford have to say to this sparse turnout? He warned them sarcastically of "our Democratic friends," whom he blames for inflation. He also made political use of the "WIN" button on his lapel, which originated only two weeks earlier as a symbol of bipartisan national effort against inflation. Pointing to the button, he said that was what he and William Stevens, the GOP senatorial candidate, and other Republicans were going to do.

WHEN EISENHOWER and Nixon came south, they removed all party labels from their baggage. Nixon here in 1972 said nice things about his party's local nominees, and they won. But along with him, they could run then against Sen. George McGovern D-S.D. This year, Stevens is running for Sen. Sam Ervin's seat against Robert Morgan, the well-known attorney general.

Morgan is no McGovern. And if Mr. Ford keeps talking straight party politics in traditionally Democratic and marginal districts, he may discover that everywhere is not Grand Rapids.

REMEMBER WHEN?

10 YEARS AGO

Oct. 25, 1964

South Vietnam had its fifth change of government within a year as Phan Khac Suu took over the premiership from Maj. Gen. Nguyen Khanh.

The U. S. Supreme Court struck down as unconstitutional laws requiring designation of race on voting, tax, and real estate assessment lists.

20 YEARS AGO

Oct. 25, 1954

The State Division of Highways allocated $2.5 million for construction of a Highway 101 interchange at Alto.

For the first time in history, a meeting of the president's cabinet was televised as Secy. of State John Foster Dulles reported on the NATO conference in Paris.

WILL ROGERS SAYS . . .

"The President is doing something that if I was managing him, I don't believe I would let him do. He is going into three or four states where the coming election is is very hot, and going to make speeches.

"Funny thing about us, we will listen to any old shyster politician that comes along to advise us, but we just won't trust any of our Presidents when we think they are trying to tell us who to elect." — Sept. 27, 1930.

Art Club Also Lacks Permits For Its Downtown Concerts

A few items from the rock music controversy in Mill Valley which haven't made the news columns yet:

At the recent city council hearing on whether to grant permits for amplified music at the Sweetwater and Old Mill bars, a representative of the Outdoor Art Club presented the council with a resolution opposing the permits.

What club members didn't mention (but a bar owner pointed out) is that the club is on the same street as the two bars, is in the same zone, and needs a permit for concerts of any kind it stages, just as the bars do. It has never bothered to apply for such a permit, the planning directors noted.

Club member Janet Mountjoy agreed the situation was embarrassing and said from now on the Outdoor Art Club will apply for a permit when it's supposed to.

During the discussion, Sweetwater owner Fred Martin said he planned to feature classical music from now on along with more contemporary sounds. He apparently has consulted members of the Mill Valley Chamber Music Society about the possibility.

THE HEARING last week on the tavern issue was the most emotional held so far on the subject, with some women who spoke even close to tears as they deplored the current state of downtown Mill Valley.

Over and over, councilmen agreed that there had been some kind of change in atmosphere, but they also said that they were not sure whether it was the result of traffic, rock music noise, or the bars' patrons. Councilman Ivan S. Poutiatine even theorized that the situation may have resulted from a change in philosophy in the last few years in what is taught in Mill Valley schools.

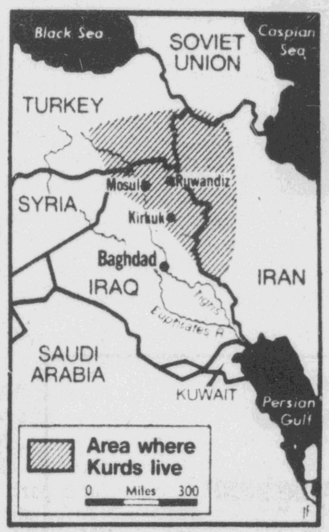
This same councilman noted that he had met people from as far away as Crescent City on the Northern California coast who had told him they had been to the Sweetwater and considered it a swinging place.

ON SATURDAY NIGHT, of course, Old Mill Bar owner Shirley Baucom staged an amplified rock music session as a deliberate violation of city law so she could get her case into the courts. Police that night told her they would have to shut the bar down if anyone phoned in a complaint about the music.

She now claims that a neighbor who finally did call police waited around outside the bar until the music started and then ran home to phone.

Kurdish Army Ready For Winter Assault

By JOHN K. COOLEY
The Christian Science Monitor
News Service



(Christian Science Monitor map by Joan Forbes)

High in the rugged mountains dividing Iraq's northern plain from Syria, Turkey, and Iran, the 60,000-man Kurdish guerrilla army waits for winter's first snows before launching a new drive against Iraq's besieging, Soviet-equipped forces.

The guerrillas are fighting for home rule for the 2 million to 3 million Kurdish people of northern Iraq — a people with a different language, culture, and traditions from the Arabs who form the ethnic majority in Iraq.

The war has been in progress off and on for the past 15 years. Last March the Kurds went over to the offensive again after a three-year truce, and since then the conflict has raged with greater ferocity than ever.

The truce collapsed when the veteran Kurdish leader, Gen. Mulla Mustafa Barzani, rejected a plan for limited Kurdish autonomy first offered and then imposed by the government in Bagdad.

The latest Kurdish demands are more embarrassing to the government than were those put forward when the rebellion erupted in 1961. Iraq earns more than $3 billion each year from its rich oil fields around Kirku, and Mosul. General Barzani says these are predominantly Kurdish cities and demands that a fair share of the oil income go to the Kurds to develop their impoverished territory.

After three generations of battle the general still leads the main body of Kurds, although other Kurds loyal to Bagdad have joined Iraqi Communists in a "national front" dominated by the ruling Baath (Arab Socialist) Party.

Two of General Barzani's sons, Idriss and Messaoud, share many of the main military and political tasks with the general's chief political adviser, Dr. Mamoud Osman. But a third son, Obeidallah, opposed his father and is a minister in Bagdad government.

Together with Habib Karim, secretary-general of General Barzani's Kurdistan Democratic Party (KDP), Idriss and Messaoud run the "liberated" areas and maintain liaison with Kurdish sympathizers and supporters abroad, mainly in Iran.

Commanding the Kurdish army, called Pesh Merga ("those facing death") in the Kurdish language, is Rashid al-Sindi, a veteran of all the mountain campaigns. Another grizzled fighter in his deputy, Haj Abdallah, who guided this reporter in Kurdistan before fighting erupted last March.

After initial Kurdish successes against the Iraqis at Ruwandiz and near the Turkish border last spring, Iraq commited about 23 of its 27 infantry and armored brigades, perhaps 80,000 men in all, and its Air Force to a summer offensive that swept the Kurds back into their mountain strongholds.

At leat 60,000 — mainly older people, women, and children — fled Iraqi bombs and shells to the relative safety but uncertain future of Iranian refugee camps.

Now GeneralBarzani's men, their backs to a friendly Iran and a less helpful Turkey, each with big Kurdish minorities of its own, face the winter snows, which give them a tactical advantage. They admit losing up to 5,000 of their civilian population and half that many fighters, but claim far heavier Iraqi losses.

Outside statesmen, including Egyptain President Sadat, have reportedly offered to mediate. Iraqi leaders charge that Israeli arms supplies and advisers on the Kurdish side helped weaken Arab unity against Israel. General Barzani, bitter at Moscow's backing for Bagdad, has repeatedly appealed for American help, apparently in vain.

New Hampshire Changes Title Of U.N. Week

CONCORD, N.H. (UPI) — New Hampshire Gov. Meldrim Thomson says although the rest of the world observes Oct. 20-27 as United Nations week, in New Hampshire it will be "America before United Nations Week."

Thomson, a conservative Republican, said Wednesday the United States has supported the United Nations morally and financially since 1945.

"The United Nations has failed to establish or maintain peace in the world and in recent years has been utterly useless as a force for peace in such international crises as Cyprus, Palestine and Vietnam," he said.

"America's emphasis for world peace must be for American first (in) all things and thereafter a sincere effort to cooperate with others who are equally anxious and genuine in their desire and in their search for peace."

SCARY STUFF (AND STAR) DRAWS MOB

Crowds of kiddies and their mamas throng the annual Haunted House in the Northgate Mall — drawn either by the Grand Witch, the Great Pumpkin or possibly television personality Michael Douglas. Witch, pumpkin and personality arrived by helicopter yesterday for the opening of the annual event. First-day paid admissions of 1,700 topped any previous year's gate, according to members of the Jolly Rogers Chapter of the Children's Home Society, the sponsors. The house will be open through next Wednesday.

San Rafael Averts Strike By Teachers

Months-Long Dispute Falls Before Arbitration

A strike, threatened for months in the San Rafael schools, was averted last night when teachers voted to accept salary proposals made by the board of education earlier this week.

The vote was not unanimous, with 60 of those present voting to accept the proposal, 138 voting to accept it "under protest," 67 voting to reject and 3 abstaining, according to a letter signed by Barry A. Hoglund, chairman of the Certficated Employees Council.

The terms of the proposal were drawn up by a three-member fact-finding committee which arbitrated the dispute between teachers and trustees. Their report had not been unanimous either; the teacher representative voted against it.

Terms include a 6 per cent raise for teachers retroactive to last July 1 and an additional 1 per cent hike effective in January.

The teachers, who had asked 14 per cent pay increases, threatened to strike when the board offered only 6 per cent. The additional 1 per cent was the proposal of the arbitrating committee.

"We're very happy" that the teachers have accepted the offer, Herman L. Childress, board president, said today.

"Any time you go to arbitration, it's going to be a compromise situation. There were parts of the report (by the committee) that the board didn't like and parts the teachers didn't like, but in the spirit of cooperation both chose to accept it."

"The most important thing is that we avoided a strike . . . which would have disrupted the education of children," Childress added.

Included in the package accepted by the teachers and the board were measures to give elementary teachers free time to prepare for classes, a grievance procedure in disputes over unfavorable evaluations of teachers and goals for student-teacher ratios.

There were also a myriad of other agreements, including health, dental and insurance coverage, duty-free lunch periods, selection of department chairmen methods, summer school contract procedures, disability leave, travel reimbursement and others.

Big Missile Launched In Plane Drop

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Air Force has successfully launched an 86,000-pound intercontinental ballistic missile from a jet cargo plane, a move that could make America's big ICBMs safer from Soviet attack, the Pentagon announced today.

The Minuteman 1 missile, largest object ever dropped from an airplane, was fired briefly over the Vanderberg Air Force Base test range in California yesterday, then plunged into the Pacific Ocean.

The Pentagon spokesman said a missile guidance system was not involved in the test and denied that it was held in conjunction with discussions of arms limitation currently underway in Moscow.

Yesterday's test apparently could lead to installation of the long-range missiles on planes and make the ICBMs less vulnerable from Soviet attack than in underground silos where they are usually stored.

The Pentagon said a Minuteman I missile was rolled out the back door of a big C5A jet

Dancing Dogs Dive Into Weekend Fare

Dogs will dance, dive through barrels, fetch dumbells, pull sleds and just plain show how pretty or smart they are Sunday at the Fourth Annual Expo K-9 at the Marin County Fairgrounds and Veterans Memorial Building.

This dog extravaganza, coupled with another dog show Saturday sponsored by the Pacheco Kennel Club, puts canine festivities at the top of events this weekend in Marin and Southern Sonoma.

About 1,000 puppies and adult dogs of nearly 100 breeds will be judged from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. at Expo K-9.

The Pacheco show, featuring more than 500 dogs, will begin tomorrow at 8:30 a.m. at Marion School, Seventh Street and Grant Avenue, Novato. Admission to both is free.

Also on the calendar Saturday is the fifth annual Larkspur Town Meeting, featuring a panel of representatives from city and county government discussing development in the lower Ross Valley. The meeting is set for 9 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. at Redwood High School's Little Theater.

Planned for discussion are proposed developments on the San Quentin Peninsula, the Larkspur ferry terminal, the Bon Air development and the Ernest W. Hahn shopping center plan in Corte Madera.

The Ross Valley Players open their 45th season tonight with Neil Simon's comedy "The Prisoner of Second Avenue," at 8:30 p.m. at the Barn at the Marin Art and Garden Center, Ross. The play will also be presented at 8:30 tomorrow.

Other special events planned for the weekend are:

TONIGHT

Play, "A Streetcar Named Desire," 8 p.m., Ives Hall, Sonoma State University.

Play, "Antigone," Southern Sonoma Drama Company, 8:30 p.m., Cinnabar Theater, Petaluma.

Concert, College of Marin instrumental ensemble, chamber music concert, 8:30 p.m., Choral Hall.

Concert, Indian bamboo flutist G.S. Sachdev, 8 p.m., Community Congregational Church, Tiburon.

Film, Charlie Chaplin's silent movie "Gold Rush Pay Day," 8:30 p.m., Olney Hall, College of Marin.

Concert, chamber music by Gwen Curatilo and Ermeler Due, 8 p.m., 101 Ives Hall, Sonoma State University.

TOMORROW

Five Football Contests On Tap

The Terra Linda Trojans host the Drake Pirates tonight in a Marin County Athletic League high school football game at San Rafael's Paul Miller Field, beginning at 8 o'clock.

In an MCAL game at 3:30 p.m. Redwood was to play Tamalpais at College of Marin in Kentfield.

Tomorrow, San Marin meets Marin Catholic at 1:30 p.m. in a non-league game at Novato, and San Rafael hosts Novato in an MCAL contest at 8 p.m.

Solo Drivers Ignore Way To Cut Bills

The North Bay commuter who drives his car to San Francisco five days a week could bank a pile of tax-free dollars every year if he switched to the bus or a car pool instead.

The lone auto commuter from Novato to downtown San Francisco would save some $2,000 and the Petaluma driver $2,675 by taking the bus to work, statistics show.

A round-trip bus commute from Novato to San Francisco costs about $3.40 per day including three car-miles between home and bus stop and a local bus trip within San Francisco.

The lone car commuter pays some $11.60 per day for the same trip, computed at an average car-upkeep cost of 15 cents a mile plus 75 cents bridge toll and a minimal monthly storage parking rate of $1.25 per day.

Thus, in a 50-week work year the Novato bus commuter saves $2,050 and each member of a three-party car pool saves about $1,900 compared to the lone driver.

Despite the dramatic savings possible, some 70 per cent of Marin and Sonoma commuters to San Francisco continue to go by car, and about three out of four are lone drivers, according to Golden Gate Bridge District Gen. Mgr. Dale W. Luehring.

"We have the cheapest form of transportation," Luehring said of the Golden Gate Transit public bus and ferry system available to North Bay commuters.

Any commuter could cut travel costs two-thirds by sharing the trip with two others, pointed out U.S. Department of Transportation planning engineer John L. Balshaw. A strong

Democrats Leading Registration Count

Seven of every 10 Marin voters newly registered for the Nov. 5 general election is a Democrat, according to figures reported yesterday by the county elections office.

The total voter count went from 110,430 on Jan. 1 to 119,583 on Oct. 6, the deadline to register for the November election. Of the 9,153 new voters, 6,514 are Democrats, — more than six times the 989 new Republicans registered in the same period.

New totals are 61,910 Democrats and 45,551 Republicans.

Other new counts, with the January tally in parentheses, are: declined to state a party preference, 11,346 (9,714); Peace and Freedom, 609 (578); American Independent, 127 (134), and miscellaneous, 50 (46).

County Elections Officer Peter C. Meyer noted that the total count was 7,345 voters less than for the 1972 general election, which breaks a record of at least 20 years of continually rising registration totals. He siad it was due to the county supervisors' approval of steps to remove the rolls voters who had left the county without canceling their registrations. The rolls thus are more accurate and will save postage and printing costs, he said.

Monday Is Veterans' Day; Closings Scene Confusing

Monday will be the Veterans Day holiday for some, a regular work day for others, but certainly a matter of confusion for all.

Veterans Day will be observed Monday by all federal agencies and many cities; on the other hand, offices of the State of California, Marin and Sonoma counties and other cities will remain open, and will observe Veterans Day on the traditional Nov. 11 date.

The U.S. Government changed the legal holiday for Veterans Day to the last Monday in October, but 37 states, including California, decided the traditional observation was better and changed it back again.

Hence, there is almost no rhyme or reason in deciding who will be open and who will close Monday.

The Post Office and other federal agencies will not work Monday.

Banks, businesses and stores will almost all remain open.

Ford Halts Nixon Policy Mail Run

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Ford has temporarily halted airplane deliveries of classified foreign policy information to former President Richard M. Nixon in California, a White House spokesman said today.

The foreign policy material, traditionally furnished for an interim period to outgoing presidents by their successors, has been delivered weekly by military courier plane to Nixon's home in San Clemente, since he resigned last Aug. 9.

"The flights have been deferred while the White House explores alternate methods of providing the former president with briefing materials," Press Secretary Ron Nessen said. He declined to say what the alternatives were or why the review was started.

Nessen said Ford and Nixon have not talked by telephone since Oct. 11, the date of the last courier flight. He added that Ford had not even had a direct report on the state of Nixon's health, which apparently took a turn for the worse yesterday when the former president was hospitalized.

Ford also had no plans to personally visit Nixon when he goes to Los Angeles next Friday for a campaign rally, Nessen said.

On other matters, Nessen said:

The President has poured over budget-cutting proposals submitted by federal departments and agencies, preparing to make "perhaps, the toughest series of decisions that he will have to make since he became president." Following the Nov. 5 election, Ford will send a series of measures to Congress to help reduce government spending in the current 1975 fiscal year to under $300 billion.

Kissinger's Moscow Sessions Going Well

MOSCOW (UPI) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger and Soviet leader Leonid I. Brezhnev talked for more than two hours today about slowing the nuclear arms race and then scheduled another meeting tonight, U.S. officials said.

A spokesman for Kissinger, Robert O. Anderson, said the talks were "very cordial, very friendly."

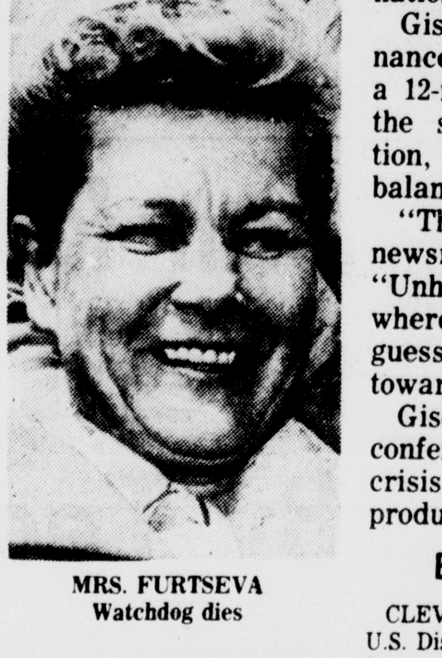
Moscow Culture Watchdog Dies



MRS. FURTSEVA
Watchdog dies

MOSCOW (UPI) — Culture Minister Yekaterina A. Furtseva, who presided over 14 years of increasing controls on artists and writers, died today at the age of 64.

The Tass news agency said she suffered a heart attack.

Mrs. Furtseva, the highest ranking woman in the Soviet government, clung to her job but lost her seat in the Supreme Soviet or parliament last June following a capitalist-style corruption scandal.

Soviet sources said she was severely reprimanded by the Communist party for building a $170,000 country home with materials obtained cheaply from the state. They said she was ordered to repay a large sum of money.

At one time, under former Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev, her patron, she was a member of the ruling politburo and the central committee of the Communist party. No other woman has held both posts.

Khrushchev allowed a mild intellectual thaw during his first years in office, but this ended with Mrs. Furtseva, a staunch upholder of party orthodoxy since her teens.

Under her tenure, modern art was stifled and writers — including exiled Alexander I. Solzhenitsyn — were persecuted. Many other art forms from ballet to cinema stagnated.

Labor Contract Payrolls Up, But Living Costs Lag

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Bureau of Labor Statistics says pay increases for workers under major labor contracts jumped sharply during the first nine months of this year. But the increases did not match the nation's ballooning inflation rate.

Yesterday's quarterly wage report dramatized sharp pay increases for union workers since federal government controls expired April 30.

Negotiated adjustments from January through September of this year averaged 9.6 per cent for the first year of contracts and 7.2 per cent annually over the life of the contract, the Bureau said. This compares with 5.8 per cent and 5.1 per cent, respectively, in the same nine months period in 1973.

While pay adjustments advanced for the contracts surveyed — 918 pacts covering 1,000 or more workers each in the private nonfarm economy — the nation's inflation rate in September was 12.1 per cent higher than a year ago.

About 4.1 million workers were covered by the 1974 settlements reviewed and primarily these were in steel, communications, construction, retail trade and apparel industries.

In the construction industry, where unemployment exceeds 12 per cent, the wage gains negotiated averaged 10.8 per cent in the first year and 9.2 per cent annually over the life of the contract. This gain was more than double the 5.0 per cent gain in this industry in the same nine months period in 1973 when wage freezes were in full force.

The bureau said 612,000 workers through 110 contracts turned to escalator provisions to protect them against cost of living erosion of their pay during the nine months period, but the adjustments did not include cost of living adjustments.

"This is the largest pickup in escalator coverage since 1971, when the steel and communications industries adopted such clauses in their contracts," the bureau said.

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

Massive Economic Crisis Forecast

d'Estaing

PARIS (UPI) — President Valery Giscard d'Estaing has warned that the world is in the grips of a massive economic crisis leading all nations "toward catastrophe."

Giscard d'Estaing, a former finance minister, called yesterday for a 12-nation conference to deal with the staggering problems of inflation, energy, unemployment and the balance of payments.

"The world is unhappy," he told newsmen at the Elysee Palace. "Unhappy because it does not know where it is going and because it guesses that if it knew, it would be that it is going toward a catastrophe."

Giscard d'Estaing called for an international conference early in 1976 to solve the world energy crisis by guaranteeing the income of the oil producing countires.

Briefs Slated

CLEVELAND (UPI) — The U.S. District Court trial of eight former Ohio National Guardsmen charged in the 1970 Kent State University killings has been adjourned until Tuesday when opening statements will be presented.

After seating the 12-member jury and six alternates yesterday, Judge Frank J. Battisti said court will be in session Monday through Thursday beginning at 10 a.m.

On the agenda Wednesday is a trip to Kent State University where the 13 seconds of gunfire that left four students dead and nine students injured occurred May 4, 1970.

The judge said the presentation of evidence would begin Thursday.

2 More Shot

BELFAST (UPI) — Gunmen shot two Roman Catholics in separate incidents in the latest of stepped up interreligious attacks in Northern Ireland, security sources said today.

A gunman firing from a cruising automobile shot the driver of a panel truck in West Belfast yesterday but the victim kept control of the vehicle and evaded the attackers, police said.

In the second incident, three gunmen opened fire on a man leaving his home for nightshift work at his plant. The victim was hit several times, but like the panel truck driver earlier, was not seriously wounded, police said.

Security sources said the assassination attempts looked like extremist Protestant revenge for the wounding of two Protestant workers the previous day.

Fallout Wanes

UNITED NATIONS (UPI) — Radioactive contamination from nuclear weapons tests has fallen to the lowest level in almost 20 years, according to a United Nations report on the effects of atomic radiation.

The report says the presence of strontium 90 and cesium 137 — two of the most dangerous nuclear particles — is the lowest since a U.N. scientific committee began monitoring radioactive fallout in 1955.

The committee's report to the General Assembly said the presence of fallout has fallen in both the northern and southern hemispheres since the outlawing of most atmospheric atomic tests in the mid-1960s.

Purge Coming

A command spokesman said no generals would be dismissed.

Thieu accepted the resignation yesterday of his nephew, Information Minister Hoang Duc Nha, and three other cabinet ministers in a surprise move aimed at blunting growing opposition to his government.

Parley Disrupted

RABAT, Morocco (UPI) — A guerrilla threat to boycott summit talks left the Arab foreign ministers conference in turmoil today and endangered efforts to negotiate a peace agreement with Israel.

A dispute between the Palestine Liberation Organization and Jordan over representation of the Palestinian refugees disrupted a three-day-old foreign ministers conference trying to arrange the summit talks, sources said.

The PLO claims to represent all refugees displaced by the creation of Israel in 1948. Jordan, however, claims to represent Palestinians living within its borders.

Jordan and the PLO are also at odds over which should take over abandoned sections of the occupied West Bank region if Israel agreed to give up the area.

Mills Denies Vets Tax Rumor

LITTLE ROCK (UPI) — Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., chairman of the tax writing House Ways and Oeans Committee, yesterday said Congress had no plans to put a tax on Veterans Administration compensation.

"It has come to our attention that a veterans organization has mailed to its members a letter alleging that we are about to put a tax on VA service connected compensation," Mills said in a prepared statement. "The kindest thing I can say about this is that it is not true."

"Benefits paid by the Veterans Administration are tax exempt," Mills said. "They have been. They are now. They will continue to be."

Auto Men To Focus On Better Mileage

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The nation's automakers have been called to the White House next week to discuss how to get most American cars to run 20 miles o a gallon of gas.

Interior Secretary Rogers C.B. Morton, appointed by President Ford to head the new Energy Resources Council, made the announcement yesterday at the panel's first meeting.

The auto companies will be asked to the White House next Tuesday to meet with Transportation Secretary Claude S. Brinegar and other officials.

The Environmental Protection Agency estimates that the average American car gets about 14 miles per gallon, some as low as seven.

If all models could be reengineered to get 20 miles per gallon, that would be at least a 40 per cent improvement.

In his economic message to Congress Oct. 15, President Ford promised to try to achieve this goal.

"I will meet with top management of the automobile industry to assure — either by agreement or by law — a firm program aimed at achieving a 40 per cent increase in gasoline mileage within a four-year development deadline," he said.

In a report to Congress yesterday, EPA and the Transportation Department said there is no reason manufacturers could not be turning out more economical cars by 1980.

Apple Picker Wins Lottery

HARRISBURG, Pa. (UPI) — Angel M. Sarrano, a former migrant apple picker who works as a janitor in a fabric mill, yesterday won $1 million in the Pennsylvania lottery.

Sarrano said he planned to quit his $9,000 a year job, build a new house for himself and his wife and bring his relatives to Pennsylvania from Puerto Rico.

Sarrano, 49, of Reading, Pa., is married but has no children. He has been in the United States for 17 years.

GM To Trim 6,000 More From Payroll; Sales Sag

DETROIT (UPI) — More than 6,000 General Motors workers will be idled indefinitely in the next month as U.S. automakers trim fourth quarter output by over 100,000 cars because of lagging sales of the 1975 models.

The announcement from GM yesterday that it is eliminating second shifts at three plants and cutting the assembly rate at a fourth facility was the latest indication that the hoped-for fall sales upturn has not materialized.

The industry still has close to 52,000 workers on indefinite layoffs from the energy crisis induced winter sales slump that at times saw 113,000 workers off the job. In the past year, GM cut 73,000 workers from its payrolls.

GM also became the first of the autoworkers to revise its 1975-model sales prediction downward from its original 10-million car estimate to 9.5 million. Some industry executives this past summer optimistically predicted sales of U.S. and imported cars might reach 10.5 million.

GM said 1,550 workers will be idled at its Kansas City, Mo., plant; 2,000 at Tarrytown, N.Y.; 1,650 at Van Nuys, and 700 at Willow Run, Mich. Second shifts at Kansas City, Tarrytown and Van Nuys will be discontinued Nov. 11 with the line speed at Willow Run being reduced from 70 cars an hour to 60 on each of two shifts Dec. 2.

Hospital Candidates Argue Road

By MARY LEYDECKER

The seven candidates for the Marin Hospital District board traded views last night, with the incumbents defending the operation of Marin General Hospital, two newcomers attacking it and two others indicating they thought they could do better than the present board.

The discussion was before members of the Marin Medical Society and others who gathered in Ross General Hospital's psychiatric unit — a somewhat ironic location since Ross General came under some criticism during the evening for lack of cooperation and coordinating with Marin General.

Although few really clear-cut issues arose during the evening, the incumbents, Marion C. Ibach, Thomas K. Procter and George H. Folsom, defended the realignment of Bon Air Road, which is costing Marin County taxpayers some 400,000 under an old contract with the county.

They also said expansion of hospital facilities (but not the number of beds) should be undertaken soon.

Candidates Darcie A. Barrows and Virginia M. Pedersen disagreed but with somewhat differing views, and the other challengers, William M. Taylor and T. David Fenix, indicated they thought their backgrounds made them more qualified than the incumbents.

Here are some of their views:

GEORGE H. FOLSOM — Folsom, who has served six years on the board, said the Bon Air Road realignment is "water over the dam" and that the matter had been settled in the courts, which required the county to carry out the project.

Folsom said Marin General is "bursting at the seams in the building we now have" and new facilities are needed, especially for ambulatory care. He backed a bond election for expansion of the hospital, estimated to cost $8.6 million.

MARION C. IBACH — Mrs. Ibach, a 28-year board member, said of her long service that "second only to my family, this is my interest." She said that on the board, "there are no issues — just day-to-day problems" and that the board does not run hospital departments but hires professionals to do this.

Mrs. Ibach, a retired nurse, also expressed views that Marin General "must become a center of prevention" of disease through new out-patient facilities.

In answer to questions about cooperating with Ross General Hospital, Mrs. Ibach said she had never been invited to a Ross hospital board meeting and that the only contact of the two boards was through the Comprehensive Health Planning Council. (Ross hospital has announced plans for a new general hospital somewhere north of San Rafael.)

THOMAS K. PROCTER — Procter, on the board six years, called Marin General a "very fine facility" which has not been overbuilt for the needs of citizens and "continues to be the lowest-cost hospital in the Bay Area."

He said the hospital is in the center of the county and that stopping its expansion and building another facility elsewhere would be "a tragedy."

Procter, retired real estate firm executive, also defended moving Bon Air Road, saying that to build a footbridge over the road from the present parking lot would have been expensive and then would be a waste if the hospital is expanded.

DARCIE A. BARROWS — Mrs. Barrows said that her "direct contact with patients" through volunteer service at Marin General has led her to believe the board needs "some fresh new ideas."

She said she has seen "a great deal of waste" at the hospital, heard complaints from patients and seen housekeepers "hiding out in empty rooms" rather than doing their work.

She suggested a "maid of the month" program as an incentive to good housekeeping in the hospital.

Mrs. Barrows, a housewife and volunteer, also suggested that the Board of Supervisors' chambers at the Marin Civic Center be used for monthly hospital board meetings rather than the small room at the hospital now used and that an advisory committee of physicians be named to the board.

She also said that Marin General could learn lessons from Ross General "which has to run efficiently" and that Marin General must take into consideration Ross's plans for a "rather large new hospital." She also said she did not think today's situation was the right time for expansion of Marin General.

She asked more stress on "patient care and patient comfort" at Marin General.

T. DAVID FENIX — Fenix said he knows "nothing about hospital administration" but that he believes he can "go into the community" and bring back ideas to the board. Serving on the board is a matter of a "thinking process," he said.

Asked if he thought his job with Blue Shield of California might create a conflict of interest, he replied, "I put on my pants. Blue Shield doesn't."

VIRGINIA M. PEDERSEN — Mrs. Pedersen, a retired nurse who worked 20 years in an administrative job at Marin General, said she wants the hospital "to grow sanely."

She questioned the wisdom of spending more money at Marin General and said the ideal situation would be a "nice, big new hospital," but added, "nobody would pass the bond issue."

She said the present building "is gerrymandered" with the placement and spacing of departments is not logical.

Mrs. Pedersen, who said it was her own idea to run for the board, said incumbents on such boards "tend to go on forever" unless voters become aroused about issues such as happened with the Marin Municipal Water District.

WILLIAM M. TAYLOR — Taylor, who said he was asked by friends to run, several of them doctors, said he thought the present board has a "low visibility" and is "ingrown, to some extent."

As for Bon Air Road, he said, "road transplants should be at the bottom of the list of transplants" and he also questioned the advisibility of putting $8 million into "an old plant," Marin General.

Taylor, an investment councilor, said he thinks he is capable of "leading . . . thinking" on the hospital board and that cooperation with Ross General "makes a lot of sense."

Quintuplet Is Back On Milk

BALTIMORE (UPI) — Michelle Lynn Rohrer, the quintuplet who suffered a temporary setback when she couldn't digest milk formula like her brother and three sisters, has been taken off intravenous feeding.

Dr. Ronald Gutberlet, University Hospital Nursery director, said yesterday that tests had shown that only Michelle's small size had caused an inability to hold down milk feedings by mouth.

"We took a number of tests to make sure nothing else caused Michelle's setback and all the results have been negative," he said, adding that Michelle probably just got "too much milk too soon. She's doing very well now."

Moscow Culture Watchdog Dies

MRS. FURTSEVA
Watchdog dies

MOSCOW (UPI) — Culture Minister Yekaterina A. Furtseva, who presided over 14 years of increasing controls on artists and writers, died today at the age of 64.

The Tass news agency said she suffered a heart attack.

Mrs. Furtseva, the highest ranking woman in the Soviet government, clung to her job but lost her seat in the Supreme Soviet or parliament last June following a capitalist-style corruption scandal.

Soviet sources said she was severely reprimanded by the Communist party for building a $170,000 country home with materials obtained cheaply from the state. They said she was ordered to repay a large sum of money.

At one time, under former Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev, her patron, she was a member of the ruling politburo and the central committee of the Communist party. No other woman has held both posts.

Khrushchev allowed a mild intellectual thaw during his first years in office, but this ended with Mrs. Furtseva, a staunch upholder of party orthodoxy since her teens.

Under her tenure, modern art was stifled and writers — including exiled Alexander I. Solzhenitsyn — were persecuted. Many other art forms from ballet to cinema stagnated.

Labor Contract Payrolls Up, But Living Costs Lag

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Bureau of Labor Statistics says pay increases for workers under major labor contracts jumped sharply during the first nine months of this year. But the increases did not match the nation's ballooning inflation rate.

Yesterday's quarterly wage report dramatized sharp pay increases for union workers since federal government controls expired April 30.

Negotiated adjustments from January through September of this year averaged 9.6 per cent for the first year of contracts and 7.2 per cent annually over the life of the contract, the Bureau said. This compares with 5.8 per cent and 5.1 per cent, respectively, in the same nine months period in 1973.

While pay adjustments advanced for the contracts surveyed — 918 pacts covering 1,000 or more workers each in the private nonfarm economy — the nation's inflation rate in September was 12.1 per cent higher than a year ago.

About 4.1 million workers were covered by the 1974 settlements reviewed and primarily these were in steel, communications, construction, retail trade and apparel industries.

In the construction industry, where unemployment exceeds 12 per cent, the wage gains negotiated averaged 10.8 per cent in the first year and 9.2 per cent annually over the life of the contract. This gain was more than double the 5.0 per cent gain in this industry in the same nine months period in 1973 when wage freezes were in full force.

The bureau said 612,000 workers through 110 contracts turned to escalator provisions to protect them against cost of living erosion of their pay during the nine months period, but the adjustments did not include cost of living adjustments.

"This is the largest pickup in escalator coverage since 1971, when the steel and communications industries adopted such clauses in their contracts," the bureau said.

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

Massive Economic Crisis Forecast

PARIS (UPI) — President Valery Giscard d'Estaing has warned that the world is in the grips of a massive economic crisis leading all nations "toward catastrophe."

d'Estaing

Giscard d'Estaing, a former finance minister, called yesterday for a 12-nation conference to deal with the staggering problems of inflation, energy, unemployment and the balance of payments.

"The world is unhappy," he told newsmen at the Elysee Palace. "Unhappy because it does not know where it is going and because it guesses that if it knew, it would be that it is going toward a catastrophe."

Giscard d'Estaing called for an international conference early in 1976 to solve the world energy crisis by guaranteeing the income of the oil producing countires.

Briefs Slated

CLEVELAND (UPI) — The U.S. District Court trial of eight former Ohio National Guardsmen charged in the 1970 Kent State University killings has been adjourned until Tuesday when opening statements will be presented.

After seating the 12-member jury and six alternates yesterday, Judge Frank J. Battisti said court will be in session Monday through Thursday beginning at 10 a.m.

On the agenda Wednesday is a trip to Kent State University where the 13 seconds of gunfire that left four students dead and nine students injured occurred May 4, 1970.

The judge said the presentation of evidence would begin Thursday.

2 More Shot

BELFAST (UPI) — Gunmen shot two Roman Catholics in separate incidents in the latest of stepped up interreligious attacks in Northern Ireland, security sources said today.

A gunman firing from a cruising automobile shot the driver of a panel truck in West Belfast yesterday but the victim kept control of the vehicle and evaded the attackers, police said.

In the second incident, three gunmen opened fire on a man leaving his home for nightshift work at his plant. The victim was hit several times, but like the panel truck driver earlier, was not seriously wounded, police said.

Security sources said the assassination attempts looked like extremist Protestant revenge for the wounding of two Protestant workers the previous day.

Fallout Wanes

UNITED NATIONS (UPI) — Radioactive contamination from nuclear weapons tests has fallen to the lowest level in almost 20 years, according to a United Nations report on the effects of atomic radiation.

The report says the presence of strontium 90 and cesium 137 — two of the most dangerous nuclear particles — is the lowest since a U.N. scientific committee began monitoring radioactive fallout in 1955.

The committee's report to the General Assembly said the presence of fallout has fallen in both the northern and southern hemispheres since the outlawing of most atmospheric atomic tests in the mid-1960s.

Purge Coming

A command spokesman said no generals would be dismissed.

Thieu accepted the resignation yesterday of his nephew, Information Minister Hoang Duc Nha, and three other cabinet ministers in a surprise move aimed at blunting growing opposition to his government.

Parley Disrupted

RABAT, Morocco (UPI) — A guerrilla threat to boycott summit talks left the Arab foreign ministers conference in turmoil today and endangered efforts to negotiate a peace agreement with Israel.

A dispute between the Palestine Liberation Organization and Jordan over representation of the Palestinian refugees disrupted a three-day-old foreign ministers conference trying to arrange the summit talks, sources said.

The PLO claims to represent all refugees displaced by the creation of Israel in 1948. Jordan, however, claims to represent Palestinians living within its borders.

Jordan and the PLO are also at odds over which should take over abandoned sections of the occupied West Bank region if Israel agreed to give up the area.

Mills Denies Vets Tax Rumor

LITTLE ROCK (UPI) — Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., chairman of the tax writing House Ways and Oeans Committee, yesterday said Congress had no plans to put a tax on Veterans Administration compensation.

"It has come to our attention that a veterans organization has mailed to its members a letter alleging that we are about to put a tax on VA service connected compensation," Mills said in a prepared statement. "The kindest thing I can say about this is that it is not true."

"Benefits paid by the Veterans Administration are tax exempt," Mills said. "They have been. They are now. They will continue to be."

Auto Men To Focus On Better Mileage

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The nation's automakers have been called to the White House next week to discuss how to get most American cars to run 20 miles o a gallon of gas.

Interior Secretary Rogers C.B. Morton, appointed by President Ford to head the new Energy Resources Council, made the announcement yesterday at the panel's first meeting.

The auto companies will be asked to the White House next Tuesday to meet with Transportation Secretary Claude S. Brinegar and other officials.

The Environmental Protection Agency estimates that the average American car gets about 14 miles per gallon, some as low as seven.

If all models could be reengineered to get 20 miles per gallon, that would be at least a 40 per cent improvement.

In his economic message to Congress Oct. 15, President Ford promised to try to achieve this goal.

"I will meet with top management of the automobile industry to assure — either by agreement or by law — a firm program aimed at achieving a 40 per cent increase in gasoline mileage within a four-year development deadline," he said.

In a report to Congress yesterday, EPA and the Transportation Department said there is no reason manufacturers could not be turning out more economical cars by 1980.

Apple Picker Wins Lottery

HARRISBURG, Pa. (UPI) — Angel M. Sarrano, a former migrant apple picker who works as a janitor in a fabric mill, yesterday won $1 million in the Pennsylvania lottery.

Sarrano said he planned to quit his $9,000 a year job, build a new house for himself and his wife and bring his relatives to Pennsylvania from Puerto Rico.

Sarrano, 49, of Reading, Pa., is married but has no children. He has been in the United States for 17 years.

GM To Trim 6,000 More From Payroll; Sales Sag

DETROIT (UPI) — More than 6,000 General Motors workers will be idled indefinitely in the next month as U.S. automakers trim fourth quarter output by over 100,000 cars because of lagging sales of the 1975 models.

The announcement from GM yesterday that it is eliminating second shifts at three plants and cutting the assembly rate at a fourth facility was the latest indication that the hoped-for fall sales upturn has not materialized.

The industry still has close to 52,000 workers on indefinite layoffs from the energy crisis induced winter sales slump that at times saw 113,000 workers off the job. In the past year, GM cut 73,000 workers from its payrolls.

GM also became the first of the autoworkers to revise its 1975-model sales prediction downward from its original 10-million car estimate to 9.5 million. Some industry executives this past summer optimistically predicted sales of U.S. and imported cars might reach 10.5 million.

GM said 1,550 workers will be idled at its Kansas City, Mo., plant; 2,000 at Tarrytown, N.Y.; 1,650 at Van Nuys, and 700 at Willow Run, Mich. Second shifts at Kansas City, Tarrytown and Van Nuys will be discontinued Nov. 11 with the line speed at Willow Run being reduced from 70 cars an hour to 60 on each of two shifts Dec. 2.

Hospital Candidates Argue Road

By MARY LEYDECKER

The seven candidates for the Marin Hospital District board traded views last night, with the incumbents defending the operation of Marin General Hospital, two newcomers attacking it and two others indicating they thought they could do better than the present board.

The discussion was before members of the Marin Medical Society and others who gathered in Ross General Hospital's psychiatric unit — a somewhat ironic location since Ross General came under some criticism during the evening for lack of cooperation and coordinating with Marin General.

Although few really clear-cut issues arose during the evening, the incumbents, Marion C. Ibach, Thomas K. Procter and George H. Folsom, defended the realignment of Bon Air Road, which is costing Marin County taxpayers some 400,000 under an old contract with the county.

They also said expansion of hospital facilities (but not the number of beds) should be undertaken soon.

Candidates Darcie A. Barrows and Virginia M. Pedersen disagreed but with somewhat differing views, and the other challengers, William M. Taylor and T. David Fenix, indicated they thought their backgrounds made them more qualified than the incumbents.

Here are some of their views:

GEORGE H. FOLSOM — Folsom, who has served six years on the board, said the Bon Air Road realignment is "water over the dam" and that the matter had been settled in the courts, which required the county to carry out the project.

Folsom said Marin General is "bursting at the seams in the building we now have" and new facilities are needed, especially for ambulatory care. He backed a bond election for expansion of the hospital, estimated to cost $8.6 million.

MARION C. IBACH — Mrs. Ibach, a 28-year board member, said of her long service that "second only to my family, this is my interest." She said that on the board, "there are no issues — just day-to-day problems" and that the board does not run hospital departments but hires professionals to do this.

Mrs. Ibach, a retired nurse, also expressed views that Marin General "must become a center of prevention" of disease through new out-patient facilities.

In answer to questions about cooperating with Ross General Hospital, Mrs. Ibach said she had never been invited to a Ross hospital board meeting and that the only contact of the two boards was through the Comprehensive Health Planning Council. (Ross hospital has announced plans for a new general hospital somewhere north of San Rafael.)

THOMAS K. PROCTER — Procter, on the board six years, called Marin General a "very fine facility" which has not been overbuilt for the needs of citizens and "continues to be the lowest-cost hospital in the Bay Area."

He said the hospital is in the center of the county and that stopping its expansion and building another facility elsewhere would be "a tragedy."

Procter, retired real estate firm executive, also defended moving Bon Air Road, saying that to build a footbridge over the road from the present parking lot would have been expensive and then would be a waste if the hospital is expanded.

DARCIE A. BARROWS — Mrs. Barrows said that her "direct contact with patients" through volunteer service at Marin General has led her to believe the board needs "some fresh new ideas."

She said she has seen "a great deal of waste" at the hospital, heard complaints from patients and seen housekeepers "hiding out in empty rooms" rather than doing their work.

She suggested a "maid of the month" program as an incentive to good housekeeping in the hospital.

Mrs. Barrows, a housewife and volunteer, also suggested that the Board of Supervisors' chambers at the Marin Civic Center be used for monthly hospital board meetings rather than the small room at the hospital now used and that an advisory committee of physicians be named to the board.

She also said that Marin General could learn lessons from Ross General "which has to run efficiently" and that Marin General must take into consideration Ross's plans for a "rather large new hospital." She also said she did not think today's situation was the right time for expansion of Marin General.

She asked more stress on "patient care and patient comfort" at Marin General.

T. DAVID FENIX — Fenix said he knows "nothing about hospital administration" but that he believes he can "go into the community" and bring back ideas to the board. Serving on the board is a matter of a "thinking process," he said.

Asked if he thought his job with Blue Shield of California might create a conflict of interest, he replied, "I put on my pants. Blue Shield doesn't."

VIRGINIA M. PEDERSEN — Mrs. Pedersen, a retired nurse who worked 20 years in an administrative job at Marin General, said she wants the hospital "to grow sanely."

She questioned the wisdom of spending more money at Marin General and said the ideal situation would be a "nice, big new hospital," but added, "nobody would pass the bond issue."

She said the present building "is gerrymandered" with the placement and spacing of departments is not logical.

Mrs. Pedersen, who said it was her own idea to run for the board, said incumbents on such boards "tend to go on forever" unless voters become aroused about issues such as happened with the Marin Municipal Water District.

WILLIAM M. TAYLOR — Taylor, who said he was asked by friends to run, several of them doctors, said he thought the present board has a "low visibility" and is "ingrown, to some extent."

As for Bon Air Road, he said, "road transplants should be at the bottom of the list of transplants" and he also questioned the advisibility of putting $8 million into "an old plant," Marin General.

Taylor, an investment councilor, said he thinks he is capable of "leading . . . thinking" on the hospital board and that cooperation with Ross General "makes a lot of sense."

Quintuplet Is Back On Milk

BALTIMORE (UPI) — Michelle Lynn Rohrer, the quintuplet who suffered a temporary setback when she couldn't digest milk formula like her brother and three sisters, has been taken off intravenous feeding.

Dr. Ronald Gutberlet, University Hospital Nursery director, said yesterday that tests had shown that only Michelle's small size had caused an inability to hold down milk feedings by mouth.

"We took a number of tests to make sure nothing else caused Michelle's setback and all the results have been negative," he said, adding that Michelle probably just got "too much milk too soon. She's doing very well now."

Sirica Gives Nixon Tapes For Defense

WASHINGTON (UPI) — With the long appearance of prosecution witness John W. Dean III nearing an end, Judge John J. Sirica today ordered that transcripts of White House tapes be given to former president Richard M. Nixon in preparation for his possible testimony at the Watergate cover-up trial.

Sirica, without comment, granted a motion filed by former Assistant Attorney General Herbert J. Miller Jr., Nixon's attorney, that the former president be given the transcripts of tapes the prosecution has or may play at the trial.

Nixon, who has been subpoenaed by both sides, is back in the hospital at Long Beach, and his doctors said they may operate if the anticoagulant drugs continue to be unsuccessful in relieving the complications of his phlebitis. Sirica has asked for a new medical report from Nixon's lawyers in about two weeks.

With Dean, the prosecution's first and foremost witness in his eighth day on the stand, David G. Bress, lawyer for former Assistant Attorney General Robert C. Mardian, one of five defendants, began crossexamination.

Bress, a former U.S. attorney here, questioned Dean, who was White House counsel until Nixon fired him, about his connections with G. Gordon Liddy, another former White House aide who has been convicted as a mastermind of the Watergate bugging.

"Isn't it a fact you learned from Bob Mardian that Liddy tried to get a job at the Department of Justice and was turned down because Mardian disapproved of him?" Bress asked.

"Yes, sir," Dean answered.

Bress pressed Dean on whether he knew that Liddy, a member of the White House "plumbers" special investigative unit, was involved in the 1971 Ellsberg break-in and the "spiriting away" of ITT lobbyist Dita Beard in March, 1972, while he was serving simultaneously as counsel for Nixon's reelection committee.

Dean said he did not believe the "plumbers" were involved in the Beard matter, and that he learned of Liddy's involvement in the break-in at the office of Pentagon Papers defendant Daniel Ellsberg's psychiatrist months after it happened.

Official Gets Work For A Sentence

John Tedmond Schulte, 48, administrator of the Southern Marin subregional sewerage agency, must do 240 hours of volunteer work for a drunken driving conviction.

But the San Rafael man will not go to jail, Superior Court Judge Charles Read Best ruled today.

Best imposed the sentence after attorney William O. Weissich argued that jail would pose a hardship on Schulte.

Schulte's wife suffered a broken back and torn intestines in the June 1 accident on White's Hill near Fairfax and requires daily attention from her husband, Weissich said.

The judge also placed Schulte on three years' probation, suspended a 30-day jail sentence and ordered him to make restitution to a Lagunitas couple hurt in the head-on crash. He also suspended Schulte's license for six months.

Schulte, originally charged with felony counts of drunken driving and hit and run, pleaded guilty to misdemeanor counts of the same offenses under a plea bargain.

100 Bikes Go On Auction

More than 100 bicycles, plus three televisions and other items will be sold at auction by the Marin Sheriff's Department beginning at 10:30 a.m. tomorrow.

The sale will be held at the northeast corner of the Marine Corps Armory parking lot adjacent to the Marin Civic Center lagoon.

The items may be previewed beginning at 8 a.m., said Inspector Edward F. Klementovich of the sheriff's department. No personal checks will be accepted and no refunds granted, he added.

Man Booked In Pot Sale

A 31-year-old Fairfax man was booked into county jail yesterday on suspicion of sale of 50 kilos of marijuana to narcotics agents.

Police said they arrested Richard Louis Hug, of 196½ Bothin Road, when he allegedly attempted to sell some $9,700 worth of marijuana to agents at a motel at 1600 Lincoln Avenue, San Rafael.

Hug, held in lieu of $25,000 bail, was scheduled to appear in municipal court today.

Sanitary Unit Allows Permits

Las Gallinas Valley Sanitary District Board last night approved connection permits for an 18-unit apartment project on Merrydale Road.

Directors said the so-called Kaehler-Timmer complex may have permits as long as it doesn't connect until next October, said Edward Tibbetts, district engineer.

Tibbetts said the board feels the district will have capacity to handle the project by late 1975.

cargo plane in flight. It was then successfully ignited and sent into flight for 10 seconds.

An Air Force spokesman said the 86,000-pound rocket was the largest weight ever dropped from an aircraft. The previous record was 55,000 pounds.

He said the missile was pulled out the back door of the C5A by parachutes at 20,000 feet over the western test range at Vandenberg Air Force Base, Calif. The rocket then fell with the parachutes turning it upright.

On the way down the missile ignited and at 8,000 feet built up enough thrust to stop falling and begin flying upward. The 10 seconds of fuel carried the missile to 20,000 feet before it fell back into the ocean.

The spokesman said the tests were made to determine if the aircraft could successfully drop such weights and if the missile could be ignited. He said missile guidance was not involved.

The Soviets are moving on to larger missiles with more powerful warheads that some strategists fear could be targeted to wipe out the 1,054 landbased missiles in the United States.

This has renewed interest in "mobile basing" of missiles on trucks, railroad carriages or planes so that the Soviets would not know where they were from one day to another and could not pretarget them all.

The Air Force has not kept its test series a secret but has not publicized it.

Village Approved

Schools will be in session as usual.

More than half of Marin's cities will take a holiday Monday. Sausalito, Mill Valley, Cotati, San Rafael, San Anselmo, Rohnert Park, Fairfax and Novato offices will all close, as will city libraries.

The City of San Rafael has declared a parking meter holiday, but meters in Mill Valley and Sausalito will operate as usual.

The Independent-Journal will publish as usual.

Both the Marin Municipal Water District and the North Marin Municipal Water District offices will be closed.

Meetings scheduled for Monday that will be postponed are:

Cotati Planning Commission, to Nov. 4 at 7:30 p.m.

Two Sentenced On Pot Growing Get Probation

Two Mill Valley men caught growing about 200 marijuana plants in their back yard were sentenced today in Marin Superior Court.

Ronald Stephen Paul, 25, received one year's probation, 30 days in Marin County Jail and a $250 fine on the offense, declared a misdemeanor by Superior Court Judge Charles Read Best.

And Andrew Michael Schultz, 26, drew the same sentence, but his jail term was suspended.

Both men pleaded guilty to marijuana possession.

They were arrested in July after neighbors complained to Mill Valley police that the pot plants were growing over a fence.

State To Sell Tahoe Property

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The California Department of Transportation will auction eight homes and 30 residential lots near Lake Tahoe next month.

The department's announcement yesterday said the property was acquired for a lakeshore freeway, but the California Highway Commission abandoned the plan last June.

The properties, to be auctioned Nov. 15, are along California 89 in the Meeks Bay and Rubicon Bay areas 12 miles south of Tahoe City.

Princess's Spouse Will Shun Politics

LONDON (UPI) — Neil Balfour, whose wife plans to marry actor Richard Burton, has withdrawn as a parliamentary candidate in any future election, a local Conservative party official said today.

Balfour's wife, Princess Elizabeth of Yugoslavia, campaigned for him in his unsuccessful race Oct. 10.

Dentist Still Has Practice

Dr. Charles Musante, identified in yesterday's Independent-Journal as a retired San Rafael dentist, is far from retired and maintains an active practice, he told the I-J today.

Dr. Musante's picture appeared in connection with a Roaring Twenties show performed for members of the San Rafael Goldenaires.

Boy Scouts Will Sell Decorations

Boy Scouts will be selling Christmas decorations in the Gallinas Valley-Los Ranchitos area tomorrow and Sunday.

Members of Troop 39 will go house to house to take orders for holly, wreaths and garlands. The fresh greens, from Chehalis, Wash., will be delivered the second week of December.

This is the third year the Troop has conducted the sale, according to H. L. (Herb) Walkup, one of the sale chairmen. Proceeds will be used for troop activities, including camping and hiking trips.

Interested persons can contact Walkup at 180 Whittier Avenue.

Rare Cranes Reach Refuge

ARANSAS PASS, Tex. (UPI) — Six of 48 known surviving wild whooping cranes have reached their winter nesting grounds at the Aransas Wildlife Refuge on the Texas Gulf Coast, officials reported yesterday.

Four more whoopers were seen earlier in the week over Central Kansas and were belived nearing the refuge.

Forty-seven of the near-extinct birds left the refuge last spring to spend the summer in the North. One whooper remained behind, according to refuge officials, but has not been seen since the recent arrivals.

advocate of car pools, Balshaw is chairman of RIDES, which arranges car pools within the Bay Area, and he commutes in a car pool daily to the Federal Building from his home in Petaluma.

Computed on the same basis as the Novato trip, a Petaluma to San Francisco bus commuter saves $2,675 per year and the car pool member $1,433 over the lone auto driver for the 84-mile round trip.

The San Rafael bus traveler saves a substantial $1,905 and the car pool member $1,373 over what their lone-driver counterpart pays.

Similarly, the shopper who hops into the bus instead of the car to spend the day in San Francisco economizes at the rate of $10.70 from Petaluma, $8.20 from Novato and $4.90 from San Rafael.

From San Rafael and points north the bus traveler easily saves the most.

But from Mill Valley, a much shorter distance, the three-member car pool driver wins. It costs him about $441.66 to cover the 22-mile round trip commute each year, while the bus rider pays $612.50 and the lone driver $1,325.

By either switching to the bus or opening the car door to other passengers, the North Bay commuter can slash travel costs.

Water Quality Workshop Set

Marin Municipal Water District directors will conduct a public workshop on water quality and conservation at 7:30 p.m. Monday at the district office, 220 Nellen Avenue, Corte Madera.

Staff and directors will speak and answer questions on water quality standards and the effect of storage, treatment and distribution on water quality.

The board also will consider a new policy on water conservation to help water supply meet new customer demand, according to district Gen. Mgr. J. Dietrich Stroeh.

Auto Stolen

A 1970 Buick automobile was reported stolen yesterday from a parking lot at 502 Francisco Boulevard, according to San Rafael police. Police said that the car, with 156ERL license plates, was owned by Douglas H. Ballinger of 50 Makin Grade, Kentfield.

OBITUARIES

Louis J. Stefani Dies At 78

Louis J. Stefani of San Rafael, former assistant manager of the Marin Municipal Water District, died yesterday in a local hospital after a long illness. He was 78.

Stefani was born in San Francisco but moved to Marin with his family as a child.

He began working for the water district as a meter reader in 1917 and rose through the ranks to become superintendent of construction and maintenance in 1934. In 1954 he was named assistant general manager, second in command to former Gen. Mgr. William R. Seeger.

Stefani was a member of the San Rafael Elks Lodge and the Wilkins Post of the American Legion.

He is survived by his wife, Inez; a brother, Peter S. Stefani, and a niece and nephew.

A Mass of Christian Burial will be offered at 10 a.m. tomorrow at St. Raphael's Church.

An Elks service will be at 7:30 p.m. today at Keaton's Mortuary, followed by recitation of the Rosary at 8 p.m.

Entombment will be in Mount Olivet Cemetery.

The family prefers contributions to St. Raphael's Church.

MRS. WISEHEART

The name of the late Ardith R. Wiseheart was misspelled in her obituary in yesterday's Independent-Journal, as a result of incorrect information from the mortuary.

Memorial service will be held at 8 p.m. today at Chapel of the Hills, San Anselmo, for Mrs. Wiseheart. She is survived by her husband, Sherman Wiseheart of San Anselmo; her father, Arthur J. Reed, and a brother, Roger Reed, both of Wonewoc, Wis.

IRMA HERKNER

Irma E. Herkner of San Rafael died yesterday in a local convalescent hospital after a long illness.

Mrs. Herkner, 75, was the wife of Clarence G. Herkner, retired principal and teacher for San Rafael City Schools.

She was born in Downieville, Sierra County, and had lived in Marin 30 years. Mrs. Herkner was a member of the San Rafael chapter of the Order of the Eastern Star for 30 years and before that belonged to the McCloud chapter of the Eastern Star for 14 years. She also was a member of the Tamalpais Center Women's Club.

In addition to her husband, Mrs. Herkner is survived by a daughter, JoAnn E. Olson of Columbus, Ga.; a son, Richard T. Herkner of Honolulu, Hawaii; a sister, Eugenie Marie Wright and four grandchildren.

A memorial service will be at 3 p.m. Monday at the First Presbyterian Church in San Rafael.

THERESA AZEVEDO

Mass of Christian Burial for Theresa Azevedo of Petaluma will be at 10 a.m. Sunday at St. Rose Catholic Church in Santa Rosa.

Mrs. Azevedo, a native of the Azores who had lived 54 years in Southern Sonoma, died yesterday in a local hospital after a short illness.

She was a member of the Holy Ghost Society, Our Lady's Miracle Society and St. Vincent's Catholic Church in Petaluma.

She is survived by two sons, Tony and Joseph Azevedo of Petaluma; two daughters, Lillian M. Miller of Santa Rosa and Evelyn Bello of Petaluma, 14 grandchildren and 18 great-grandchildren.

The Rosary will be recited at 8 p.m. Sunday at the Lafferty and Smith Colonial Chapel in Santa Rosa. Burial will be in Calvary Cemetery there.

KATHRYN PRONINI

Kathryn V. Pronini of Petaluma, a longtime resident of Southern Sonoma County died yesterday in a local hospital after a brief illness. She was 69.

She was a native of Montana who came to Petaluma 66 years ago. Mrs. Pronini attended St. Vincent's School and was a lifelong member of St. Vincent's Catholic Church in Petaluma. Her home was at 949 B Street.

She is survived by her husband, Charles Pronini; a son, Fred Starke of Petaluma; two daughters, Kathleen De Bernardi and Maureen Bettinelli, both of Petaluma; and three sisters, Rose Crosby of Napa and Noreen Avis and Mary Keys, both of Pomona, Los Angeles County.

Mass of Christian Burial will be at 10 a.m. tomorrow at St. Vincent's. The Rosary will be recited at 8 p.m. today at the Parent Funeral Chapel. Interment will be in Calvary Cemetery, Petaluma.

County May Take Over Controversial Ravine Cabins

By PAUL E. PETERZELL

State plans to demolish the controversial cabins at Steep Ravine south of Stinson Beach were denied early today by the coastal commission, which got an informal offer from Marin County to fix up the cabins and rent them to the public.

Supervisor Gary T. Giacomini, sitting for the first time as a member of the North Central Coast Regional Commission, offered to have the county take over the 13 cabins from the state Parks and Recreation Department. The department has leased them to politically influential Bay Area citizens since the ravine was added to Mount Tamalpais State Park 14 years ago.

The director of the department, William Penn Mott, promptly assured the commission his department "would be very happy" to turn the cabins over to the county. Mott and other department officials drove down from Sacramento to attend the hearing in the West Marin Community Center in Point Reyes Station, and waited almost five hours before the item came up on the agenda at 12:10 a.m.

Giacomini told the Independent-Journal that he had not discussed his offer yet with his fellow supervisors, but predicted they will approve it. The board already is on record against demolition of the cabins.

The commission also denied an application by Transcentury Properties to build 1,650 homes at its Bodega Harbor subdivision, and heard West Marin citizens protest a proposed policy to encourage greatly expanded recreational use of the coast.

Mott testified that his department's engineers and architects estimated it would cost $200,000 to recondition the cabins so they would meet minimum codes for public accommodation, a figure Giacomini later said could be cut to about $25,000. The director also said the state would lose almost $40,000 a year if it rented out the cabins at $125 a week, which he said was money it did not have.

Giacomini, however, estimated that rental revenue could match costs. Mott figured the state's cost to operate the cabins at more than $80,000 a year, while the supervisor put the figure at half as much.

Giacomini said details of the rental system would be determined by the county's parks and recreation commission.

Mott also objected that such overnight facilities should be inland to protect the fragile coast from excessive "wear and tear." Leaving the cabins up will encourage expansion of facilities around them, he predicted, commenting the cabins were "not a proper use of this area."

Giacomini announced that Sen. Peter H. Behr, R-San Rafael, had agreed to introduce legislation to permit the county to take over the cabins, if he is reelected. Such a bill could not become law until January. (The 1974 Legislature ordered the cabins demolished after political pressure on the department by the lease holders prevented all attempts to open them to the public.)

Mott told the I-J that the present lease holders would be permitted to remain in the cabins until the cabins were taken over by the county. Their presence would help prevent vandalism of the cabins, he said. A caretaker who formerly occupied one of the cabins has left. The leases are for $41.66 a month.

Supporting demolition of the cabins were the Tamalpais Conservation Club, the Nature Friends, and Lenore Bravo, a San Francisco marine biologist.

Opposing demolition were the commission's staff, Marin Conservation League, San Francisco Chronicle columnist Harold Gilliam and about a half dozen citizens in the audience who indicated their opposition in a show of hands.

The Transcentury Bodega Harbor project was turned down with only four votes for it and nine against, and one commissioner absent. The developer has pending a court challenge to the commission's denial of a claim that the commission has no jurisdiction over the project since it was begun before the commission was created.

Also defeated was a move by San Francisco Supervisor Robert Mendelsohn to cut some 700 units out of the project. Protesting the move, Commissioner Wanda Zankich of Bodega Bay said that "when you cut a guy's throat, you don't ask him to give to the blood bank."

Giacomini also attacked Mendelsohn's attempt to cut the size of the project, objecting it still was so large that it would have an "incredible adverse environmental impact." He branded Mendelsohn's move "absolute insanity."

In the hearing on the proposed policy on intensity of development along the coast, numerous citizens protested that it would encourage so much recreational use that the coast would be swamped with visitors, and its amenities lost as a result.

Stewart Udall To Discuss Environmental Crisis

Former Secretary of the Interior Stewart L. Udall will speak on the energy environment crisis at 8 p.m. Nov. 6 in Olney Hall at the College of Marin.

As chief of the nation's conservation and development of natural resources under Presidents Kennedy and Johnson, Udall exhibited a strong interest in conservation. In 1969 he formed Overview, an international consulting firm on environmental problems.

He is the author of two books, "The Quiet Crisis," and "1976: Agenda for Tomorrow," and writes a nationally syndicated column, "Udall on the Environment."

An Arizonan, Udall received a law degree from the University of Arizona and served in Congress, where he was a member of the House Interior Committee, for six years.

In 1969-70 he was visiting Professor of Environmental Humanism Yale Yal University.

Admission to the program is $2.50.

Teen Actor Is Arrested

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Teen-age actor Danny D. Bonaduce, 15, the red-haired financial wizard on television's "Partridge Family", has been released in the custody of his parents following a brief marijuana arrest.

San Francisco police said they stopped a car early Saturday which had a burned out license plate light. Police said they searched the car after the driver got out and said, "Listen, man, don't bust me for the grass. I'm a good kid." Bonaduce was sleeping in the back seat of the car in which they found a half-pound of marijuana and narcotics paraphernalia.

San Anselmo Schools Pay Hike Voted

The San Anselmo School District Board last night approved a 9.5 per cent pay increase for district employees.

The wage boost for teachers and classified personnel will cost $132,551 annually, according to the school administration.

Supt. Frank R. Elliott said the board took no action on a request by district administrators for a 10 per cent pay hike.

The board last night learned from colleague Millard R. Morgen that he intends to resign next March 31. Morgen, elected to a four year term in April, 1973, feels he has "put in his time," Elliott said.

The board said it will next meet Tuesday at Isabel Cook School at 8 p.m., and said the school auditorium will be used since a large crowd is expected to convene as the board considers closing of school sites.

The board also said it will meet at 8 p.m. Nov.21 at Red Hill School to consider calling a tax hike rate election in March, due to sagging finances.

Brother Testifies In Ex-Marin Promoter's Fraud Charges Trial

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The brother of oil promoter Jack P. Burke told a jury yesterday how he set up firms the government contends were "dummies" used to siphon investors' money into the defendant's pockets.

Jack Burke, 48, a former Marin resident now living in La Mesa, organizer of the GeoTek oil enterprises, is on trial before U.S. District Judge William T. Sweigert on 17 counts of security fraud and conspiracy. He raised $30 million from 2,200 investors for oil explorations.

In 1964 he retired from the San Francisco Police Department on a disability pension and he said his older brother took him into his business.

Island Oil Co., Robert said, was incorporated in a quick trip to Colorado through an attorney picked at random.

As in the cases of two other companies — Continental Petroleum, formed in Lincoln, Neb., and Regent Oil Corp. in San Francisco — Robert, his wife and a friend were sole directors. Robert testified his brother put up all the money.

Operating in a one-room office, Island Oil acquired oil leases which it then sold to the Jack Burke firm, Fundamental Oil, which managed all the exploration programs he sold to investors.

The government contended that with corporate "shells" like Island Oil, Jack Burke would sell dry wells and leases at inflated prices, through Fundamental, to his various investor programs. By this method three firms alone, the prosecution said, milked investors in 1968-69 of $908,281 that went to Jack Burke.

Robert said he took money from Island Oil and put it in his personal account.

"I would receive a phone call from Jack for me to make out a check for 'X' amount and I would do that," Robert said.

In the beginning the witness said he was paid for his effort with $500 monthly checks sent to his wife by the brother. In 1966 the checks were raised to $1,000 a month.

So far in the trial, which opened Wednesday, the government has presented as witnesses two investors whose transactions were the basis of counts in the indictment.

They were Dr. Alvin J. Novack, a Seattle surgeon and Dr. Robert S. White, also Seattle, an orthodontist. Each invested $80,000 in a Burke program.

Permit Is Approved For Retired Home

A use permit for an apartment home for retired persons was approved last night by the Rohnert Park Planning Commission.

Leonard Stewart, owner of the Loch Lomond apartments at 781 East Cotati Avenue, told the commission he plans to convert his building into lodgings for up to 72 retired persons. The facility includes a cafeteria. Most of the elderly residents are expected to be self-sufficient, he said.

Presently, according to commission secretary Sandra Faus, the building is occupied by residents of all ages.

The Rohnert Park Planning Commission also:

PERMITS — Approved a permit allowing Donald L. Reed of 518 Ava Avenue to operate a mail order business from his home and extended for one year the permit allowing an advertising billboard above the Pisani Brothers Monument Co. at 5675 South Santa Rosa Avenue.

PLANS — Granted permission to developers of Country Club Garden Estates to include small-car-sized parking spaces in the parking lot required by zoning regulations for a 42-unit apartment complex at the southwest corner of Avram Avenue and Santa Alicia Drive.

HIGHWAYS — Asked for volunteers to serve on a committee which will draw up the scenic highways element of the city general plan.

MEETING — Adjourned to 7:30 p.m. Nov. 14, the date set for the next regular meeting at City Hall.

Benny's Better, Until Billed

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Jack Benny ended his hospital stay in character — with a joke.

Doctors had said they found nothing serious, that Benny apparently suffered only a dizzy spell and a stomach ache. Benny — the perennial tightwad character — was asked as he left the hospital whether he still felt the pain.

"No, I won't have a stomach ache until I get the bill," he replied.

Two Shakespeare Comedies Slated

The College of Marin Drama Department will open its production of Shakespeare's "The Merry Wives of Windsor," at 8 p.m. Nov. 15 at the college's Theater III, 27 Kensington Road, San Anselmo.

Other performances are scheduled Nov. 16, 17, 21-24, 27, 29 and 30 and Dec. 18 and 20-22.

A second Shakespeare comedy, "Much Ado About Nothing," will open Dec. 6 at the theater. Performances will continue Dec. 8, 11-15, 19, 22, 26-28.

Matinees will be held at 2 p.m. and evening performances at 8 p.m.

Doctor Says Nixon May Face Knife

LONG BEACH (UPI) — The likelihood that Richard Nixon will undergo surgery appeared to increase today, with doctors working to determine whether he is among a minority of phlebitis patients who do not respond well to drug treatment.

"If anticoagulant (drug) therapy cannot be adequately established and controlled, then surgical intervention is a real possibility," Nixon's physician, Dr. John Lungren, said yesterday.

A medical source at the hospital said that the language of Lungren's statement indicated surgery is more than just a possibility, but a likelihood. He noted that Nixon approves all such statements before they are made public.

The 61-year-old former president was ordered rehospitalized Wednesday night by Lungren, who said he was concerned about the apparent failure of drug treatments given Nixon at home in San Clemente.

Tests showed the phlebitis, which has dogged Nixon from his Egyptian trip as president to self exile in San Clemente, has spread throughout the veins of his left leg.

Human Rights Panel Winds Down San Rafael Tensions Probe

By ERIK M. INGRAM

The Marin County Human Rights Commission last night ended its probe into a controversial confrontation between police and Terra Linda youths by concluding both sides engaged in unwarranted behavior.

In dropping their probe, however, commissioners agreed to ask the county grand jury to investigate allegations that one San Rafael officer brandished a pistol inside a private home while another held a youth with a shotgun.

The commission also approved several recommendations aimed at easing tensions in the San Rafael neighborhood: Police community seminars, more youth recreation facilities and creation of a city human rights commission.

The matter stems from a teen-age beer party last August at the Dan E. Williams' home on Skyview Terrace. Officers, responding to neighborhood complaints, said their attempts to break up the party were met with abusive language and flying beer bottles.

Youths at the party offered a different story, saying police entered the home without legal cause, brandished weapons, and attacked some teen-agers with night sticks and Mace, among other things.

Douglas H. Bosco, director of the county Human Relations Department, told commissioners last night an "in-house" police report on the incident leaves a number of questions unanswered.

He said the report, sent to the commission by Police Chief Lawrence R. Kelly, fails to establish that police had cause to enter the home. If not, he said, it's doubtful police allegations that the youths resisted arrest and assaulted officers could be legally sustained. Resisting arrest — following an unlawful entry by police — is not necessarily a crime, he said.

He concluded, however, that "serious infractions may have been committed on both sides. While I would not condone police impropriety, there is plenty of evidence to indicate that a number of young people engaged in unwarranted and even outrageous behavior.

"No person's rights are effectuated by the throwing of beer bottles and the shouting of abusive and intimidating language."

A number of commissioners voiced similar opinions during the course of the two-hour meeting.

Anise M. Turina, who said her son and daughter attended the party, set the tone of the meeting in urging commissioners to conclude their probe.

"I feel the police department has learned a lesson. . . .the children have learned something and I would really like to see this thing stopped," she said.

Mrs. Turina, who said she may run for the city council in March, told commissioners she discussed the matter with San Rafael policemen shortly after the August incident because the fight might have been caused by a "bad apple" on the force.

One officer involved has since been hired by another police department and "I feel I've accomplished my goal," she said, adding the officer's departure may not have been connected with the party incident.

Mrs. Turina added that she felt the city council "was very, very wrong" in its action Monday directing police officers not to cooperate with the commission's probe.

Parents and youths in the audience generally agreed with a proposal from the county Juvenile Delinquency Prevention Commission that police community seminars be set up.

Several, however, expressed concern that the pulling of guns on youths not be dismissed. "Maybe a child will be shot next time," one parent said, and the commission agreed to refer the matter as well as some discrepancies in the police report to the grand jury.

San Rafael City Mgr. William J. Bielser said today the city has budgeted $15,000 for a "teen wing" on the Terra Linda recreation center. He said youths would be invited to help plan the new wing.

On a related matter last night, Commissioner Robert Lee Grant criticized Bosco and Chairman Ernest Gray for their comments in yesterday's Independent-Journal.

Bosco and Gray were critical of the city council's move to block questioning of police officers by the rights commission.

"The Golden Gate Bridge board has to be changed..."
Alan Hill

"Marin and Sonoma Counties deserve an expanded role in the management of the Golden Gate Bridge Highway Transportation District. San Francisco's dominance of the Board of Directors (9 of 18), should be ended. Marin and Sonoma Counties' membership on the Board of Directors should be increased to five members each, thus providing us with a majority vote. Our residents pay the majority of the fares and tolls and should have the majority in decision making. The law should also require that some members be commuters."

Span Board Protests Warships

Golden Gate Bridge District directors, despairing of ever getting Bay Area Navy officials to end the practice of running aircraft carriers under the Golden Gate Bridge at peak morning commute hours, decided today to carry the fight to Washington.

Directors voted unanimously to appeal to the secretary of the navy and to the congressmen representing the area, presumably including Phillip Burton, D-Fifth District, and John L. Burton, D-Sixth District.

Regardless of the conditions, the Navy for years has sent aircraft carriers through the Golden Gate at about 8 a.m., when they are seen by the largest possible number of persons.

In the latest incident last Friday, the carrier Ranger passed under the bridge at about 8 a.m., causing southbound commute traffic to back up to Marin City as motorists slowed down to look, according to Gen. Mgr. Dale W. Luehring.

The practice, subject of frequent complaint by the district to local Navy officials, "creates a needless hardship on local residents due to lost time and discomfort of disrupted traffic, as well as subjecting motorists to the increased hazard of stopped traffic," Luehring said.

Oakland Jury Indicts Marinites On Heroin

I-J Special Report

OAKLAND — Two San Rafael men were among six persons indicted yesterday by the Alameda County Grand Jury on felony narcotics charges stemming from a raid on a Berkeley residence believed to be the center of a big dope operation.

Charged with sale of heroin and possession of heroin for sale were John Hickman, 30, of 16 Bayview Street, and Alphonso Hicks, 27, of 720 B Street. Both have been held in jail in Alameda County since Sept. 30, when federal and local agents raided the Berkeley house after an alleged sale of heroin to an agent.

William DuBois, deputy district attorney in Alameda County, said he took the case to the grand jury yesterday rather than go through a preliminary hearing in municipal court.

One young woman arrested with the others at the Berkeley house, who gave her age as 25 and her name as Angela Magino, turned out to be a 17-year-old Yurok Indian girl who had run away from the reservation in Northern California, DuBois said.

The girl, whose mother testified before the grand jury, will be dealt with in juvenile court.

Also charged along with Hickman and Hicks in adult court are Lloyd Foushey, 34, of Berkeley, multiple heroin sales and using a minor to sell heroin; Pherell T. Davis, 24, of Portland, Ore., possession of heroin for sale, and Carolyn Dawson, 27, of Berkeley, and Raymond Boyd, age and address unknown, sale of heroin.

The six, all being held in jail except Davis, are to be arraigned next week in Alameda County Superior Court.

'WELL, LOOK AT THAT'

Wherever there are men at work, there will be men on hand to watch, as these "sidewalk superintendents" demonstrate in San Rafael's Courthouse Square. Landscaping and terracing are nearing completion in the office-garage complex on the site of the old Marin County Courthouse. Bricklaying had progressed to this point yesterday, thanks to an endless supply of kibitzers.

Ray's Imprisoned Brother Relates Boast By Attorney

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UPI) — James Earl Ray's brother testified today that famed trial lawyer Percy Foreman said when he took Ray's case that he could convince jurors to "want to shoot Martin Luther King themselves."

John Ray, brought from a federal prison where he is serving an 18-year term as an accessory to bank robbery, said he and another brother, Jerry, first met with Foreman on Nov. 10, 1968.

"He just said he'd have Jimmy walking on the streets," John Ray said at the evidentiary hearing that could lead to a new trial for the convicted assassin of the civil rights leader.

John Ray, to be followed on the stand by his brother, Jerry, and finally by James Earl Ray, quoted Foreman as saying he planned to show a jury films of "cities burning from Martin Luther King talk.

"He said after two weeks of this, the jury would want to shoot (Martin Luther King) themselves."

John Ray was asked if he ever told an FBI agent that Ray mentioned going to Rhodesia, or mentioned that country's prime minister, Ian Smith.

"I might have told an FBI agent anything," John Ray answered. At that point, James Earl Ray, wearing the same grey suit he has worn since the hearing began Tuesday, buried his face in his hands laughing.

John Ray, the last of four witnesses testifying yesterday, was asked by defense lawyer James Lesar if his brother ever told him Foreman wanted him to plead guilty.

"Do you recall?" asked defense attorney James H. Lesar of Washington, D.C. "Did Jimmy ever talk to you or write you that Foreman wanted him to plead guilty?"

"Yes," said John. "Jimmy said the judge said he couldn't have any more attorneys or continuances, so Foreman had him boxed in. He didn't have no choice."

Ray, who pleaded guilty to the slaying March 10, 1969, accuses Foreman and his other former defense attorney, Arthur Hanes Sr., of Birmingham, Ala., of pressuring him to confess. Ray contends the lawyers did not provide adequate counsel.

Goldwater Clarifies Rocky Quote

TUCSON, Ariz. (UPI) — Sen. Barry Goldwater said today that a comment he made yesterday concerning whether Nelson A. Rockefeller would be confirmed as vice president was misinterpreted.

During a radio interview yesterday, Goldwater was asked what he thought Rockefeller's chances were of being confirmed and he replied:

"Right now, I think there may be a better chance that his name will be withdrawn than have it submitted to further questioning. I do know there are people in the Senate who are in Washington, not out campaigning, who have approached the President on that suggestion."

Goldwater said later that he did not mean there was a good chance President Ford would ask for withdrawal of the Rockefeller nomination. Goldwater said if the nomination appeared doomed, Rockefeller might withdraw voluntarily.

Claims Islands

Rocky Foe Asks Quiz Of Brother On Transport Agencies Merger

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A harsh critic of Nelson A. Rockefeller's nomination as vice president says his brother David should be called before the Senate Rules Committee to testify about a six-year-old merger of two huge New York transportation agencies.

Sen. Jesse Helms, R-N.C., said in a letter that the committee should question David about a 1968 agreement engineered by his brother to merge the money-making Triborough Bridge and Tunnel Authority (TBTA) with the nearly bankrupt Metropolitan Transportation Authority.

David is president of Chase Manhattan Bank — the trustees of the TBTA bondholders — who received an extra one-fourth of 1 per cent return on their investment under the deal.

Details of the transaction were released Wednesday.

Dr. William J. Ronan, who was named to become chairman of the merged agency, later received gifts totaling $100,000 from Rockefeller.

Asked a few days ago if there was any impropriety in the agreement, Rockefeller said:

"You have to remember who benefitted from the merger — the people of New York. This merger saved the bus and subway fare in New York City — it would have gone up if we hadn't been able to use the TBTA profits."

The documents released Wednesday under court order showed the holders of $362 million worth of TBTA bonds received the extra interest in the 1968 pact. In return they allowed revenues from the Triborough's profitable operations to be used to offset the subway deficit of the MTA.

Union Ordered To Stop Bias

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Washington Human Rights Commission has tentatively decided that the Communications Worker of America must develop a plan for equal opportunity for women and minorities.

Sixty per cent of the union's members are female. But the commission said yesterday there has been only one female vice president on the union's executive board since 1955. It cited an "atmosphere of discrimination based on sex."

The commission issued a "proposed ruling" that Sally Kraus Marshall, hired in 1967 as a statistical assistant but not considered for the job of field economist, is entitled to $17,000 in back wages, interest and compensation for lost promotion opportunities.

RARE VIEW OF MONUMENTS

The tip of the towering Washington Monument looms over the dome-shaped roof of the Jefferson Memorial near the Tidal Basin in Washington, D.C. Workmen were making repairs to the dome Wednesday, producing a scene that recalled the Perisphere and Trylon symbol of the New York World's Fair of decades ago.

Nazi Leader Arrested In Boston

BOSTON (UPI) — Two uniformed members of the American Nazi Party were arrested today after one of them attempted to force his way into a federal building and deliver to U.S. District Judge W. Arthur Garrity a letter opposing his order to desegregate Boston schools.

Matt Koehl, national commander of the organization, was arrested by federal officials when he attempted to force his way through the door. He was whisked away to a nearby elevator and taken to the U.S. Attorney's office, officials said.

Koehl was among five Nazi members who were blocked from entering the building which contains Garrity's court. They and other members, wearing brown shirts and red swastika armbands, arrived aboard a yellow bus bearing huge "White Power" signs and spent 20 minutes attempting to get past General Services Adminstration police.

A second member was arrested by Boston police when he tried to drive the bus the wrong way up a one-way street. He was not immediately identified.

A large crowd began gathering in front of the building around noontime snarling traffic in all directions. A number of persons hurled insults at the Nazis and some spit at them.

Three members of the Nazi party were arrested yesterday on state charges of attempting to incite a riot. The charges were later reduced to disorderly conduct.

A federal grand jury yesterday handed down the first indictments for civil rights violations stemming from implementation of Garrity's order. The charges involved the alleged beating of a black man by two whites.

The Massachusetts National Guard meantime announced it would relieve the 1st Squadron of the 26th Cavalry and Company B of the 220th Infantry, both placed on alert last week by Gov. Francis W. Sargent following flareups of racial violence.

Poll Finds Less Rocky Support

NEW YORK (UPI) — A Louis Harris poll taken during September indicates dwindling public support for the confirmation of Nelson Rockefeller as vice president.

In a poll released yesterday, Harris reported a margin of 47 to 40 per cent in support of the confirmation. The figures were down from the 55 to 31 per cent margin reported in early September.

The decline occurred before it was reported that Rockefeller gave a number of cash gifts to associates and that his brother, Laurance, helped finance a derogatory book in 1970 about Rockefeller's New York gubernatorial opponent Arthur Goldberg.

A SIGN OF THE TIMES

A barricaded roadway and a "closed" sign stop traffic to the Bonneville Dam on the Columbia River after the Army Corps of Engineers closed the dam to the public because of an extortionist's threats to black out the Portland area. The roadblock was set up yesterday. The dam, 35 miles east of Portland, is the latest focal point in a rash of power installation bombings in Oregon, where 11 transmission lines have been dynamited during the last three weeks. Edward Sanchez said the dam was closed because of "the temper of the times."

Cohen Claims Patty Hearst Found

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Retired mobster Mickey Cohen says he has found fugitive Patricia Hearst near the Canadian border and urged her to avoid capture because it would mean a long prison term.

Cohen, 61, paralyzed from the waist down because of a severe beating received while he was in prison in 1963, told KPIX Television reporter Marilyn Baker Thursday night that he talked with two associates of the newspaper heiress 10 days ago. He declined to identify the city in which she was hiding.

He said he used underworld contacts to find her, and that FBI agents contacted him "a few days ago" and confirmed she had been in the city.

They told him they believed she fled into Canada, he said, adding that neither he nor the agents knew her current whereabouts.

The FBI declined comment on Cohen's disclosures.

In October, it was reported, Cohen met with Randolph A. Hearst, president and editor of The San Francisco Examiner, and his wife, Catherine, in Los Angeles. He said the Hearsts wanted him to help in finding their daughter.

Miss Hearst, 20, was abducted from her apartment near the University of California campus in Berkeley by the Symbionese Liberation Army in February. She subsequently eschewed her past life to join the underground guerrilla team.

Cohen said his underworld pals found Miss Hearst and SLA associates Bill Harris and his wife Emily in hiding. He said he communicated with Miss Hearst by means of two new members of the SLA who were with them.

Cohen, who served 10 years in federal custody on income tax evasion charges, said FBI agents told him, "that figures," when he told them the name of the city. He declined to say on which side of the border the city was.

Miss Baker, a constant critic of the FBI's handling of the Hearst case and author of the book "Exclusive" about the kidnap, said Cohen began his criminal career in Cleveland, home town of Donald DeFreeze, the SLA leader who was killed in a shootout with law enforcement officers in Los Angeles in May.

Five other SLA members also died in the battle.

Cohen said the Hearsts told him of the multiple state and federal charges aginst their daughter.

So, he said, he told the two SLA intermediaries that Miss Hearst should remain on the run because, if caught, she would be in prison many years and he did not like to see anyone behind bars.

The Chicago Tribune said Cohen had volunteered to engineer an abduction of Miss Hearst from the SLA for return to her parents.

The newspaper said Cohen and the Hearsts met for two hours in a Los Angeles restaurant.

Cohen repeatedly mentioned his "contacts in the ghettos" would help him find Miss Hearst. The Tribune said the kidnap idea was scrapped by the Hearsts because it might involve a criminal act.

Hearst himself acknowledged he had met with Cohen, but was skeptical that he had pinpointed his daughter's hideaway.

"We've had everything," Hearst said, "that she may be in Panama to Guatemala to Canada . . . you name it."

(At his home in Los Angeles, following the televised report, Cohen issued a statement denying that the city he spoke of was near the Canadian border. "I have no knowledge she is near Canada. As of 10 days ago, as far as I knew she was not near Canada," Cohen said. He did not explain the conflict between this statement and his remarks to the San Francisco reporter in a filmed interview.)

Money's Not Enough To Buy Stutz

By DAVID WINDER
The Christian Science Monitor News Service

LOS ANGELES — The steering wheel is 18-karat gold. So is the automatic gearshift lever. The wood paneling is lacquered and hand-rubbed 22 times.

The cost is a mere $50,000 — but you can't buy one until the world's only dealer and the manufacturer agree that you have sufficient "character and quality," that you will use it in an "area of influence" and that you are accustomed to a "quality exotic car."

A Rolls Royce? No — Stutz Black Hawk (no relation to the famous Stutz Bear Cat of the Gatsby era).

The car, made in Torino, Italy, for the world's only dealer here in Southern California, is a frank appeal to snobbery and wealth — and a reminder that even in days of worldwide inflation and budget-cutting, there are some people for whom a $50,000 car with mink-and-leather seats is still eminently possible.

Among the 18 Stutz owners in the United States (there are 150 world-wide) is Elvis Presley, who already has four and is buying another for his home in Hawaii. Sammy Davis Jr. has two. An Ohio financial executive has one. So does a Louisiana oil tank manufacturer, not to mention Dean Martin, Dick Martin, Lucille Ball, and Robert Goulet.

The man who has the exclusive rights to sell this "exclusive" car is Jules Meyer, a boyish-looking Beverly Hills millionaire. He has his own reasons why Stutz has established its lone worldwide distributorship in Los Angeles:

"Southern California has all-round weather conditions which allow you to show or display a fine piece of equipment. Southern California is basically a showcase for the world," he says.

Not all potential Stutz owners come running to Meyers' California showcase, however. As many as 88 of the 150 worldwide Stutz owners never even set eyes on the car or gave it a trial spin when they made their orders. They just took one look at the glossy photographs and let their bank manager do the rest.

Meyers considers the Stutz an investment, a sort of limited art edition.

"It's like buying a Rembrandt painting or putting gold bullion in the vault," he says. "It continues to go up (in value.) A Stutz is now worth more than when it was purchased in 1970 (the year it was introduced.)

If the car has any drawbacks, Meyers is not worrying about them.

Too heavy on gas? The Stutz can get more than 17 miles per gallon, its promoter says.

Too risky to drive in heavy traffic? It is about as stable and sturdy as a Sherman tank, he says.

What about theft? There are too few of them around to get away with it.

If the Stutz ever needs maintenance, steer directly to a General Motors or Cadillac dealer, Meyers says.

Marin Pressures, Violence Linked

Thomas O. Caylor, Republican nominee in the Fifth Congressional District, declared yesterday that Marin "won't have to worry about conservation" if San Francisco "cleans up its schools and gets violence in the city down."

Unless San Francisco licks the two problems, he cautioned a Marin audience, "you'll have a refugee camp up here." Solving the problems of the city's schools and violence, he insisted, was the only way Marin will be able to save its open space from population pressure from the city.

Caylor's views were aired in an appearance with his Democratic opponent, Rep. John L. Burton, at a lunch meeting of the San Rafael Kiwanis Club at the Elk's Club.

It was the first joint appearance by the two candidates, but the expected debate found them in general agreement that inflation must be slowed, the federal budget balanced and Congress reformed.

Caylor said Congress must stop "running the country like a charge account," and protested Burton's 1965 vote for the controversial state legislative pension that largely was repealed this month.

Caylor also criticized Burton for mailers to constituents that he said in fact were to promote his candidacy for reelection. (Burton was elected in June to fill the unexpired term for the rest of the year of William S. Mailliard.)

Burton rebutted that the mailers were part of his responsibility to communicate with his constituents. One was to announce a series of public meetings with citizens throughout Marin, and another to respond to the flood of outrage at the President's pardon of Richard M. Nixon, Burton said.

The 1965 vote for the pension, he said, was forced on the Assembly by the Senate, which had been hit hard by court redistricting that forced many incumbents to retire. The Senate said it would sit on all Assembly bills until the lower house approved the pension, Burton said, adding it was not known then that so many legislators would benefit from it in future years.

Burton said he did not know he was voting for a bill that would benefit him.

The congressman also responded to criticism by Caylor that Caylor's home had been burgled four times and his car stolen repeatedly during the years Burton was in the Assembly. Burton quipped that Gov. Ronald Reagan also was in Sacramento at the same time, proving that neither of them took part in the burglaries or car thefts.

Burton cited his record in Sacramento, including his authorship of bills to aid autistic children teaching, save the Heerdt Marsh, open more legislative meetings to the public and save Marin some of its annual payment to the Golden Gate Bridge District for bus service.

Both candidates favored public financing of congressional campaigns.

Caylor said he was "100 per cent" for balancing the budget, but did not say how it might be done. Burton added that it could be done by cutting the budget or raising revenues, but did not detail how he would like to see it done. He said that the current budget of some $300 billion was more than enough, and that he would not vote for a higher budget.

Caylor interjected that it was easy for Burton to make such a promise since he "voted 'nay' on all national defense bills." Burton did not respond to the point.

Caylor also proposed that party caucuses in Congress should be open to the public since major public issues such as selection of the speaker of the house are decided behind closed doors.

Easter Seal Film Slated

A new film on its recreation program will be shown at the Marin Easter Seal Society's annual meeting at noon Wednesday at Peacock Gap Country Club in San Rafael.

The film was produced and directed by the Marin society's recreation staff and depicts local recreation programs for crippled children and adults.

Novato Signal Work Slated

Motorists in Novato can expect to find a four-way stop at the intersection of Rowland Boulevard and southbound Highway 101 beginning Thursday, the Novato Department of Public Works has announced.

And they can expect some inconvenience next month while overlay and drainage construction is underway at Rowland and South Novato Boulevard intersection, the department said.

Both projects are preparation for traffic signals at the two intersections. Signals are to be operating by the end of December, said public works director Chris Hoepker. He advised northbound commuters to use Atherton or DeLong Avenue exits while the Rowland construction is under way.

Musical Program Set For College

A program of early music will be presented by Musica Pacifica at 8 p.m. Nov. 8 at the College of Marin Fine Arts Theater.

The group will feature such instruments as viol, recorder, krumhorn and harpsichord. Admission is $3.50.

Mrs. Forry Challenges Her Opponent Over Intertie Funds

Betty Forry of Marinwood, candidate for Marin Municipal Water District's Division 1 seat, has charged her opponent with disregarding the wishes of the voters by calling for reallocation of funds for the intertie with Sonoma instead to develop new water sources within the county.

Her opponent, Richard J. Boylan of Woodacre, recently said reallocating the intertie funds to a Marin water project would mean "we can get as much water for the same money, and have control over our water supply." Reallocation also could promote reclamation of recycling of water, he said.

Mrs. Forry protested that the voters already have approved the intertie funds for that specific purpose. She argued that the four candidates in the district's June election who got the most votes all supported the intertie. "This indicates, once again, that the intertie does have voter approval," she said.

Mrs. Forry also criticized Boylan for using what she termed scare tactics in claiming that the intertie would mean the "Los Angelization" of Marin and "massive water importation." She said the claims were "an obvious attempt to distort the facts."

JOINT COFFEE — A coffee for both Mrs. Forry and Boylan will be held at 8 p.m. today at the Fairfax home of Gloria Duncan, 340 Olema Road.

BANKER — Ernest F. Banker of Ukiah, Democratic nominee in the Second Senatorial District, has charged that his Republican opponent, Sen. Peter H. Behr of San Rafael, spent $33,400 in taxpayers' money for mailers to district voters that in fact were to promote his reelection. Banker noted that Proposition 9, the June ballot measure to reform campaign financing starting next year, prohibits such tax-subsidized mailings after an incumbent has filed for reelection.

HILL — Mrs. Ronald Reagan will be featured at a fund-raising luncheon and fashion show for A. Alan Hill of San Rafael, Republican nominee in the Ninth Assembly District. The event, showing fashions of the past century, will be at noon Tuesday at the Tiburon home of Irving Moulin, 80 Mount Tiburon. Tickets, at $5 a person, are being handled by Mrs. Branwell Fanning of Tiburon and Hill's headquarters in San Rafael.

AUTISTIC — The California Society for Autistic Children will present certificates of appreciation to Rep. John L. Burton, Democratic nominee for election in the Fifth District, and Sen. Peter H. Behr, Republican nominee for reelection in the Second District, at a luncheon next Thursday at Agatha's Pub, Sausalito. The two carried a bill through the past legislative session and into law that requires special education classes for autistic children.

PROPOSITION 15 — The League of Women Voters of Southern Marin and Marin unit of the National Women's Political Caucus have endorsed Proposition 15 on the Nov. 5 ballot, the measure to abolish the constitutional requirement that local voters ballot on proposals for low-cost housing before they can be built in their community.

Bay Area Man Concocts Wind-Powered Motorcycle

By FREDERIC A. MORTIZ
The Christian Science Monitor News Service

PLEASANT HILL — A bubbly backyard tinkerer and experimenter is scooting around San Francisco these days on a wind-powered motorcycle.

Actually, the super-silent, orange-colored, waist-high motorbike runs on two large batteries . . . but the batteries are recharged each night by a wind generator rigged to a 45-foot-high ham radio antenna.

Robert Landing aims to prove that there is more to windmills than Don Quixote.

"The power is there. All we need to do is reach up and grab it," says Landing.

Landing paid $500 for the cycle during last February's gasoline shortage, plunked down another $350 for parts, and converted his antenna tower into a 200-watt wind-powered generator.

Now, he hooks up the cycle to the wind generator for a recharge that gives him another 12 to 25 miles of driving at up to 25 miles an hour.

Landing's generator is built from a permanent magnet motor identical to the one in his motorcycle and from three 5-foot, 10-inch blades cut out of extra-strong spruce.

When hooked up with four six-volt golf cart batteries and an AC converter, the avid "do-it-yourselfer" expects the system eventually to store enough current to run a television set, several light bulbs and perhaps one appliance for up to two days.

Next he plans to spend about $300 to rewire a truck generator so that it will operate at the relatively low speeds of a wind-powered generator and produce about 1,000 watts. When combined with a storage reservoir of 19 six-volt batteries and an AC converter, that plant should be able to provide at least half the home electricity Landing needs, he reasons.

Inspect Wheels As Tires Are Bought

DETROIT (UPI) — It's good practice to inspect the wheels whenever new tires are bought for a car.

A wheel that does not lie flat or roll straight on a smooth surface should be replaced. A damaged wheel can ruin a new set of tires quickly.

Marin Property Sales Paradox

Marin County's real estate activity is down by volume but not in dollar sales, and the industry is in good shape despite high prices and interest rates that are making the county "an expensive ghetto" of the very rich.

That was the consensus of a dozen real estate executives who met at Dominic's Restaurant in San Rafael Monday noon to assess the current picture.

"The real estate business is not as good as it was at the first of the year," acknowledged Bruce Wrisley, president of the Marin County Board of Realtors. "Some brokers are cutting back on expenses, but there is no panic, no distress, and prices continue to go up." Some real estate salesmen have changed jobs, but Wrisley said he knows of no realtor who has gone out of business this year.

The ones who will suffer the most are the young married, the first homeowner, and retirees who can no longer afford or qualify for loans on homes that average $58,000 in Marin County, the realtors declared.

Zooming prices that went up 16 per cent in one year and lack of funds even at double digit interest rates are driving out middle and lower income residents, the realtors agree. "Only those in their 30's to 50's with high incomes will be able to live here," warned Fred DeCook, one of the owners of Scott-McCall & Co. Realtors. "Marin is getting to be a very expensive ghetto of the rich."

Nationwide inflation is partly responsible, but Marin has the added problem of artifical controls over building,particularly the water moratorium, they pointed out.

"Only 1,200 more water meters will be allowed in the Marin Municipal Water District," said DeCook. "Only 1,200 more units can be built and that's it literally, forever!"

Jeffory Morshead, owner of Frank Howard Allen & Co., likened it to "a time bomb ticking away, with people on lower budgets being forced out of the county."

The Marin County General Plan calls for controlled growth, but even that goal cannot be achieved because of artifical limitations that will bring building to a standstill, said Don Beacock of Beacock & Maxson Inc. Realtors.

Daniel F. Deedy, executive director of the Marin Board of Realtors, noted a drop in the number of completed sales from 218 homes in September of last year to 189 homes in September this year. But even with fewer sales, the dollar volume went up from $10,972,849 to $11,020,705. "In other words, we have fewer sales but they cost more."

"It's a tremendous buyer's market," said Frank Hanses, president-elect of the Marin Board of Realtors. "If a buyer could get the money now, he could get a home for 20 per cent less than next spring. The only problem is in qualifying buyers for loans."

To get around that, some real estate firms are using lease-options. "We have put together 10 or 15 of these lease options," said Robert L. Grime, president of Frank Howard Allen. "The buyer does not have to qualify for financing now and can take advantage of lower interest rates later."

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Arden-Mayfair Making Progress On Turnaround

By ROGER E. SPEAR AND DAVID R. SARGENT

Q. I have held $5,000 Arden-Mayfair (OTC) 6 per cent debentures since 1964. The company has failed to pay interest on these for the last year and a half. Should I try to sell these bonds or hang on?—A.B.

A. This West Coast retailer, now under new management, has made progress in turning operations around. After six quarters of mounting deficits, June marked the second consecutive quarter of profitable operation. Furthermore, the sale of 26 unprofitable stores, effective July 1, should bolster results in the final half. Prospects for the resumption of interest payments have improved. This has been reflected in the bond price, which has moved up from a low bid of 14 ($140) to 19. Hold.

Q. My wife would like to invest $2,000 for yield and safety. Should she select common stock, short-term bonds? She holds Santa Fe Industries common and debenture (NYSE), Columbia Gas (NYSE) McCrory Corp. (NYSE), Delmarva Power & Light (NYSE) and Norton Simon (NYSE).—E.S.

A. Although you have not asked for advice on your wife's present holdings, I have two suggestions to offer: sell Columbia Gas and McCrory Corp. The former is having trouble obtaining sufficient gas supplies and as a result has had difficulty taking on new customers. Earnings are expected to be down and new exploration restricted due to the high cost of raising capital. McCrory wrote off $2.35 a share in the fiscal 1973-4 year resulting in a 9 cents-a-share profit vs. $4.15 in the previous 12 months. The merger with Rapid American does not appear imminent.

Moderate Mart Sends Prices Up

Advances led declines, 625 to 407, among the 1,431 issues crossing the tape, with the gap narrowing from earlier levels.

Early in this session, investors were encouraged by the decision of First National City Bank of New York, second largest in the nation, to lower its prime lending rate to 11 per cent from 11 ¼ per cent. The prime, which banks charge key corporate customers, has concerned Wall Street since rising to 12 per cent in July.

Also encouraging were reports the nation's money supply increased by $3 billion in the latest reporting period, and the demand for loans at New York's 12 leading banks fell $390 million.

Shell Profits Up

HOUSTON (BW) — Shell Oil Co. has reported net earnings were $462.3 million for the first nine months of 1974, 83 per cent more than for the like 1973 period.

OTHER PEOPLE'S BUSINESS

By WAT TAKESHITA

New San Rafael Restaurant May Be A Boon To The Night People

The Family Affair restaurant, specializing in hickory-smoked meats and fresh vegetables will open in about two weeks at 720 B Street in San Rafael, at the old Mission Inn location.

One of the unusual features of the new restaurant is that it plans to serve food until 3 a.m. on weekends. "There's no place in this area for people to eat after 10 p.m. and we're trying to fill that need," said owner Phil J. Harrison of Corte Madera. It will be a family-style restaurant with no liquor, beer or wine.

The Family Affair, with seating for 95 customers, will open for lunch at 11 a.m. and serve dinners until midnight on weekdays and until 3 a.m. on weekends. It will be closed on Tuesdays.

Harrison's family has been operating restaurants in Minneapolis for almost 50 years, and he himself has about 15 years of experience. He attended UC Berkeley and University of Minnesota, graduated from Merritt College in Oakland in 1970 and taught in a Head Start school in Oakland for a year.

Bob Ake of San Rafael will be manager of The Family Affair, and his mother, Mary Ake, will be the hostess.

MARIN COINS, trading in U.S. and foreign coins, will open for business next Tuesday at 1563 Fourth Street in San Rafael, across the street from Moose's Meals & Meats.

Owner-operator of the coin shop is Don Antonio of Terra Linda, who will occupy the former space of Artistic Interiors, which moved next door. Marin Coins will carry some old paper notes as well as coins.

Antonio worked for National Cash Register in San Francisco for the past eight years and has been a numismatist for six years.

DAYLIN DRUGS in Larkspur is alive and well, and operating as usual at 586 Magnolia Avenue in the Alpha Beta Shopping Center.

This column was in error last Friday when it mentioned that Daylin Inc. was closing all its outlets in Marin. Daylin's Disco Wonderworld in San Rafael did close, but Daylin Drugs in Larkspur (successor to Disco Pharmacy) continues in full operation.

GRANNY ANNIE'S Antiques at 807 Grant Avenue in Old Town Novato will celebrate its grand opening tomorrow from 11 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Owner Sue Davis of San Rafael said she will serve homemade ice cream, cookies, coffee and punch for the grand opening, and items in the shop will be reduced up to 40 per cent.

Granny Annie's specializes in American oak furniture, indoor plants in its new greenery department, and old advertising billboards and signs from the depression era.

WHITNEY'S BAND Instruments, specialists in educational musical instruments in San Rafael for eight years, has filed voluntary bankruptcy, but the shop will continue to honor the rental contracts that are still outstanding.

Whitney's San Rafael shop, at 1408 Fourth Street, is managed by Thelma Hoy, who has been with the firm since 1968. "The business is closed, but we will continue to honor existing accounts and we are looking for desk space to conine the office," said Mrs. Hoy.

Owner of the business is Lewis M. Whitney of San Rafael, who has been in the educational music field for 24 years, serving schools from the Peninsula to Eureka. He also has another outlet at 822 Mission Street in San Francisco. Whitney said the doors of both his shops are open for the return of rental instruments, but sales and new rentals have been suspended until his creditors reach a decision on what to do with the business.

GAS SAVER — Sandra Lum, a San Rafael business woman, has joined the energy conservation campaign by riding to and from work on her new motorbike. She operates Now & Then Antiques at the All Together Now shop at 1205 Third Street, next to Ray's Office Machines.

All Together Now, established last month, also includes the Rose Garden Fashions, Connie's Corner macrame, and Bev's Botanics plant shop.

GUNG FU Master Fun-Yuen Hsu from Taiwan will give public demonstrations of the Tai Chi martial arts in San Rafael and in Novato tonight. He will appear at the East-West Gung Fu School at 1414 Fourth Street in San Rafael at 7 p.m. and at the school's Novato branch at 1559 South Novato Boulevard at 8:30 p.m.

THE ANCHORAGE CONDOMINIUMS will hold an open house for real estate brokers and salesmen next Tuesday and Thursday (Oct. 29 and 31) from 10 a.m. to noon at the 78-unit project off Bridgeway in Sausalito.

Owned by Kettco Investment Co., The Anchorage Condominiums offer one and two-bedroom residences from $35,950 to $54,950. The project's common areas include a swimming pool, sauna, recreation lounge with kitchen and fireplace, and laundry.

General partners of Kettco Investment include E. N. Kettenhofen of Sausalito, former chairman of the Marin County Board of Supervisors; and Robert C. McGowan of Ross, former Marin County bank executive.

ANDRE LANDSCAPING & Maintenance Center, headquartered at 176 Paul Drive in Northgate Industrial Park, has just incorporated, with Louis Larroque of Marinwood and Ronald Harada of Alameda as principals.

The business was established by Larroque's father, Andre, who started in 1958 with a hand-push mower and built it up to a business that now handles commercial and industrial maintenance and landscaping from Novato to Concord and as far south as San Jose. Andre's pet project was landscaping of the Casa Marinwood townhomes.

Louis Larroque, who joined his father in 1958, took over the business in April this year when the elder Larroque retired. Harada came to work for Larroque in July last year. Among projects by Andre Landscaping are the landscaping and tree planting on Market Street, along DeLong Avenue in Novato, and at the Sheraton Hotel in Concord.

ELIZABETH SOUSA of Fairfax joined the sales staff of Jane Forster Realty in Fairfax this month. She was formerly instructor with the education department of University of California and a family counselor with offices in Sausalito and San Mateo.

SUE HAERLE Public Relations in San Rafael has been selected as public relations counsel and booking agent for Genevieve Bayreuther, lecturer and consultant to business and industry in the areas of fraud and theft prevention.

Miss Bayreuther served for 22 years on the San Francisco Police Department, 12 years as the only woman detective in fraud detail. Her "Intensive Training Session on Shoplifting" is presented to retailers and chambers of commerce to aid them in reducing shoplifting loss.

A FLY-IN and open house are scheduled for noon Nov. 3 at Spectrum Air Inc. at the Marin County Airport (Gnoss Field) in Novato.

Robert Reed, new manager of the Spectrum Air facility, expects some 400 visitors including pilots from California and Nevada airports. Reed, a 35-year aviator with Army and civilian experience, was appointed manager of Spectrum Air earlier this month.

OUTSTANDING FERTILIZER

Kitchen Scraps Nourish Garden

By PETER TONGE
The Christian Science Monitor
News Service

WEYMOUTH, Mass — To my wife's delight — and my younger daughter's disgust — our small garden has given us 170 pounds of winter squash this season.

That's roughly double last year's production and enough for a whole season of hearty dinners and who knows how many squash pies (which my daughter loves only because she doesn't know squash is the major ingredient.)

To get this increased production we extended our garden a little. But a happy accident helped too.

This year we grew tomatoes by a method attributed to the Japanese — by filling wire-enclosed circles with garden refuse and then planting the tomatoes around these mini-compost heaps.

The effect of this method on tomato production was very satisfying indeed, and its contribution to squash production was exciting to me.

Among the refuse we piled into these tomato circles were the peelings, and some seeds, apparently, of butternut squash. These promptly grew with such vigor that they soon threatened the tomatoes. I had no choice but to pull up most of them. Two of them, though, were allowed to stay after I had trained them through the tomatoes and left them to trail down a path — the only open space left in the garden.

Now elsewhere in the garden the butternuts grew to an average and satisfying size for the breed — around two to three pounds apiece. But those two vines, with their roots in pure compost produced six squash weighing between 4½ and 6 pounds each.

So already I am preparing for next year's garden. In the middle of it is a circle of wire, some four feet across, into which will go garden waste and shredded leaves to a height of maybe four feet. Next season I will plant the squash seeds directly in this pile and let the vines trail out from there. That's the beauty of squash vines: they thrive even in only partly decomposed compost.

A friend of mine bought a bag of 10-10-10 fertilizer last week. It cost him $12.95. In April last year he bought the same quantity for around $5.

To nobody's surprise, fertilizer costs are rocketing along with the price of petroleum from which much of it is made. All the more reason, then, to make the most of the free fertilizers that are available to everyone. I'm referring, of course, to garden refuse, leaves, and kitchen scraps.

That, and the addition of some chicken manure, fertilized my garden this past season. That's why I'm grabbing everything I can get from wherever I can get it right now.

About this time of year a lot of folk clear their gardens of spent flowers and vegetable plants, tie them neatly into bundles, and leave them out for the garbage man. An unquestionably wasteful practice which rising fertilizer prices are beginning to underscore.

Recently we drove past several bundles of neatly tied zinnia plants and tomato vines. It was all so convenient to pick up and as I told my wife as I loaded them into the car, "We'll turn this into winter squash next summer."

Also neatly packaged for the suburban gardener these days are the leaves of fall. I collected about 80 bags last year and intend to get at least 100 during the frosty weeks ahead. What that will give me in plant nutriments will be far more than I could afford to buy from the garden store.

I shred all my leaves (they don't blow around once shredded) and you can too, using a power lawnmower if you don't possess a shredder. The best was is to spread the leaves out near a wall then pass the mower backward and forward over the leaves so that they blow out into a pile against the wall. If you have a mower with a bagger attachment so much the better.

The whole garden gets a good leaf mulch nearly all of which disappears by the season's end to make a much richer soil. Some of the leaves I compost with chicken manure or a bought nitrogen-rich fertilizer if there are no manures.

Marin Reaches 32 Per Cent Of Crusade Goal

Marin County has reached 32 per cent of its $225,000 United Bay Area Crusade goal, volunteer workers were told Wednesday, the best performance of any county in the five-county crusade.

Awards for outstanding performance were given to volunteers Klara Larsen of Marin Municipal Court, Chet Hutchinson of Fairchild Semiconductor, Willie Castain of Marin Public Social Services Department, Gordon Lee of Western California Telephone Co., John Jones and Paul Ranson of Wells Fargo Bank and Mary Manning, UBAC office volunteer.

The annual campaign raises money for 183 agencies which provide a variety of health and human services.

Mrs. Trudeau Wants Solitude

TORONTO (UPI) — Margaret Trudeau, wife of Prime Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau, says she longs for the day when "I can just be Pierre's wife."

Mrs. Trudeau, 26, said in a television interview that she and the Prime Minister have already bought a retreat in Quebec for their retirement.

Trudeau married the former Margaret Sinclair in a quiet ceremony in Vancouver in March of 1971, when he was 52.

Prescription Hearing Aid Recommendation Dropped

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A government study panel yesterday withdrew its controversial recommendation to Health, Education and Welfare Secretary Caspar Weinberger that hearing aids be sold by prescription only.

Hearing aid dealers vigorously attacked the recommendation.

"Mr. Secretary, it has been documented time and time again that hearing aids, unlike eyeglasses, cannot be fitted through the prescription process with preciseness," President Marvin H. Pigg of the 3,600 member National Hearing Aid Society (NHAS) said in a letter to Weinberger.

The HEW panel which recommended that hearing aids should be sold only by written prescription from a doctor or audiologist rather than over the counter by a dealer also modified other recommendations it made in the 50-page report on industry abuses, including its withdrawal of support for a Federal Trade Commission proposal requiring a 30-day money-back guarantee for dissatisfied hearing aid users.

"I suspect we may be accused of backing down . . . having been pressured from groups outside government," said the panel chairman, David Link of HEW's Food and Drug Administration, who announced the changes at a news briefing. "That was not the case."

Link distributed a supplemental report to the panel's original report which was publicized last weekend by news media. The supplement withdraws the original recommendation and says instead that new ways should be developed to improve the delivery system for hearing aids. It recommends that dealers, audiologists, otolaryngologists, government and consumers "be assembled to investigate and develop specific proposals" to curb abuses in the industry.

Link said the changes were made because other HEW agencies like the National Institutes of Health suggested modifications.

Of an estimated 13.2 million persons with significant hearing loss — millions more have lesser hearing problems — more than 7.5 million are potential candidates for hearing aids, the report said. Some 2.5 million to 3 million Americans use hearing aids, and 600,000 units are sold yearly. Costs average $300-$450 a unit.

Pigg, in the industry's first formal response to the report, charged that it "misrepresents entirely the role of the hearing aid dealer in hearing health care. It would reflect adversely not only on the dealer, but inevitably disrupt the vital relationship between the dealer and the hearing-impaired he serves."

He asked Weinberger to meet with NHAS representatives.

A STEREO SYSTEM YOU CAN AFFORD! the upstart

the Sansui® 350A
54-Watt AM/FM Stereo Receiver
It used to be a tradition that you had to pay at least $300, maybe much more, to get a really good stereo receiver. But the brash 350A doesn't care about other people's rules. Look at the specifications of this Sansui eye opener and look at the price.
Its power output of 54 generous IHF watts will drive any of the low-efficiency speakers that now enjoy such popularity—can even drive two pairs of speakers simultaneously. Its sensitive FET FM front end will pull in those marginal stations you've never been able to hear cleanly. And its complement of a dozen front-panel controls give you a complete range of adjustment and mastery over your system.
It offers so much, you know you're not "settling for less," yet you're not going broke either. If it seems too good to be true, just come in. We can make you a believer.

Marin Women

Unusual Prostitute With A Set Of Unusual Ideas

By BETH ASHLEY

Margo St. James is certainly not what you've been led to expect in a prostitute.

MARGO ST. JAMES, self-proclaimed ex-prostitute and founder of Coyote, "a loose woman's organization" based in San Francisco, had the look of a contemporary, with-it young woman, with long hair, loose tunic, white pants and no makeup.

Her manner was low key and relaxed as she mused into the microphone about the hyprcrisy of laws on prostitution which are the target of COYOTE. It is COYOTE's aim to decriminalize prostitution, because, she believes, adult women have the right to use their own bodies as they see fit.

Her talk was third in a series "Phase II—New Aspects of Women's Liberation."

In language that was doggedly free from euphemisms, Miss St. James said the illegality of prostitution is "what gives men the opportunity to exploit us; it keeps them in charge of the cash."

SHE SMILED and shrugged her way through a description of such exploitation: male proprietors of nude encounter groups and massage parlors, who take 65 per cent of a female's earnings; police who are on the take; hotel proprietors who hire "extra maids" or "hospitality hostesses" to service their guests' pimps who run legal interference for hookers who would never be freed from jail on their own recognizance.

She said there is intense competition between policemen and black male pimps to "rule the streets — it's the whole macho thing."

SHE SAID street walkers were frequently brutalized, by police, by pimps, by customers, but because of their profession cannot seek redress.

MARGO ST. JAMES
New look in prostitutes?

Another victim of this "victimless" crime, she said, is the taxpayer who underwrites the patrolling and prosecution of prostitution, and who loses through the big money corruption it encourages.

Miss St. James doesn't want prostitution legalized — which would continue male domination of the profession — but decriminalization, which would place all sexual acts between consenting adults beyond the purview of the law. "There shouldn't be any separate law dealing with sex," she said.

The only thing about prostitution that's offensive, in her view, is solicitation on the streets. "I don't like having people come up to me asking me to buy things, either. But I can always say no. I don't think we should put people in jail for it."

MISS ST. JAMES said she had been arrested for prostitution 12 years ago, and thereafter was unable to get a job. "I came over to Marin County and worked for seven years cleaning people's houses and doing gardening. Then I formed this group called WHOM — Whores, Housewives and Other Mothers — and I made the acquaintance of Flo Kennedy (a lawyer in the women's movement). She radicalized me enough so I could go back to the city and attack."

COYOTE, which is an acronym for "Call Off Your Old Tired Ethics," helps prostitutes fight individual cases in the courts, is supporting taxpayers suits in San Francisco and Alameda Counties to decriminalize prostitution. She said if these suits fail and the status quo remains in force by spring, "we will go the initiative route. I hope we won't have to."

WHY DO WOMEN turn to prostitution?

The main reason is money. Prostitutes make between $10,000 and $200,000 a year, she said, "although there's a recession now. The only place where they're really making money is in the massage parlors, where businessmen can use credit cards."

The second biggest reason: "adventure. Where else can a farm girl like me meet all the hotshots of the world?

"Prostitutes, like artists, transcend all the boundaries of society. The only difference is the artist goes in the front door, and I go in the back."

Miss St. James shared the platform Wednesday night with Eve Merriam, a poet, author and instructor in a course on status of women at New York University. Miss Merriam, in a strong and compellingly musical voice, read poems from her several collections bringing a fresh funny, and often beautiful view to contemporary life and womanhood.

Vera Schultz To Describe Government

Vera Schultz will be the speaker at 10:15 a.m. Wednesday in a talk on the Marin Civic Center and county government, the fifth meeting in a docent course for Tour Marin guided tours of unusual Marin areas sponsored by the Marin Symphony Association auxiliary.

The meetings are open to the public at a charge of $1. Wednesday's meeting will be held in the Board of Supervisors Chambers at the Civic Center in San Rafael.

Mrs. Schultz was elected to the board of supervisors in 1952, and served for eight years. She is currently active in the American Association of University Women, League of Women Voters and Status of Women Commission.

Tomales Woman Will Speak At National Farm Parley

Donna Furlong, Tomales farm wife, will be one of the speakers addressing an ideas exchange seminar planned as part of the National Farm Women's Forum to be held in Milwaukee, Wis., Nov. 12 through 14. About 2,000 farm women from across the country are expected to attend.

Mrs. Furlong will address the "Rural Women's Idea Exchange," a seminar aimed at presenting ideas on ways to promote agricultural products and build public image for agriculture in the community.

She will be promoting the sheep and wool industry, particularly to Easterners, and will tell them that those using the western public lands for grazing are not "raping the land."

"The agriculturalist watches the lands very closely in this regard and is protecting not destroying it," she said. "People in agriculture are the true conservationists," she added.

Mrs. Furlong will also remind women at the seminar that agriculture feeds the nation, and the U. S. should be recognized for having the cheapest food in the world. People don't realize that the farmer must pay the same for other commodities as any other consumer, but the farmer's wages don't go up as does the wages of other workers, she continued.

Mrs. Furlong and her husband, who have lived in the Tomales area for 25 years, operate a sheep and cattle ranch. They have four sons, Kevin, 11, Tim, who works on the farm, Greg, who runs a cafe in Valley Ford, and Kirk, a senior at California Polytechnic State University, San Luis Obispo.

Acting in promoting wool on both the national and state level, Donna is currently serving as president of the National Wool Growers Auxiliary and is a national director of the "Make It Yourself With Wool" competition. She has also served as a director of the California "Make It With Wool Contest" for the past 10 years.

DONNA FURLONG
Farm convention speaker

Mrs. Furlong will be a judge with Brunel Christianson, director of food and agriculture for California at the Grand National at the Cow Palace in San Francisco on Nov. 1.

On her way to the national forum, Mrs. Furlong will attend a convention of the Wyoming Wool growers in Buffalo, Wyo.

The farm women's forum is being held in conjunction with the second annual National Farm Wife Month. Both the forum and National Farm Wife Month are sponsored by the Farm Wife News Magazine, a national publication for rural women.

AMIGOS DE LAS AMERICAS

Dedicated Teen-Agers Toil To Help Latin Neighbors

Twenty dedicated young Marinites set out this week to raise $12,000 so they can spend three weeks this summer inoculating the poor in the isolated villages of Latin America.

They are this year's enrollees in the Amigos de Las Americas program, a volunteer nongovernmental medical organization which recuits young people (ages 16 and up) to vaccinate needy Latin Americans against disease.

The 20 already are involved in study every Monday night at the College of Marin, of the Spanish language, the Latin culture and medical techniques. Weekends throughout the year, until the young people depart on their missions sometime this summer, they will receive instructions in how to give shots. Instructors are adult volunteers supporters of the Amogs program. Amigos will give the shots in response to the invitations of Latin American governments. Amigos began in Honduras in 1965, added Guatemala in 1967, and expanded into Nicaragua and Columbia in 1970.

The young people go in teams of two or three into villages where medical is generally not available or is inadequate for the population. The host government, which provides room and board to the Amigos, prescribes the types of inoculations which are needed.

Amigos must pay for their own transportation to Latin America and for the medications they administer.

Members of the Marin chapter have a goal of $600 per volunteer — or $12,000. Each volunteer also must provide $300.

The young volunteers have scheduled several fund-raising events, beginning with a benefit performance by the Ros Valley Players of "The Prisoner of Second Avenue." The Niel Simon play will be performed for the Amigos Nov. 8 at the Barn, Marin Art and Garden Center, Ross. Tickets may be purchased from Robin Merwin or Larry Ring of Greenbrae, or at the door.

A walkathon will be held early next year, a ticket sale for prizes, intermittent bake sales at the high schools of participants, and a rummage sale, date yet to be set.

Last year Marin's Amigos met their financial quota with both fund-raising events and substantial contributions from local doctors.

But, said Larry Ring, "for the kind of organization we are, we'd like to see a lot more community involvement, not just donations from the medical profession."

Goodies Like Grandma Made Still Available

By BARBARA HOSMER

Marinites who treasure the hand-crocheted baby clothes, finely stitched dolls or quilts like Grandma used to make are buying them from Whistlestop Deals, and are helping some 60 senior citizens earn extra dollars from their handiwork.

They are also contributing to the Marin Senior Coordinating Council building fund.

The seniors' handicrafts sell through Whistlestop Deals, their shop which exclusively handles seniors' work, at the Whistlestop Senior Center, 930 Tamalpais Avenue, San Rafael.

Currently the little white-curtained shop which overlooks the railroad tracks is preparing for the holiday season by setting up an array of knitted red Christmas bells, festive white yarn snowmen and knitted bright red Santa Claus handpuppets which conceal baskets of candy.

Last June George P. Leonard of Stinson Beach offered to match up to $20,000 in funds raised by Dec. 1 for a new or expanded Marin Senior Coordinating Council Center.

The shop adds to the building fund monies left over after it sends 75 per cent of each sold article's price to the maker and pays rent and manager's salary. Each month Mrs. Wallace mails out some 30 checks to senior citizens whose work has sold.

EACH WEEK the craftsmen or their relatives bring in new wares for Whistlestop Deals, the brainchild of council executive director Edward T. Ryken.

There are lovable hand-sewn Raggedy Anns and a fluffy stuffed mother hen with five chicks made by a Russian woman in San Anselmo, crocheted sets of baby clothes made by a woman in a wheelchair, and afghans — one in a broomstick pattern — done by another confined to her chair.

There are bright stuffed animals and long-leggec character dolls for teen-agers' rooms, polished stone pendants and rings, the hobby of a local man; tiny dolls each made from a baby's white sock, decorative night lights, hats, a blanket-size patchwork quilt, stylish aprons, a blue crocheted poncho and tam set.

Patchwork-patterned tote bags, Raggedy Anns and a chicken pattern biscuit warmer are popular articles, Mrs. Wallace said. "Dirty book" cloth covers for paperback books are another best-seller.

"A VOLUNTEER staff member tried to sell one to a person who turned out to be a nun," Mrs. Wallace said with a laugh. "And these we can barely keep in stock," she said, holding up a pink felt cow with the legend, "Holy Cow, Eating Again?" to be stuck on a refrigeator door.

"Most of the items we price fairly low or they won't sell," she said. Price tags range from 35 cents for handmade greeting

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Husband's Little Notebook Records Extramarital Affairs

DEAR HELEN:

I came across a little notebook in my husband's drawer as I was housecleaning. In it he had listed every girl he has taken to bed, before and after our marriage; after each name were stars, which I guess were ratings. Also dates and places. . .and addresses.

The two that hurt me most were the names of my sister, and a woman he took out while I was pregnant. Both had three stars. I asked him about it, and he said he'd done this to "get even with me" if I ever asked for a divorce.

Up until then, I hadn't thought of such a thing, but now I might, even though I love him. . .even though he swears I'm his only four-star love, and the others were just lies he's made up.

He apologized and said it was a joke and he'd destroy the notebook. But today I found it in his fishing creel. He goes fishing almost every weekend, when he isn't out hunting, shooting, golfing, or something. (Or does he?)

Should I believe it was a joke? If not, how can you explain a man who would keep incriminating evidence about himself? And how will I know he isn't adding new names? — SCARED

DEAR SCARED:

Answer to first question: No. If this is "just a joke," your husband gets four stars for stupidity! Only a fool would write down incriminating "lies" that could be used against him in divorce action.

Second question: There's no explaining some people's urge to hoard damning evidence. (As the country learned this summer.)

Third question: You won't, for sure. But if he starts inviting you on weekend excursions, perhaps your pardon has brought about his reform. If not, think twice about the pardon. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

Every time I threaten to punish my stepdaughter (who needs it), she says she's going to tell her father on me. I finally called her bluff.

When he got home from work she ran to him crying and said I'd spanked her for no reason at all. He griped me out about it before he asked for my side.

After it was too late, he finally found out the real story. He said he was sorry, but I know this will happen again, as he doesn't try to discipline his daughter. She gets whatever she wants from him, and brags about it to me.

How do stepmothers cope? Could you ask some of your readers who have been through it to give me some pointers? — GOING WILD

DEAR GOING WILD:

Stepmothers cope best when their mates back them up, or rather, when both agree on discipline. You three should have a family conference that defines rules, limits, privileges and concern — and not just from the adult side. Let your daughter express her feelings too — which includes airing possible jealousies, yours and hers. — H.

P.S. Comments, you stepparents out there?

DEAR HELEN:

I mourn for the good old days when it was okay to be shocked. Ten years ago, I felt sorry for homosexuals, and hated those stupid jokes about them. But today I wish they'd stop yammering. While others talk about "bisexual chic" and imply that if you don't try it, you aren't with it, I feel a little ill, and pretend I'm unshockable. About the best I can do is laugh these veiled advances off with, "Look, I'm a closet heterosexual."

I'm sick to death of sex talk at cocktail parties, and four-letter words, and everyone trying to outdo the other in "experiences" (or bragging about them). But if I say anything, I'll be labeled as a prude. What's a fed-up woman to do? — B.D.

DEAR B.D.:

Say something! I think you'll find a lot of followers. Including me! — H.

Got a problem? An adult subject for discussion? You can talk it over in her column if you write to Helen Bottel, c/o the Independent-Journal, PO Box 330, 1040 B St., San Rafael, Ca. 94902.

Horsecart Carries Couple To Wedding Reception

A horsedrawn cart took Mr. and Mrs. Robert James Ross (Lynne Marie Eltringham) from their wedding Oct. 12 at St. Anselm's Catholic Church to Robson Harrington House in San Anselmo, where a reception was held.

The bride is the daughter of Margaret Eltringham of San Anselmo, and the bridegroom is the son of Orinda Ross of Ignacio.

Cathy Eberhard of San Anselmo was maid of honor, and bridesmaids were Patty Janssen of San Jose and Sue Birk and Terry Adkins of San Rafael.

Jim Yant of San Rafael served as best man, and ushers were Doug Deem of Fairfax and Ed Bird and Bill Fiser of San Rafael.

Following a wedding trip to Hawaii the newlyweds will live in San Rafael. Lynne was graduated from Sir Francis Drake High School. She is the sister of Margo Merle of Sausalito and Gail Enos of Novato.

Also a graduate of Sir Francis Drake High School, the bridegroom attended Porterville Horse Showing College. He is self employed as a horseshoer in Marin County.

East Coast To Be Home For Mr. and Mrs. Gause

Cleoni Anne Tocalino and Gerald Wayne Gause were married at Our Lady of Loretto Church in Novato on Oct. 12.

Cleoni is the daughter of Mr. nd Mrs. Gorge Louis Tocalino of Novato. Gerald, a resident of Annandale, Va., is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert W. Gause of South Pasadena.

Sisters of the bride, Georgina Kretz of Seoul, Korea, and Nancy Krieg of Sacramento, shared matron of honor duties. Bridesmaids were nieces of the bride, Angela Kretz of Seoul and Kielle Krieg of Sacramento.

Art Carroll of Oakview was best man, and ushers were Richard Fores of Walnut Creek and Charles Kretz of Seoul.

A reception was held for the immediate family and relatives at Rolling Hills Country Club in Novato. The couple went on a wedding trip to the Monterey Peninsula. They will live in Annandale.

The bride was graduated from St. Vincent High School and Dominican College, where she received the elementary teaching credential. She taught six years at Coleman and San Pedro Schools, San Rafael.

The bridegroom, after graduation from South Pasadena High School, earned degrees at Pasadena City College and Los Angeles State University. He is radio-television chief in the U.S. Forest Service information office in Washington, D.C. He is the brother of Lynore Banchoff of Providence, R.I.

Linings Can Be Added Though Left Out Of Today's Patterns

By EUNICE FARMER
Distributed by Register and Tribune Syndicate

DEAR EUNICE,

Why do so many of the new patterns for jackets eliminate the linings? I hate to put on a wool jacket and have it stick to a dress or sweater. What is the best way to add a lining when there is no pattern for one? — MRS. J. G.

DEAR MRS. J. G.,

The jackets and blazers you see today without linings are all part of the softer, more unconstructed type of clothing being worn. I am with you in this — I don't like jackets without a lining either. You can add a very lightweight lining out of a woven polyester that resembles china silk and have no more bulk or weight to your jacket.

If there is no pattern for the lining, place the jacket facing over the jacket front pattern. Add 1¼ inch extra to the width at the edge of the facing. This will be absorbed in the seam allowance of the facing and the lining.

When cutting the lining for the back of the jacket, if it is fitted, you will need about 2 inches extra at the center back for a pleat in the lining. This will give you extra comfort and is usually necessary for woven type fabrics. The sleeves will be cut the same as the jacket sleeves.

It's good to remember not to fit the lining too tightly. It should always be a little looser than the garment fabric. Allow a little extra fold at the hem of the jacket lining and the sleeve lining for additional ease.

I have always found it almost simpler to add a lining than it is to finish all the seams nicely, as you would have to do with an unlined garment.

DEAR EUNICE,

I am planning to make a blazer for fall, after looking at ready-to-wear. They are shown in wool, knits, velvets, leathers and whatever.

My question is this: I have a double-breasted blazer that is about worn out, and I would like to replace it. However, the double-breasted blazers I have found in the pattern books (and there are only a few of these) don't seem to be fitted. They appear to me to be more of an outer jacket, not a blazer. What would you suggest? — MRS. S. H.

DEAR MRS. S. H.,

Most blazers are single-breasted and are semi-fitted because they can be worn alone or under a coat. The minute you have a double-breasted blazer, it is difficult to wear under a coat because the entire fronts are made double. I think this is the reason a double-breasted blazer is usually considered more of a jacket or lightweight outer apparel which would not be covered up with another type coat.

If you choose very lightweight flannel or any other lightweight fabric, I think you could make it as fitted as you wish and wear it as any blazer would be worn.

DEAR EUNICE,

I live in an apartment and simply don't have room for a cutting table. I have used my kitchen table to cut small garments, but now I am working on a winter coat and it is frustrating to have the ends of the material slip off the table. Surely there is some solution besides getting down on the floor. — MRS. C. S.

DEAR MRS. C. S.,

I can't imagine that you haven't heard of a cutting board. They have been available for many, many years. They are made of heavy type cardboard that can actually be pinned into, fold to 12 inch widths and are about 40 inches wide by 6 feet long. You can place this marvelous cutting board on your kitchen table or on a bed, and you'll have an instant large cutting surface.

Incidentally, there is a new one that has just appeared on the market by Belding. I like it personally because it not only has horizontal and vertical lines for fabric grain alignment, but it also has diagonal lines for determining true bias.

Another added plus is the easy measurement ruler which gives the measurements in inches as well as centimeters, preparing us for the coming changeover to the international metric system.

Few items are priced over $15, though the quilt is tagged $85 and the afghans at $50.

Last year the shop had a good Christmas season, though it had just been moved from the Depot in San Anselmo.

The staff hopes to boost holiday sales far above the usual $400 to $500 a month for the next five weeks, knowing that each dollar the shop makes for the building fund will be matched by Leonard's gift. Shop hours are 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. Tuesdays through Saturdays.

Halloween Fete Slated In School

"Hilarious Halloween Happenings for Half Pints" is the title for the holiday carnival planned at the Twin Cities Nursery School, 56 Mohawk Drive, Corte Madera, from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. next Tuesday and Wednesday.

All pre-kindergarten children in the community are welcome, according to committee chairman Jean Hauser. They are asked to wear costumes.

Game booths and prizes, a photographer and clown will be carnival attractions. Food will be served. Game tickets will cost 10 for $1, Mrs. Hauser said.

Worldwide Starvation Foretold

TUCSON, Ariz. (UPI) — Millions of people may starve to death before the turn of the century unless immediate action is taken to meet world food requirements, the dean of the University of Arizona College of Agriculture said yesterday.

Dr. Gerald R. Stairs, addressing a national meeting of 1,700 county agricultural agents, said farm technology must be improved, birth control expanded and food consumption decreased in order to avert mass starvation.

"We've known we've been running short of food for some time," Stairs said. "Two decades ago, we had a world reserve food supply for 60 days. Today, we have a 29 day supply. The gap is rapidly closing."

"Thirty million of the world's people may starve in the next 10 to 20 years," he said.

Kennecott Copper Co. Accepts Compensation

NEW YORK (UPI) — Kennecott Copper Co. said yesterday it has agreed to accept $54 million from the Chilean government as compensation for its 49 per cent interest in the nationalized El Teniente Mining Co.

Kennecott had previously sold the other 51 per cent of El Teniente to the Chilean government for $80 million.

Today is Friday, Oct. 25, the 298th day of 1974 with 67 to follow.

The moon is between its first quarter and full phase. The morning stars are Venus, Mars, Saturn and Mercury. The evening star is Jupiter.

On this day in history:

In 1854, in the "Charge of the Light Brigade," some 670 British cavalrymen fighting in the Crimean War attacked a heavily fortified Russian position and were wiped out.

In 1966, a fire aboard the U.S. carrier "Oriskany" off the coast of Vietnam killed 33 men.

In 1971, the United Nations admitted Communist China to membership and ousted Nationalist China.

In 1973, President Nixon, under increasingly heavy fire for the Watergate cover-up, attacked the American news media for what he called "hysterical, vicious" reporting.

Keep A Trump In Dummy For Protection You Need

When your adversaries are walking about, seeking whom they may devour, be sure to keep a trump or two in the dummy. It may give you just the protection that you need.

WEST OPENS

West opens the jack of diamonds, and you have a somewhat shapeless hand to play. Where do you begin?

Most players would begin by tackling the trumps. The trump finesse works, and the world seems bright and rosy as you capture the queen of spades and draw three rounds of trumps.

Sooner or later, however, you must try the club finesse. East takes the king of clubs and returns the queen of hearts. The opponents take a club and three hearts, and you give the opponents a resentful look and a score of 100 points.

VERDICT OF HISTORY

You may complain about bad luck, but the verdict of history will be that you misplayed the hand. You must go after the clubs before drawing trumps.

Suppose you win the first trick with the queen of diamonds and lead the jack of clubs for a finesse. East can take the king of clubs and return the queen of hearts, but dummy's trumps limit the enemy to two heart tricks. If necessary you can ruff a third round of hearts and take a trump finesse. Then you draw trumps and claim the rest of the tricks.

You don't plan to ruff hearts in dummy when you begin to play the hand, but you must save dummy's trumps as a backstop just in case you are forced to ruff a heart.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with 1 NT (16 to 18 points) and the next player passes.

You hold:
♠ - Q 5 4
♥ - Q J 10 2
♦ - 8 5 4
♣ - K 6 3.

What do you say?

ANSWER: Pass.

You would raise to 2 NT with nine points or with a useful 5-card suit, but it is far safer to pass with a mangy eight-point hand.

Antelope Population Upsurge For State

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — An aerial census shows there are now 4,747 pronghorn antelope living on California's northeastern plains, the state Department of Fish and Game says.

That's the most during the 20 years the department has been keeping track.

DANCE REVIEW

Royal Swedish Ballet At Zellerbach Theater

By BLAKE A. SAMSON

BERKELEY — The Royal Swedish Ballet arrived in the Bay Area last night and offered three ballets: one good, one fair to middling, one poor.

An audience, largely youthful in composition, occupied about two-thirds of Zellerbach Auditorium on the University of California campus and gave the visitors a mildly enthusiastic reception.

The high point was the opening, "The Consort," an unexpected renaissance fair in dance. The music was a joy — broad and lusty songs linked together and regally Elizabethan.

Choreographer Eliot Feld's dance, an exercise in pattern, was crisp, clipped, sharply defined. The movement of five couples shifted juxtaposing, alternating, paralleling each other. It showed a marvelous European precision. How nice a grand jete is when pointed like a sword.

The girl used their skirts like massive drapes, unfurling them, sweeping them with fanfare. It was never just abstract movement, for underneath, there was a fiery temperament wanting to break from a courtly and courteous formality.

The second half of "The Consort" shifts from the court to the countryside. The skirts go above the knees. The red linings come to the outside; the hats are doffed. The sleeves rolled and the shirts unbuttoned.

The flavor becomes robust, coarse, peppery. Tambourines and percussion accents abound. Everything is more rugged, more rude.

Here the orchestra, under conductor Bjorn Hallman, became excessively boisterous, but it was all done in the name of fun.

The songs, fluid and rich with brass, are orchestrated well and the 10 dancers, drawn from the company's principals and soloists (and one recruit from the corps de ballet, Barbo Carles) danced "The Consort" with life and vigor.

It is the story of a girl who seduces her butler and then can't endure her shame before the other servants and countryfolk and commands the butler to kill her.

Berit Skold, dancing Julie, and Markku Heinonen, as Jean, the butler, offered the only real solo dancing the whole evening. This was sad when one considers the unused talent glimpsed on stage (Hervor Sjostrand and Dimitry Cheremeteff, to name two examples).

Skold's Julie had a definite mean streak. She treats Jean as if training a horse, setting hurdles for him, then whipping him with a riding crop. The subtleties of the Strindberg psychology were stripped away in favor of blatant symbols.

Miss Julie wears a prim, waitress-like skirt, only there's the symbolic slit up the right side. The town gossips are three black-dressed crow-like figures that encircle her. It is all a bit too simple but does have an uneasing humor.

The ending is macabre, Julie grows progressively mechanical until all life leaves her. Jean's plunge of the knife only becomes the signature on a death warrant previously filled out. It was interesting but spotty.

The orchestra became a band for a circus. Artisans, two bored courtesans, a monocled Baron, soldiers, and, oh yes, can can girls all pranced like the Lippizan horses through waltzes, gallops and cancans of Jacques Offenbach's patched together score. It was a slip into poor taste and a downsided ending to a mixed evening.

The performance will be repeated this evening and Saturday. "Swan Lake" will be danced Sunday evening. The Sunday matinee of "Swan Lake" has been canceled.

Agents Seize Guns At Home

PACIFIC GROVE (UPI) — Treasury agents have confiscated antitank weapons, a submachinegun, destructive projectiles and ammunition at a private home.

Raymond Larone, 45, Pacific Grove, was charged yesterday with violating gun control laws. He was later released on his own recognizance after appearing before a U.S. magistrate.

Agents said they found in his home a 20mm antitank gun, a 55m antitank weapon along with ammunition for it, a submachinegun, a mortar round, 60 M80 "firecrackers" and a 60m shell.

Renowned Chef Killed In Crash

GENEVA (UPI) — Jacques Lacombe, 51, a renowned chef and gastronomic expert, was killed in an auto collision Wednesday night, it was announced yesterday.

Lacombe, 51, owned the "Lion d'Or" restaurant in Geneva, considered the city's best. It had two stars in the Michelin guide and was rumored to be close to the ultimate third star.

Police said Lacombe was driving towards Geneva in the Valais region when knocked into a ravine by another automobile passing at high speed from the opposite direction.

Energy Watchdogs In 'Tip Of The Day' Plan

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Federal Energy Administration has begun publishing a "tip of the day" on how to save energy.

The first one says: "Now that fall has arrived, check to make sure your furnace is in good working order. A well-maintained furnace, with a clean filter, uses less fuel — and saves you money!"

Inflation, Recession Both Present Now—Economist

By HARRY B. ELLIS
The Christian Science Monitor
News Service

WASHINGTON, D.C. — "Yes, we are in recession. But I don't blame the President for saying no we are not."

Thus Alan Murray, vice-president and economist of the First National City Bank of New York, described the current state of the economy and President Ford's denial that the U.S. is in recession.

"If he were to say there was a recession," added Murray, "logically he would have to put in place more vigorous policies to combat it."

And those policies, by stimulating the economy, sooner or later, in Murray's view, "would exacerbate inflation."

Murray and Arthur F. Burns, chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, use the same words to describe the current U.S. recession — "very unusual."

By this they mean that, after three consecutive quarters of decline of the Gross National Product (GNP), inflation still roars along at an 11 per cent or higher clip.

"If the top priority is to beat inflation," remarked Murray, "and I think it is," then the President should avoid stimulative policies that might edge prices higher.

Other economists, including Walter W. Heller and Arthur Okun, both former chairmen of the Council of Economic Advisers, believe first priority now should go to fighting recession.

With unemployment rising, say these economists, and with output continuing to decline, the U.S. economy needs net stimulation, to avoid deeper recession.

Five times since World War II the U.S. economy has slumped into recession, each averaging 11 months in length. Again taking an average, real output of goods and services, measured in constant dollars, fell less than 2 percent during the five recessions.

Today's recession so far has lasted nine months — three consecutive quarters of GNP decline — and real output has dipped over the period about 2 percent, in constant dollars.

Traditionally, a government combats inflation by pumping more money into the economy, thus creating jobs and increasing production. This is supposed to cause prices to rise.

The current situation is vastly more complicated than in the past five recessions, experts note, because prices are soaring at a record peacetime rate.

Ford's problem, as economists see it, is to devise policies which curb inflation, without pushing the economy into deeper recession.

"It becomes," said one official, "a matter of deciding priorities. Which is public enemy No. 1, inflation or recession?" So far, the President puts primary emphasis on fighting inflation, even to the extent of denying that recession exists.

Recessions are defined, not by the U.S. government, but by the National Bureau of Economic Research, which calls a recession "an extended, substantial, and widespread decline in aggregate economic activity."

White House aides point out that the bureau has not yet labeled the current situation a recession, which leaves Ford technically free to deny that one exists. However, noted a private economist, since the bureau never defines a recession until it is over, this loophole is faulty.

"We are pretty close to turning the corner on inflation," said Murray. "Though prices will continue to rise, the rate of inflation soon will begin to subside."

In the first quarter of 1975, according to First National City Bank estimates, the inflation rate will drop below 10 per cent. So far this year U.S. inflation — by the broad GNP deflator measurement — has run 11.1 per cent at an annual rate.

Many economists agree that a recessionary trend now developing throughout the industrialized world may help to bring U.S. inflation down below the 10 per cent level sometime in the first half of 1975.

There is less agreement on the duration and scope of the accompanying U.S. recession, with Dr. Heller and some other economists foreseeing possibly the longest and deepest decline since World War II.

Murray's more optimistic view is that "recession will reach bottom in the first quarter of 1975, possibly in the last quarter of 1974."

BRUCE SEES FEW CHANGES

San Anselmo's Manager Expects A Quiet Town

By NELS JOHNSON

All's quiet in San Anselmo.

Guiding the current calm is 51-year-old Alan Bruce, city administrator-controller who has been on the job since Oct. 1.

Bruce, who earned a reputation as a hardworking if sometimes controversial public figure during a 10-year tenure as county administrator that ended with his ouster in 1971, said his natural bent is low-keyed rather than high-powered.

Describing himself as "straight-shooting but not seeking controversy," Bruce said his administration will assume in many respects the same mellow tone generated by former manager Alfred C. Kaeppel, who retired.

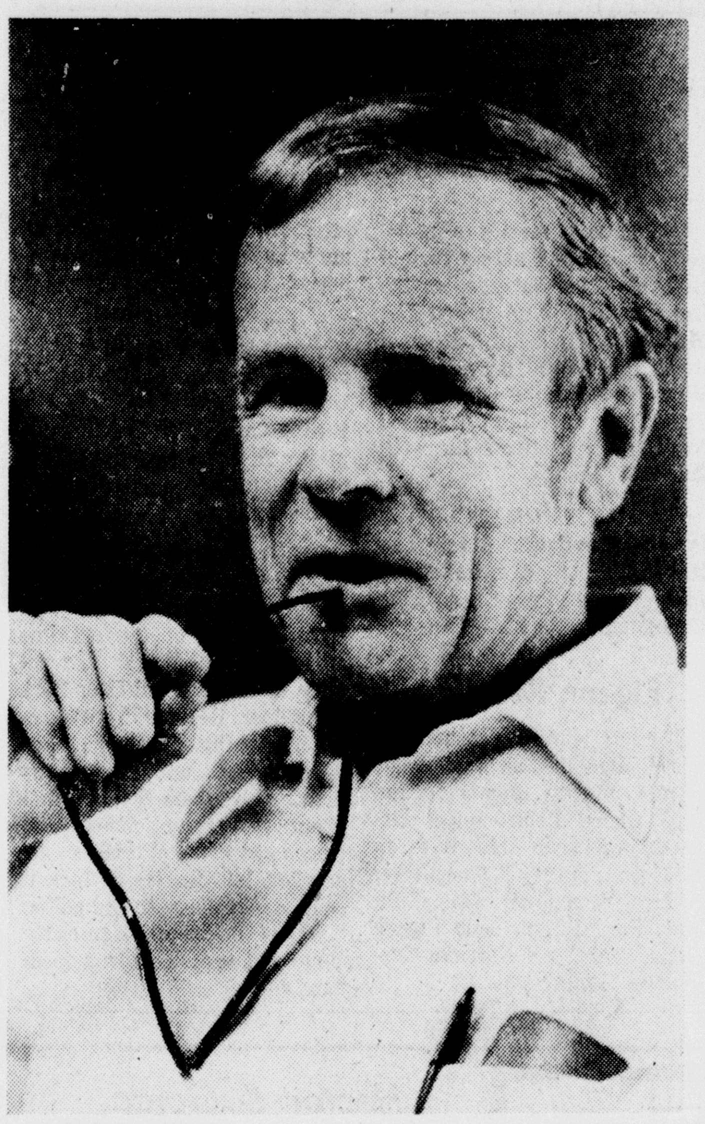
"I don't think the average resident is going to realize there has been a change in the administration," Bruce said.

He said the city appears to be in sound shape. "I don't see serious problems of administration or morale. I think the city department head group, for instance, is an excellent and very competent one . . . The same goes for city employees."

One problem facing the city, he noted, is the matter of new facilities for municipal safety personnel. He described the fire department-police office complex as "very obsolete and inadequate, difficult and I think sometimes dangerous to work in." Financing of new facilities, or improvements to existing cramped quarters, is a "problem to tackle" over the next several months, according to Bruce.

Capital improvements or other municipal growth, Bruce added, will be in line with the notion that San Anselmo is a small-scale city and intends to stay that way. "In fact, I rather like the name town rather than city," he said.

As for the public's right to know: "The public's business is the public's business and is to be transacted in public, with very few exceptions," he noted. "I don't see much need for off-the-record communication," Bruce added, saying the Ralph M. Brown Act should be interpreted "very narrowly".



LOOKING AHEAD — Alan Bruce smiles as he notes that under his administration city business will be conducted in such low-key fashion it is unlikely many San Anselmans will realize there's been a change. Bruce, who has succeeded retired Alfred C. Kaeppel, was known at the county level as a high-powered executive.

He pledged not to "shoot my mouth off to (the press) or anyone else in a half-baked fashion . . . I believe in leveling with the press and maximum public information."

Bruce, appointed to the post on a 3-2 vote of the city council, said he expects to remain administrator-controller "on a permanent basis, or at least permanent for as long as I am wanted or until retirement is appropriate." He said he welcomes the opportunity to guide municipal affairs since the job provides "a level of greater closeness to the people served."

He said he and Mayor Martin G. Blinder have an excellent working relationship and "have had from the outset," despite Blinder's initial judgment that Bruce might become "uncorked" within six months on the job. Blinder and Councilman Pieter Toal opposed Bruce's appointment to the post, since they favored another candidate among six finalists for the job.

Bruce was born in Berkeley, the son of a university English professor, and spent his high school days in Palo Alto. He holds a bachelor's degree in public administration from the University of California at Berkeley.

After college, Bruce served in posts with several national war boards, and in 1944 became a field investigator for the National Labor Relations Board. He served from 1947 to 1955 as a staff aide for the state labor commission.

He served in late 1955 and 1956 as a consultant for an American firm doing a local governmental study for the Republic of the Phillipines, and moved stateside in 1957 to accept a post as Marin's assistant county administrator.

He soon became known as a hard-working public servant with exceptional ability in budget matters, as well as one who met controversial matters head on.

He was propelled into crises involving the firing of a personnel director, a recommendation that former county Planning Director Paul C. Zucker be fired, and skirmishes with local judges.

His resignation under pressure from county supervisors in 1971 came in the wake of his own demand for the ouster of Carolyn B. Albrecht, county health officer, whom he charged with inept administration of the health department.

Bruce said he is proud, as well as surprised, at his stint with county government. "It is amazing that anyone survived for 14 years in Marin County government during that time," he said.

Bruce for the past two years worked as vice president and director of planning for Redwood Bank in San Rafael.

A 14-year resident of San Anselmo, Bruce lives at 88 Tamalpais Avenue with his wife, Constance. The couple has three grown children.

$850,000 Profit For Bridge Unit

The Golden Gate Bridge District showed a net profit of more than $850,000 during July and August, but that may not prevent raising the midday ferry fare between Sausalito and San Francisco from 75 cents to $1.

The proposal to raise the fare, approved by the district's finance committee yesterday and passed on to the full board of directors, would raise about $250,000 more.

"This new revenue should go a long way toward covering the deficit of the Sausalito operation as it is currently running," said Stephan Leonoudakis, district president. The ferry deficit during the first two months of the fiscal year was $22,000.

That figure, along with the bridge-operated bus system deficit of $616,000 during the same period, were easily covered by the $1.5 million profit shown from vehicle tolls.

Officials said district reserves now stand at $18.3 million, much of which is committed to capital expenditures.

Novato Tennis Rules Drawn Up

The Novato Parks and Recreation Commission last night approved a set of rules for the city's four tennis courts at Pioneer Memorial Park.

These cover such matters as preference for residents, a system for keeping place in line for use of the courts, reservations of the courts and night use by adults, said Parks and Recreation Director Lester S. Russell.

Novato residents will be given a sticker to put on their racquets, entitling them to preference over nonresidents, he said.

The commission set a one hour time limit for doubles on any court.

Each tennis court will have holders for racquets which will maintain the proper rotation for players.

Reservations may be made on two of the courts for four weekdays per month. No party may reserve a court more than one day per month, Russell said.

Youngsters under 16, not accompanied by an adult, will be asked to relinquish the courts after 7 p.m., Tuesdays and Thursdays during June through September. This is so that adults who work during the day will have a chance to play, he said.

These regulations will be sent to the Novato Unified School District to see if the district will cooperate on trying to get a uniform set of rules regulating use of its tennis courts, except for the residential requirement, Russell said.

In other action, the commission gave temporary approval for a brochure describing the city parks and what forms of recreation are available in each.

A Political Cablecast Is Planned

A congressional and state legislature candidates' night and debate between Marin Municipal Water District candidates Richard J. Boylan and Betty M. Forry will be highlights of the Marin Community Video cablecast on Wednesday.

Fifth Congressional District, Second State Senate District and Ninth Assembly District candidates will speak from 8 to 9:30 p.m., with television political reporter Rollin Post as moderator.

At 9:30 p.m. highlights from the Marin County Board of Supervisors meeting will be presented, followed at 10 p.m. by the Boylan-Forry debate, produced by Terra Linda High School students.

The Channel 3 cablecast will reach Southern Marin homes Wednesday and will be repeated Thursday for viewers from San Anselmo to Forest Knolls.

Burglaries Top Marin's Crime List

A total of 398 major crimes was reported in Marin County last month, with 221 burglaries as usual topping the list.

Chief Raymond R. Buchignani of San Anselmo, however, pointed out that the burglary figures may be misleading because they include many crimes lay people probably wouldn't class as burglaries.

"If someone takes a sweater out of a locked car, that has to be counted as a burglary," the chief said. In addition to such petty crimes, Buchignani, who is president of the Marin police chiefs' association, said the category of burglary also includes major thefts from residences and businesses as well as cars.

He added that in the City of San Anselmo there seems to have been a decrease lately in the number of serious burglaries, perhaps due to increased patrol in the hilly area.

"I hope it (the decrease) continues," Buchignani said, adding he did not know the reason for it.

The Town of Ross, by order of the town council, does not make its crime statistics available to the public, with the result that information on the incidence of crime in the town runs about 18 months late, when figures are released by the state.

This month's reports on crime also contain the August report from the Marin Sheriff's Department, which was not prepared last month.

Among all crime reported in Marin in September were these major offenses (with totals to date this year in parenthesis):

San Quentin Officials Impose Shutdown In Wake Of Stabbing

Warden Kenneth D. Britt, saying, "We've been doing something wrong," announced a "regrouping" in the wake of the latest serious assault on a prisoner, according to William D. Nyberg, prison information officer.

Yesterday's stabbing brought the number of such attacks at the prison this year to 68. The injured man, Billy D. Harris, was reported in fair condition today.

His stabbing, which officers believe other convicts tried to hide by staging a "fight" to divert guards' attention, was due to racial conflict, officials said.

Tightening-up measures at the prison today include keeping most convicts locked in their cells, restricting visitors and reclassifying of inmates.

"We believe many of the stabbings are narcotics related," Nyberg said. He explained that prison officials "have a good idea" who is bringing drugs into the prison and rather than try to catch visitors and attorneys with contraband, "We're just not going to let (the suspected carriers) in."

Further, Nyberg said, some prisoners now classified as "ones" or "twos" ("the men we thought we could trust") and currently housed in less secure sections, will be reclassified if they are believed to be narcotics dealers or weapons fashioners.

In the meantime, all of San Quentin's 2,787 prisoners except those who "perform essential jobs" such as kitchen, hospital and maintenance workers were spending the day locked in their cells. Prison industrial shops were shut down.

"We are going to try to do a better job than we've been doing," Nyberg quoted the warden as saying.

Harris was stabbed twice in the neck at 5:55 p.m. yesterday on the tier outside his cell in D Section. Nyberg said one man assaulted Harris, 28, while four others tried to attract guards' attention by staging a fight.

All five were in custody today, and a 14-inch, sharpened file was confiscated by officials.

Harris, a white man, is a member of the Aryan Brotherhood, Nyberg said. He said the five men in custody are black and that Harris had a history of conflict with black prisoners.

Harris is serving a three-year to life sentence for assault on another prisoner at Soledad Prison. He originally was sentenced for assault with a deadly weapon and perjury in Santa Clara County.

Three other convict stabbings took place last weekend. There have been eight fatal stabbings at the prison this year.

Power Lag

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (UPI) — The chairman of the Tennessee Valley Authority said today that unless there is a 20 per cent reduction in use of electricity in the months ahead TVA's coal stockpiles will be wiped out by the end of the winter, regardless of whether there is a miners' strike.

Auction Slated By Air Reserves

New and used items of all descriptions will be sold at auction at 1 p.m. tomorrow in the Downtown Shopping Center mall in Novato by the Novato High School Air Force Junior Reserve officers training corps.

This is the second annual auction by the corps. The money raised is used for educational field trips and other activities of the corps.

Many of the items have been donated by merchants, others collected by the corps members and their friends. One of the most unusual things to be auctioned is 48 hours use of a new 1975 Ford, but the person must be 18 years old and have a valid driver's license.

Halloween Fete For Marinwood

The 9th Annual Marinwood Halloween Parade will begin at 9:30 a.m. tomorrow as goblins of all ages convene at the Marinwood Community Center, a spokesman said today.

The event is sponsored by the Marinwood Funsters, a senior citizens group.

In addition, a community center spokesman said a special Halloween puppet show will be performed at 4 p.m. Oct. 31 at the community center.

Marin Dining And Wining

DINING OUT AND INNS

By HARRY CRAFT

Le Chateau's New French Chef Means More French Cooking Now

There is a good cast at Le Chateau these days — you'll see some new faces as well as some old ones.

More than that, there is good food. Between the two it's now a very nice place to go for dinner. There's a new chef, a young Frenchman by the name of Domenique Leiseing. He's very serious minded about his cooking and he comes to Le Chateau with good credits from such places as La Mirabella, Fleur de Lys and L'Etoile. I've tasted his food and rate it favorably in quality and imagination. John Pierre Elgart continues in the kitchen as sous chef and the two make a good combination.

Le Chateau has had its French name for many years, but the cooking has not always been French. It is now, and categorically I include it among Marin County's French restaurants. (Did you know that the score of French to Italian restaurants is now 16 to 15? At least that's my count).

The Le Chateau menu even now does not necessarily reflect this French flavor. Dishes like veal cordon bleu, coq au vin, canard a l'Orange and frog legs provencale keep company with osso bucco, veal scaloppini, veal parmigiana, lobster tail, sauteed prawns, sweetbreads, prime rib, New York steaks and others. Two recommended house specials are the veal Chateau and the beef medallion Chateau.

Price range for complete dinners with soup, salad, dessert and coffee or tea is $5-$7.50, with a choice of 21 entrees. A la carte is $1 less. And there's a child's plate special at $2.50. If you haven't been here for some time, now's a good time to go.

Lunches have always been popular at Le Chateau and they still are - from a $1.50 mixed green salad or $1.80 hamburger on French bread up to $3.75 for the crab louis and the 15 other selections in between. In the $2-$2.75 range you'll find sole meuniere, omelets, cannelloni, spaghetti with meat sauce, prawns and osso bucco, along with a special diet plate.

Husband and wife Joseph and Nadine Lauper keep open seven days a week. Decor is nice; there's food service in both dining room and lounge as in the past and a party room that seats about 50.

Jim Bellino and Ted Giusti are at the bar night and day respectively and we were most pleased to find Zee Preston still here at the tables. (If you like her table service you should hear her singing).

YOU MAY HAVE HEARD some of the recent rumors that Dick Templeton and Gordon Jones have sold Rubini's in Fairfax.

And you may have also heard rumors that Don Bernard has sold the Executive Lounge in San Rafael.

Where's smoke there's usually fire, but not always. But put these two rumors together and you will get at least an explanation for the smoke. What has happened is that Don received an offer for the Executive Lounge which he accepted and he made an offer to Dick and Gordon for the property and business at Rubini's which they accepted. (Which offer was made first I'm not sure).

Mind you, at this writing neither offer had been closed nor had any future plans of the respective parties been revealed. There are still several nods of approval to be secured, papers to be made up and signed, money to be paid in and escrows to be completed. A hitch in either deal could still upset the a la carte for both.

NEW FRENCH KITCHEN MASTER — Young but experienced Domenique Leiseing is the new chef at Le Chateau in San Rafael. He has been in the restaurant business since he was 15 and has served in both European and American dineries.

GOING PLACES these days is young Raul Lara of Larkspur — he's the singing troubador at Ramona's in San Rafael Wednesday through Sunday nights from 7 to 11. Already winner of the "Quijote" award (the Latin-American Grammy) in the Bay Area, he now has his own half-hour television show on San Francisco's Cable Vision Channel 6 — a musical program from 8:30 p.m. on Tuesdays and from 6:30 on Fridays.

Tune in and watch and hear him. If you like his voice and guitar at Ramona's you'll like this.

Incidentally, Ramona's is having a costume party on Halloween, Oct. 31. There will be a first prize for the best costume: Dinner and a bottle of champagne.

A NEW PLACE for you to try in Petaluma is the Victorian at 208 Petaluma Boulevard North.

This restaurant location has been active for a number of years under various names. You may remember it's past history as Diamond Lil's or the Velvet Plume or the Chandelier.

Now it has been taken over and fixed up nicely by Richard De Lena and Joe Frauenhofer, who formerly had Don's coffee shop in Sebastopol. They plan to make it into a complete supper club. Dinners are $3.95-$9.95, with several good selections including cross rib roast, chicken, filet mignon and steak and lobster and several others. Prices include soup, salad, French bread and dessert.

Lunches are served Tuesdays through Saturdays from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. and dinners are from 5 to 11 p.m. Sunday dinners are from 2 to 9 p.m. Closed Mondays.

There is organ entertainment Friday and Saturday nights and for tonight and tomorrow night Toni Cameron will be the featured singer. She has appeared at several places in both Sonoma and Marin County and I seem to recall that one place a few years ago was Sabella's.

I BELIEVE THAT most people who eat out generally prefer to order a complete dinner than a la carte. The exception might be at places serving Mexican food where is a tendency to issue menus which emphasize single entrees or plate combinations.

Realizing this, the Scarpullas at San Rafael's Tortola restaurant have come up with a solution satisfying to everyone. For each main entree on the menu (the range is about $2-$4.95) you can add $1.65 and get a complete dinner, including soup, salad, dessert and coffee, tea or milk.

Incidentally there's a mariachi trio playing at the Tortola on Friday and Saturday nights from about 7 p.m. called Los Monarcas. And starting next week there will be a Happy Hour period from 4 to 6 p.m. Tuesdays through Fridays. Regular drinks (from the well) will be 65 cents.

IT'S AN ANNUAL CUSTOM for the Mayflower Inn in San Rafael to put on a Halloween party and this year it's scheduled again — for next Thursday night.

Everyone in costume gets his first drink on the house and there'll be prizes for the most original attire, the most outlandish, and for the inn regulars, to the one who remains unrecognized for the longest period.

If you are not exactly sure where it is, go to the 1500 block on Fourth Street and no doubt you'll see signs of the action — perhaps with the Mayflower's maitre d' Peter Berwick monitoring traffic in his London bobbie's helmet.

DEER PARK VILLA in Fairfax has hit on a good idea.

Bob Ghiringhelli says he's noticed many of the old-time customers eating less and not quite up to the usual Deer Park full dinner. Result: There's now a "Senior Citizens' Dinner" on Wednesday and Thursday nights only, from 6 to 10, with about six entree choices and priced $3.50-$5. Portions are smaller, but dinners do include soup, salad, dessert and coffee.

Oh, yes — anyone can order. You don't need to show a Medicare card.

Pigeon Recalled

The last of millions of passenger pigeons died in a zoo Sept. 1, 1914. But the memory of the bird whose flocks once darkened American skies lives on in Pigeon, Mich., Pigeon River, N.C., Pigeon Cove, Mass., Pigeon Forge, Tenn., and Pigeon Point, Minn., the National Geographic Society says.

Apprentice Pool Seen Dwindling

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — If the housing slump lingers, the construction industry could find itself short of skilled workers should production demands pick up, the state warned yesterday.

In a report, the department of industrial relations said the drop in housing has been accompanied in California by a sharp, 15 per cent decline in the number of new apprenticeship openings during the past year.

If continued, that would leave contractors without an adequate number of trained workers, said the chief of state apprenticeship standards, Robert W. Clottu.

He urged in a prepared statement that employers maintain their training programs to meet long-term needs.

In a beakdown on the apprenticeship decline, the department reported ethnic minorities faired slightly better than white trainees, suffering an 8.9 per cent decrease in new enrollments compared with 16.3 per cent for whites.

When considering new openings plus the number of trainees continuing in apprenticeship programs, minorities actually registered a gain of 3.4 per cent, the report said. Whites at the same time showed an overall decrease of 7.2 per cent.

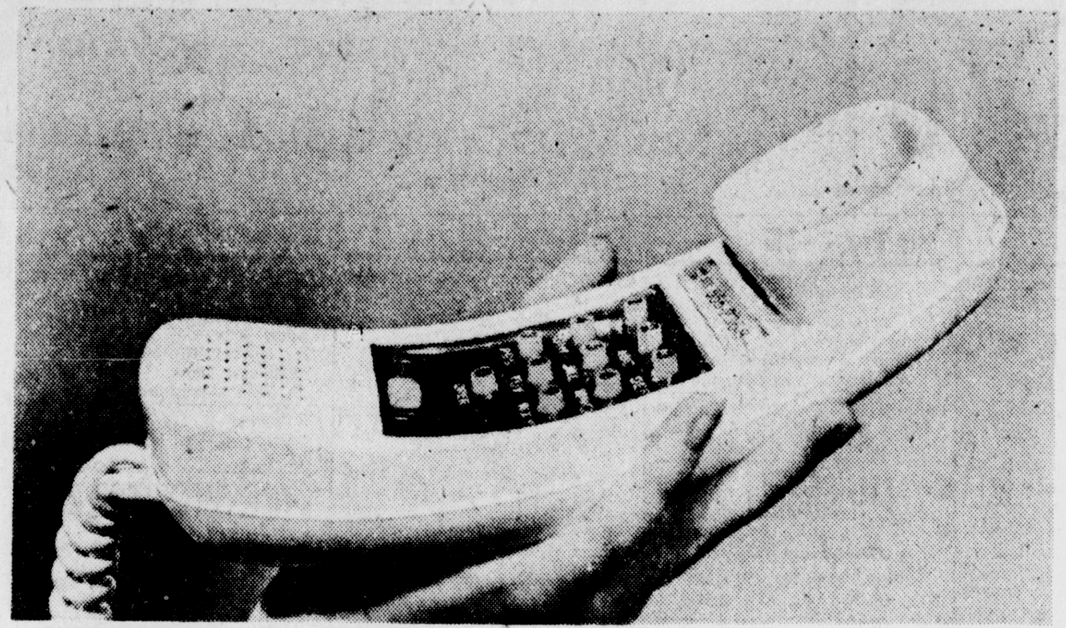
To Pay Bills, Just Pick Up Phone

By ROBERT M. PRESS
The Christian Science Monitor
News Service



CHECKBOOK OF FUTURE — Instead of reaching for a checkbook to pay bills, persons with accounts at a Rochester, N.Y., savings bank now grab their telephones and talk to an operator or a computer. The system is expected to become widespread soon.

(Christian Science Monitor photo)

CHICAGO — You have just finished dinner and started to tackle a pile of bills. But instead of hauling out the checkbook, verifying the balance, writing checks, stuffing them in envelopes, and hunting for enough stamps, you pick up the phone.

In just a few minutes all your bills are paid.

That is how the new pay-by-phone service works that a Rochester, N.Y., savings bank started Oct. 17 and several other savings banks are planning to start soon. According to an American Telephone & Telegraph official, except for a temporary experiment with such a service last year at a Seattle bank, this is the first time such an idea is being tried in the United States.

Some persons see it as just the beginning of new services Americans will have available through their home telephone — especially through their touch-tone telephones.

Shopping customers could call the store's computer, punch out their account number and order by catalog numbers. With a picture telephone the products could be viewed.

Figuring income tax. The taxpayer could dial a tax firm's computer, punch out his financial data and have his taxes calculated.

Verifying bank balances. This is already in use in the lobby of some banks, fur customers with identifying cards, but it could be adapted for home use.

In all such uses, most of them relying on the phone to contact a computer, safeguards are needed to prevent abuse, an ATT spokesman cautions.

With the pay-by-phone system, "I can pick up the telephone and pay my mortgage or loan payments and utilities," says James Barnett Jr.

He is one of a limited number of customers of the Peoples' Savings Bank of Bridgeport, Conn., offered the service this summer on an experimental basis.

The bank plans to extend the service to all its customers in early November.

"It saves me writing out checks," says Barnett. In the beginning he says he was "a little reluctant" to try the service because of concern that his transactions might get "messed up," especially if someone learned his account and secret code number. But he has memorized the code number and so far has had no problems.

Pay-by-phone transactions are "more secure than those handled by mail," says Howard Phillips, president of a small Seattle firm — a telephone computing service — which has designed the system purchased by the Bridgeport and Rochester savings banks as well as a savings bank in Minneapolis.

All three savings banks point out that until payments are ordered by phone, the customer's money earns interest. This, in effect, gets savings institutions into the check-clearing business, although no actual checks are used.

As with a regular bank account, customers will get monthly statements of payments ordered. The charges for such service vary with the institution and range from no charge for customers with a balance of more than $500 to $2 monthly, and 10 cents per transaction if the payee is not a bank client — otherwise, no charge.

Customers can use a rotary dial to reach a teller during working hours, or — at one of the institutions — touch-tone anytime to reach a computer.

If a caller becomes confused in the middle of an automatic call, it is possible to "erase" the transaction and signal for a teller to come on the line.

The balance is determined immediately after payments are ordered.

Organization Set For Bret Harte

Sixty San Rafael residents met Wednesday to form the Bret Harte Community Association, a spokesman said today.

Elaine Goldman said the new group will elect officers at a meeting set for 8 p.m. Nov. 6 at the Bruce J. Scott residence, 182 Irwin Street.

She said association members last night aired concerns ranging from upgrading Bret Harte Park to providing for crossing guards at the intersection of Woodland and Irwin streets.

U.S., Japanese Ask Fast Action On Sea Mine Law

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Both the U.S. and Japanese delegates to a recent U.N. conference on ocean resources expressed fears yesterday that "dangerous" incidents could occure on the high seas unless international agreements are reached on deep-sea mining.

The principal dispute at the U.N. Law of the Sea Conference in Caracas was between industrialized nations and developing nations on how quickly to proceed on mining manganese from the ocean depths, said U.S. ambassador to the conference, John R. Stevenson.

Stevenson and Motoo Ogiso, Japan's delegate to the sea conference, held a news conference during a World Affairs Council of Northern California on the Law of the Sea Conference.

Stevenson said the U.S. and other developed nations favored creation of a central authority that could grant licenses and contracts for the mining. But developing countries "believe our proposal will primarily benefit countries with the technology and the capital" that they don't have.

Whether the dispute can be settled when the U.N. conference meets again in Geneva in March will depend upon whether "we can all get down to the practicalities of deep sea mining," he said.

"It will take a good deal of ingenuity and it won't be accomplished in a politicized atmosphere," he said.

Stevenson indicated there were fears some nations might move ahead on mining before agreements can be reached.

Ogiso said major developed countries had tentatively agreed on a 200-mile "economic zone" plan for development of their own undersea petroleum and fishing resources.

"We hope agreements can be reached in Geneva to avoid unilateral actions to extend the economic zones. They could be very dangerous and there could be chain reactions. Some nations feel the 200-mile limiatation is detrimental to them.

"The differences between the developed and the developing nations are not small, so we'll need intensive negotiations to meet agreement. If there is substantial progress, then unilateral actions will be avoided."

Ogiso said his country favored giving a central authority the right to administer the mining in a "businesslike manner" through licenses and contracts.

No. 1668 Oct. 25, 1974

NOTICE OF ADVANCED MATURITY

Sanitary District No. 1 of Marin County, Forrest Avenue Sewer Assessment District Series 5904

Resolution of Intention No. 390

Adopted May 1, 1968

To whom it may concern, holders and owners of bonds in the denomination of $1,000.00 and designated Bond Nos. 81, 91, 99, 100, 109, 110, 119, 120, 129 and 139 issued to represent unpaid assessments in the above project:

Notice is hereby given that the Treasurer of the County of Marin and Ex-Officio Treasurer of the Sanitary District No. 1 of Marin County, Forrest Avenue Sewer Assessment District has advanced the maturity of the foregoing bonds to January 2, 1975.

You are further notified that you may, prior to the date of advanced maturity, surrender said bonds and receive the principal and interest thereon to the date of payment together with a premium thereon equal to five percent (5%) of the principal. If the bonds have not been sooner surrendered on the date herein fixed for advanced maturity, there will be set aside to your credit the amount of principal and accrued interest then due on the bonds together with a premium of five percent (5%) of the principal, and the bonds shall then be deemed to have matured and interest shall cease to accrue on the bonds. The amount so set aside will be paid to the holders or owners of the bonds upon demand and upon the surrender and cancellation of the bonds.

STANLEY J. FONTEZ
Ex-Officio Treasurer
Sanitary District No. 1 of Marin County, Forrest Avenue
Sewer Assessment District
TREASURER OF
The County of Marin

No. 1586 Oct. 18, 25, 1974

NOTICE OF SALE OF PROPERTY DELINQUENT FOR NON-PAYMENT OF ASSM. NO. 166 BOND NO. 50 OCEANA MARIN UNIT NO. 5 SERIES NO. 6045 FOR IMPROVEMENTS IN THE COUNTY OF MARIN, STATE OF CALIFORNIA

Default having been made in the payment of the following named coupons, 1-2-73 Prin. 286.76, 1-2-74 Prin. 286.66, 1-2-73 Int. 224.08, 7-2-73 Int. 140.46, 1-2-74 Int. 140.46, 7-2-74 Int. 130.43, and the holder of said bond having demanded in writing that the County Treasurer of the County of Marin, State of California, proceed to advertise and sell the lot or parcel of land mentioned in said bond. Now, therefore, I give notice that I will on the 26th day of November, 1974, at the hour of 10:00 A.M. of said day, sell at public auction, the lot or parcel of land mentioned in said bond, or so much thereof as may be necessary, at my office in the Marin County Civic Center at San Rafael, California, unless the amount due on said bond and the accrued interest thereon together with the cost of publication of this notice, are paid, and that I will so sell the same to the person who will take the least amount of said lot or parcel of land and pay the full amount of unpaid principal and interest on said bond together with the cost of publication. The lot or parcel of land mentioned in said bond and to be sold, is more particularly described, to-wit:

Lot No. 166 as shown on the map of "Oceana Marin—Unit 5," which map was filed for record in the office of the County Recorder of the County of Marin, State of California, on the 3rd day of March, 1972, in Book 15 of Maps, at Page 11.

The amount due on said bond up to the date of this notice is as follows: due on the principal thereof $4300.00; due on account of interest $647.78; due on account of penalties $194.85; total amount due on said bond $5142.63.

In order to avoid this sale, payment of the total amount above named will be required, together with the cost of publication made before such payment and the additional interest accruing up to the date of payment. Bond may be reinstated upon payment of amounts due, principal, interest, penalties, and fees, in the manner provided by law.

In the event of sale, such sale will include interest in addition to the above total amount due, accruing up to the date of sale, the cost of publication of notice of sale, and $7.00 for the issuance of certificate of sale.

The Independent-Journal is designated as the newspaper in which this notice shall be published.

Default having been made in the payment of the following named coupons, 1-2-73 Prin. 286.76, 1-2-74 Prin. 286.66, 1-2-73 Int. 224.08, 7-2-73 Int. 140.46, 1-2-74 Int. 140.46, 7-2-74 Int. 130.43, and the holder of said bond having demanded in writing that the County Treasurer of the County of Marin, State of California, proceed to advertise and sell the lot or parcel of land mentioned in said bond. Now, therefore, I give notice that I will on the 26th day of November, 1974, at the hour of 10:00 A.M. of said day, sell at public auction, the lot or parcel of land mentioned in said bond, or so much thereof as may be necessary, at my office in the Marin County Civic Center at San Rafael, California, unless the amount due on said bond and the accrued interest thereon together with the cost of publication of this notice, are paid, and that I will so sell the same to the person who will take the least amount of said lot or parcel of land and pay the full amount of unpaid principal and interest on said bond together with the cost of publication. The lot or parcel of land mentioned in said bond and to be sold, is more particularly described, to-wit:

Lot No. 184 as shown on the map of "Oceana Marin—Unit 5," which map was filed for record in the office of the County Recorder of the County of Marin, State of California, on the 3rd day of March, 1972, in Book 15 of Maps, at Page 11.

The amount due on said bond up to the date of this notice is as follows: due on the principal thereof $4300.00; due on account of interest $647.78; due on account of penalties $194.85; total amount due on said bond $5142.63.

In order to avoid this sale, payment of the total amount above named will be required, together with the cost of publication made before such payment and the additional interest accruing up to the date of payment. Bond may be reinstated upon payment of amounts due, principal, interest, penalties, and fees, in the manner provided by law.

In the event of sale, such sale will include interest in addition to the above total amount due, accruing up to the date of sale, the cost of publication of notice of sale, and $7.00 for the issuance of certificate of sale.

The Independent-Journal is designated as the newspaper in which this notice shall be published.

NOTICE OF ADVANCED MATURITY

City of Belvedere, Sewer Assessment District Series 5984.
Resolution of Intention No. 1273.
Adopted December 4, 1967.

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN, holders and owners of bonds in the denomination of $1,000.00 and designated Bonds Nos. 15 & 16 issued to represent unpaid assessments in the above project:

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the Treasurer of the County of Marin and Ex-Officio Treasurer of City of Belvedere, Sewer Assessment District has advanced the maturity of the foregoing bonds to January 2, 1975.

You are further notified that you may, prior to the date of advanced maturity, surrender said bonds and receive the principal and interest thereon to the date of payment together with a premium thereon equal to five percent (5%) of the principal. If the bonds have not been sooner surrendered on the date herein fixed for advanced maturity, there will be set aside to your credit the amount of principal and accrued interest then due on the bonds together with a premium of five per cent (5%) of the principal, and the bonds shall then be deemed to have matured and interest shall cease to accrue on the bonds. The amount so set aside will be paid to the holders or owners of the bonds upon demand and upon the surrender and cancellation of the bonds.

NOTICE OF APPLICATION FOR WASTE DISCHARGE REQUIREMENTS (National Pollutant Discharge Elimination System Permit) FOR

San Rafael Sanitation District
Main Plant, San Rafael,
Marin County

San Rafael Sanitation District has filed a report of waste discharge for discharge of wastewater into San Rafael Bay and (San Francisco Bay) waters. The applicant is discharging approximately 3.3 mgd of domestic and industrial wastewater (industrial flow is 0.01 mgd) from its secondary treatment plant located at 1 Irene Street, San Rafael, Marin County, California.

On the basis of preliminary staff review and application of lawful standards and regulations, the California Regional Water Quality Control Board, San Francisco Bay Region, tentatively proposes to issue waste discharge requirements including effluent limitations and special conditions. Persons wishing to comment upon or object to the proposed discharge requirements are invited to submit same in writing to the above address no later than thirty days after date of this notice.* All comments or objections received prior to this date will be considered in the formulation of final determinations regarding the waste discharge. If no objections are received, the Regional Board will issue discharge requirements. A public hearing will be held upon request of any interested person.

The Report of Waste Discharge, related documents, comments received, and other information is on file and may be inspected or copied at the office of the Regional Board between the hours of 8:00 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. on business days.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Spastic Colon Commonly Hits Conscientious, Busy Persons

Spastic colon never kills or disables and occurs in all walks of life. It is the most common cause of abdominal distress varying from mild fullness and distention to intense cramping or colic.

Irritable bowel syndrome is most prevalent among executives, secretaries, and other overly conscientious workers. Those who do not have pain complain of 'butterflies' or rumbling noises in the stomach, or inward nervousness.

WE HAVE NO voluntary control over the behavior of the large intestine which can be likened to a hollow tube. Its wall is made up of circular muscles which work in unison propelling the intestinal contents along in a wavelike fashion. Pain ensues when these contractions are too forceful or when a gas pocket distends the intestinal wall.

Many excellent drugs are available to relieve spasms by relaxing the muscles or calming the sufferer. They work by divorcing the intestine from the brain.

MOST VICTIMS of spastic colon blame diet rather than their jobs or a sensitive nervous system. Fresh foods, seeds, skins, harsh and dried foods, cabbage and beans are notorious offenders.

However, food-related sources of irritation can't compare with the adverse effects of resentment, tension, anxiety and overfatigue on the bowel.

Coffee, tea, tobacco, cola drinks and alcohol stimulate the nerves of the bowel; they must be avoided since these items produce abdominal cramping. Constipation, diarrhea, belching or gas may be mild when things calm down. But when the person is under pressure, they can be severe.

People with an irritable bowel syndrome tend to be productive, intelligent, and conscientious. They encounter distress only when they must attend an important conference, give a speech or make a difficult decision.

THE BEST APPROACH to the problem is to eliminate all situations that produce tension. Stock must also be taken of one's eating habits and his intake of coffee, tea and alcohol. Most victims respond to an antispasmodic or anticholingergic drug or a sedative, as well as a bland diet that does not include too much roughage.

NEURITIS AND KNITTING

W.C.O. writes: I have neuritis on the left side of my chest. Do you think I should give up my knitting until the pain goes away?

REPLY

Not at all, and that cable-stitch sweater you are working on might take your mind off the pain.

TOT IS THUMB-SUCKER

A reader writes: Our 3-year-old, Jeff, is a thumb-sucker. The dentist says we must try to stop the habit because he is showing signs of jaw malformation. The pediatrician told us to let him alone because he will eventually outgrow the habit. Since I've received two different professional opinions, I'm confused. Can thumb-sucking be stopped without harming the child?

REPLY

This question should be answered by your dentist. I think the best approach to the problem is not to make an issue of it. When Jeff puts his thumb into his mouth, hand him a cookie or a toy. It might not hurt to pay more attention to him at these times.

HOW LEPROSY SPREADS

Mark writes: I'm 12-years-old and ever since I was very young, I've been interested in the field of medicine. Have you doctors found out how leprosy spreads?

REPLY

We believe that leprosy (or Hansen's disease) is spread from one person to another, but beyond this, the mode of transmission is not clear. But leprosy is not too contagious; in fact, a person could work for years with a victim of leprosy and not contract the disease.

STRETCHING

Mrs. W. T. writes: Our 17-year-old daughter is 5 feet, 8 inches tall. She attends dancing classes where she does plenty of stretching. Could these dancing lessons be the cause of her tallness?

REPLY

Height usually is on a hereditary basis, and may stem from how tall you and her father are. Tallness is an asset and you may have a beautiful chorus girl in the making.

SCRATCHED MOLE OFF FACE

S. G. writes: I accidentally scratched a mole off my face, and now I'm worried sick that cancer might develop. Will it?

REPLY

Not necessarily, but the residuals of the mole should be removed surgically if the mole was in an area that is easily irritated.

San Rafael, air quality yesterday:
Oxidants, clean air.
Nitrogen, clean air.
Carbon monoxide, clean air.
Smoke particles, light air pollution.

Other areas:
San Francisco, clean air.
San Jose, light air pollution.

Colorless oxidants, brownish nitrogen dioxide and smoke particles aggravate respiratory diseases. Carbon monoxide causes dizziness, headaches and slows reflexes. Smoke particles come largely from industrial sources.

San Francisco Bay Area: Mostly fair tonight and tomorrow; little temperature change; highs mid 60s to mid 70s; lows in upper 40s to mid 50s; light winds; low tonight at San Francisco 55 Oakland Airport 56 Redwood City 53.

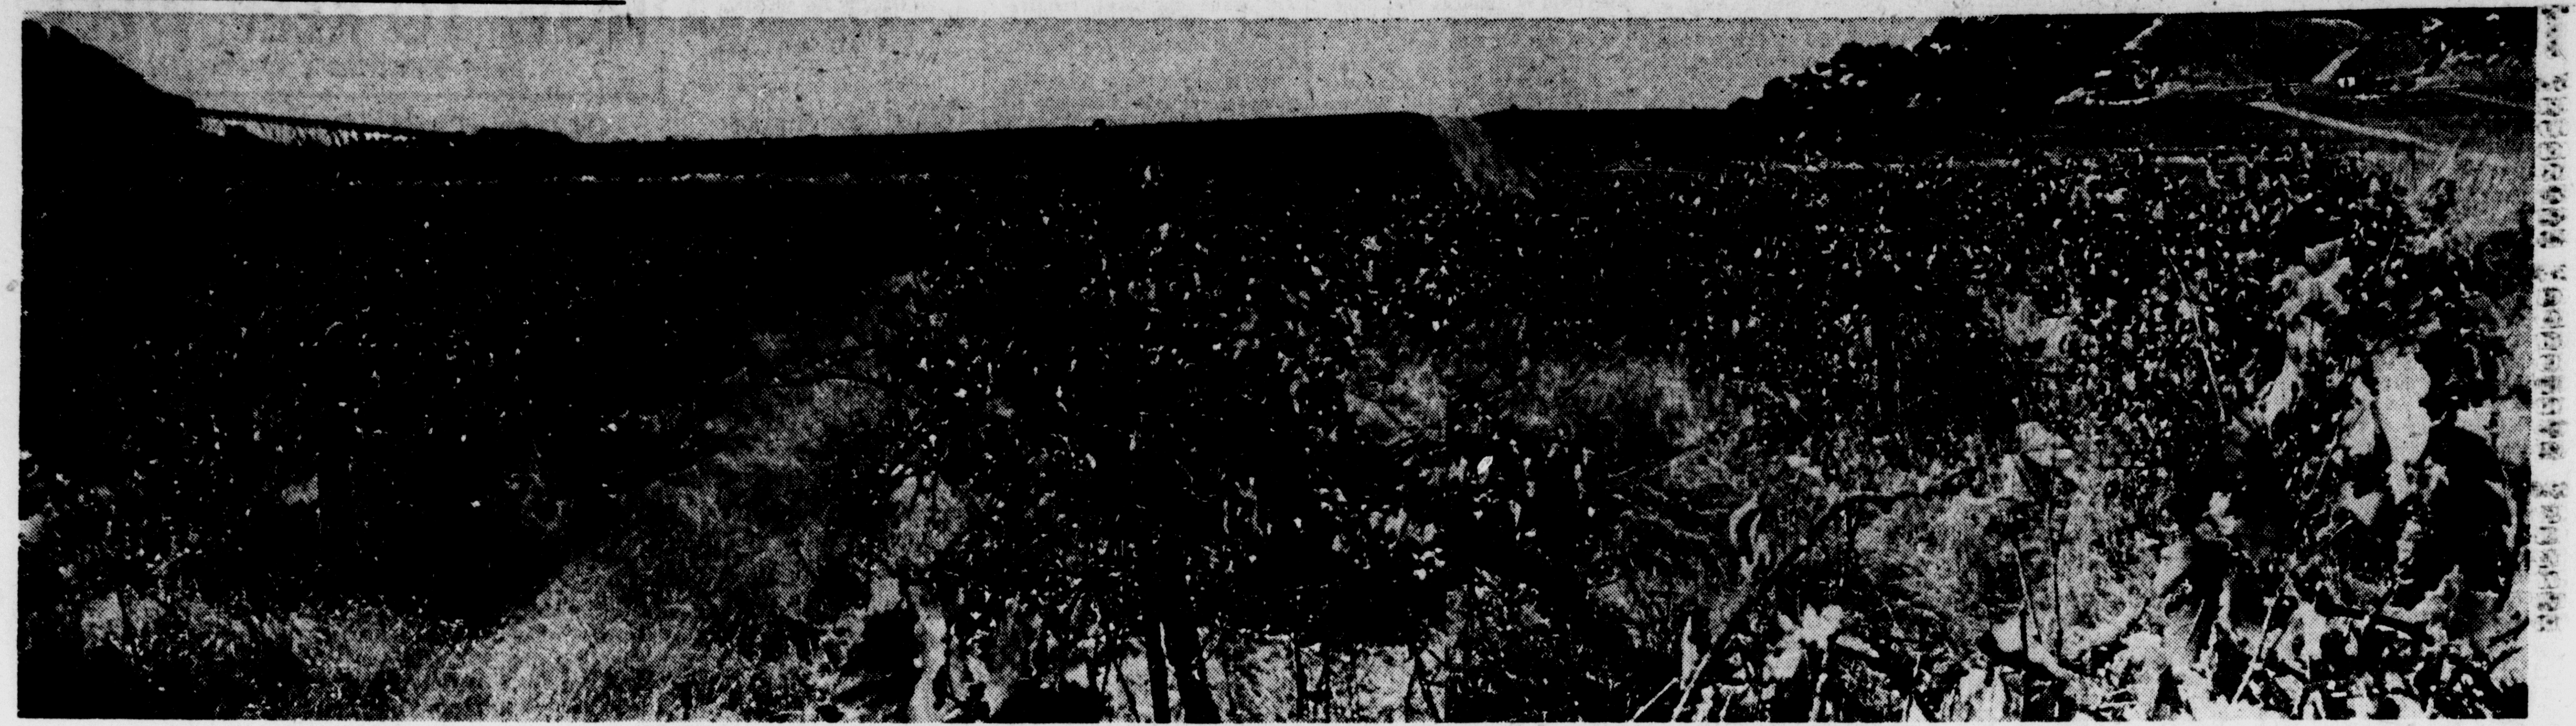
Napa and Sonoma Valleys and Santa Rosa Plain: Mostly fair through tomorrow; little change in temperature; light winds; low tonight and high tomorrow at Santa Rosa 46 74.



SONOMA'S CONTROVERSIAL WARM SPRINGS DAM

At present it's a low mound extending across the vineyard-studded Dry Creek Valley some 12 miles northwest of Healdsburg. If Sonoma voters approve it Nov. 5 and if the courts reject the arguments of its opponents, it will become a 319-foot high earthen dam, and behind it will rise a 381,000 acre-foot reservoir called Lake Sonoma. Antidam forces argue that the project is unsafe because of the Dry Creek Fault, a geological weakness lying directly below the dam and to the left in the above photo. Pro- and anti-dam forces disagree on whether the lake will be useful for recreation and water supply, with opponents charging that the lake will collect vast quantities of silt. The damsite lies at the confluence of Warm Springs Creek and Dry Creek, and the dam is to reduce flooding in the valley below and in nearby parts of the Russian River basin. The Army Corps of Engineers estimats the dam will cost $160 million and the project's opponents say the cost will be closer to $450 million. Sonoma county taxpayers will pay 28 per cent of the total in any case.

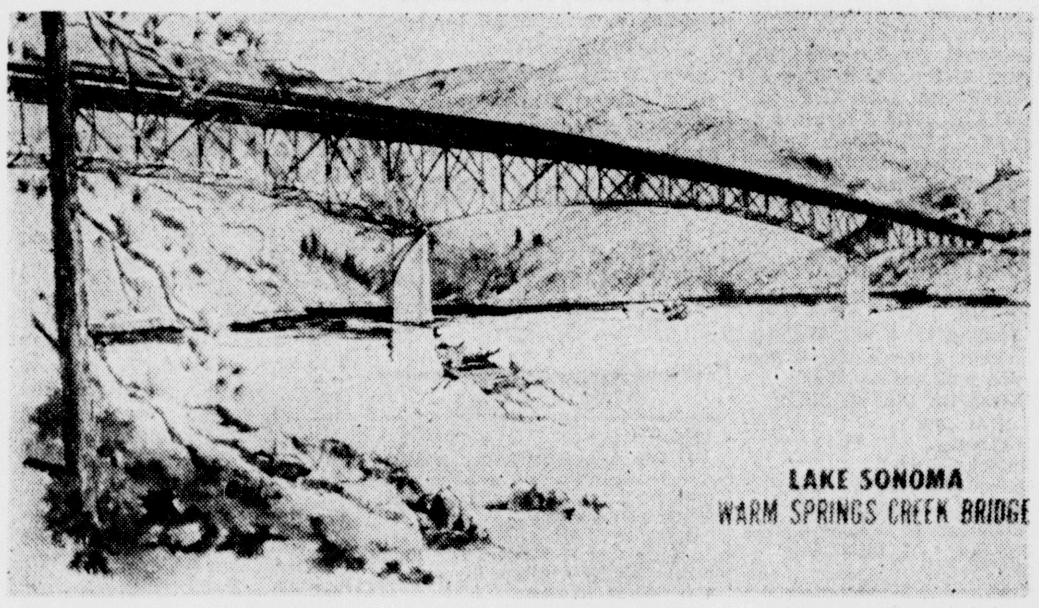
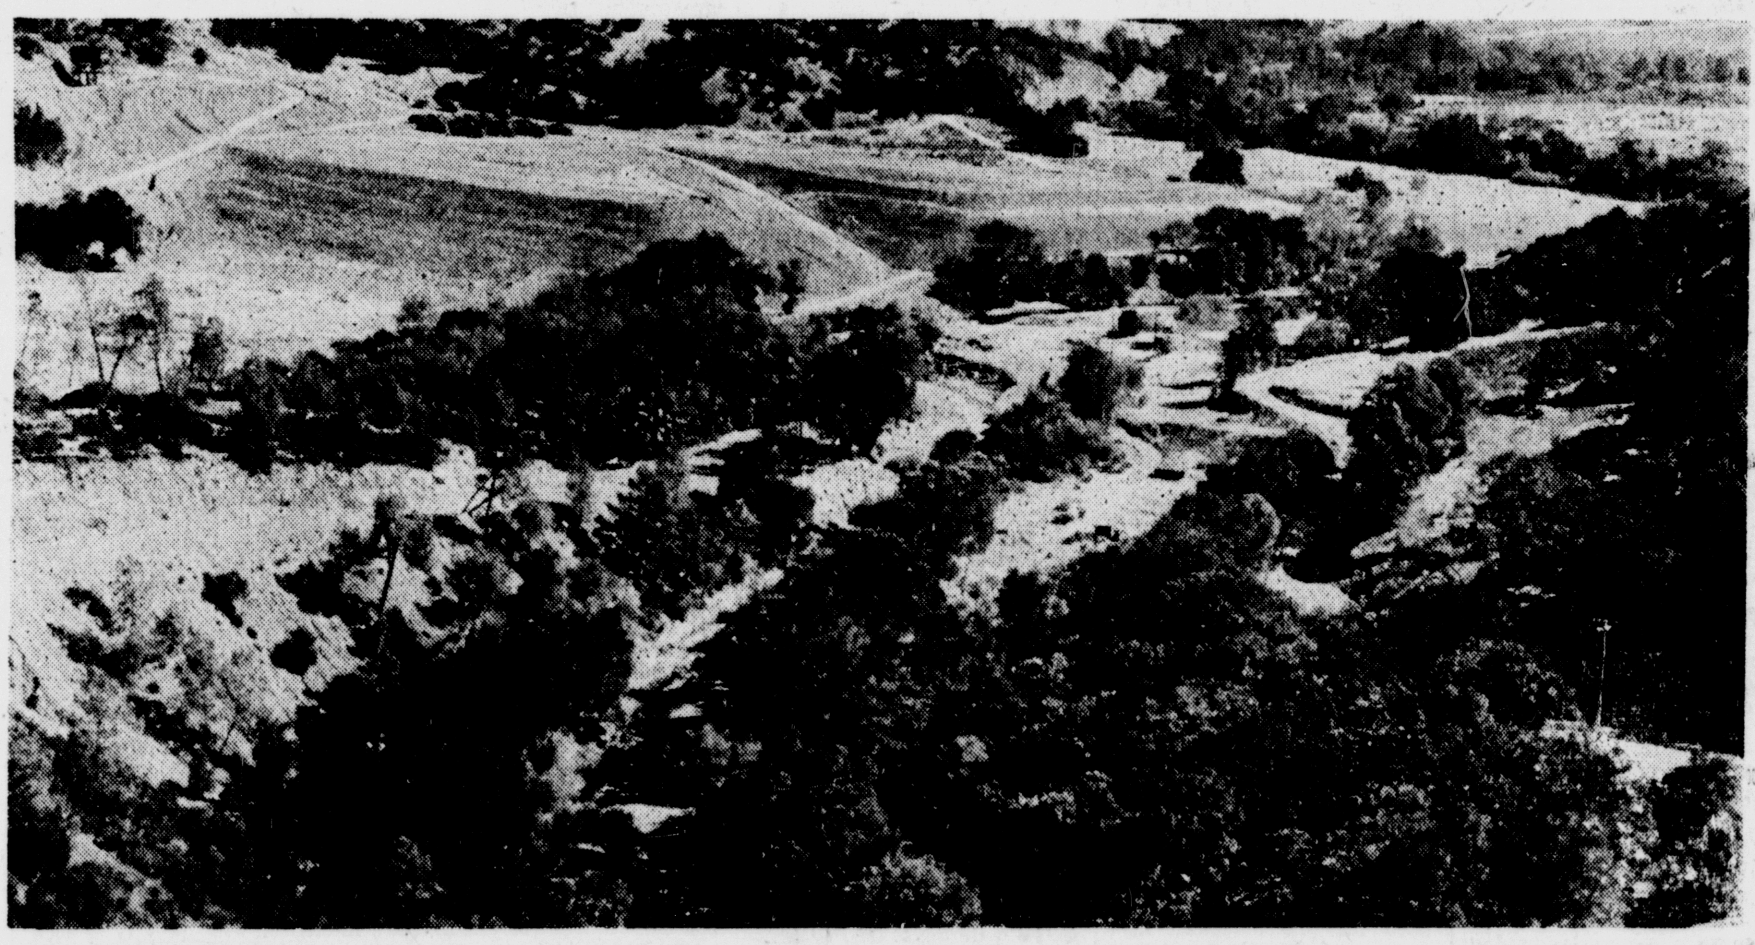
BRIDGE TO NOWHERE — The Warm Springs Creek Bridge represents a major portion of the $30 million to $40 million which already has been spent at the damsite. Today (above) the bridge rises hundreds of feet above Warm Springs Creek, and the road it carries ends only several miles further to the right. If the dam is built, the road will become a highway to Stewart's Point, about 20 miles west along the Pacific Coast. The present bed of the road lies below the project water level of Lake Sonoma. The drawing (below) is how the Army Corps says the scene would look after the lake fills. Corps officials say that if the dam is turned down by Sonoma voters they will have to spend considerable funds putting the damsite back in its original condition. The current dam project is an enlarged version of the Dry Creek Dam, a $15 million project proposed more than 20 years ago as part of a larger system aimed at controlling the flood-prone Russian River.



OCTOBER MORN — The warm springs for which the dam is named bubble from the ground at a year-round temperature slightly above 100 degrees. This girl bathes in one of several pools which hold water at different temperatures. The water itself is clear and slightly sulfurous in smell because of a heavy dose of minerals. The springs will be inundated if the dam is built.



FROM THE BRIDGE — The beginnings of Warm Springs Dam appears as a barren clay mound at the upper left in this photo taken from atop the Warm Springs Creek Bridge. If the dam is built, the creek at the center will eventually cover most of this area, including the road which now runs alongside it.

TRANQUIL WILDERNESS — Live oaks festooned with Spanish moss overhang the cobbled course of Warm Springs Creek about a mile upstream from the damsite at its confluence with Dry Creek. Fingerling-sized trout and salmon often are visible as they silently glide through the shallow stream, and the inundation of their spawning ground has brought a fishermen's organization, California Trout, into the battle against the $160 million dam. The Corps of Engineers points out that it plans a hatchery below the dam to alleviate the loss of the upstream spawning areas.

IDYLIC BUT DOOMED — Harry A. Merlo's homestead and sheep ranch lie along Warm Springs Creek, and a low dam makes the stream into a clear-watered pond nearby. The ranch site used to be called Picnic Flats by area residents because its grassy meadow presented a welcome respite after a hike through the steep, rocky hills around it. If the Warm Springs Dam is built a mile or so downstream, the waters of Lake Sonoma will be 80 feet deep here. Rancher Merlo, though, must expect more delays for the project — a hired hand was tilling a vegetable garden near the house the day the photo was taken.

Group Asks Ban On 2 Pesticides

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Environmental Defense Fund yesterday asked the government to ban the production, sale and use of two pesticides which it said pose an imminent hazard of cancer to man.

The fund petitioned the Environmental Protection Agency to act on heptachlor and chlordane (which contains heptachlor), both widely used as household pesticides for termites and for agricultural purposes.

It said there is new evidence that a metabolized form of heptachlor is showing up in "biologically significant amounts in much meat, poultry and milk in the United States and in most humans."

The two pesticides are persistent, chlorinated hydrocarbons of the same type as DDT and aldrin-dieldrin, which already have been banned for most uses because they are not broken down in the environment and can enter the food chain.

"The continued use of heptachlor and chlordane poses an unreasonable risk to man and the environment," the petition said. ". . . Further, the evidence indicates that heptachlor and heptachlor expoxide the metabolized version pose an imminent health hazard to man . . ."

Brazil Indians Threaten War

BRASILIA (UPI) — The Xavante Indians are determined to go to war unless the white settlers who have seized their land in Brazil's Mato Grosso state do not get out within a month, the tribe's chief warned yesterday.

Chief Mario, who presides over 850 Xavantes, was in Brasilia to meet with the president of the National Indian Foundation, Gen. Ismarth Araujo.

The chief said white settlers have destroyed vegetation and scared off wildlife in order to build large ranches.

More Children's Programs Asked

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Federal Communications Commission says there should be more television programs for children, with less advertising.

After a three-year study, the agency announced yesterday that when stations apply for renewal of their licenses it will consider these new guidelines:

There should be a "reasonable" amount of television time for children, including a "significant" portion that is educational or informational.

Programs should provide for the special need of preschool children, and this should not be confined to weekends.

Advertising levels should be reduced. The FCC accepted voluntary advertising limits recently recommended by the National Association of Broadcasters' code and by the Association of Independent Television Stations.

There should be clear separation of program material from commercials. "Host selling" and other techniques that blur the distinction should be avoided.

Mexican President Scores Television

ACAPULCO, Mexico (UPI) — President Luis Echeverria yesterday condemned television as a cause of loneliness and lack of communication between people.

"Television has been an important factor in the lack of human communications and is responsible to a good measure for the loneliness of contemporary man in large cities," Echeverria told a luncheon at a world communications conference.

"I believe television has helped break the interpsychic relation that is a characteristic of civilization and I think that before the shadowy screen the individual is alone, isolated and passive."

The president suggested that television should change its programming content to inform the public, encourage thinking and not serve to separate people.

The Echeverria administration last month ordered Mexican television stations to stop showing 37 programs — almost all of them American television programs dubbed into Spanish — that the government felt promoted violence.

They included such programs as "Mannix," "The FBI," and "The Untouchables."

Roman Bandits Just Used Poor Timing

ROME (UPI) — Rome's rush hour traffic chaos foiled a $100,000 bank robbery Wednesday, police said.

They said armed, masked men successfully held up a downtown bank, but were forced to leave the $107,200 loot in their automobile and flee on foot when they got hopelessly snarled in a lunch hour traffic jam.

Police gave chase and arrested two suspects.

Regulate Exterminators, Nader Researchers Say

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Ralph Nader researchers said yesterday consumers are being needlessly exposed to dangerous chemicals in the home (because the household pest control industry is neither properly regulated nor trained.

The health research group called for a federal system which would encourage the states to license exterminators and which would result in a uniform standard of professionalism throughout the country.

The National Pest Control Association said yesterday most states already have licensing laws, but it agreed with the Nader group that stronger inspection systems are needed.

"As an association we would welcome laws that would put these kinds of restrictions on the few in the industry who give it a bad name," a spokesman said. "We are pressing for that kind of legislation nationwide."

The association said, however, that while it agreed with the Nader group's directory as a good concept it felt that the way it had been put together was not really valuable for the average consumer.

The group made the criticism in announcing the publication of a first of its kind directory of exterminating companies. The initial publication covers only the Washington, D.C.-metropolitan area but the group said it hoped the book would serve as a model for consumer groups around the country.

The book details commonly used pesticides, including those which have been proven to be health hazards. It also contains a list of exterminating companies which responded to its questionnaire detailing the prices they charge and the types of chemicals they use. About 58 per cent of those companies contacted cooperated with the survey.

DEPRESSION ART "FOUND"

Public Offered 1937 U.S. Gov't Art Prints

Imagine, if you can, finding several thousand sets of antique prints of the world's greatest paintings that were lost for more than 35 years! It actually happened .. and this is the true story of the discovery of that lost treasure.

Eleanor Roosevelt

Back in 1937, immediately following the depression years, Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt and a select group of a dozen nationally prominent people formed a voluntary national committee for art appreciation to create an art program that would give the public a well-needed moral lift. It was the committee's decision to select the world's most famous paintings from the 16th, 17th, 18th, 19th, and 20th centuries - the best paintings of Matisse, Van Gogh, Renoir, Picasso, Gauguin, Titian, etc., and to reproduce them in full color as perfectly as humanly possible and make them available to the public at a price within the reach of nearly everyone.

Abandoned In 1937

For some unknown reason, after a quantity of these beautiful reproductions were made, the entire project was abandoned and this collection of perfect reproductions was stored in a Brooklyn warehouse, where they remained undisturbed since 1937.

Through a series of rare coincidences, the lost collection was "rediscovered" and leading lithographers and art critics agreed that the subject matter and quality of detail and color reproduction was incredibly accurate. Over $500,000.00 was spent to make finely engraved glass printing plates. It would be impossible to reproduce prints such as these under existing methods, and for that reason these prints are literally collector's items. Once they have been sold, there will be no more available. A truly excellent art "investment" that makes a fabulous gift.

Available to Public

These authentic original 1937 prints have been appraised by the American Appraisers' Assoc. at $7.00 each print. Now, these full color 11"x14" prints are finally available to the public at $19.95 for a collection of 18 prints. Send cash, check or money order to: U.S. Surplus, Dept G74, P.O. Box 605, Tarzana, Calif. 91356. Fully GUARANTEED Certificate of authenticity given with each set. Mastercharge and BankAmericard OK (give card number).

At 64, She Returns To Jungle

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil (AP) — Felicitas Barreto, 64, and still a blonde, says she is going back to live in the jungle and marry an Indian chief who proposed to her more than two years ago.

"Permanently, I'm going to dive into that lost world," she said in an interview.

An artist and former dancer, Felicitas has been there before — for 30 years in the jungles of Brazil and other parts of Latin America.

She was born near Rio and studied at a fine arts school here. Her early career in classical and folk dancing served as background for writing "Dances of Brazil," a book published in 1959.

Felicitas said she lived for two years with the Wayana tribe in northern Para state, near the Paru River and the Surinam border. She said the Wayana chief, Aparabe, asked her to marry him and join his other two wives.

But Felicitas returned to Rio nearly two years ago to care for her ailing mother. Her mother died, and Felicitas says she now plans to return and marry Aparabe.

She said marriage among the Wayanas is more to her liking than in the outside world.

"No one gives orders," she said. "Having a wife is not for lust or work. They are companions, to not be alone. They are friends."

Felicitas said she was married in Rio de Janeiro in 1931 but she couldn't tolerate matrimony and the city with its "lack of air, too much stone."

She said the Wayanas fish and hunt, spending "months and months" outside their villages, traveling in canoes and roaming the forests.

"It is hard, but here it is more disagreeable," she said. "Life is difficult there, but it is preferable.

"It is too monotonous here. It is only for making money, money, money."

Vincent Price To Be Married

Price, 63, and Mrs. Pearman, 61, both listed their occupations as freelance artists. They said the wedding would take place here. Price, who has appeared mainly in horror films in recent years, was divorced last year by his wife of 23 years, costume designer Mary Grant Price.

DOG HERO OF 1974

Skippy, America's Dog Hero of 1974, was honored yesterday in Chicago for saving his master, Donald Essig, 6, of Santa Ana from danger March 17. Skippy leaped in between Donald and a threatening rattlesnake, saving the boy but sustaining a bite himself. Skippy recovered after receiving anti-venom medicine. (UPI Telephoto)

Collectors Grab Nazi Mementos

MUNICH, West Germany (UPI) — American and European collectors scooped up 350 pieces of "rubbish" belonging to Nazi dictator Adolf Hitler's deputy even before the sale officially started, a spokesman for the State of Bavaria said today.

The articles, ranging from delicate porcelain to nursery rhymes, came from the private collection of the late Hermann Goering, commander of the Nazi Luftwaffe and Hitler's right-hand man.

A spokesman for the state of Bavaria, which stored the goods for two decades, said, "We've got no use for this rubbish now." Bavaria put the collection in the hands of Munich's 160-year-old Weinmueller-Neumeister auction house.

"As soon as our catalogue was published, we had enough collectors from the United States and Europe to sell everything," a spokeswoman for Weinmueller's said.

"The auction was just a formality," she said. "Everything was ear-marked anyway."

"The interesting thing is that the articles were not the usual sort of old Nazi stuff everybody wants these days," she said. "There was hardly a swastika to be seen."

No Marin TV For Big Fight

The George Foreman-Muhammad Ali heavyweight championship fight from Zaire will be shown at various closed circuit television outlets in the Bay Area Tuesday night but Marin County is drawing a blank.

Originally, the fight was going to be shown on a screen in the Marin Veterans Memorial Auditorium but that was before the fight's postponement. It was scheduled for Sept. 24 showing but had to be delayed for a month because of a cut eye suffered by Foreman.

GEORGE FOREMAN

When the new date was set there was suddenly a conflict at the Marin Civic Center site. Reveen's World of Illusions, a "magic spectacular," had already reserved the auditorium for that night (Oct. 29). So the Marin County fight showing was cancelled.

Since that time, Reveen's group has cancelled out so the auditorium will remain dark on Tuesday night.

Bay Area closed circuit TV sites include Sonoma County Fairgrounds in Santa Rosa, Oakland Civic Auditorium, Richmond Auditorium and Orpheum and Winterland in San Francisco.

The promoters are billing the match as "The Fight of the Century." They must really believe their own propaganda since closed circuit television prices range from $15 to $20. That's a lot of money for a TV show. At those prices, I wouldn't predict any sellouts.

LORD OF THE SEA, alias Keith Fraser, is going to share his knowledge of fishing to all those who want to learn. Fraser, a junior high school teacher who also is part owner of Loch Lomond Live Bait and Tackle shop is going to give free classes on his specialty.

It will be a two-part lecture series called, "Art of Catching Bass and Sturgeon in San Francisco Bay." The classes will be given in the mezzanine of the Tamalpais High School Student Center. The class on striped bass will be Nov. 5 and one on sturgeon will be Nov. 12; they'll be repeated in the same sequence on Nov. 19 and 26. The classes will run from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. and will include slides taken during many of Keith's successful fishing trips.

WRESTLING referees are needed by the Redwood Empire Wrestling Officials and Coaches Association, according to a plea from association prez Kent M. Frazer. That group is holding an organizational meeting Wednesday at 7:30 p.m., at Montgomery High in Santa Rosa.

STANFORD'S soccer team is not without Marin County representation. Robby Robb of Kentfield, a senior history major, is a halfback on the team.

BILL TRUMBO, Santa Rosa Junior College basketball coach who was so successful at Sonoma State before that school quit intercollegiate athletics, is putting on a series of Saturday basketball clinics for boys and girls 8 through 13. The clinic will be at Analy High in Sebastopol Nov. 2 between 9 a.m. and noon; at Petaluma High Nov. 9 between 9 a.m. and noon; at Rincon Valley Junior High Nov. 9 between 1 and 4 p.m., and at Piner High School in Santa Rosa, Nov. 16 between 9 a.m. and noon. Cost is $5.

SEALS-FLYERS TONIGHT

'We're Not Playing Well,' Says Shero

OAKLAND (UPI) — "We're not playing well," says Coach Fred Shero of the Stanley Cup champion Philadelphia Flyers, who battle California tonight at the Oakland Arena.

Shero says "our training camp was bad, too many outside influences. We were constantly flying across the country and never had a good workout."

He also admitted that success has spoiled his team and fans adoration and personal appearances contributed to poor training and lack of concentration.

But Shero says he felt the team started to put things together in a 4-2 win at previously unbeaten Los Angeles. And despite his lament, the Flyers are 4-2-1.

Shero said for the first time in his coaching career, he did not conduct a players' meeting before the Kings game. "I told (Bobby) Clarke to talk to the players instead, and he got across the message that they'd been playing as if asleep. They've got to concentrate on hockey; that's what they're being paid for."

The Seals are 1-4-3 but have not lost at home.

Shero watched Kansas City tie California Wednesday and he said he sympathized with Coach Marshall Johnston of the Seals and Bep Guidolin of the Scouts.

"It's so difficult to coach either team. One's new and the other a changeover. You have 20 different men who have been taught by 20 different coaches. Nobody knows anybody."

San Rafael Winter Tennis Scheduled

Signups are tomorrow between 9 and 11 a.m. for the San Rafael Parks and Recreation Department winter tennis sessions. Residents sign up between 9 and 11, non-residents at 10-11 at Albert Park.

Cost is $8 for eight, one-hour lessons running Nov. 4 through 29. Class times have not been determined.

Lowly 49ers To Start Rookie QB Owen

Nolan Says Snead To Relieve 'Probably'

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Rookie Tom Owen, who has thrown only 24 passes in the National Football League, completing 11, will be the San Francisco 49ers' starting quarterback Sunday at 1 p.m. against the Oakland Raiders at Candlestick Park.

But coach Dick Nolan said he "probably" will use Norm Snead to relieve Owen at some stage of play.

Snead got his first full day's workout with the 49ers yesterday, and the former New York Giant is pleased with San Francisco's receiving talent.

"I know what some of your receivers can do," he said. "I played with Gene Washington and Ted Kwalick in the '73 Pro Bowl. And I know enough about your others, Dan Abramowicz, Terry Beasley and Tom Mitchell, to rate them better than excellent."

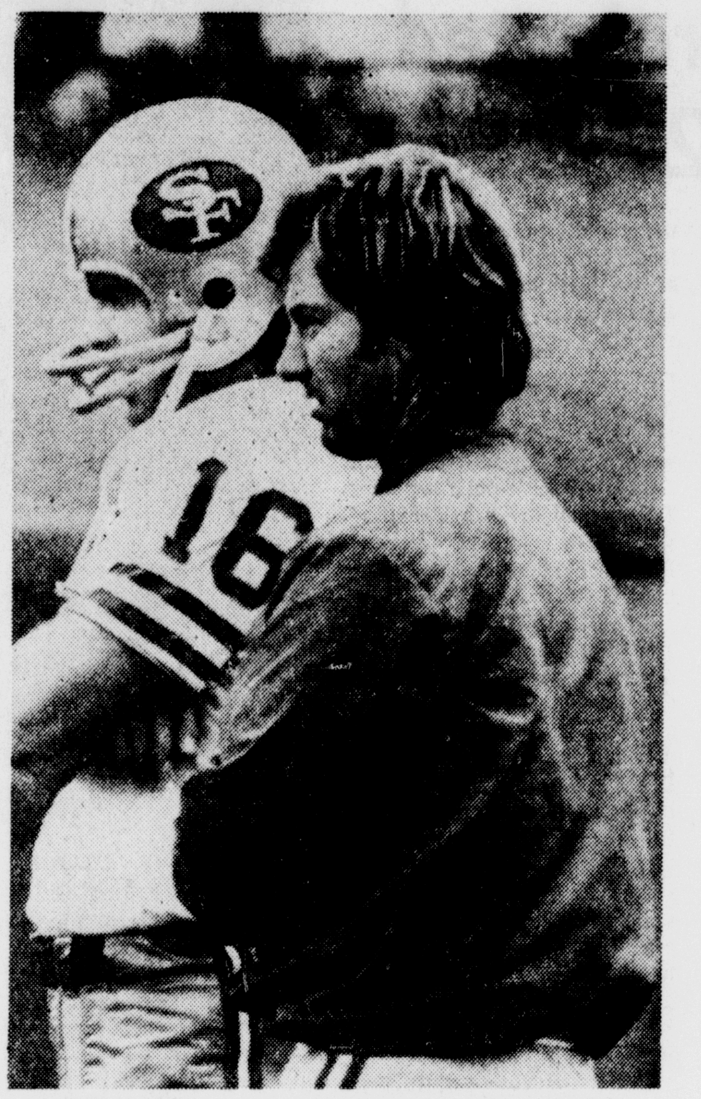
San Francisco's leading receiver so far has been rookie running back Wilbur Jackson, the No. 1 draft choice from Alabama, who has caught 12 passes for 102 yards and two touchdowns. Abramowicz, who will be trying to extend an NFL record of 97 consecutive games with receptions, is next with nine catches for 93 yards.

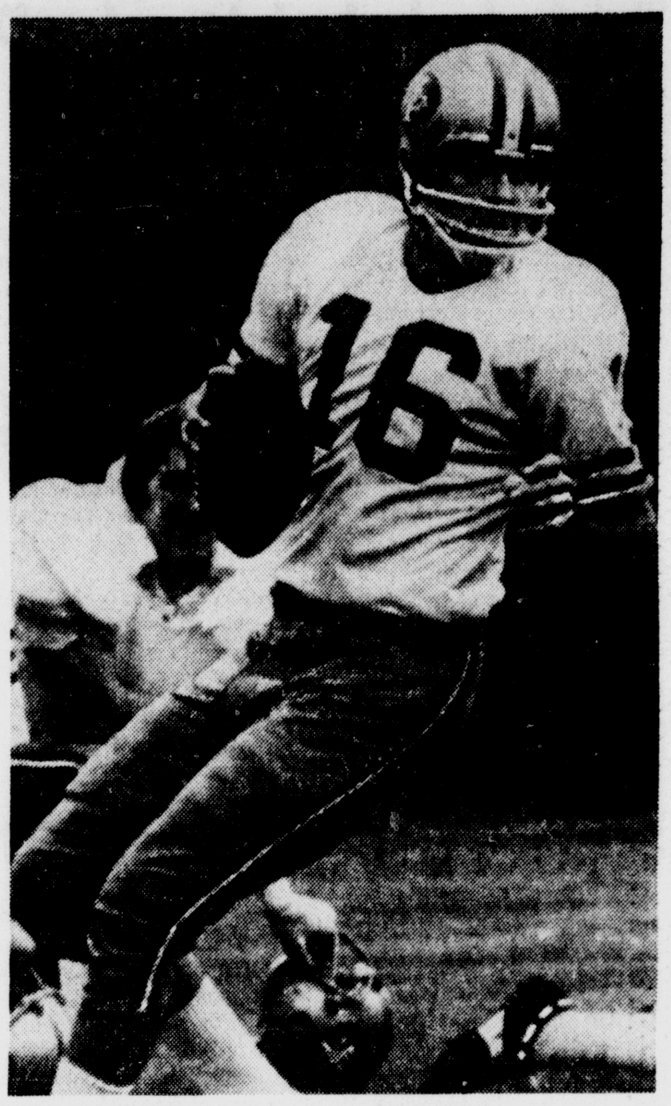
Snead also knows what he can expect to see on the Oakland side while he studies the opposition's defense. The Raiders beat the Giants 42-0 last year, and Snead played the second half for New York.

Nolan also pulled a mild surprise by announcing Bruce Taylor would start ahead of Ralph McGill at right cornerback. McGill had moved out Taylor but Nolan said Taylor looked strong in relief last Sunday.

The Raiders, 5-1, are favored by 14 points over the 49ers, 2-3. In a preseason game, Oakland eked out a 20-19 victory.

Three of the four active NFL players who have played in more than 200 consecutive games will participate in the game at Candlestick Park. Offensive tackle Len Rohde of the 49ers will be playing game 201, and center Jim Otto and quarterback George Blanda of the Raiders No. 203. Jim Marshall of Minnesota is the fourth player and has played in 200.





NEW 49ER — New 49er quarterback Norm Snead (16) watched with injured signal caller Steve Spurrier before practicing yesterday in Redwood City. Snead was participating in his first full practice with San Francisco.

Wark May Be Terra Linda's Find

Bad News For Drake Tonight

It looks like the Terra Linda Trojans have found a quarterback, and that may mean more bad news for the Drake Pirates when the teams meet tonight at 8 o'clock in a Marin County Athletic League football game at San Rafael's Paul Miller Field. (Other high school football stories on page 49.)

Brian Wark debuted as Terra Linda's signal caller last Saturday by throwing for 210 yards in an 18-14, non-league victory over Riordan of San Francisco. He completed 16 of 32 passes, and led an 88-yard scoring march as the Trojans came from behind in the fourth quarter.

Drake lost to Riordan a month ago, 25-20; based on relative scores Terra Linda would be a slight favorite tonight. But since then the Pirates have lost three of four, including their first two MCAL games by 35-0 to Novato and 35-6 to San Rafael.

Terra Linda coach Don Lucas has cautioned his players not to take Drake lightly, no matter what the record shows. "This is the same situation as last year. We overlooked them and they beat us. We're not overlooking them this year."

Last year the Pirates lost two games in a row and then dumped the Trojans, 28-15.

"Potentially, there's no reason why they're not moving into the end zone," says Lucas. "They've got the material; they just haven't put it together."

Terra Linda's main task will be to stop running back Ross Perry. He has over 100 yards rushing in the first two league games, and scored the only touchdown against San Rafael.

Drake has a potentially dangerous passing game, directed by quarterback Terry Fahey. His primary receiver is Kevin Peak, of whom Lucas says, "We've got to keep him off the ball."

If any team can shut down Perry and Peak, it's Terra Linda. In their first two league games, the Trojans led the league in defense, yielding a total of only 134 yards.

LELLA LOMBARDI
Wants chance

Gal Auto Racer Has Indy Goal

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Lella Lombardi, the first woman to run in a Formula One race, now wants to crack the sex barrier at Indianapolis.

At a news conference here yesterday the 31-year-old Italian disclosed she plans to test a U.S. Auto Club championship car machine at Ontario, Calif., next month.

"If I feel competitive, I will submit an entry for Indianapolis," she said.

Argentine-born Francisco Mir, a Ferrari distributor here, revealed he will purchase a USAC car for Miss Lombardi if she decides she's ready for Indy.

Devine Says Hadl Will Report To Packers

GREEN BAY, Wis. (UPI) — Green Bay Packers Coach Dan Devine said yesterday that quarterback John Hadl, obtained earlier this week in a trade with the Los Angeles Rams, had agreed to join the club.

Hadl, however, had balked at reporting and Devine Wednesday had threatened to call off the deal unless Hadl was on a plane to Green Bay sometime Thursday.

Until late yesterday, Devine said, he was convinced that Hadl was not going to report. He had scheduled a news conference for 2 p.m. but the start was delayed almost an hour — apparently because Hadl called Devine to say he would come.

"It's a different announcement than what I had intended to make," Devine said. "I hadn't heard from John so I assumed he wasn't going to report."

Hadl left Los Angeles early yesterday to go to Houston where he and some business associates were negotiating to purchase a bank, Devine said.

He said the Packers had not given in to Hadl's requests that his contract be renegotiated or that he be given a bonus to report.

"The Green Bay Packers have assumed the contract John had with the Rams," Devine said. "There has been no renegotiation."

He said the Packers had not agreed to a demand for a two-year no-cut contract because "mostly it sets a precedent we don't want to set."

Devine said that while Hadl would be available on an emergency basis Sunday, it was doubtful if he would see action against the Detroit Lions.

Earlier this week he had named Jack Concannon to replace Jerry Tagge as the Packers starting quarterback. Tagge has started every game this year and Concannon's only action has been holding for extra points and field goals.

Devine said Hadl had not been assured he would have the No. 1 spot for Green Bay and, asked what he would do if Concannon had a brilliant day against Detroit, he answered, "I expect him to have a brilliant day. Again, I want to emphasize that I haven't lost any confidence in Jack Concannon or Jerry Tagge."

Devine said that to "clear the air" he also wanted to confirm the Packers had talked to New Orleans about Archie Manning.

"They contacted us," he said, "and Dallas also contacted us about Craig Morton."

He also said he had negotiations with Detroit but the price the Lions wanted for either Greg Landry or Bill Munson was more than what was paid for Hadl. He said the Lions wanted defensive lineman Mike McCoy, linebacker Fred Carr and defensive back Ken Ellis plus a number of draft choices for Landry.

2 Gridders Claimed

NEW YORK (UPI) — The New York Giants claimed running back Mickey Zofko and defensive lineman Gary Pettigrew on waivers yesterday and released running back Ed Jenkins and defensive tackle Andy Rice to make room for the new additions to the roster.

Palomino Wins

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Carlos Palomino, 146 ½, Westminster, Calif., knocked out Jose Miranda, 147 ½, Tijuana, Mexico, at 2:58 of the sixth round of a scheduled 10-rounder at the Olympic Auditorium last night.

Abdul-Jabbar's Projected Return On Nov. 22 Or 23

Combined AP & UPI

MILWAUKEE, Wis. — Milwaukee will continue to play without star center Kareem Abdul-Jabbar until Nov. 22 or 23.

That was the announcement made here yesterday by Larry Costello, coach of the National Basketball Association's Bucks.

Abdul-Jabbar suffered an eye injury and broke his hand in a pair of incidents a few weeks ago in an exhibition game at Buffalo.

Costello said the eye injury had healed and Abdul-Jabbar was expected to return here from his parents' home in New York sometime this week to get the cast changed on his hand.

Golf

SYDNEY — Texan Tom Kite shot a two-under-par 70 today to take a two-stroke lead at 137 in the second round of the $45,500 Wills Masters Golf Tournament.

NAGOYA, Japan — Lee Trevino shot a five-under-par 67 today and grabbed a two-stroke lead at 136 in the second round of the $133,000 Tokai Classic International Open Golf Tournament.

Tennis

TOKYO — Kazuko Sawamatsu of Japan won the $33,333 Toray Sillok Women's Tennis Tournament today by defeating Wendy Overton of Ormond Beach, Fla., 6-4, 7-5, in the final.

MELBOURNE, Australia — Top-seeded John Newcombe of Australia yesterday beat Bob Carmichael of France 6-3, 6-3 and No. 2 seed Dick Stockton defeated fellow American Dick Dell 6-3, 6-4 to reach the quarter-finals of the South Pacific Hard Court.

DEESIDE, Wales — Britain yesterday took a 2-0 lead over the United States in the Wightman Cup when Virginia Wade beat Julie Heldman 5-7, 9-7, 6-4 and Glynis Coles beat Janet Newberry 4-6, 6-1, 6-3 in the best-of-seven series.

TEHRAN, Iran — Bjorn Borg of Sweden yesterday overcame a first-set defeat to oust Eddie Dibbs 1-6, 6-4, 6-4 in the quarterfinals of the $100,000 Aryamehr Tennis Tournament.

Football

Rangers' Martin Manager Of Year

ARLINGTON, Tex. (AP) — Controversial Billy Martin, who slapped near-championship life into baseball's worst team, is the Associated Press American League Manager of the Year.

"It's a wonderful honor," said Marin. "The thanks go to the players and the organization. We wanted to win it all but we were a little short. However, our future is very bright."

The Texas Rangers finished just five games behind world champion Oakland in the AL West and actually had the edge in head-to-head meetings, 10-8.

In 1973, the Rangers were 37 games behind Oakland with a 57-105 record. The 1974 record was 84-76.

Fired up by Martin's enthusiasm, the Rangers drew 1.2 million fans and major league baseball — instead of just football — was the talk of Dallas-Fort Worth.

"I knew if we gave the area a winner the fans would come out," Martin said. "Look at Baltimore and Oakland. They don't draw even with winners. I always thought baseball would go here."

Martin, when hired by former owner Bob Short last winter, brashly predicted a pennant and a million in attendance. He was one for two and didn't miss the pennant by much.

"If we had just had a left-handed reliever in the bullpen and another starter, we could have made it," Martin said.

Martin, 46, put in the lineup such unknowns as rookies Mike Hargrove and Jim Sundberg. Hargrove finished second among AL batters and Sundberg, a catcher, made the All-Star team.

Lenny Randle, a player cast off by both former Ranger managers Ted Williams and Whitey Herzog, was a .300 hitter.

Ferguson Jenkins, obtained in an off-season trade with the Chicago Cubs, was a 25-game winner.

Texas even had a season edge over the AL Eastern Division winner, Baltimore, by an 8-4 count.

COLLEGE FOOTBALL

'Lucky' Pacific-8 Teams Vie For Lead

By UNITED PRESS INTERNATIONAL

So tomorrow, with a crowd of more than 60,000 looking on in Berkeley's Memorial Stadium, the two "lucky" teams meet with first place at stake in the Pacific 8 Conference football race.

By beating Oregon State, 17-14, thanks to a fourth down goalline stand with five seconds left, California pushed its Pac 8 record to 2-0 and its overall mark to 5-1. That's the best mark the school has been able to achieve since the early 1960s.

UCLA, a 17-13 winner thanks to an even more unbelievable goalline stand against Washington State, goes into the game with a 1-0-1 league record and 3-1-2 overall.

For no obvious reason, oddsmakers list the Bruins as two-point favorites.

While the two state schools are banging heads, Southern California, also 2-0 in the league race, will be hosting Oregon State, 1-0-1, Stanford will be at Washington State and Oregon and Washington, both 0- 2, will meet at Seattle. The odds on those games are USC by 27, Stanford by seven and Washington by three.

The Cal-UCLA game is more important to the Bruins than the Bears. That's because Cal still has a year to go on its National Collegiate Athletic Association probation and while it can win the Conference title and be recognized as the champion, it can't go to the Rose Bowl.

"Winning the league title would be enough of a reward for us," says White, who took over three seasons ago and has brought Cal along farther than anyone expected.

In some ways, it's a shame the current team and coaching staff have to pay the penalty for the school's probation. No one connected even remotely with the athletic department had anything to do with the NCAA suspension.

At this point in the season, there are many who believe Cal could wind up with the Pac 8 title, and if it should, then the second place team would play in the Rose Bowl. As long as Cal keeps on winning then second place becomes important to all the other contenders, and right now they are USC, UCLA and Stanford.

The Pacific Coast Athletic Association title probably was decided last Saturday when San Diego State walloped San Jose State. But play goes on this Saturday with San Diego (2-0) hosting Long Beach State (0-2), San Jose State (2-1) at Pacific (1-1) and Fresno State (1-2) at Fullerton. This is Fullerton's first year in the PCAA and the school is not eligible for the league title.

Tennis Monday

Finals for the student-teacher tennis tournament of Davidson Middle School (San Rafael) will be held Monday at 3:30 p.m. at the Mt. Tam Racquet Club in Larkspur.

Patocchis Lead Marin Catholic Swimming Win

Jane and Lisa Patocchi scored two wins apiece yesterday to lead Marin Catholic High School to a 72-41 victory over Terra Linda in Marin County Athletic League girls' swimming.

Jane took the 50 and 100 backstroke, Lisa the 50 and 100 freestyle as the Wildcats won their fourth meet without a loss. Kathy Hicken also won two races for Marin Catholic, the 50 and 100 butterfly.

In other action, Tamalpais defeated Marin Academy, 94-10, and San Domenico, 85-24, in a three-way meet. Susan Barnard won the 100 individual medley and the 100 fly for Tam. And San Rafael downed Redwood, 73-40 behind wins by Julie Waters in the 100 I.M. and 100 back, and Cary Backhaus in the 200 free and 100 fly.

Nancy Scholl of Redwood set a league record with a 32.4 clocking in the 50 breast, and also won the 100 breast.

Warriors Seek Revenge On Blazers Tonight

PORTLAND, Ore. (UPI) — The pessimist would point out that Golden State is in last place going into tonight's game with Portland here. The optimist would point out that they are one game out of first.

Everybody in the evenly-balanced National Basketball Association Western Conference is squeezed between Phoenix (2-1) and the Warriors (1-2), including Portland, which has split its first four games.

The Warriors will be out for revenge after somehow losing to the Blazers 107-106 Tuesday after leading by 14 points in the third period.

Golden State's problem so far has been that it has to go to Rick Barry for a key bucket and the opposition knows it. Rookie Keith Wilkes seems to be getting his scoring touch but Golden State could use some points from its backcourt.

MEMPHIS TAKEN BY STORM

Memphis running back Paul Miles was tackled by Storm defenders Steve Thompson (86) and Dennis Meyer during first quarter last night at Portland. Portland won the World Football League game, 26-25.

Pirates Peddle Pitcher Pizarro

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — The Pittsburgh Pirates have traded Juan Pizarro, 37, a lefthanded nomad, to their Charleston Charlies farm club of the International League for righthander Wayne Simpson.

Pizarro, signed as a free agent last Aug. 20, played in seven games with the Pirates and had a 1.88 earned run average. The Pirates needed Pizarro's permission to send him to the minors and told him if he was not picked up in the major league draft, he would go to spring training as a non-roster player. Pizarro is now playing winter ball in the Dominican Republic.

Simpson, 25, had an 8-10 record with the Charlies last season.

GOLF NOTES

Repeat Victory For Sherbert

Marin County golf news comes in pairs this week: two men's club championships were decided, and two holes-in-one were shot.

Jim Sherbert Saturday retained his San Geronimo National Golf Course title by defeating Jack Roth, 3 and 2. The finals covered 18 holes.

With the victories, Sherbert and Buchholz earned berths in the ninth annual Marin County Men's Tournament of Champions golf next August.

Assistant pro Dave Dice and Hal King aced the 149-yard 11th hole at Meadow Club using six irons. Tom Procter, Boat Chamberlain and Win Jones witnessed King's third hole-in-one last Friday. William Austin witnessed Dice's shot, his first ace, Monday on his home course.

Marin Booters Top Napa, 5-0; Gaddini Stars

NAPA — College of Marin, behind three goals by unheralded Bob Gaddini, shut out Napa, 5-0, yesterday in a non-league soccer game.

The Tars, ninth ranked in California, led 3-0 at halftime and cruised to their ninth win against five losses and a tie. And they did it without a goal from either of their top scorers, Misak Pirinjian and Dirk Linder. Tod Beeson and Ulrick Link got Marin's other goals.

Goalie Mark Sanguinetti turned in the shutout.

"Our passing was improving and that was the main thing I was after," Tar coach Vic Petreshene said of the win.

FISH AND GAME

By AL GIDDINGS

Survival Of The Fittest

TRUCKEE — With the eastern part of the Sierra closing to deer hunting last Sunday, Mary, my wife, and I decided to take a day's rest watching the wildlife.

It's unbelievable what one can see. First, a merganser family, waterbirds whose diet is strictly fish, came by. The male and female with their five offspring would form a half circle, beat their wings, and head for the shoreline trying to trap any luckless fish in their net-like approach.

TWO LOONS ALSO worked the area, but they used the diving system trying to catch any fish within their underwater view. Both teams seemed to work tirelessly throughout the day in their quest for survival.

Later, 17 honkers came into the lake. For hours I watched them with binoculars. They would stay about 60 yards off shore at the upper end of the lake opposite an open meadow. There were several willow bushes which might afford a hunter some cofer if he tried to make an approach. At one time, they were in a vulnerable spot, so I got the shotgun. I took a last look, then saw another competitor. This was a large bald eagle. He made one glide above the geese, so they headed for the middle of the lake. The eagle made no attack.

The eagle noticed about 200 mudhens on the beach on the other side of the lake. The minute he sailed towards these birds, they too moved off shore. At the same time, they bunched together in what looked to me like a foolish move. But they had a plan. Bunched together as they were, they beat their wings throwing up a high spray of water. The eagle would have to get wet to penetrate this defense.

THE EAGLE MADE several passes but never really made an actual grab. After about an hour, the eagle gave up. Then a hawk took his place, but the action was exactly the same.

Jenny Jack, the manager of the property here, said that last year a mother and her young eagle tried to catch a mudhen. The same defensive measures were taken by the mudhens. The young brash eagle ended up in the lake, minus dinner and quite water logged. Finally the unexperienced youngster beat his wings and scooted to the shoreline. It was close to an hour before he was dry enough to rejoin his mother on the high tree perch.

During these watchful hours, a chipmunk joined me on the porch. I decided his open friendship deserved a cracker which I gave to him. He scurried off into a willow bush nearby. Did he have his meal? Nope. A stellar jay immediately started chasing him like a roadrunner through the bushes. The chipmunk ran from one bush to another with the jay in pursuit. Eventually, the jay got the cracker.

THAT CHIPMUNK then came back to see me for another handout. This time, I gave him a piece of bread. He figured to outwit the jay this time, so he immediately climbed a high tree. Then he got hoggish. He left the piece of bread on a wide limb and came down again for another handout. The jay immediately stole the piece of bread. The chipmunk took the second piece of bread up to the limb, again leaving it there. The jay never had it so good! That dumb chipmunk always made the same mistake, and was never able to figure out what was happening. I finally gave up on him.

In the meantime, the geese went back to the shoreline near the willow bush. I went into action. I had to hike about a mile to get into position. The last 50 yards was a crawl through the damp muddy meadow. I didn't dare look to see if the birds were still there until I was in position. I came up slowly, but those geese were out in the middle of the lake again. Two sprig were close enough though, so I jumped up and managed to get one.

I WENT BACK TO the cabin and another wildlife episode had taken place in my absence. A fellow had been fishing offshore most of the day. He finally caught a trout. He put it on one of the camp tables and rebaited his outfit. He set the rod in a forked stick, then turned to clean his fish. It was gone! He was dumbfounded. He checked the entire area finally seeing a pine martin high up in a tree with his prized fish. The battle for survival is ever present in the wilds. Incidentally, Bob Jack says it's amazing how the pine martins are on the increase. These little furbearers were taken off the legal-to-trap animal list a few years ago, and they are now appearing everywhere in this area.

It's a cold day today. Mary and I can't shoot any bucks out of the east side windows of the cabin, but the season is still open until Nov. 3 on the west side of the Sierra crest, so we are shifting our cabin chairs over to the westside windows.

Striped Bass Still Hitting

The striped bass fishing is still great, reports Keith Fraser of Loch Lomond Live Bait and Tackle in San Rafael.

The fish, in the five to 15-pound stage, are being taken by either trolling lures or drift fishing with shiners and anchovies.

MARIN VS. SAN MARIN

Wildcats Hope For Upset

San Marin High School is no doubt looking forward to its Nov. 2 Marin County Athletic League battle against Novato. But if the Mustangs intend to carry an unbeaten record into that game, they better concentrate on tomorrow's opponent, Marin Catholic.

The Wildcats have won three straight, and would like nothing more than to make San Marin their second Marin County Athletic League victim in the nonleague game, at Novato High starting at 1:30.

The favored Mustangs are coming off a 17-13 win over Tamalpais, which increased their overall record to 5-0-1. The Wildcats whipped Menlo last week, 36-14, to even their record at 3-3. The week before they beat Drake of the MCAL, 7-2.

Both teams have potent rushing attacks; San Marin, with Wayne Roche, Bob Bennett and Dave Azevedo, leads the MCAL with a 198 yards per game; Marin Catholic, with Steve Lombardi and Ed Ugarte, has averaged 181 yards in its last three outings.

San Marin has more speed, an asset which has blown several games open this season. Marin Catholic has superior passing with quarterback Bob Yetter and wide receiver Rich Speidel.

"I'm very impressed with their two running backs, Roche and Bennett," says Wildcat coach Bruno Banducci. "Stop them and you stop San Marin, but that's quite a chore.

"We've got to play our best game and avoid mistakes, and hope San Marin has an off day."

The mistakes Banducci was referring to included 31 penalties in the last two games that cost the Wildcats 267 yards.

San Marin coach John Treu watched Marin play last week and he says, "They're a very well disciplined team. They run and pass, and I wouldn't say they emphasize one or the other."

San Marin comes into the game healthy, but Marin Catholic is hurting. Guard Pierre Rouzier, who suffered a pinched neck nerve two weeks ago, has been declared out for the season. Defensive end Greg Bullian has a severely sprained ankle, and halfback Jeff Knotts is temporarily sidelined with a hip pointer.

Volleyball Win For San Rafael

San Rafael High School's girls' volleyball team kept its Marin County Athletic League record perfect yesterday with a 15-9, 15-5 win over Novato.

Patty Schilling served for seven points to lead San Rafael to its ninth win without a loss.

Tamalpais came from behind to beat Redwood, 7-15, 15-6, 15-5, in another match yesterday. Nicky Drejes scored 13 points for Tam.

Novato Putting A Lot On Line Against San Rafael

Novato High School will put a lot on the line tomorrow night, in addition to the usual center, guards, tackles and ends.

Their lead in the Marin County Athletic League football race and their eight game league shutout streak will both be in danger when the Hornets meet the San Rafael Bulldogs at Paul Miller Field in San Rafael at 8 o'clock.

"San Rafael is going to be the best team we've faced so far," says Novato coach Al Scott. "They've got good size and they're real quick. We're going to have to do a job."

The Bulldogs are in second place, tied with San Marin at 2-0-1 behind Novato. And they seem to be getting stronger each week. Last Friday night they defeated Drake, 45-6 in the biggest rout so far this MCAL season.

Novato beat Drake, 35-0 to open the season, and subsequently blanked Tamalpais, 13-0 and Redwood, 7-0. That last win was accomplished without star quarterback Mike Moroski, who broke his nose against Tam. He has recovered, and will start tomorrow.

For both teams, winning depends on stopping the opposing quarterback. Moroski is a classic drop back passer, the best in the league so far. San Rafael's Dave Steele directs a pitchout defense in which he is most effective on option plays.

Steele suffered bone chips in his left arm during the final pre-season game, and he has played with pads and taping ever since. At first it hampered him noticeably, but against Drake he was near peak efficiency, rushing for 60 yards and passing for 110.

"First of all, we have to stop Steele," says Scott. "He runs the option very well, and he's also a better than average thrower. He also has fine receivers in (Fred) Hurst and (Mike) McGrath.

Hurst caught four passes on offense and three on defense last Friday to earn Independent-Journal Player of the Week honors.

San Rafael coach Bob Muster is concerned with shutting down Moroski — but more concerned with the Novato defense. "They come at you, and they put a little fear in you," he says. Offensively they have Moroski, but the defense is the thing that scares you. Their pass rush is tremendous, they've been extremely tough on the outside, and inside they're big and mean."

Marin Tars In Tough Tomorrow

The College of Marin Tars face the best offense and second best defense in the Camino Norte Conference tomorrow when they host Santa Rosa Junior College in Kentfield at 1 p.m.

Through five games the Bear Cubs have averaged 370 yards while yielding only 220. They won their football conference opener, 29-0 over Los Medanos of Pittsburg, and are 3-2 overall.

Marin, 1-4, dropped its first CNC game to Solano, 27-17 in Suisun City. A week earlier the Tars defeated Ohlone of Fremont, 27-10.

In both games Tar coach Dick Read went with Tim Nowell at quarterback, and he responded by completing 15 of 31 passes for 278 yards and three touchdowns. He'll start tomorrow and Read says he'll be passing a lot. "They've got size and speed, so we've got to put the ball in the air."

He'll be passing, unfortunately, against a defensive secondary that leads the CNC in interceptions. John Alajos has six, George Hines four and Eric Johnson three.

Santa Rosa's offense is led by quarterback Leo Cook, who ranks third in the conference in total offense with 563 net yards. Other Bear Cub weapons include running back Mike Maselli and flanker Ed Groggans, who have scored four touchdowns each.

Read announced yesterday that Steve D'Ambra, who rushed for 48 yards against Solano, will start alongside Pomilia in the Marin backfield. Greg Biber, who caught a touchdown pass in that game, will start at flanker.

Redwood Rolls In Girls' Net

Redwood High School's girls' tennis team rolled to its ninth win without a loss yesterday, defeating Marin Academy, 7-0, in Marin County Athletic League action.

In other matches, Marin Catholic ran its record to 8-1 with a 5-2 win over Novato, and Drake defeated Tamalpais, 6-1.

Behr Still Qualifies In New District

The Tiburon Republican is seeking the state Senate seat of the new Second District, which embraces Marin, Mendocino, Lake, Del Norte and Humboldt counties and most of Sonoma County. The district he has represented during the current term was made up of Marin and Solano counties.

BANKER IS as little known in Marin as Behr is little known in the northern part of his new district. Banker's only Marin connection is that he worked in a Larkspur lumber yard after his graduation from Santa Rosa Junior College, just before U.S. entry into World War II, in which he served in the Air Force.

But if Behr's name recognition is close to 100 per cent in Marin, Banker's is probably as high in Mendocino, where he has served as a school board member, city councilman and mayor of Ukiah, and 10 years on the board of supervisors. Elsewhere in the district, he is under no recognition handicap. So the election is by no means a shoo-in for the candidate running as incumbent.

The candidates in the new district also present an unusual pairing, for Behr, the Republican, is the more liberal; Banker, the Democrat, the more conservative.

Behr has top credentials as environmentalist, even having been referred to at times as "the Sierra Club's senator." Banker, however, was instrumental in working out controls on lumbering in the North Coast counties which were more stringent than lumber interests wanted.

Behr has an excellent record for pro-union labor votes, and won re-election endorsement of the AFL-CIO Committee on Political Education. But, because of his votes against two bills backed by the unions, the AFL-CIO Labor Councils of Marin, Sonoma, Lake and Mendocino counties have come out against Behr and declared for Banker.

Incidentally, Behr, though an attorney, gave up the practice of law some years ago, so the conflict of interest that may arise for lawyer-legislators does not exist in his case.

ALTHOUGH PETER Behr is a "maverick Republican," we have found him a good state senator for Marin County. We still think he is. We believe he deserves another term — this time representing a new district that runs all the way to the Oregon line.

As we have said before in connection with Behr, the important thing is not whether a candidate is a "good Republican" or a "good Democrat" — it is whether he is a good legislator, representing the interests of his district. We think Behr qualifies as that.

Stories Of Nuclear Hazards Told Congressional Committees

By DANIEL F. GILMORE

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Some pretty hairy and scary testimony has been trickling out of various congressional hearings recently on the storage, transportation and deployment of about 8,000 American nuclear weapons in many parts of the world.

As Rep. Clarence D. Long, D-Md., put it on the security and storage part:

"A dedicated group of terrorists, possessed with the means to deploy significant firepower, would pose a serious threat indeed if that group attacked certain nuclear weapons sites. If the group succeeded in penetrating a nuclear weapons area it would cause much destruction, even if unable to effectively steal a nuclear weapon. The thought is horrifying."

RETIRED REAR ADM. Gene R. La Rocque has gone further by reporting nuclear near-disasters he witnessed at sea and startling Japan by stating that U.S. aircraft carriers and other warships calling at Japanese ports can be assumed to have nuclear weapons aboard.

That was said despite the extreme sensitivity of Japan to anything nuclear after Hiroshima and Nagasaki and contrary to "understandings" and policy that nuclear weapons would not enter Japanese ports.

La Rocque, who now heads an independent Defense Information Center, told a joint congressional hearing last month that as far as he knows, all major American aircraft carriers, such as the Midway now berthed at Yokosuka, Japan, are "nuclear capable."

"I WANT TO BE very careful because security permits me to say only that they are capable of carrying nuclear weapons," he said. "My experience, however, has been that any ship that is capable of carrying nuclear weapons, carries nuclear weapons.

"They do not offload them when they go into foreign ports, such as Japan, or other countries if they are capable of carrying them. They normally keep them aboard ship at all times. ...There is a real danger that we may get an inadvertent use of one of these nuclear weapons."

He gave some examples for his own experience at sea.

WHILE CAPTAIN of the guided missile cruiser Providence, he said, he witnessed the near launch by mistake of a live atomic missile.

The ship was training at sea and was going to shoot a practice missile at a target plane.

"I was up on the bridge and everything ... below is computerized," he said. "Lo and behold. We were ready to fire and the machinery clanks and the computers all buzz and whine and up popped a red-tipped missile. Now a red-tipped missile is a nuclear missile.

"There was considerable concern on my part to halt this mechanism which was now completely automated and almost out of anybody's control because the radars were locked on the incoming plane...

"We were able, of course, to put the genie back in the bottle and put the missile down below again. Having witnessed that and knowing many horror stories from fellow naval officers of similar experience, it really worried me."

HE ALSO RECALLED an incident at Valetta, Malta, involving a collision between a merchant ship and a U.S. destroyer.

"A minor collision," he said, "but it unfortunately hit right at the spot where we had some nuclear weapons. The people of Malta were very concerned about this, but it was suppressed, of course."

Sierra Club Group Backing Measure G

Saving the Dollar Estate's 11 acres as open space would be an immeasurable benefit as a respite from the brick and poured concrete of the downtown area. Also, as your editorial noted, purchase as open space would free the area from further traffic congestion and related problems that development would likely incur. . .

Proposition 15 Tied To Growth Control

Since Marin County wants a good, workable growth-control ordinance — one which will stand up in court better than Petaluma's — we must show our concern for providing low cost housing as well as for saving open space.

Therefore, we should vote yes on Proposition 15 on Nov. 5 and thus remove from the state constitution the present requirement for a local vote before such housing can be provided (a requirement not imposed, incidentally, on high-cost housing).

Granted that this is a statewide proposition and therefore cannot be passed or defeated by Marinites alone, but a good majority of "yes" in Marin would be a solid indicator of intent to achieve here a balanced environment and thus would add valuable credibility to our growth control efforts.

Marin Housing Projects Not Mers Boondoggles

Is this man Wooley from Bolinas for real? To equate Marin's well designed low rent housing developments with government boondoggles is to be blind to progress.

What Marin community which surrounds one of these Marin complexes — Homestead Terrace, Kruger Pines, Golden Hinde, Venetia Oaks and Casa Nova — doesn't have a warm and good feeling about each development being there?

Twenty years ago there were unsightly low rent housing complexes. Today the safeguarding planning and review processes together with vast experience by community groups which care (plus substantiated need) all point to the importance of Yes on 15.

More boondoggles like Homestead Terrace!

Ellsberg Unacceptable As Voice Of Morality

While conceding that Vietnam and Watergate were sorry episodes, I am not prepared to embrace Daniel Ellsberg as this nation's voice of morality.

In fact, his face on the front page of your newspaper was repugnant to me, as were his reported references to the lies and illegal acts of "all our presidents since the end of World War II" and his charge that "ours is a government of conspirators."

He decries the burglary of his psychiatrist's office but sees virtue in his stealing of national documents.

While on the subject of semantics, your reporter's reference to his scurrilous deed as leaking of Pentagon papers, and release of these documents to the New York Times, suggests gross imcompetence, at best.

In my view, Ellsberg is encouraging those who would sell this nation out and trade on treason. I find it unthinkable that a man of this ilk could find a forum.

I challenge you to tell your readers what fee was paid for Ellsberg's sermonette at the College of Marin and what portion of this will wind up on the community college tax bill which Marin citizens are asked to pay.

CHARLES MICHALS

(According to College of Marin, Ellsberg's fee for the lecture was $1,800, which was paid by the Associated Students. Tickets to the lecture brought in $1,500. Remainder of the fee, plus about $300 in other costs, was made up from Associated Students' funds, which come from student body cards, book store and cafeteria profits, athletic events, etc. — Editor)

Fairfax Officer Hits Charter City Proposal

I would like to make a few comments regarding your opposition to Proposition 5 on the November ballot (Residency Requirement for Public Employees).

The argument by people who want to require public employees to live within the city limits (or close by) seems primarily to have the salary returned in part to the city by taxes or in local purchasing. This argument fails to make much sense, and is not a good enough argument to overcome the real consequences of depriving an individual from living where he wants to live. Even if an employee chooses to live in another city the house that he would buy locally will still be sold to someone else and the taxes will be paid.

I know of no argument strong enough to require all public employees to reside within the city they are employed. There could perhaps be a suitable reason to require certain classifications of employees to live within town, but the failure of Proposition 5 would allow the cities to mandate to all its employees . . .

MEL DOLLAHITE
President, Fairfax Police Officers Assn
Fairfax

(Proposition 5 applies only to charter cities, not to general law cities such as Fairfax. General law cities are not permitted to mandate residency for employees, under an act passed by the legislature. — Editor)

Statistics Quoted In Support Of Prop.

The ballot will be long and complicated, but I hope people will think carefully before voting on Proposition 15, which would remove from the state constitution the requirement that public housing must be approved by a vote before it can be built. I would like to submit some reasons why it should be passed.

This is a statewide issue. There is a genuine need for this housing in California. These statistics are from the Statewide Housing Element:

20.5 per cent of California households have incomes of less than $4,000 annually.

Almost all very low income renter households pay more than 35 per cent of their incomes for rent. Among high income renters, most pay less than 10 per cent.

Between 1960-1970, gross rents increased 60 per cent.

Only 3.5 per cent of the Californians who qualify for low income housing now live in clean, safe places.

Most voters would not consciously put an even heavier burden on these people. However, that is what you will be doing unless you vote to pass Proposition 15.

ROSCOE DRUMMOND

Watergate Presidency Gone; But Not So, Ford's Problems

WASHINGTON — "How's he doing?" is the certain question which is put to Washington correspondents in nearly every letter and nearly every conversation.

Two and one-half months in office is not long enough to permit a dogmatic judgment, but my present answers to the question are:

1. It is already amply evident that President Gerald Ford is reversing — and erasing — the Watergate presidency at every major point.
2. It remains to be seen whether President Ford can provide the forceful leadership to whip inflation and unemployment and whether he has the ability to make wise foreign policy decisions.

ON THE FIRST POINT the record is reassuring.

On the second point the record is mixed and uncertain.

The Ford presidency is none of these things. Gerald Ford is not avoiding these qualities. They are just not in him. He is open, direct, candid. He does not shield himself from personal contact with his staff or cabinet. He does not draw all power into his own hands; he distributes it. He seeks diverse and contrary advice, and it is neither bad manners nor perilous for his aides to raise their voices in his presence.

WHEN RICHARD NIXON picked Gerald Ford to be his last vice president, he apparently chose one nearly totally opposite to himself.

It is now clear that Mr. Ford's most valuable and significant characteristic is that he does not have a Watergate mentality. And thus the most valuable and significant contribution of his 11-week administration is that the incubus of Watergate is being lifted from the government. In his voluntary and unprecedented appearance before the House judiciary subcommittee last week, Mr. Ford demonstrated by mood, manner and word the openness, directness, simplicity and frankness which are the hallmarks of the man — and his presidency.

He cast aside all the mystical trappings of an imperial presidency; he was a human with other humans by his appearance, and he did much to dissolve the understandable public distrust of politicians and to restore faith in the honesty of leadership at the top. In this single act an "unbelievable politician" became a believable president. The issue was not whether Mr. Ford was wise in pardoning Richard Nixon at the time he did, but whether he was telling the truth about why he did it. He was.

AS TO MR. FORD'S tentative groping toward an adequate anti-inflation program, some will recall how in the depth of the depression F.D.R. described himself as the "quarterback" and said that if one play didn't work he would call a different one.

What Flies In Grand Rapids May Bomb In Winston-Salem

WINSTON-SALEM, N.C. — Like other southerners, the people around here used to vote straight Democratic because their daddies and granddaddies did. And North Carolina remained hard-core Democratic territory longer than any of its neighboring states. When those others were seduced by Dwight Eisenhower, the 1960 Nixon, and Goldwater, Tarheels stuck with family tradition. Not until 1968 did even a plurality of them go for a Republican for president, and not until 1972 did they actually cast a majority for one.

Yet this fall, the incumbent Republican president is talking to such southerners in the same party-line rhetoric he would use to a fund raiser back home in historically Republican Grand Rapids, Mich., or at a rousing evening with the GOP Chowder and Marching Society at the capitol.

HOW IT WORKS, based on how the voting goes in the districts Mr. Ford has visited, will be an interesting byproduct of next month's elections. If he is successful in turning around some of the contests he has dropped in on, he will maintain that that his popularity is stronger than the public opinion polls say. Whether it also proves he is a shrewd campaigner when he gets out of Grand Rapids or the House cloakroom will be more questionable.

The example of last week's quick thrust into the Carolinas will do. En route, the Ford staff passed out advance texts of the day's message which included his familiar warning about a "legislative dictatorship," plus a reminder:

"The first time that happened — and South Carolina knows this better than anyone — was in the dark days after the Civil War, when a dictatorial Congress left a legacy of bitterness, poverty and humiliation that scarred the South for generations."

I am not sure who first choked on reading that and then ordered that it never be delivered. Maybe it was Sen. Strom Thurmond R-S.C., the president's shepherd on the outing. The press secretary said it was Mr. Ford himself.

If so, credit him with realizing belatedly that it was the most counterproductive line possible. For the dictatorial Congress that bedeviled the South during Reconstruction was a Republican Congress, and it did indeed leave a legacy of bitterness — directed at the Republican Party and lasting for most of a century.

THAT NEAR-SLIP can be attributed to staff ineptitude. But what the president kept driving home the rest of the day was off the top of his own head, not any prepared text. And it emphasized the virtues of Republicans and the faults of Democrats in a land where by registration and tradition the Democrats are the heavy majority.

His crowds were big and appreciative earlier in the day, but when he arrived at the airport serving Greensboro, High Point and Winston-Salem, a metropolitan area of more than 600,000, the rooters waiting numbered only some 2,000. That contrasts with more than three times as many for Nixon two years ago and with a forecast of 15,000 imprudenty issued by local party organizers.

And what did Mr. Ford have to say to this sparse turnout? He warned them sarcastically of "our Democratic friends," whom he blames for inflation. He also made political use of the "WIN" button on his lapel, which originated only two weeks earlier as a symbol of bipartisan national effort against inflation. Pointing to the button, he said that was what he and William Stevens, the GOP senatorial candidate, and other Republicans were going to do.

WHEN EISENHOWER and Nixon came south, they removed all party labels from their baggage. Nixon here in 1972 said nice things about his party's local nominees, and they won. But along with him, they could run then against Sen. George McGovern D-S.D. This year, Stevens is running for Sen. Sam Ervin's seat against Robert Morgan, the well-known attorney general.

Morgan is no McGovern. And if Mr. Ford keeps talking straight party politics in traditionally Democratic and marginal districts, he may discover that everywhere is not Grand Rapids.

REMEMBER WHEN?

10 YEARS AGO

Oct. 25, 1964

South Vietnam had its fifth change of government within a year as Phan Khac Suu took over the premiership from Maj. Gen. Nguyen Khanh.

The U. S. Supreme Court struck down as unconstitutional laws requiring designation of race on voting, tax, and real estate assessment lists.

20 YEARS AGO

Oct. 25, 1954

The State Division of Highways allocated $2.5 million for construction of a Highway 101 interchange at Alto.

For the first time in history, a meeting of the president's cabinet was televised as Secy. of State John Foster Dulles reported on the NATO conference in Paris.

WILL ROGERS SAYS . . .

"The President is doing something that if I was managing him, I don't believe I would let him do. He is going into three or four states where the coming election is is very hot, and going to make speeches.

"Funny thing about us, we will listen to any old shyster politician that comes along to advise us, but we just won't trust any of our Presidents when we think they are trying to tell us who to elect." — Sept. 27, 1930.

Art Club Also Lacks Permits For Its Downtown Concerts

A few items from the rock music controversy in Mill Valley which haven't made the news columns yet:

At the recent city council hearing on whether to grant permits for amplified music at the Sweetwater and Old Mill bars, a representative of the Outdoor Art Club presented the council with a resolution opposing the permits.

What club members didn't mention (but a bar owner pointed out) is that the club is on the same street as the two bars, is in the same zone, and needs a permit for concerts of any kind it stages, just as the bars do. It has never bothered to apply for such a permit, the planning directors noted.

Club member Janet Mountjoy agreed the situation was embarrassing and said from now on the Outdoor Art Club will apply for a permit when it's supposed to.

During the discussion, Sweetwater owner Fred Martin said he planned to feature classical music from now on along with more contemporary sounds. He apparently has consulted members of the Mill Valley Chamber Music Society about the possibility.

THE HEARING last week on the tavern issue was the most emotional held so far on the subject, with some women who spoke even close to tears as they deplored the current state of downtown Mill Valley.

Over and over, councilmen agreed that there had been some kind of change in atmosphere, but they also said that they were not sure whether it was the result of traffic, rock music noise, or the bars' patrons. Councilman Ivan S. Poutiatine even theorized that the situation may have resulted from a change in philosophy in the last few years in what is taught in Mill Valley schools.

This same councilman noted that he had met people from as far away as Crescent City on the Northern California coast who had told him they had been to the Sweetwater and considered it a swinging place.

ON SATURDAY NIGHT, of course, Old Mill Bar owner Shirley Baucom staged an amplified rock music session as a deliberate violation of city law so she could get her case into the courts. Police that night told her they would have to shut the bar down if anyone phoned in a complaint about the music.

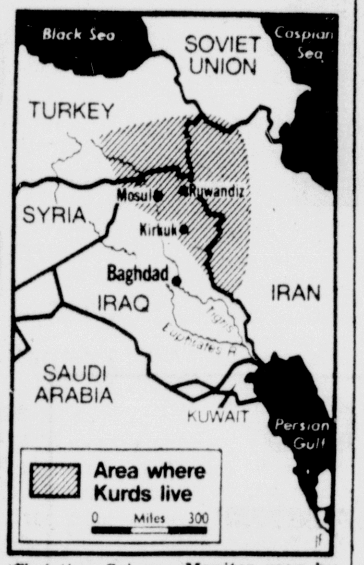
She now claims that a neighbor who finally did call police waited around outside the bar until the music started and then ran home to phone.

Kurdish Army Ready For Winter Assault

By JOHN K. COOLEY
The Christian Science Monitor
News Service

High in the rugged mountains dividing Iraq's northern plain from Syria, Turkey, and Iran, the 60,000-man Kurdish guerrilla army waits for winter's first snows before launching a new drive against Iraq's besieging, Soviet-equipped forces.

The guerrillas are fighting for home rule for the 2 million to 3 million Kurdish people of northern Iraq — a people with a different language, culture, and traditions from the Arabs who form the ethnic majority in Iraq.



(Christian Science Monitor map by Joan Forbes)

The war has been in progress off and on for the past 15 years. Last March the Kurds went over to the offensive again after a three-year truce, and since then the conflict has raged with greater ferocity than ever.

The truce collapsed when the veteran Kurdish leader, Gen. Mulla Mustafa Barzani, rejected a plan for limited Kurdish autonomy first offered and then imposed by the government in Bagdad.

The latest Kurdish demands are more embarrassing to the government than were those put forward when the rebellion erupted in 1961. Iraq earns more than $3 billion each year from its rich oil fields around Kirku, and Mosul. General Barzani says these are predominantly Kurdish cities and demands that a fair share of the oil income go to the Kurds to develop their impoverished territory.

After three generations of battle the general still leads the main body of Kurds, although other Kurds loyal to Bagdad have joined Iraqi Communists in a "national front" dominated by the ruling Baath (Arab Socialist) Party.

Two of General Barzani's sons, Idriss and Messaoud, share many of the main military and political tasks with the general's chief political adviser, Dr. Mamoud Osman. But a third son, Obeidallah, opposed his father and is a minister in Bagdad government.

Together with Habib Karim, secretary-general of General Barzani's Kurdistan Democratic Party (KDP), Idriss and Messaoud run the "liberated" areas and maintain liaison with Kurdish sympathizers and supporters abroad, mainly in Iran.

Commanding the Kurdish army, called Pesh Merga ("those facing death") in the Kurdish language, is Rashid al-Sindi, a veteran of all the mountain campaigns. Another grizzled fighter in his deputy, Haj Abdallah, who guided this reporter in Kurdistan before fighting erupted last March.

After initial Kurdish successes against the Iraqis at Ruwandiz and near the Turkish border last spring, Iraq commited about 23 of its 27 infantry and armored brigades, perhaps 80,000 men in all, and its Air Force to a summer offensive that swept the Kurds back into their mountain strongholds.

At leat 60,000 — mainly older people, women, and children — fled Iraqi bombs and shells to the relative safety but uncertain future of Iranian refugee camps.

Now GeneralBarzani's men, their backs to a friendly Iran and a less helpful Turkey, each with big Kurdish minorities of its own, face the winter snows, which give them a tactical advantage. They admit losing up to 5,000 of their civilian population and half that many fighters, but claim far heavier Iraqi losses.

Outside statesmen, including Egyptain President Sadat, have reportedly offered to mediate. Iraqi leaders charge that Israeli arms supplies and advisers on the Kurdish side helped weaken Arab unity against Israel. General Barzani, bitter at Moscow's backing for Bagdad, has repeatedly appealed for American help, apparently in vain.

New Hampshire Changes Title Of U.N. Week

CONCORD, N.H. (UPI) — New Hampshire Gov. Meldrim Thomson says although the rest of the world observes Oct. 20-27 as United Nations week, in New Hampshire it will be "America before United Nations Week."

Thomson, a conservative Republican, said Wednesday the United States has supported the United Nations morally and financially since 1945.

"The United Nations has failed to establish or maintain peace in the world and in recent years has been utterly useless as a force for peace in such international crises as Cyprus, Palestine and Vietnam," he said.

"America's emphasis for world peace must be for American first (in) all things and thereafter a sincere effort to cooperate with others who are equally anxious and genuine in their desire and in their search for peace."
